Dr. Goesling brought up moving the May meeting back because of conflicts with attending graduations. Ms. Bent responded that because of the fiscal year payroll deadlines, it would not work with the payroll schedule. They decided to keep the schedule as stated.

Prior to the work session, Board President Edmunds introduced Representative Jeff Thompson as a visitor today and thanked him for taking the time to attend the meeting.

WORK SESSION

BUSINESS AFFAIRS & HUMAN RESOURCES (BAHR)

1. Zero-base Budgeting (ZBB) – David Hahn, DFM and Roger Brown, Governor’s Office

Mr. Freeman introduced David Hahn and Richard Budzich from the Division of Financial Management (DFM) for their presentation on zero-base budgeting. Mr. Freeman indicated there were materials handed out to the Board members for this presentation and work session.

Mr. Hahn thanked the Board for the opportunity to present material on zero-base budgeting and how it applies to the higher education system. He indicated his goal is to make this a collaborative and meaningful discussion and that the materials passed out previously contain the scope and purpose of the Governor’s zero based budgeting initiative for colleges and universities. He said the purpose for zero-base budgeting can be summarized as a means in which we maximize the potential of each appropriated dollar by assessing alternative approaches to cost centers and aligning those cost centers according to the strategic plan of the institution. He confirmed they are not using a pure zero-base budgeting approach; they are using a modified zero-base budgeting approach.

Mr. Hahn expressed there is a need to identify what can be done with the resources available and what should be done with resources available. He said the timeliness of ZBB is important when prioritizing the use of the resources and it will help show where opportunities are for reallocation. He said there is a misconception that it is all about cutting budgets. Further, he felt ZBB complements the performance based funding and the 60% goal by helping set the stage for performance based budgeting. This would be achieved by ensuring cost centers and their prioritization support the performance measures in the performance based budgeting initiative, and by increasing awareness of state goals and funding priorities for higher education. The principles of ZBB can be used to help make investment choices based on the CCI plan strategies in order to achieve the 60% goal.

Mr. Hahn commented that in discussion with staff on funding scope, they arrived at two options. The first is where ZBB could be limited to appropriated funds (i.e., General Funds) and not to self-supporting auxiliary enterprises such as student housing or athletics. The second variation would be to include all funds, but limit the scope to General Education only. This would still exclude most funding for auxiliary enterprises. In future discussion, they hope to determine which option makes more sense. Mr. Hahn favored limiting the scope to General Education only.

Mr. Hahn commented that in considering the methodology, it is clear a one-size-fits-all approach doesn't work. Existing institutional accounting, budgeting, and planning systems will be used to undertake several steps he summarized in his presentation, starting with an in-depth review by institutions of their strategic plan and performance measures to align with the Board's 60% goal. The strategic plans would be due next July to the DFM office. Mr. Hahn's handout included a ZBB timeline for reference.

President Edmunds commented ZBB only works if there is a clear description of what we're trying to accomplish. He asked for direction from the Board and DFM on how to get that direction.

Mr. Westerberg commented the direction is present, and using institutions' strategic plans to guide budget review would be where to start. Mr. Soltman felt it should go to the VP level because it would have the most impact on them. Mr. Westerberg pointed out that BAHR has solicited the institutions for what they think would be reasonable criteria to be used in performance based budgeting and that BAHR will be working with the institutions on the item.

President Edmunds asked if there is any difference between ZBB and performance based indicators. Mr. Hahn responded they have not yet dealt with an agency using performance based funding. He suggested using the performance based funding measures to prioritize the base in order to establish a position for the performance based funding rather than using two separate sets of budgeting criteria. Mr. Soltman reminded the group that the Board has not yet defined with certainty the measures for performance based funding. Dr. Goesling responded he feels they are two different avenues and suggested the zero based budgeting should be considered modified zero based budgeting since it is not true zero based budgeting. Dr. Goesling suggested getting to the point of knowing what each cost center contributes and if that contribution was worth the dollars expended, then prioritizing from there and reprioritizing those cost centers that couldn't answer the question.

There was further discussion about whether this included just state appropriations or other auxiliary expenditures. Mr. Freeman summarized that if you look at only appropriated funds, it will be extremely difficult to isolate and exercise zero based funding on certain types of positions. They felt it would be a good approach to isolate General Education funds to eliminate the issue of breaking out what is appropriated and so forth. Those funds excluded would be professional-technical education (PTE), special programs, auxiliary enterprises, competitively awarded grants and contracts.

President Edmunds asked Dr. Rush if excluding PTE would be appropriate. Dr. Rush indicated as a separate division, PTE would be doing their own form of ZBB for its actual office operating budget. There would not be any zero based budgeting for any of the postsecondary technical college items.

Dr. Rush added that PTE has had in place for a number of years a performance based funding mechanism and also a program reduction and termination policy with very specific criteria for programs. Mr. Freeman added there was a possibility of excluding the community colleges from this exercise because they have their own locally elected boards and their own property tax revenue, and only a small percentage of their budget is from appropriated funds. Mr. Hahn responded that given the unique circumstances with community colleges they would be excluded. He added zero based budgeting would focus on those dollars agencies have control of.

Mr. Westerberg was interested in hearing from the institutions about what inclusions they feel are appropriate for zero based budgeting; whether to use just appropriated funds or whether that scope should be broadened. Mr. Ickes from the University of Idaho said it would be useful to look at all the component parts, but there is extreme complexity in doing so. He wanted to determine how certain pieces factor in. He felt the General Education would be a reasonable place to start. Dr. Fernandez agreed and added there are a lot of things associated that are not part of the 60% goal that are included.

Mr. Hahn responded that not everything would fall under the 60% umbrella, for instance facilities. There would need to be criteria established around the 60% and non-60% goal categories. Dr. Rush commented the strategic plan would be a good place to start because it goes beyond the 60% goal and deals with efficiencies. Mr. Fletcher from ISU remarked that they are comfortable with the discussion but they feel performance based budgeting is quite separate from zero based budgeting. The 60% goal is related to performance and zero based budgeting is related to efficiencies. Ms. Pearson agreed with most comments and remarked the institutions have very extensive detail in their budgets which include performance indicators. She said they need to clarify the goal of zero based budgeting because it does go beyond the 60% goal. She added that in this industry, zero based budgeting is not widely used or accepted.

Dr. Goesling suggested keeping the eye on the 60% goal and letting the institutions take it to the next level on their own.

Mr. Luna read aloud the definition of zero based budgeting. He indicated the Governor's letter alluded to similarities between his recommendation and the definition. Mr. Luna said ZBB is not what we are talking about here. Mr. Luna felt it should not be called ZBB if it is truly not ZBB. Mr. Hahn responded that the definition read by Mr. Luna was a pure approach and what they are talking about is a modified approach. He indicated the problem with ZBB is the level of detail; what they are trying to do is determine the principles and review the efficiency of the cost centers to challenge the assumptions and determine the key outcomes which should prioritize the base.

Mr. Terrell felt there could be problems using ZBB in higher education. He felt higher education institutions are scrutinized so much currently on their budgets and spending, that it would not be beneficial for them to use ZBB. He suggested asking the Governor to define exactly what he was looking for because it may not work in higher education to take everything back to zero each year. He felt it would be too difficult for each of the institutions to prioritize where the cuts would take place because those cuts likely don't return each year after they are made. He expressed empathy to the institutions because of what they already go through in justifying their budgets.

Mr. Freeman made a few points of clarification. He commented that what the Governor has asked for is not a pure ZBB exercise. It is more to evaluate and reprioritize operations which is the focus of the initiative, and that institutions are not being asked to take their budgets back to zero each year. Mr. Terrell still didn't feel comfortable with it. Mr. Hahn followed up by saying the Governor's recommendation is a modified approach to zero based budgeting and agencies can use it by seriously examining cost centers and determining where they could be made more efficient.

Mr. Terrell felt the item should go back to BAHM for more review. Mr. Soltman asked what DFM would do with the information submitted by the Board and the institutions. Mr. Hahn responded the information would be shared with the Governor and used to benefit the institution, perhaps even in proposing legislation.

President Edmunds expressed concern about changing the budgeting process for the institutions and asked for feedback from the institutions. Ms. Pearson responded that it describes what they do at the department level currently and expressed hope to keep the process they use because it has been successful; adding that they do look at their budget structure very thoroughly. Dr. Fernandez commented they would likely not change the process it currently uses and echoed somewhat the comments and concerns of Ms. Pearson. Mr. Ickes responded they have only been doing base budgeting because there hasn't been base plus; he expressed base minus would be a better way to describe it. He added that they will need to look at auxiliaries, and that they will continue to take advantage of opportunities as they present themselves.

Ms. Atchley asked if DFM expects this to be an ongoing process each year. She indicated it is a major strain with resources being too thin for the financial staff to meet the requirements of a complete audit. She was concerned about taking away administrative resources which will reduce the resources and dollars that can be put into the basic process of student success. She felt the cost benefit of this process is not clear and asked DFM to describe how the cost process would work.

Mr. Hahn responded that the ongoing aspect of ZBB is for this to be on an every six-year cycle. Each year they are asking a group of agencies to undergo this process and at the end of the first cycle DFM and the Governor will review the results and determine if the agency needs to continue in another six-year cycle. They cannot do all of state government in one year which is why it is broken up. In terms of how it affects the student, he responded that by prioritizing the cost centers which fall into line with the strategic plan of the institution is how it would benefit students.

Mr. Luna said there is a perception that ZBB leads to areas to cut. He asked DFM what changes have they seen with the agencies who have already done this. He expressed concern about using the resources to do this analysis and then having no change or result. Mr. Hahn responded that there have been a number of agencies who have realigned their cost centers and realigned their resources. He said prior to this initiative, it has always been just base plus budgeting. Mr. Hahn indicated he felt it is a good process to use to examine the base and he would like to spend more time with financial VPs and Mr. Freeman to look at where the opportunities are and to avoid duplication of effort.

President Edmunds asked for the item to return to BAHR. Mr. Westerberg indicated he welcomed the opportunity to further explore this with the financial VPs and DFM to maximize the value of the process. Mr. Hahn indicated the expectation is for this to be a roadmap to budget submission for 2013. Mr. Budzich added that in looking ahead they need to look at something like this because of potential cuts and priorities in state government budgeting, and this analysis will help clarify where budgets should be.

PLANNING, POLICY & GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS

2. Parliamentary Procedures Training

Dr. Rush provided a presentation on parliamentary procedure for the Board. He summarized that parliamentary procedure is often seen as a hurdle in participation when in fact it is used to make the meeting run more effectively. He said the purpose is to accomplish the will of the majority while protecting the rights of the minority. It is used to facilitate a process, provide a focus for discussion and provide a series of methods by which action is taken.

Dr. Rush indicated the entire process is based on the main motion on the floor. That provides the focus for discussion and triggers the tools to dispose of the main motion. It is properly presented to say I move that. The chair is allowed to work with the maker of the motion to make it right. The motion is then restated by the chair and it becomes the property of the assembly and official record. Motions do require a second but if the chair forgets to ask for a second and discussion starts on the motion before receiving a second, the motion becomes moot. If you have a committee report, they do not need a second.

The committee chair makes the motion; the president is the only one that can solidify and arbitrate the motion. He can say the motion is moved and seconded, and then it becomes the property of the assembly. At this time, there may be discussion of the motion. It is important that there is an official record of the actual wording of the motion.

President Edmunds clarified that as a matter of practice the Board will use a second on all motions before going to discussion.

Dr. Rush indicated that a roll call vote is the only vote that is legally binding. The way you get around not using a roll call vote all the time is that nobody objects. In a small group such as the Board, a voice vote works most of the time. Any board member can request a roll call vote at any time and if that occurs, a roll call vote is required. He noted for Board members that requesting unanimous consent is a fast way to vote on minutes, the consent agenda and to modify an agenda. In any case of voting though, the chair needs to announce results.

Dr. Rush summarized the most common way to get the main motion off the floor is to vote on it and that there can be subsidiary motions to the main motion. One subsidiary is to amend the main motion. The primary way to change a motion is to strike a portion out or add something; or you can do both by striking out and inserting words. Once it is seconded and restated by the chair; it becomes property of the assembly. The motion becomes the focus of discussion until the amendment is voted on. The motion can be referred to a committee or the motion can be postponed to a definite time.

Dr. Rush summarized the two specialty forms of amendment. One is to amend by substitute; the other is to refer it to a committee. The substitute is used when the changes are too extensive to be effectively dealt with by the normal procedure of adding, striking out or striking out and adding. When the motion is referred to a committee, the committee can report back or take action. Dr. Rush pointed out that when you take action, you vote on these in reverse order. He provided examples of this process and how it might sound.

Dr. Rush briefly shared a number of other subsidiary motions including limit debate, previous question, and to table the motion. He said it is out of order to cut off debate if discussion is active. The motion to limit debate or anything which takes away a constitutional right (i.e., speech) requires a 2/3 vote. Dr. Rush reminded the Board members that Robert's Rules demand the protection of the minority. The motion to table was designed to take an item off the floor and put it aside momentarily and put something else on the floor. He cautioned that if the motion to table is used on any substantial issue, it is being used incorrectly because you would in effect be taking away a constitutional right (i.e., to debate). The motion to table is only limited to certain special circumstances and is used rarely. Instead, you would likely use a motion to postpone to a definite time.

Dr. Rush clarified what it means when a member calls out “question” during the discussion. It means that someone is ready to vote and they are looking to see if others are ready to vote. The proper response from the chair when that happens is to say “question has been called, is there any further discussion?” The person who called “question” is expressing a sentiment that they are ready to move on. If they want to cut off debate, they need to move the previous motion and it must have a second, and a 2/3 majority vote. He also indicated the president could call that motion out of order if it is obvious there are people who want further discussion.

Dr. Rush further indicated there are privileged motions such as a call for order. Call for orders of the day is where the chair and the assembly are obligated to follow the agenda. Another motion is a question of personal privilege – for instance if a member can’t hear or would like to request a short break. Other motions are to recess and to adjourn. These all require a second.

There were a few more motions Dr. Rush mentioned briefly which included a motion to reconsider – it requires a second and is debatable. It is also a way to bring a motion back up for consideration. If it passes, it puts the main motion back on the floor and it may be used to refer a motion to a committee. There are a few incidental motions; that serve to withdraw or modify a motion. They are handled most generally by unanimous consent. Other motions include a division of the house which means a member requests a counted vote, a request for information, a point of order, and to suspend the rules. There is also a motion to appeal from the decision of the chair. With that, Dr. Rush concluded his parliamentary procedures presentation and stood for questions. There were no questions for Dr. Rush.

PLANNING, POLICY & GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS (PPGA)

1. Eastern Idaho Technical College – Biennial Progress Report

President Albiston provided an overview of Eastern Idaho Technical College's (EITC) progress in carrying out the College's strategic plan, details of implementation, status of goals and objectives and information on other points of interest. He started out with a brief history of EITC and its progress over the years. He shared information on EITC's committees and their goals, adding they have a positive placement rate of 90% for their graduates. EITC serves nine counties in eastern Idaho. Their services fall into three categories and in FY11 they served over 16,000 students. Their largest division for student enrollment is in health profession training. They saw a slight decrease in enrollment in FY11.

Dr. Albiston indicated over the past three years, they have surpassed their targets in several areas. In addition to the activities on the EITC campus, they provide a number of outreach programs such as adult basic education, workforce training and health profession training. He commented that more than half of the students receive some form of financial assistance and EITC has been very fortunate for the support of the EITC Foundation and J.A. and Kathryn Albertson Foundation in creating opportunities for many students by providing scholarships, materials and books to name a few. EITC's retention and collaboration efforts have been assisting the state toward its 60% goal.

Dr. Goesling asked how many programs produce a certificate in less than one year. President Albiston responded there are about 35 graduates per year in their certified truck driving school and in excess of 100 graduates in their certified nursing assistant program. Dr. Goesling asked if those students are apt to return to advance themselves further. President Albiston responded that with their CNA program several students return to advance their education. President Edmunds asked of the 53% of students in health care, how many are in nursing. President Albiston responded that about 60% are in nursing and the remainder in other health care professions. President Edmunds asked if they are using more distance learning for students. President Albiston responded affirmatively, adding that they are looking at the types of programs and how to best deliver those programs.

Ms. Atchley congratulated Mr. Albiston on the success of the college and asked to be kept updated on their cloud system.

Board Member Lewis joined the meeting at 8:27 a.m.

2. Boise State University – President’s Council Report

Mr. Soltman invited the institution presidents to come forward for the President’s Council report. Boise State University President and current chair of the President’s Council, Bob Kustra, gave a report from the most recent Presidents’ Council meeting and answered questions.

He summarized they have met twice since the last Board meeting and in May, they received an update on the statewide emergency operations plan and role the colleges and universities will play in that plan. They also discussed presidential succession plans and confirmed the chair rotation schedule for the Presidents’ Council. Dr. Glandon is next in the rotation starting in August. At the June meeting, they discussed topics from the Board retreat, and focused on how to make the work of the President’s Council more meaningful and productive.

President Edmunds asked if they had discussed a separate meeting schedule for four year institution presidents. Dr. Kustra responded that the discussion suggested presidents get together at Board meetings either before or after the Board meeting.

There was an item that was referred back to CAAP from the President’s Council with regard to collaboration among universities. President Edmunds commented on a competency based baccalaureate degree and asked if it was being considered here. President Kustra responded not at this time and that the private sector is moving more quickly than the public sector on these programs and we will likely see some results from the private sector soon.

President Edmunds requested unanimous consent to move to item four on the agenda since Dr. Clark had not yet arrived for his presentation to the Board as scheduled under item three of the agenda. There were no objections.

3. BYU-Idaho Presentation

President Edmunds introduced Dr. Kim Clark from BYU-Idaho and also recognized Representative Bateman’s attendance at the meeting. BYU-Idaho converted from a two-year institution to a four-year institution and now has the largest full time enrollment in the state. President Clark earned bachelors', masters', and doctorate degrees in economics from Harvard University. In 1978 Dr. Clark became a member of the faculty at the Harvard Business School and was named the dean of the school in 1995. He served in that capacity until he became president of BYU-Idaho in 2005.

Dr. Clark thanked the Board for the opportunity to present today. He addressed the Board regarding the concept of "modularization" and other initiatives that BYU-Idaho has implemented that have allowed them to become one of the largest postsecondary educational institutions within the state of Idaho. Modularization is a process in which students graduate within 120 credit hours, even if they have changed majors. Some of the other initiatives include: online learning, increased utilization of brick and mortar facilities, and processes for dealing with disadvantaged students in remote areas.

Dr. Clark shared a brief presentation to the Board starting with the background of BYU-Idaho. Their focus is on undergraduate education which is student centered and teaching oriented. They offer about 16 majors and about 20 associate's degrees. They serve roughly 28,500 students which is head-count – not full time equivalent students, and have 511 full time faculty. They have a strong honor code being affiliated with the Mormon Church and have no intercollegiate sports.

He shared the three imperatives that have driven the university which are improved student experience, to serve more students and to lower the relative cost of education. He also shared some initiatives they have launched to achieve the imperatives. He described a new academic calendar that uses a three semester/three-track system which allows them to run all year long with a new academic day from 7:45-5:30 that has 60 minute classes with 15 minutes in between. The standard faculty load is 4 classes per semester; 120 students average. Dr. Clark commented this calendar change has caused fundamental changes in the operation of the university. They now have balance across the tracks between students and faculty. Their growth has increased rapidly and is credited to this new academic calendar which has allowed the growth without adding classroom space or new faculty. The new academic calendar has helped cut costs as well. For operating costs per FTE student, there has been a decrease of 21% since 2003; and 16.7% decrease in total operating and capital cost per FTE student.

Dr. Clark pointed out the idea behind the BYU- Idaho learning model is to create a university-wide set of principles and processes that apply to all disciplines. The learning model uses small classes where faculty knows the students. The class size is about 30 with a maximum size of 85. He commented their learning model is deeply rooted in their faith but can be translated for secular application. It puts responsibility for education on the student and uses the student in the teaching process rather than just having them taught. Their process includes investment, engagement and assessment. These processes translate to preparing the individual, teaching one another and pondering and proving what is learned, respectively. BYU-Idaho also requires their faculty to learn and teach in other areas other than those of their specialty within reason.

President Edmunds asked if they have any information on improvement in students' critical thinking with this teaching model. Dr. Clark indicated they are seeing some improvement, but not what it needs to be.

Dr. Clark said they use their faculty as designers of learning experiences with a focus on active learning, experiential learning and engaged students. He added that on-line education has played an important role for BYU-Idaho. They use on-line and hybrid classes which use integrated curriculum, increases on-campus capacity and increases the university's reach. They offer about 135 on-line courses and plan to offer only select courses on-line. They serve approximately 10,253 students on-line.

Dr. Clark mentioned that starting in the fall of 2010, the index of gain in student learning started improving. The gain was realized by not increasing the on-line course offerings, but by focusing on re-designing the courses that were offered. Their studies show that their on-line learning is close to that of face-to-face learning in quality. He said they also use modular degrees to improve student learning and time to graduation, summarizing the modularity as built on blocks of complementary courses that combine in different ways to create degrees. The standard degree has 40-55 credits, the integrated standard degree has 67 credits, the specialized degree has 80 credits and the interdisciplinary studies degree as 60 credits.

Dr. Clark commented they also use the Pathway program which is designed to offer higher education to students who are not attending college, or who are not making progress and who desire higher education. This system helps students find their pathway as the name suggests. It is a combination of on-line courses overseen by church members who assist and mentor the student. The Pathway program will eventually operate in about 65 sites throughout the United States, Mexico and other countries. They also discovered it was necessary to expand their target group to include the over 30 age group.

President Edmunds asked if their system is applicable to a public education system. Dr. Clark responded in the affirmative and indicated it would have several beneficial areas that could translate to public institutions. He felt the challenge would be in the implementation area and how to make it work. He used the year-round calendar as an example. Dr. Clark said it requires change to change traditional patterns, figuring out what works and what doesn't, and implementing what works. He believes on-line education will become so effective that it is completely necessary to offer it, adding that if it was not offered, it would be a disservice to students. There were no other questions for Dr. Clark.

Mr. Soltman thanked Dr. Clark for his presentation to the Board.

Ms. Atchley commented about seeing comparative material in their strategic plans and discouraged including comparisons to other public Idaho institutions. She encouraged looking at system strengths and not system competitions. She said comparison to peers would be acceptable.

8. Famous Idaho Potato Bowl – Request for Alcohol Permit-NCAA Football Games

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Soltman/Terrell): To approve Famous Idaho Potato Bowl's request to operate a corporate tent village consistent with the terms herein for the 2013 through 2016 Bowl games in compliance with Board Policy I.J. and the terms submitted as Attachment 1. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Terrell recognized the presence of Kevin McDonald, Executive Director of the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl and turned the time over to him for comments.

Mr. McDonald spoke briefly about the Bowl game and tent village indicating the tent village has been a big part of the Bowl Game in providing revenue. Over the last six years since Mr. McDonald has been Executive Director, tent village has have been incident free. They have asked to move tent village to a different location because of the construction at BSU. He commented the Bowl Game has been a major part of the community for over ten (10) years and has made a positive impact on the economics of the city of Boise. The Famous Idaho Potato Bowl will earn revenues from the lease of the corporate tents. The university will also earn revenues from the lease of the stadium. Bowl management has reported no incidences associated with the event.

Mr. Terrell asked how the Bowl is perceived overall and throughout the nation. Mr. McDonald responded positively and said the disconnect that existed previously with the name of the Humanitarian Bowl has faded with the rename of the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl. Since then, they have seen substantial increase in sponsorships, ticket sales and participation, and on a national level they are celebrating their 16th annual game this year. Mr. McDonald expressed appreciation for the partnership with the state of Idaho, city of Boise, Boise State University and the University of Idaho.

At this time, the unanimous consent was requested to return to item three on the agenda. There were no objections.

9. Boise State University – Alcohol Permit for 2012 Home Football Games – Stueckle Sky Center

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Soltman/Atchley): To approve the request by Boise State University to allow the sale of alcohol in the Sky Center during home games, Famous Idaho Potato Bowl, and the 2013 Spring Game in full compliance with Board Policy I.J for the 2012/13 football season. The motion carried with a five-to-two vote. Mr. Terrell and Mr. Lewis voted nay.

Mr. Soltman reminded the Board members that Mr. Terrell had requested to speak in the aggregate to the next several agenda items regarding alcohol permits. Mr. Terrell requested the presidents come forward for discussion of alcohol permits. He commented on his understanding of monetary gain by having alcohol on campus and also the advantages of public relations at these games. However, Mr. Terrell expressed concern about sending the wrong message to students by issuing these alcohol permits. He felt there is a double standard shown to students with having alcohol at athletic events and felt that the Board is not setting the right example for students. He asked the presidents to provide a response to the importance of having alcohol at football events specifically.

President Vailas responded for Idaho State University (ISU) commenting on the long standing cultural expectation to serve alcohol at sporting events, along with it being a revenue generator. He felt there is a commitment to the people and the revenue helps support other sports as well. Dr. Vailas commented there are policies that are followed in allowing alcohol at events on campus, adding it is important it is policed properly.

Dr. Kustra from Boise State University (BSU) responded with regard to tailgating and indicated it is a culture that has gone on for generations. He felt it is in fact increasing on all campuses nationwide as a family friendly and social gathering and has long been understood as somewhere people can bring their beverages to enjoy during the event, alcoholic or not. Dr. Kustra added that Boise State polices their policy thoroughly and commented that if alcohol were to be banned on campus, it would be impossible to effectively police it, and further it would hurt revenues.

Dr. Kustra commented their policy is reasonable and checks behavior. He added that there are isolated incidents, but the reports from BSU and any of the other campuses do not show that alcohol is creating a major problem. He commented on the benefit of entertaining donors and how those donors support universities through events where food and alcoholic beverages are available. Dr. Kustra summarized they are part of a society that over the years has increased alcohol at events, but at the same time have cracked down on overuse and abuse at these events as well. He felt alcohol is not a major issue on the BSU campus, reminding Board members they have a system in place that has been working well with very few incidents, keeping alcohol out of where it doesn't belong and only for those over 21.

President Nellis from the University of Idaho echoed the remarks of Dr. Kustra and responded they monitor the events closely where alcohol is served and encourage responsible alcohol consumption. He commented the donors also have an expectation that alcohol is available on campus at sporting events. He said there have been a limited number of incidents off campus and there are significant penalties for students who violate the rules and policies on misuse of alcohol. Dr. Nellis recalled a recent report that indicated alcohol incidences are actually declining. He added that at their permitted events, he is not aware of one incident that has occurred regarding alcohol abuse.

President Fernandez indicated Lewis-Clark State College has not served alcohol at sporting events with the exception of VIP events, fundraising events and community events. He said there is one exception to this, which is a reception before the World Series. There are few isolated misuse incidents, but they are not rising. He said their student athletes are held at a higher standard as well. He echoed the sentiments of the other presidents and commented favorably about experiences he has had at the University of Idaho sporting events where alcohol has been served.

Mr. Terrell thanked the presidents for their responses and asked the Planning and Policy chair Don Soltman for the committee to review the alcohol policies and provide an update on how the policy may be cleaned up, if there should be a cap on alcohol permits, the timelines that are set forth for football games for when alcohol service begins and ends, and how the Board should react to tailgating.

Dr. Goesling commented that he concurs with Mr. Terrell, but his concern is that they have already reviewed this material in detail with the Athletics Committee.

Mr. Lewis asked Mr. Terrell about his thoughts on what the Board should aspire to and the objectives he has in mind. Mr. Terrell responded about his opposition to having alcohol on campus and that it should not be acceptable as the norm. He feels they should have a no-alcohol policy except in certain areas and there should be caps on the alcohol permits issued. He sees no benefit of having alcohol on campus and would like to see it have less visibility than it presently has.

Mr. Lewis responded in thanks for Mr. Terrell's leadership on this issue and for challenging the Board to think differently about it. Mr. Lewis said he was surprised by the responses of the presidents and encouraged them to be leaders and not followers in regards to allowing alcohol permits, meaning they don't have to issue the permits just because it is commonplace nationwide. He expressed concern that the culture is suggesting a successful football program has a successful tailgating culture. He agrees with Mr. Terrell that the example set is not the best for families, children and students; and that it would be interesting to make the statement to the students and community by not having alcohol on campus.

Dr. Kustra responded that he differs from the suggestion that the presidents are not culture leaders. He felt that there is a general understanding in society that one can use alcohol in a social setting in moderation without reaching a state of inebriation and felt wine and beer are as widely accepted as water or lemonade. He said the real issue is not the service of alcohol itself, but how much is consumed. Dr. Kustra suggested considering options on regulating how much alcohol is consumed at games, and not prohibition in general, as something to consider.

There was further discussion about the topic of alcohol consumption at football games. In regard to tailgating where moderation is likely not occurring in some instances, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Terrell were concerned with promoting that kind of culture to students and families.

INSTRUCTION, RESEARCH & STUDENT AFFAIRS (IRSA)

1. Complete College Idaho Plan

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Westerberg/Atchley): To approve the postsecondary degree and certificate projections as presented. A roll call vote was taken and the motion carried four-to-three. Mr. Terrell, Dr. Goesling and President Edmunds voted nay on the motion.

Substitute Motion: M/S (Terrell/Soltman): I move to send this item back to the IRSA committee. Mr. Westerberg clarified that this motion refers only to the allocation of numbers back to the committee. Mr. Terrell chose to withdraw the motion. Unanimous consent was requested and granted to withdraw the motion.

M/S (Westerberg/Atchley): I move to approve the Complete College Idaho plan as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Westerberg turned the floor over to Selena Grace from the Board office who introduced Scott Grothe and Jessica Piper, also from the Board office; and Byron Yankee, Senior Policy Advisor from the Idaho Business Coalition for Educational Excellence (IBCEE). State Board Executive Director Mike Rush provided a brief summary and overview of the Complete College Idaho Plan to the Board members. He discussed some of the strategies and collaborative efforts that will help Idaho reach those goals and indicated they are ready to take the next step which involves the refining of the 60% goal in terms of specific responsibility for institutions and the approval of the revised plan itself.

Bryon Yankee indicated at the Coalition's meeting Tuesday, they changed their name to Idaho Business for Education or IBE. He announced from that same meeting that they adopted Idaho's 60% goal directly and established a two-year priority with a focus on increasing enrollment and retention rates. He indicated IBE is eager to provide support and opportunities for this focus throughout the state. Mr. Yankee provided some background on his work on a college access network project which looked at a way to go across the state and interact with a large cross-section of Idaho students and individuals to gather data and information about how to increase college access and the percentage of students who will go on to some form of postsecondary education. In doing this, a series of surveys were developed after which focus groups and a design team met to analyze the data obtained and provide recommendations.

Mr. Yankee indicated a document was developed from this analysis that will be available soon for review. He shared some of the high points they identified and that the biggest barrier to postsecondary education for most is how to pay for the education; the second largest barrier was the lack of financial aid. All groups reported that parents had the greatest influence on whether students chose some sort of program after high school, and that by supporting parents in providing needed information earlier and more frequently during a student's secondary education could both prepare and assist the students and the parents. He added that the lack of family support can be detrimental.

Mr. Yankee listed several areas within the community that could assist in being a source of information for parents such as banks, clubs, state agencies, non-profit organizations. He emphasized the importance of creating a collaborative network among these groups to improve communication and promote the shared focus of increasing postsecondary education to help promote a college-going culture. Mr. Yankee shared some observations and findings from meetings with focus groups, and commented that when stakeholders were surveyed on how they would rate the economic impact of Idaho reaching the 60% goal, 89% rated reaching that goal as valuable or very valuable.

Mr. Yankee shared some broad recommendations from the findings which included creating a readily accessible database of Idaho scholarships, providing earlier and expanded access to financial planning for parents and students, expanding the usage of existing resources and Career Information Systems (CIS), increasing the access to information to a broader audience in a more focused way, and developing communication and network strategies.

Mr. Yankee expressed his appreciation for being part of the CCI Plan and committee. He pointed out the congruence between the strategies identified by the focus groups and the CCI Plan.

Ms. Grace indicated that a complete copy of the revised plan was included in the agenda materials to Board members. She provided the main highlights of the revised plan which included additional focus on statewide initiatives along with institution and agency initiatives. She commented they had highlighted five strategies and added a new strategy: leverage partnerships. They removed demystify college because the initiatives and activities align better with strengthening the pipeline and structure for success. Additional changes included more direct focus on initiatives and activities that are both statewide and at the institution and agency level.

Dr. Rush offered some comments on the refinement of the 60% goal. He indicated the 25-34 year old target was not picked to limit what institutions do or to discriminate against the older age group. It was picked to target that group of people who are going to have the most impact on our economy for the longest period of time. He also addressed how they intend to define what is counted in the 60% goal and indicated they are still having some difficulty with the data because there is not specific census data available to measure by; the census data measures by some college.

Scott Grothe from the Board office presented an updated review of the data analysis since the December Board meeting. He commented that we are around 35%-36% presently in regards to the 60% goal. He identified a recent development that could impact the ability to measure the data in the future, commenting that the U.S. House of Representatives has voted to eliminate the Census Bureau's American Community Survey. If this happens, it will eliminate our ability to track the percent of 25-34 year-olds with an associate's degree or higher. He commented that they expect to hear more about this in the next few months.

On refining the 60% goal, the Board office reconciled historical degree production with the subsequent Census Bureau population education attainment levels. Those historical reconciliation factors were applied to recent and future goal-related credential production to get the projections presented today. In doing this work along with additional vetting among staff and institution analysts, assumptions were validated on population estimates, in-out migration rates, and age of the student at graduation. Mr. Grothe pointed out that 20% of our graduates are beyond the age of 35; 37% are between the ages of 25-34 and 43% are younger than 25 years of age.

In comparing Idaho to other Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) states, Idaho is at 31% for those with an associate's degree or higher. The WICHE average is 37.2% and the U.S. average is 39.3%. Mr. Grothe summarized data from the other categories and indicated that staff recommends Idaho aspire to education levels of the top seven performing WICHE states. In looking at how Idaho might compare to the top seven performing WICHE states, the public institutions need to collectively confer on average 16.3% per year between now and 2020. Mr. Grothe pointed out in attaining this goal we will likely be boosting the education level of non-targeted populations as well.

Mr. Soltman asked if there has been an institutional break down done. Mr. Grothe responded that has not been done, and to do so would require guesswork in estimating those numbers. Mr. Soltman responded that unless the institutions receive feedback, they will not know how they are doing in relation to the goal. Dr. Rush indicated that if this motion is approved, it is the first time they have set a goal by degree level. In doing so, it will give institutions significantly more information than they have had in the general 60% goal. He recommended each of the institutions need to determine how much they can contribute in consideration of the refined goal.

There was further discussion on the refined analysis and how institutions and community colleges will be contributing to the goals. President Edmunds commented that he is very uncomfortable with the projection of certificates and asked if the chair of the committee would consider segregating the motion into two components. IRSA Chair Richard Westerberg agreed to the request.

Ms. Atchley asked for further clarification on the projections. Ms. Grace responded the projections evaluated were based on current workforce trends with the intent to increase educational attainment along with the standard of living.

The meeting recessed until 1:00 for lunch. The meeting reconvened at 1:16 pm.

She said this will be the first PhD in Nursing program in the state of Idaho and that there is a real need for this program.

Ms. Atchley asked about the number of faculty and students in the program. Dr. Neil clarified there will be three full time faculty and six students per year admitted to the program in the initial three years. Ms. Atchley asked where the funds come from for this program. Dr. Nancy Renn, Interim Director for the School of Nursing, responded that the funding comes from a reallocation from a program that is going away.

Tracie Bent from the Board office provided an overview on this informational item. Ms. Bent indicated the report provided to Board members is based on the initial request from the May 2011 Board Retreat. An initial report was brought to the Board in October 2011. From there came a request for additional information and that the vice presidents of research (VPRs) work with the IRSA Committee. In doing so, the VPRs established some additional matrix which is the hard data found in the later portion of the report.

Mr. Soltman asked what the IRSA Committee intends to do with the report and desired clearer information. Mr. Westerberg responded that the Committee intended the report be for the edification of the Board relative to the question of the value of research in the overall subject of education; it was intended to show that research has value and how it has value in the overall education mission of the institutions. Ms. Atchley responded that there is a need for a clearer picture on the findings of the report.

Mr. Westerberg suggested forwarding any questions on this item to IRSA and that additional information would be provided from the IRSA Committee and the institution VPRs.

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the request by Boise State University to enter into a multi-year employment agreement with Shawn Garus, Head Women's Volleyball Coach, for a term commencing July 1, 2012, and terminating January 31, 2015, in substantial conformance with the agreement submitted to the Board as Attachment 1. The motion carried unanimously.

2. Chief Executive Officer Employment Agreements/TermsBOARD ACTION

M/S (Westerberg/Soltman): To approve the amended employment agreement for Dr. Nellis as President of the University of Idaho, incorporating the salary approved at the May 2012 Special Board meeting and extending the current contract term for one (1) additional year, as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

M/S (Westerberg/Goesling): To approve the amended employment agreement for Dr. Kustra as President of Boise State University, incorporating the salary approved at the May 2012 Special Board meeting and extending the current contract term for one (1) additional year, as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

M/S (Westerberg/Lewis): To approve the amended employment agreement for Dr. Vailas as President of Idaho State University, incorporating the salary approved at the May 2012 Special Board meeting and extending the current contract term for one (1) additional year, as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

M/S (Westerberg/Lewis): To approve the amended employment agreement for Dr. Fernandez as President of Lewis-Clark State College, for a term of three years and incorporating the salary approved at the May 2012 Special Board meeting. The motion carried with a six-to-one vote. Dr. Goesling voted nay.

M/S (Westerberg/Soltman): To approve the amended employment terms for Dr. Rush as Executive Director of the Idaho State Board of Education, setting the salary at $58.76/hr or $122,220.80 annually. The motion carried unanimously.

BUSINESS AFFAIRS & HUMAN RESOURCES (BAHR) - Section II – Finance

1. FY 2013 Line Item Budget Requests

BOARD ACTION

Mr. Westerberg asked for unanimous consent to modify the original motion to read:

M/S (Westerberg/Terrell): To approve Occupancy Costs and the funding levels associated with Unfunded EWA as FY 2014 line items for the college and universities, and to direct the college and universities to identify specific line item expenditures related to the EWA funding levels along with one other top priority line item for Board consideration at the August meeting and to approve the FY 2014 line items as listed on the Line Items Summary at Tab 1 pages 4-5. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Westerberg introduced the item and provided a brief explanation of the motion. He indicated the recommendation is to approve the occupancy costs and funding levels associated with unfunded EWA today, and leave the additional line item request to come before the Board in August for approval. Mr. Lewis asked for clarification on the second portion of the motion. Mr. Freeman clarified that the pages referred to in the second part of the motion are for the community colleges, agencies and special programs. Dr. Rush clarified that creating a blank for each line item allows for return to the item to make change or do something different.

2. FY 2012 Intercollegiate Athletics Budget Report

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Goesling): To accept the Athletics Operating Budget reports for Boise State University, Idaho State University, University of Idaho and Lewis-Clark State College, as presented. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Terrell introduced the item and asked the institution presidents to come forward for discussion. President Nellis reported that the University of Idaho budget presented was a balanced budget and they are pleased with it. President Vailas reported Idaho State University is in a positive cash flow this year and their infrastructure is improving as well. President Kustra reported Boise State University's budget is balanced, but with leaving the Mountain West Conference they forfeited that conference's distribution. Settlement and contribution dollars helped with balancing the budget despite the Mountain West forfeiture. President Fernandez reported Lewis-Clark State College has a positive balance on the balance sheet.

Mr. Lewis asked Dr. Kustra if there were other issues that played into BSU's operating budget given the loss of the Mountain West Conference. Dr. Kustra responded the gap from the Mountain West Conference was filled with settlement, contribution and Bronco Athletics Association (BAA) dollars. Ms. Pearson clarified that for FY12 the operating budget is positive. In FY 13 they are anticipating a revenue hit with the loss of the Mountain West Conference. For FY13 they have additional contributions that will help cushion the budget and as they get into that year, they will be able to give a better assessment on what the impact will be.

Mr. Lewis commented that even with the contributions there will be a shortfall, and asked if this would continue into the following year or just be a one-time event. Ms. Pearson responded it is a one-time event due to the Mountain West Conference exit and they will realize other conference revenues in FY14.

3. Amendment to Board Policy – Section III.T. and V.X. – First Reading

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Goesling): To approve the first reading of proposed amendments to Board Policy moving Section III.T., paragraphs 1-4, Intercollegiate Athletics to Section V.X., Intercollegiate Athletics, and renumber Section III.T.5., Student Athletes – Conduct, as Section III.T.1., with all revisions as presented. The motion carried unanimously.

4. Universities' Intellectual Property Policy

BOARD ACTION

President Edmunds requested unanimous consent to postpone this agenda item and the motion until revised motion language was presented in writing for the BAHR chair and Board members later during this meeting. There were no objections.

M/S (Atchley/Goesling): To approve the Intellectual Property policies of the University of Idaho, Boise State University and Idaho State University as submitted and to direct the institutions to collaboratively develop and implement a system wide research and technology transfer organization similar to the WiSys model. A roll call vote was taken on the revised motion which failed with a three-to-four vote. Dr. Goesling, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Westerberg and President Edmunds voted against the amended motion. Mr. Luna abstained from voting on account of his absence during discussion.

M/S (Terrell/Lewis) Mr. Terrell requested unanimous consent for the item to go back to the IRSA committee. The motion carried five to two. Mr. Westerberg and Ms. Atchley voted nay on the motion. Mr. Luna abstained from voting.

President Nellis commented on the amended motion indicating that they would like to determine the feasibility if this will work for Idaho rather than being directed to do it without that determination. Dr. Kustra echoed the remarks of Dr. Nellis and added it would be wise to study the feasibility of such things rather than jumping right into them.

Ms. Atchley clarified her thoughts behind the proposed amendment. She felt that it was too easy to look at feasibility for a long time and to resist the change; she felt there is a need to move forward on intellectual property.

Dr. Nellis responded suggesting the Board set a deadline for the feasibility phase. Mr. Lewis felt that what we are talking about is potentially far more complex than it may appear and it would take a substantial amount of work. He supported the recommendation of Dr. Nellis about requesting a deadline in determining feasibility. Dr. Goesling recommended returning this item to the President's Council for a report back to the Board at the October meeting. Mr. Lewis urged the group to move carefully on this item and to give it thoughtful consideration and whether it is consistent with what we want to see happen as a system.

There was further discussion after the vote on the original motion. Mr. Lewis asked if during the development of the policies the institutions worked with any industry consortiums or groups to develop the policy and to get a view from private industry. Representatives for each of the institutions responded that they had worked with advisory groups on this policy.

Mr. Lewis commented there is tremendous tension in the intellectual property arena and provided an illustrative example of an infringement lawsuit and background for his concern. Mr. Lewis asked if in their policy there is a statement that the goal is to interact with industry in a collaborative way that helps provide real benefits and technology transfer developments with those institutions for the purpose of economic development of those institutions within the state. President Nellis responded this work is being guided by Board Policy II.B., where it says "the Board claims ownership of any intellectual property development for any of the following circumstances . . .".

Mr. Westerberg expressed concern as well on the institution policies that may not have been vetted or collaborated on. Mr. Satterlee spoke to Mr. Lewis' concern and said they would not be opposed to making sure the policy statements are more clearly stated. Ms. Atchley commented that with the institutional input it might be an incentive to develop an insulating intellectual property policy.

There was extensive discussion around this item and what should be done with it. Mr. Terrell recommended the item return to committee for further development and discussion. President Edmunds recommended the item go back to IRSA.

5. Board Policy V.R. – Professional Fees – Second Reading

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the second reading of proposed amendments to Board Policy Section V.R.3.b.iv., Professional Fees, as presented in Attachment 1. It is the intent of the Board that all current Board-approved professional fees would be grandfathered in under this policy. The motion carried unanimously.

6. Board Policy V.R. – Professional Fees – Second Reading

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the second reading of proposed amendments to Board Policy Section V.R.3.b.v., Self-Support Certificate and Program Fees, with the following changes: (1) in V.R.3.b.v.3) strike the phrase “at the same meeting institutions submit proposals for tuition and fees,” and (2) change V.R.3.b.v.4) to provide that an audit is required every three years instead of annually. It is the intent of the Board that all current Board-approved self support fees would be grandfathered in under this policy. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Freeman offered some information about the materials provided to Board members, summarized staff comments and recommended the motion.

Ms. Pearson requested, as they continue to add self-support programs that they have some flexibility in setting those fees based on what the financials indicate they need to charge.

Mr. Freeman clarified for the Board that once the self-support program fee is approved, any subsequent increase in the fee would require Board approval. It is not an annual review; just if there is any increase.

Mr. Luna joined the meeting at 2:30 at which time the meeting returned to item 4 of the BAHF Finance agenda.

7. Boise State University – Charter Agreement – Frontier Airlines

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve Boise State University’s request to enter into an agreement with Frontier Airlines for air charter services for the 2012-2016 football seasons and authorize the Vice President for Finance and Administration to execute the current agreement and renewal agreements through 2016. The motion carried unanimously.

8. Boise State University – Self-Support Funding for Twin Falls Baccalaureate ProgramsBOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the request by Boise State University to move the following Twin Falls baccalaureate programs to the self-support model effective fiscal year 2014:

- Bachelor of Business Administration – Accountancy
- Bachelor of Business Administration – General Business
- Bachelor of Arts or Science – Criminal Justice
- Bachelor of Social Work

The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Lewis tied this request back to what was approved under item 6 which are the rules relating to self-support academic program fees. He asked Ms. Pearson for an explanation if the request meets the requirement set forth on Tab 6, page 3, item B.

Ms. Pearson indicated they did vet this item and felt comfortable bringing this degree under this policy because the program occurs offsite from the campus. The interest of turning this program into the self-support category is to say students will not pay the recreation center fees and all the money would go into the instructional part of the program. She indicated they feel this is more beneficial to the student. Currently faculty are paid from appropriated funds.

Mr. Lewis asked if the fee would be no different than the per-credit charge that they would otherwise pay as part of their tuition. Ms. Pearson responded that question would be difficult to respond to in case the program costs changed in Twin Falls and needed to be adjusted. The intent is to stay within the current fees that Boise State students pay.

Mr. Lewis asked if the program complies with each of the criteria in the policy. Ms. Pearson responded on each of the criteria and indicated they are substantially compliant.

Mr. Freeman pointed out these are degree completion programs for students who have already received their associates degree.

Ms. Grace clarified the intent of this request regarding the students who don't have access to the recreation center and additional services that students on campus do. It was intended for the institution to have a better ability to manage the program.

There was additional dialogue regarding this item. Ms. Pearson indicated that when this program was developed there was not a self-support policy. They believe they are following standard process for an undergraduate program and all of the fees would go where they are supposed to go according to Board policy.

Mr. Lewis felt there is a better solution for this situation. He felt the problem being dealt with is not directly related to the self-support mechanism. He suggested the committee may want to develop a policy for this kind of scenario. President Edmunds recommended returning the item to the BAHR committee to work with the FVPs on the item.

9. Boise State University – Six Year Capital Improvement Plan Amendment

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the Six-Year Capital Improvement Plan as amended for Boise State University. The motion carried unanimously.

10. Idaho State University – Issuance of General Revenue Refunding Bonds

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Westerberg): To approve a Supplemental Resolution for the Series 2012 Bonds, the title of which is as follows: A SUPPLEMENTAL RESOLUTION of the Board of Trustees of Idaho State University authorizing the issuance and sale of General Revenue and Refunding Bonds, Series 2012, in the principal amount of up to $28,280,000; authorizing the execution and delivery of a Bond Purchase Agreement and providing for other matters relating to the authorization, issuance, sale and payment of the Series 2012 Bonds. A roll call vote was required. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Fletcher from Idaho State University provided an overview for the Board members of the proposed bond refinancing. He shared some new news related to the item, indicating that according to the financial advisors, this is the best time in the market in 40 years to refinance and the interest rates will reflect that. He also commented that the report on the University's rating from Standard and Poor's was as good as the rating report provided by Moody's. Mr. Fletcher indicated that they are not extending the maturities of any of the offerings, they are being held until 2023 which is the same as their current offerings. They have no plans to further extend their debt capacity by making additional bond offerings.

Mr. Lewis asked if the maturity schedule was the same as the bonds they have replaced. Mr. Fletcher responded it was.

President Edmunds asked about the 8% mark related to bonded indebtedness. Mr. Freeman clarified that the accrediting body recommended a ceiling and the 8% was what was agreed upon by the institution finance officers. Mr. Lewis added that the discussion occurred several years ago and the finance officers from the institutions recommended it as an appropriate level. Mr. Terrell indicated the BAHR Committee would review the percentage related to bond indebtedness further.

Dr. Goesling commented that now would be a good time for other institutions to be looking at refinancing bonds. He also asked if BAHR should discuss the possibility of having a Board issued bond to help catch up on the backlog of maintenance items. Mr. Terrell responded that the refinancing of bonds is left up to the Vice Presidents of Finance at the institutions and that the Board does not involve itself in that. Mr. Freeman indicated the Idaho State Building Authority has been refinancing a number of 2003 bonds related to projects on each campus recently, and regarding deferred maintenance, there will be future discussions on this subject with the Idaho State Building Authority.

11. Idaho State University – Athletic Outdoor Field Renovation Project

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Westerberg): To approve Idaho State University’s six-year capital construction plan as amended and to authorize the University to proceed with planning and design for an athletic outdoor practice field renovation project for a cost not to exceed $140,000. The motion carried unanimously.

12. University of Idaho – College Street Property Improvement Project

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Goesling): To approve deeds of dedication to the City of Moscow in substantial conformance to the forms submitted to the Board in Attachment 1, and to authorize the University’s Vice President for Finance and Administration to execute these documents. The motion carried unanimously.

13. University of Idaho – Dependent Tuition/Fee Reduction

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To waive Board policy V.R.3., and to approve the request by the University of Idaho to create a Dependent Tuition and Fee Benefit as set forth in Attachment 2 as submitted to the Board. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Westerberg asked if they see this as an employee benefit or as increased enrollment. Mr. Smith from the University of Idaho responded they see it as an employee benefit.

LATE AGENDA ITEM

Business Affairs and Human Resources

1. University of Idaho – Collaborative Research and Marketing Agreement

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Terrell/Soltman): To approve the request by the University of Idaho to enter into the collaborative research and marketing agreement with Limagrain Cereal Seeds, LLC in substantial conformance to the form submitted to the Board in Attachment 1, and to authorize the university's Vice President for Finance and Administration to execute the Agreement and all necessary documents ancillary to the Agreement. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Lewis asked how the new technology is to be marketed. Kent Nelson from the University of Idaho responded that the marketing aspect uses a series of licensing agreements back and forth between the university and Limagrain for plant varieties that come from this research. It is being done in conjunction with the Wheat Commission.

Ms. Atchley asked if they have concerns about the limited liability corporation (LLC) structure in terms of having assets if this agreement doesn't work as planned. Mr. Nelson responded they will require insurance and are also supported by the Limagrain of France. If they fail at some point, the university has the option to pull back their licenses and continue their research.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

1. Superintendent's Update

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Tom Luna, provided a brief update from the State Department of Education (SDE). He updated the Board on one of the components of Students Come First and the implementation of it. They are moving high schools to a one-to-one ratio of students to mobile computing devices. They will begin implementing and delivering the laptops to the schools; September of 2013 is when students start receiving these devices. They will furnish 1/3 of the high schools per year over a three year period. The schools were polled to determine who would like to be in the first third and 85% responded; from there they used a detailed process to narrow it down to 1/3. They are currently in the process of selecting the provider and that should be announced in July 2012.

2. Temporary Proposed Rule IDAPA 08.02.01.250, Rules Governing Uniformity, Fractional ADA calculations and payments, and division of ADA for Dual Enrolled Students

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Soltman): To approve the temporary and proposed changes to IDAPA 08.02.01.250, Rules Governing Uniformity, Fractional ADA Calculations and Payments as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

3. Proposed Rule – IDAPA 08.02.02.016 – Mathematics In-Service Program Waiver

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Soltman): To approve the proposed rule changes to IDAPA 08.02.02.016 Rules Governing Uniformity, providing waivers from the State of Idaho Math In-service Requirement as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna indicated the proposed rule ensures that state resources in providing the MTI course are focused on current teachers. Therefore, the proposed rule would offer a waiver to those educators who are not currently employed or live outside of the state of Idaho from taking the MTI course. The rule also offers a standard three year interim certificate for those educators who move to the state and haven't taken the MTI course to be certified while they take the course.

Mr. Lewis asked if anyone who lives outside the state could get a waiver. Mr. Luna responded that this allows those who live outside the state to keep their certificate current and if they return to Idaho to teach, it allows them three years to get their MTI certificate. There was further discussion about the language of the rule and Mr. Luna recommended it have a language clarifying change when it returns for the second reading.

4. Temporary Proposed Rule – IDAPA 08.02.03.105 – On-Line Learning Requirement for High School Graduation

BOARD ACTION

Mr. Luna requested unanimous consent to withdraw the original motion. There were no objections. He then stated a revised motion.

M/S (Luna/Lewis): To approve the Temporary/Proposed rule IDAPA 08.02.03.105 with the amendment to section to 01.d. allowing students to be exempt from the final year of high school math requirement if they have taken six (6) credits of math prior to the fall of their final year of high school including at least two (2) semesters of an Advanced Placement or Dual Credit calculus or higher level course. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna indicated the proposed change concerning online graduation requirements will allow those students graduating in 2016 to use either asynchronous or synchronous online classes to fulfill their online learning graduation requirement. For the math graduation requirements, students will be able to appeal to their local school district board of trustees to not take math in their senior year of high school if they have met the requirements as outlined in the proposed revisions. This rule is a temporary rule because if a proposed rule were approved instead, the change would not go into effect until the end of the 2013 after the legislative session.

Mr. Luna indicated that for some students who are advanced, providing them an opportunity to not take math their senior year opens up more advance opportunities. He summarized for Board members the materials they received showing the level of math a student must take before graduating from high school. The question is for those who are accelerated math students seeking to be waived from math their senior year, what higher levels of math does the Board want them to accomplish. The math 170 calculus course is what is currently recommended.

5. Proposed Rule – IDAPA 08.02.03.118 – Rules Governing Thoroughness, Curricular Materials Selection and On-Line Course Approval

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Atchley): To approve the proposed rule changes to IDAPA 08.02.03.118 as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna commented the approval process for textbooks has been a fee based system. For approval of text books, there will be no additional fiscal impact, merely a codification of existing practice. For online course review, the funds generated will help defray the cost of completing those reviews.

6. Proposed Rule – IDAPA 08.02.03.160 – Rules Governing Thoroughness, Safe Environment and Discipline

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Goesling): To approve the proposed amendment to IDAPA 08.02.03.160, Rules Governing Thoroughness, Safe Environment and Discipline as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna commented this rule will help to ensure that Idaho public schools provide and support a safe environment conducive to learning that promotes healthy relationship skills and opportunities for Idaho students and addresses the growing problem of adolescent relationship abuse and sexual assault in Idaho schools.

He said this rule will have local districts add adolescent relationship abuse and sexual assault prevention to their current comprehensive Safe Environment and Discipline policies and procedures and review these policies annually and update them based on current research and practices. Training, sample policy language, and resource information/materials will be supported by SDE and community partners, including the Idaho Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence and its project, the Center for Healthy Teen Relationships.

7. Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) Waiver – Cut Scores for College Readiness Approval

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Goesling): To approve the College Entrance/Placement Exam Benchmarks and encompassing goals as part of the ESEA Waiver as submitted. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna summarized this rule deals with the state Board setting a benchmark score that will be used in the five-star rating system for high schools, specifically those that have grade twelve. On the Star Rating point matrix in the first year, all five points possible will be awarded to schools that have 25% of their students hit the sub-score or the composite benchmark for any of the four eligible tests: ACT, SAT, ACCUPLACER or COMPASS. The points awarded scale down from there and are included in Attachment 3. Over the next three years, the percentage of students meeting this benchmark is recommended to increase by 10%.

There was some discussion about the benchmarks. Mr. Luna responded that they look at two things. They have to hit the target for each of the sub categories or they have to receive a composite score of 1550 or higher. He went on to further explain some details of the materials handed out to Board members and was assisted by Ms. Grace in clarifying that information.

Ms. Atchley asked why the community colleges have higher numbers for success than the four-year institutions. Ms. Grace responded that the intent of the tests is to assess students' content knowledge at a point in time. They will be looking at those scores to assess if they have the right benchmarks in place.

There was further discussion around the rating process. Ms. Atchley asked if this would be an on-going process. Mr. Luna responded it was limited to a three year process. Mr. Lewis reminded the Board members what a great thing it is to have these tests and entrance exams to help students and also to use them as an accountability tool. Mr. Luna added that it has been ten years where we have only had one measure to determine how schools were doing academically and now we have multiple measures and rankings; commenting it has been a step in the right direction.

8. Excision-Annexation of Property – Lakeland/Coeur d'Alene School Districts

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Soltman): To accept the findings and conclusions of the hearing officer and to approve the excision and annexation of property from the Lakeland School District to the Coeur d'Alene School District. The motion carried unanimously.

9. Northwest Nazarene University – Proposed Online Teaching Endorsement Program Approval

BOARD ACTION

M/S (Luna/Terrell): To accept the Professional Standards Commission recommendation to conditionally approve the Online Teaching Endorsement program offered through Northwest Nazarene University. The motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Luna commented that in order to maintain status as an Idaho approved program and produce graduates eligible for Idaho teacher certification, Northwest Nazarene University must have all new programs reviewed for State approval.

OTHER BUSINESS

There being no further business, a motion to adjourn was entertained.

M/S (Edmunds/Goesling): To adjourn the meeting at 4:41 p.m. The motion carried unanimously.

SUBJECT

Board Direction to the Medical Education Subcommittee of the Board

REFERENCE

January 26, 2009

Move to delete recommendation number 5 from Attachment 1 and renumber items 6-11 to read items 5-10. And, in doing so, to approve the Report of Findings and Recommendations of the State Board of Education Medical Education Study Committee contained in Attachment 1, and to direct that the Report be forwarded to the Governor and the Legislature.

April 16-17, 2009

The State Board of Education provided instruction to the Medical Education Subcommittee with this motion: To embrace the principles that appear in the Board materials, as prepared by Board members and staff, and that the Board refers the matter to a medical education subcommittee of the Board that will work out the implementation plan, engaging appropriate stakeholders.

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The Board has been engaged with stakeholders and the institutions for a number of years about how to best provide medical education in the state. In 2009, a paper containing findings and a series of recommendations was presented to the Board by the Medical Education Subcommittee. The Board adopted the specific recommendations in January and asked the medical education subcommittee to work out an implementation plan in April. Those recommendations included expanding residencies, increasing the number of medical education seats and developing a long range strategy for expanding medical education in the state. When the economy weakened, these efforts were significantly slowed. The Board did proceed with a study conducted by WWAMI on the best ways to expand medical education seats as well as some efforts to enhance residencies.

The Medical Education subcommittee is looking for some guidance from the Board as to how to proceed with recommendation number 4: The State Board of Education will oversee an initiative to engage all stakeholder groups (ISU, UI, BSU, LCSC, University of Washington, VA Medical Center, the hospitals, and the Idaho Medical Association) to jointly develop a collaborative and comprehensive plan for establishment of a 4-year, Idaho based MD program.

IMPACT

This direction will help the Board's Medical Education Subcommittee focus its efforts.

PLANNING, POLICY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
AUGUST 15, 2012

State Board of Education Medical Education Study Committee
Board-approved Recommendations
January 7, 2009

Status as of May 2012

1. Expand the development of graduate medical education (residency programs) opportunities in the State of Idaho focusing on primary care and rural practice. In partnership with Idaho hospitals, the VA, Idaho doctors, private enterprise and Idaho's colleges and universities, the State of Idaho should promote and assist the funding of these programs.

Status:

The Boise Internal Medicine (BIM) residency accepted its first incoming class of interns in FY 2011. The program will have 8 interns, 8 R2s and 8 R3s. State funding was requested in FY 2011 and FY 2012. No funding was appropriated.

Coeur d'Alene Family Medicine Residency has an planned start for 2014 at 6 residents per year. No State funding has been requested to date.

2. Immediately increase the State funding support for Idaho WWAMI students to expand the number of seats from 20 per year to 40 per year (adding 10 per year over the next two years) and encourage the WWAMI program to establish the full four years of medical education opportunity in Idaho.

Status:

No State funding has been requested or appropriated for expansion of WWAMI seats.

In November 2009 the Medical Education Study Committee charged the University of Washington School of Medicine (UWSOM) to proceed with a self-funded study of expanding the first-year class size in Idaho and establishing a second-year class in Idaho. UWSOM completed phase one (feasibility) of its study in November 2010 and phase two (cost analysis) in November 2011.

3. Expand the total number of medical seats for Idaho sponsored students to between 60 to 90 per year (an aggregate total of 240 to 360) as soon as practicable through partnerships with WWAMI, WICHE, University of Utah, osteopathic schools and other medical schools taking into consideration the following factors:
 - a. Quality
 - b. Return rate
 - c. Cost effectiveness
 - d. Retention

Status:

PLANNING, POLICY AND GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS
AUGUST 15, 2012

No State funding has been requested or appropriated for expansion of Idaho sponsored medical school seats.

4. The State Board of Education will oversee an initiative to engage all stakeholder groups (ISU, UI, BSU, LCSC, University of Washington ,VA Medical Center, the hospitals, and the Idaho Medical Association) to jointly develop a collaborative and comprehensive plan for establishment of a 4-year, Idaho based MD program.

Status:

In November 2009 the Medical Education Study Committee charged the University of Washington School of Medicine (UWSOM) to proceed with a self-funded study of expanding the first-year class size in Idaho and establishing a second-year class in Idaho. UWSOM completed phase one (feasibility) of its study in November 2010 and phase two (cost analysis) in November 2011.

5. Encourage medical school admission committees to use selection criteria for admission into Idaho sponsored medical seats which maximize potential for practice in primary care and rural areas.

Status:

Currently, Idaho students applying to the WWAMI program are interviewed and selected by the Idaho Admissions Committee (IAC) – made up of four Idaho physicians appointed by the State Board of Education. The IAC evaluates applicants' motivation for primary care as part of the interview process, taking into consideration information known to predict a primary care specialty choice such as demonstrated activities with underserved communities and rural upbringing.

UWSOM admissions criteria evaluate applications against minimum and average standards in the following eight specific areas: GPA, MCAT score, extracurricular activities, volunteer/community service, leadership, research, physician shadowing, and patient exposure. In addition, the contract with the University of Utah School of Medicine does not include a requirement for the use of selection criteria which maximize potential for practice in primary and rural areas. The contract does provide that "The School agrees to designate at least two Idaho licensed physicians approved by SBOE to serve on the School's Admissions Selection Committee for the purpose of assisting in the selection of the Idaho resident students to be admitted pursuant to this Agreement. ... The Idaho licensed physicians will also participate as full voting members in selection deliberations involving Idaho resident student applicants." The intent of this provision is that the Idaho physicians will help screen/prioritize students with an interest in practicing in primary care and rural/underserved areas.

6. Work with sponsored medical programs to ensure that Idaho medical students participate in an Idaho rural rotation (clerkship) as part of their program.

Status:

The WWAMI program has an enduring commitment to preparing students for practice in rural and underserved areas. To that end, WWAMI has two benchmark programs which expose students to rural and underserved communities.

(1) Rural/Underserved Opportunities Program (R/UOP)

This “is a four-week, elective immersion experience in community medicine for students between their first and second years of medical school. During their 4-week rotation, students live in rural or urban underserved communities throughout ... [the WWAMI region]. They work side-by-side with local physicians providing health care to underserved populations. ... Students receive stipends, travel money and assistance with housing expenses.”

(2) WWAMI Rural Integrated Training Experience (WRITE)

This “program provides third-year students with five months of extended education in rural community practices with primary care physicians and other healthcare professionals.”²³ Students move to teaching sites throughout the WWAMI region from February through June. Students are taught by physicians in the communities and by faculty associated with UWSOM.

The UUSOM contract provides the following:

Clinical Rotations in Idaho. The School will encourage Idaho sponsored students to participate in shadowing Idaho physicians after the first year of school and will offer electives during the senior year of school. As part of the regular course of instruction for an M.D. degree, students participate in ambulatory clinical rotations during the third year of training. The parties agree that the Idaho resident students enrolled pursuant to the cooperative program covered by this Agreement shall serve such ambulatory clinical rotations at facilities in the state of Idaho, to the extent such opportunities are reasonably available. ... The coordination of such ambulatory clinical rotations shall be the responsibility of the School. The School shall report annually to the SBOE on the status of student rotations in the state of Idaho.

7. Expand and enhance the current Idaho Rural Physician Incentive Program (RPIP)

Status:

In 2012 the Legislature passed H393 which moved administration of RPIP to the Department of Health & Welfare. The legislation also increased the annual award amount from $10,000 to $12,500.

SUBJECT

Idaho's Economy and Workforce

REFERENCE

August 2010	Board established an attainment goal that 60% of Idaho's 25-34 year olds will have a postsecondary degree or certificate by 2020.
August 2011	Board reviewed data regarding Idaho's status in meeting the 60% goal by 2020, and heard strategies to meet the goal.
December 2011	Board approved the framework for Complete College Idaho: A Plan for Growing Talent to Fuel Innovation and Economic Growth in the Gem State, and directed staff to obtain stakeholder feedback and buy-in, and bring back the plan for approval at the June 2012 Board meeting.
June 2012	Board reviewed and approved the Complete College Idaho Plan and staff recommendations on certificate and degree production necessary to support the 60% goal.

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

At the June 2012 Board meeting, staff presented projections on degree and certificate production for the public institutions to support the Boards 60% completion goal. The Board approved the projections as presented.

The projections were based on data available from state and national research findings including Idaho Department of Labor, U.S. Census Bureau, and Georgetown University Center on Education and the Workforce,

Staff recommended targets for certificates, Associate's, and Bachelor's degrees based on historical trends, and an aspirational average of the highest educational attainment levels of the top seven Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) states.

At its June 2012 Instruction, Research, and Student Affairs (IRSA) Committee meeting, the IRSA Committee heard from both the Department of Labor and the Department of Commerce regarding Idaho's workforce needs historically, and what those trends suggest both currently and in the future. While the Department of Labor's projections suggests that the jobs in Idaho in 2018 will require a relatively low postsecondary education attainment level, the Department of Commerce is targeting industry clusters throughout the state for growth. These clusters will require, in general, a higher level of educational attainment to attract and retain business and industry and build a more robust economy.

IMPACT

The Board's approval of certificate and degree production targets that are, in part, aspirational allow Idaho's public postsecondary institutions to be not only responsive to current workforce needs but also supportive of the state's overall direction in building a more knowledge-based economy with higher-skill, higher-wage job opportunities for Idaho citizens.

STAFF COMMENTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Idaho's economy has experienced significant changes over the past three decades. Staff has invited two presenters to speak about those changes and what the future for Idaho's economy and workforce might look like based on decisions made by policy makers.

John Glerum, Idaho business executive, entrepreneur and former director of the BSU TechCenter, will provide an overview of how Idaho's economic drivers have shifted over the last 30 years and what Idaho's economic strengths and opportunities are moving forward.

Gynii Gilliam, Chief Economic Development Officer, for the Idaho Department of Commerce, will present information provided to the IRSA Committee at their June meeting regarding the Career Clusters the Department of Commerce has identified..

College Majors, Unemployment and Earnings

Not all college degrees are created equal

The question, as we slowly dig out from under the wreckage left by the Great Recession, is unavoidable: “Is college worth it?” Our answer: “Yes, extensive research, ours included, finds that a college degree is still worth it.” A Bachelor’s degree is one of the best weapons a job seeker can wield in the fight for employment and earnings. And staying on campus to earn a graduate degree provides safe shelter from the immediate economic storm, and will pay off with greater employability and earnings once the graduate enters the labor market. Unemployment for students with new Bachelor’s degrees is an unacceptable 8.9 percent,¹ but it’s a catastrophic 22.9 percent for job seekers with a recent high school diploma—and an almost unthinkable 31.5 percent for recent high school dropouts.

¹The combined unemployment rate for both recent college graduates and experienced Bachelor’s degree holders is 5 percent.

HARD TIMES

Here is a look at several factors that current and future college students should consider as they choose their courses:

The risk of unemployment among recent college graduates depends on their major. The unemployment rate for recent graduates is highest in Architecture (13.9 percent) because of the collapse of the construction and home building industry in the recession. Unemployment rates are generally higher in non-technical majors, such as the Arts (11.1 percent), Humanities and Liberal Arts (9.4 percent), Social Science (8.9 percent)¹ and Law and Public Policy (8.1 percent).

Unemployment in majors related to computers and mathematics vary widely depending on the technical and scientific content of the major. Employers are still hiring technical computer specialists who can write software and invent new applications. But for information specialists who use software to manipulate, mine, and disseminate information, hiring slows down in recessions. We can see the difference in unemployment between people who invent computer technology as opposed to people who use computer technology. The unemployment rate for recent college graduates in Information Systems has spiked to 11.7 percent, while the rates for majors in Computer Science and Mathematics are 7.8 percent and 6.0 percent, respectively.

Computer majors are likely to bounce back strongly as the recovery proceeds. For example, the unemployment rate for recent college graduates who major in information systems is a hefty 11.7 percent, but only 5.4 percent for experienced workers who major in Information Systems.

The Education, Healthcare, Business and Professional Services industries have been the most stable employers for recent college graduates. Unemployment rates are relatively low (5.4 percent) for recent college students who majored in Healthcare and Education because these majors are attached to stable or growing industry sectors. Recent graduates in Psychology and Social Work have relatively low unemployment rates (7.3 percent) nearly half work in Healthcare and Education. The same is true for unemployment among recent college graduates who majored in the Life and Physical Sciences (7.7 percent). More than 60 percent of these recent college graduates who are working have landed in the Healthcare, Professional Contracting Businesses or Education sectors.

Business majors have low unemployment rates (7.4 percent) with the exception of those who specialize in Hospitality Management (9.1 percent), which is hampered by the ongoing slump in Travel and Tourism. Similarly, recent graduates in Engineering do relatively well (7.5 percent unemployment), except for Civil and Mechanical Engineers who are still suffering from the deep dive in manufacturing and construction activity.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN MAJORS RELATED TO COMPUTERS AND MATHEMATICS VARY WIDELY DEPENDING ON THE TECHNICAL AND SCIENTIFIC CONTENT OF THE MAJOR.

Majors that are more closely aligned with particular occupations and industries tend to experience lower unemployment rates. Majors such as Healthcare, Education and those related to technical occupations tend to have lower unemployment rates than more general majors, like Humanities and Liberal Arts, where graduates are broadly dispersed across occupations and industries. Unemployment rates for recent graduates in Healthcare and Education are 5.4 percent compared to 9.4 percent for people who majored in Humanities and the Liberal Arts. More than three out of four people who major in Education work in the Education industry while no more than 20 percent of Liberal Arts graduates are concentrated in any single industry.

At the same time, majors that are closely aligned with occupations and industries can misfire.

For example, tying oneself to a particular major can be a problem if the associated occupations or industries collapse. Unemployment rates for recent college graduates who majored in Architecture start high at 13.9 percent and, due to its strong alignment with the collapse in construction and housing, unemployment remains high even for experienced college graduates at 9.2 percent.

As the recovery proceeds and recent college graduates gain access to work, especially in their major fields, their unemployment rates will drop substantially. Employment patterns among experienced workers who have been out of college for a while suggest that recent graduates will fare better as the recovery continues. With the exception of majors in Architecture, International Business and Theater Arts, more experienced workers have substantially lower unemployment rates and higher earnings than recent college graduates.

Graduate degrees make a quantum difference in employment prospects across all majors.

Sometimes, when unemployment is high, the best strategy to increase future employability is to go to graduate school. The unemployment rate for people with graduate degrees is 3 percent compared with a 5 percent unemployment rate for those with a BA (recent college graduates and experienced workers holding a Bachelor's degree). With the exception of majors in the arts and Architecture, unemployment rates for people with graduate degrees range between 1.9 percent and 4.0 percent. Graduate degrees tend to outperform BA's on employment in part because advanced degrees represent higher levels of human capital development and because those degrees are more closely aligned with career pathways in particular occupations and industries.

NOT ALL GRADUATE DEGREES OUTPERFORM ALL BA'S ON EMPLOYMENT, THOUGH.

For example, experienced workers with BA's in healthcare have lower unemployment rates than people with graduate degrees in every other field, except the Life and Physical Sciences. Similarly, a BA in Education can make a job seeker more employable than majors in Architecture, Humanities, Journalism, Computers, Social Science, Arts and Business who go on to graduate school.

What college graduates earn also depends on what they take. Median earnings among recent college graduates vary from $55,000 among Engineering majors to $30,000 in the Arts, as well as Psychology and Social Work. In our more detailed data—which drills into the broad categories to look at results for more individual, specialized majors—the variation is even more pronounced, ranging from $60,000 for Computer Engineering graduates to $24,000 for Physiology majors.

Majors with high technical, business and healthcare content tend to earn the most among both recent and experienced college graduates. Engineering majors lead both in earnings for recent and experienced college graduates followed by Computer and Mathematics majors, and Business majors. Recent graduates in Healthcare majors start out with high earnings, but begin to lose ground to Science, Business and Engineering as college graduates gain experience and graduate degrees. Graduate school further differentiates earnings among majors.

WHAT COLLEGE GRADUATES EARN ALSO DEPENDS ON WHAT THEY TAKE.

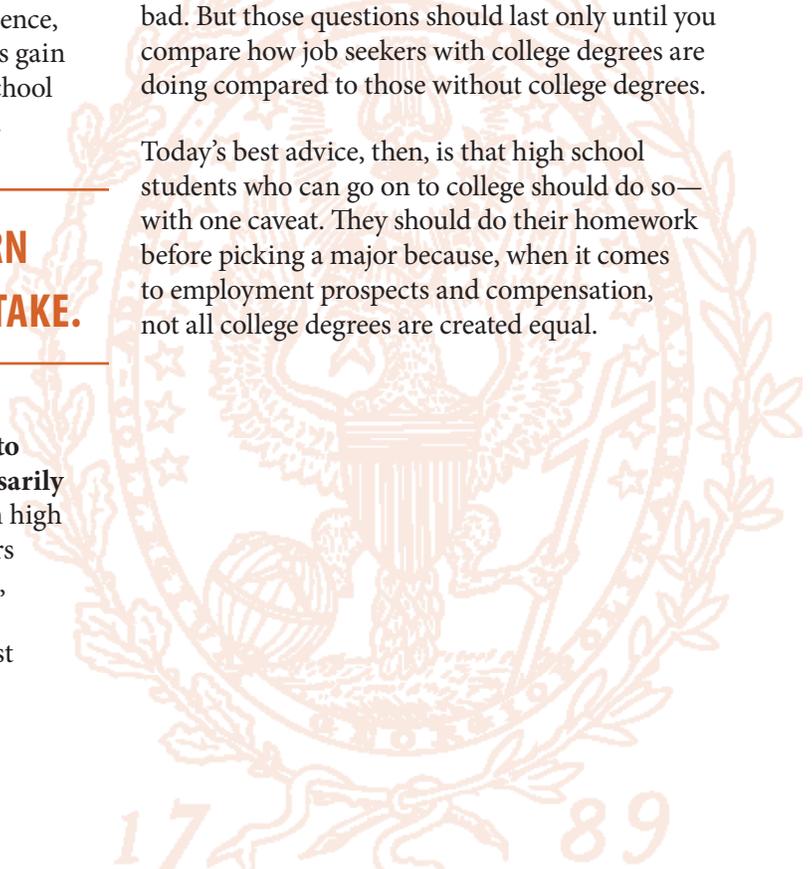

Majors that are most closely aligned with particular industries and occupations tend to have low unemployment rates but not necessarily the highest earnings. Some majors offer both high security and high earnings, while other majors trade off earnings for job security. Healthcare, Science and Business majors have both low unemployment and the highest earnings boost from experience and graduate education. At the same time, Education, Psychology and Social Work majors have relatively low unemployment, but earnings are also low and only improve marginally with experience and graduate education.

Although differences remain high among majors, graduate education raises earnings across the board. The average earnings for BA's now stands at $48,000 compared with $62,000 for graduate degrees. With the exception the Arts and Education, earnings for graduate workers range between $60,000 and $100,000.

It is easy to look at unemployment rates for new college graduates or hear stories about degree-holders forced to tend bar and question the wisdom of investing in higher education when times are bad. But those questions should last only until you compare how job seekers with college degrees are doing compared to those without college degrees.

Today's best advice, then, is that high school students who can go on to college should do so—with one caveat. They should do their homework before picking a major because, when it comes to employment prospects and compensation, not all college degrees are created equal.

ACS 2009-2010, pooled sample. Recent college graduates are 22-26 years of age, experienced workers are 30-54 years of age. Graduate degree holders are limited to 30-54 years of age. Percent unemployed are computed based on total employed and unemployed. Earnings based on full-time, full-year workers.

Methodology

Data from the American Community Survey for the years 2009 and 2010 were pooled to provide a larger sample size for the estimates. The unemployment rates were then computed for each of the three groups by dividing the total unemployed with the total employed and unemployed. The earnings used are median earnings in 2010 dollars rounded to the nearest $1,000. The three groups are: recent college graduates (those between ages 22 and 26 with bachelor degrees), experienced college graduates (those between ages 30 and 54), and graduate degree holders (those with master's degrees or higher and are between 30 and 54). Median earnings are based on those who worked more than 35 hours a week and at least 50 weeks a year. All calculations use the survey weights provided by the Census Bureau.

Board Policy Section III.Z. Planning and Delivery of Postsecondary Programs and Courses, 2.a (ii)

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

In June 2011, the Board approved amendments to Board Policy III.Z., Planning and Delivery of Postsecondary Programs and Courses. Specific amendments clarified sections of existing policy, incorporated statewide program responsibilities, reduced the eight-year plan cycle to a five-year plan cycle, and amended the process for crafting institution plans.

Board Policy III.Z, requires institutions create an institution plan that describes all current programs and proposed programs to be offered within three years of the approval of the plan and in alignment with each institution's Statewide and Service Region Program Responsibilities. The process requires that institutions provide a level of programmatic information and specificity for each current program being offered and each proposed program as part of the five-year plan development. Historically, institutions provided this level of information during the Notice of Intent (NOI) or Full Proposal process. To align with policy requirements, Board staff amended procedures to require institutions provide detailed information at the time the plans are being crafted rather than at the proposal stage.

Board staff developed templates and instructions for institutions to use in providing specific programmatic details for each program. During this process, staff observed that much of the information being requested in the templates mirrored the information required in the NOI form. Therefore, staff considered the possibility of replacing the NOI form with the proposed program component of the Five-Year Plan given that much of the information provided at that stage was similar to the requirements in the NOI. The review of this option resulted in staff creating and implementing three new proposal forms that took the place of the NOI form and Full Proposal form entirely. These forms became effective March 2012 and include one for Baccalaureate programs, one for Graduate and Doctorate programs, and one for Other Academic Program Activity and Professional-Technical Education programs. Staff believes the creation of these forms will streamline the program approval process, create efficiencies, and most importantly provide the Board with the necessary information to make informed decisions.

INSTRUCTION, RESEARCH, AND STUDENT AFFAIRS
AUGUST 15, 2012

Consistent with Board Policy III.Z., institution's academic plans include programmatic detail for each statewide and regional program institutions propose to offer in Academic Year 2012-13 and 2013-14. This includes a needs assessment of on-going/future workforce needs for each proposed program. While policy requires institutions provide information for programs projected three years from the approval of the plan, the level of information required the first year of implementation of the five-year plan proved to be difficult for institutions to meet the timeline. Therefore, staff requested institutions forward only proposed programs for the current 2012-13 and upcoming 2013-14 academic years with the understanding that institutions will use this next year to complete the five-year plan requirement.

As part of the Five-Year Plan development process, staff coordinated a work session with the provosts and representatives from their respective regional off-campus sites on April 18, 2012. The purpose of the work session was to review draft institution plans, statewide needs, and to identify programs that could potentially be viewed as duplication or conflict with Statewide Program Responsibilities. Institutions identified programs that would require further clarification and discussion and were instructed to work through those in preparation for the Instruction, Research, and Student Affairs Committee (IRSA) meeting in June.

On June 28, 2012, draft institution plans were presented to IRSA, which included a presentation from the Idaho Department of Labor, Idaho Department of Commerce and the Idaho Workforce Development Council on workforce projections, educational needs, and their ties to business industry needs.

Board staff used the final institution plans to prepare a comprehensive plan of current programs offered by the public institutions to include proposed statewide and regional programs for the Boards review and approval.

IMPACT

The Five-Year Plan will provide a comprehensive picture of institutional academic program development. The Five-Year Plan is intended to serve as the foundation for advising and informing the Board in their efforts to coordinate educational programs throughout the State.

STAFF COMMENTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Historically, the Eight-Year Plans were viewed as a wish list of program development and expansion of existing programs. The revised Five-Year Plan has a significantly different use and purpose. Board approval of the Five-Year Plan provides the institutions the ability to proceed to a program proposal development stage.

As part of the proposed program planning process, institutions met to discuss areas of concern and collaboration. It is important to note that there are three proposed programs listed in the Five-Year Plan which still require further discussion between institutions. Those include Boise State University's Ed.S., Educational Leadership Superintendent Endorsement Program; the University of Idaho's B.S., Natural Resource Conservation Program and their M.S., Integrated Design Program.

The University of Idaho feels BSU's proposed Educational Leadership Superintendent Endorsement program duplicates and would negatively impact their existing Educational Leadership program currently offered online (hybrid and face-to-face), in Boise. The UI feels they are meeting the demand with their program and are not turning students away.

Board staff requested that the UI provide materials that demonstrate potential impact to their existing Educational Leadership program. BSU's proposed program is a self-support cohort model and is not being proposed as an online program. Current Board policy does not assign a statewide responsibility for Education programs to any institution. Staff recommends that the Board determine whether duplication meets the needs of the state.

Boise State University feels the UI's proposed Integrated Design Program may conflict with their Community & Regional Planning and business programs. BSU's concerns also stem from the community based project aspect of the proposed program that could hinder internship opportunities for BSU students.

Board staff determined based on the information provided that the proposed program is in alignment with the UI's statewide program responsibilities; however, both institutions agreed to work collaboratively on this program.

Boise State University feels the UI's proposed generalist undergraduate degree in Natural Resource Conservation in the Boise area strongly duplicates BSU programs: BS Biology (with emphases in environmental biology, zoology, botany, and ecology, BA in Environmental Studies, BS in Geology, and BS in Geophysics).

Board staff determined that the proposed program in Natural Resource Conservation at this stage appears to be fully aligned with the UI's statewide program responsibilities.

While substantial revisions to Board Policy III.Z, and associated reporting requirements have been completed, there is still work to be done. Program titles for Statewide Program Responsibilities have changed and are dated. Staff

Five-Year Plan Delivery of Postsecondary Programs

The State Board of Education established in alignment with Board Policy III.Z., a comprehensive process for the planning and delivery of postsecondary education. Consistent with this policy, institutions create an institution plan that describes all current programs and proposed programs to be offered in alignment with each institution's Statewide and Service Region Program Responsibilities. The process requires that institutions provide a level of programmatic information and specificity for each current program being offered and for each proposed program as part of the five-year plan development.

Statewide Program Responsibility

In accordance with Board Policy III.Z.1.(b), "Statewide Program Responsibility shall mean an institution's responsibility to offer and deliver a Statewide Program in all regions of the state. Statewide Program Responsibilities are assigned to a specific institution by the Board, taking into account the degree to which such program is uniquely provided by the institution."

Service Region Program Responsibility

In accordance with Board Policy III.Z.1.(d). "Service Region Program Responsibility" shall mean an institution's responsibility to offer and deliver a Service Region Program to meet regional educational and workforce needs in its primary service region as defined in Section III.L.3. Service Region Program Responsibilities are assigned to the Designated Institution in each service region, but may be offered and delivered by Partnering Institutions in accordance with the procedures outlined in this policy."

The Five-Year Plan consists of proposed programs institutions have identified they will pursue within three years of approval of the Plan. As proposed programs are developed, institutions must follow the program review process and procedures provided in Board Policy III.G, Program Approval and Discontinuance to acquire appropriate approvals prior to implementation of new programs. If the program is to be delivered outside the institution's service region, a Memorandum of Understanding must be developed and agreed upon in cooperation with the Board's Chief Academic Officer prior to implementation of the programs.

The Plan also consists of a complete inventory of programs currently being offered by Idaho's public postsecondary institutions. Programs are listed by CIP code and then alphabetically by institution. The list includes programs, options, and degrees offered through various departments and colleges.

Consistent with Board Policy III.Z., the Plan is updated every two years. It is intended that the Five-Year Plan will provide guidance to the State Board of Education in its planning and coordination of educational programs.

SUBJECT

Appointment of Idaho Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (EPSCoR) Committee Members

REFERENCE

August 2010

Board approved appointments to Idaho EPSCoR Committee

April 2012

Board approved Gynii Gilliam's appointment to the Idaho EPSCoR Committee

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Idaho State Board of Education Governing Policies & Procedures, Section III.W.

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (EPSCoR) represents a federal-state partnership to enhance the science and engineering research, education, and technology capabilities of states that traditionally have received smaller amounts of federal research and development funds. As a participating state, Idaho EPSCoR is subject to federal program requirements and policy established by the Idaho State Board of Education (Board). The purpose of EPSCoR is to build a high-quality, academic research base to advance science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) to stimulate sustainable improvements in research and development capacity and competitiveness.

Idaho EPSCoR is guided by a committee of sixteen (16) members appointed by the Board. The membership of this committee is constituted to provide for geographic, academic, business and state governmental representation as specified in Board policy. In the event there should be a vacancy in a non ex-officio position (Idaho National Laboratory, Department of Commerce, etc), the committee is required to advertise an open appointment in appropriate state, regional, or local publications. Applicants are required to provide a written statement expressing interest in membership and must also provide evidence of qualifications, and identify their primary residence. If an incumbent candidate is interested in reappointment and is eligible to continue serving, the committee will forward a recommendation to the Board, along with a letter of interest and statement of qualifications for the incumbent. The committee reviews all applications and identifies the most qualified candidates for the Board's consideration.

Idaho EPSCoR currently has one vacancy. The Idaho EPSCoR Committee is requesting that Dr. Tuthill be appointed as the representative of the private sector, to fill that vacant position.

The Idaho EPSCoR Committee’s recommendation is in compliance with Board policy III.W. Dr. Tuthill served as a member of the Boards Higher Education Research Council. During that time he was an engaged and valued resource to the committee. Board staff supports the recommendation of Dr. Tuthill as one of the private sector representatives of the Idaho EPSCoR committee and recommends approval.

Boise, ID 83720-0037

Dear Mr. Edmunds:

The Idaho EPSCoR Committee is pleased to recommend that Dr. David Tuthill, Jr. be appointed by the Board as a new member of the Idaho EPSCoR Committee from the private sector. His appointment would fill the recent Committee position vacancy created when Ms. Gynii Gilliam was appointed to represent the Department of Commerce.

Dr. Tuthill is previous director of the Idaho Department of Water Resources, and is currently owner of Idaho Water Engineering, in Boise, Idaho. As evidenced in the attached letter of interest and biographical sketch, he has extensive experience both in the public and private sectors as well as an outstanding record of service and achievement. His expertise is particularly appropriate to Idaho EPSCoR's recent infrastructure improvement programs focused on further building Idaho's capacity for environmental research. Dr. Tuthill offers enthusiastic and knowledgeable support for research in Idaho. We would highly value Dr. Tuthill's service on the Committee.

Thank you for considering this recommendation. The strength of the Idaho EPSCoR Committee has been a key factor in Idaho's past success, and is closely considered by the National Science Foundation for future competitive NSF EPSCoR funding. We continue to owe our thanks to the State Board of Education for supporting the EPSCoR Committee.

Sincerely,

RE: Request to be Considered for Appointment to the Idaho EPSCoR Committee

Dear Dr. Jacklin,

It is my understanding that I am being considered for appointment to the Idaho EPSCoR Committee, and I am pleased to submit this letter expressing my interest in this appointment.

The activities of the EPSCoR program in Idaho have amassed an impressive breadth and depth of research in the more than 20 years that the program has been funded. During my career with water resources in the State of Idaho, first in the public sector and more recently in the private sector, I have had an opportunity to observe many of these projects that deal with water and climate. These projects certainly address Idaho EPSCoR's objective to stimulate research in niche areas that can become fully competitive in the disciplinary and multidisciplinary research programs of the National Science Foundation and other relevant agencies.

In addition to work in the public and private sectors, it has been my privilege to have been associated with Idaho's academic community, as a graduate student at the University of Idaho from 1994 to 2002, as a member of the Higher Education Research Council from 2008-2011, and as adjunct faculty since 2008. This affiliation has provided many opportunities to observe and appreciate the important research that is being supported and funded by EPSCoR.

I have met and worked with many of the members of the Committee, and I would be honored to be appointed to the Idaho EPSCoR Committee.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT

Adoption of curricular materials and related instructional materials as recommended by the Curricular Materials Selection Committee.

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Section 33-118, Idaho Code
Idaho Administrative Code 08.02.03.128

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The Administrative Rules of the State Board of Education, IDAPA 08.02.03.128.01,128.02 describe the adoption process for curricular materials as an adoption cycle of six (6) years. Curricular materials are defined as "textbook and instructional media including software, audio/visual media and internet resources" (Idaho Code 33-118A). Idaho is a multiple adoption state. The Curricular Materials Selection Committee is charged with the responsibility to screen, evaluate, and recommend curricular materials for adoption by the State Board of Education.

For 2012, the main adoption cycle is curricular materials in the subject area of English Language Arts. Interim adoption clause allows for submissions in the subject area of Science. Annual adoption continues for Limited English Proficiency and Computer Applications.

This year the curricular materials review week was held June 11 to 15, 2012. Thirty-eight content area specialists assisted the six standing committee members in the evaluation of the curricular materials.

The curricular materials adoption committee recommends the adoption of curricular materials as outlined in the 2012 Curricular Materials Recommendations Document.

Curricular Materials Adoption Process

THE IDAHO STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
TOM LUNA
STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

INTRODUCTION

The State Curricular Materials Selection Committee is pleased to submit the following materials for your consideration for adoption in the state of Idaho. The 2012 Session called for reviewing curricular materials in the main subject area of English Language Arts and interim materials in Science. Annual materials include Computer Applications and Limited English Proficiency.

Several of these materials have accompanying electronic instructional media. Others are deliverable via CD-ROM or the Internet.

The Curricular Materials Selection Committee considers their work an important contribution to the educational process in Idaho. This Committee reflects the diversity of Idaho's population both geographically and philosophically. Occasionally the approval of a certain material is not a unanimous decision by the Committee.

CURRICULAR MATERIALS ADOPTION PROCEDURES FOR THE STATE OF IDAHO

The Curricular Materials adoption process has its basis in Idaho Code (33-118, 333-118A). It is further defined in the Administrative Rules of the State Board of Education (SBOE), IDAPA 08.02.03, subsection 128.

The Adoption Process in Idaho provides for the continuous review and evaluation of new curricular materials. This process ensures that Idaho schools have quality products available to purchase at a guaranteed low price, and equal availability to all Idaho school districts. These materials are screened in order to eliminate any of inferior quality or undesirable content. This process maintains local control in the choice of instruction materials by providing a multiple list of approved materials. The adoption process also provides, through a contract with each publisher, a contract price that is good for the length of the adoption cycle. This ensures quality for each school district and allows for the best materials at the lowest possible price for Idaho's schools.

Idaho adopts materials in the areas of reading, research based reading, literature, drivers education, science, health, handwriting, mathematics, business education, career education, counseling, social studies, English, applied English, spelling, dictionary, thesaurus, speech, journalism, world, languages, art, drama, music, healthy life styles, professional technical education, business computer applications (adopted annually), and limited English proficiency (adopted annually).

Materials are adopted in Idaho on a six-year rotating schedule. Publishers have an additional one-year following the main adoption year to submit new copyrights for a particular content area, allowing each of the content area submissions a total of two years. The intent of the adoption process is to generally approve all materials meeting the established criteria and to reject those items that are considered unsuitable for use in their designated subject area.

Schools are required to select curricular materials from the state approved-adoption listings. Deviation points are subtracted from the school's accreditation report if this is not followed. Materials that serve as supplements to the core curricular materials do not have to be selected from the adoption listings.

Schools may submit a waiver to the Executive Secretary of the Committee requesting to use materials that do not appear on the Approved Listings. Local school boards must approve this request prior to sending it to the Executive Secretary of the Committee. Requests are generally granted for new copyrights not currently under adoption, or materials not submitted to the Selection Committee for consideration. No requests are granted for any materials denied by the Selection Committee or for old copyrights.

Curricular Materials Adoption Procedures

There are advantages to adopting curricular materials at the state level:

- Contract prices are adhered to for six years, which saves money for the schools.
- Publishers are required to lower the price to Idaho if they lower it to any other state after the contract has been signed.
- Most textbook publishers maintain inventory at the state depository, Caxton Printers, which reduces delivery time and shipping costs.
- Contracts help ensure adopted materials will be available for the life of the contract (6 years).
- Materials are screened for quality, organization, vocabulary and graphic presentation. Textbooks publishers must submit Manufacturing Standards and Specifications for Textbooks (MSST) standards compliance form for each title.
- Materials are screened for fair representation on such issues as environment and industry.
- Instructional materials are screened and thoroughly reviewed by subject area experts to ensure that essential elements are covered.
- Any materials reflecting adversely upon individuals or groups due to race, ethnicity, class, gender, or religion are not approved.
- Small school districts are guaranteed of getting the same textbooks and complementary materials as larger school systems.

Curricular materials in Idaho are defined as textbooks and instructional media including software, audio/visual media and Internet resources (Idaho Code 33-118A). Idaho is a multiple adoption state and adopts a number of materials in a designated subject area from a variety of publishing companies. This is consistent with the belief that a variety of materials has value and usefulness to the schools.

The Curricular Materials Selection Committee, which is appointed by the SBOE, has the responsibility of overseeing the adoption process for the state. The Executive Secretary to this Committee is an employee of the State Department of Education (SDE).

The membership on the 19-member Selection Committee consists of:

- one representative from each of the state's four colleges of education
- one secondary administrator
- one elementary administrator
- two secondary teachers
- two elementary teachers
- one district school board member
- one representative from private/parochial schools

CONSENT

- three parent representatives
- one member who is not a public school educator nor trustee
- one content area specialist from the SDE
- one representative from the Division of Professional-Technical Education.
- the Executive Secretary

Curricular Materials Adoption Procedures

All members are appointed by the SBOE for a five-year term with the exception of the SDE content coordinator and the representative from Professional-Technical Education who serve for one year. Current Committee members are listed in this publication.

The Committee, assisted by English Language Arts, Science, Limited English Proficiency, and Computer Application specialists from throughout the state, met for one week in June to review and correlate all materials to the Common Core State Standards and/or the Idaho Content Standards and specific course requirements. The Committee votes on the materials and those recommended are forwarded to the SBOE for official adoption for Idaho Schools. All meetings of the Committee are open to the public.

Following formal adoption (August 2012), contracts are mailed to the publishing companies (August 2012). After the return of signed contracts, the listing of newly adopted materials is published by December 3, 2012 in the annual Adoption Guide found on the Internet at:

http://www.sde.idaho.gov/site/curricular_materials/adoption_guide.htm.

A state curriculum library is maintained at Caxton Printers as required by Idaho Code 118A. Adopted materials are housed in this library and available to the public. In addition, seven (7) Regional Centers maintain libraries of adopted materials that are available to the public as well as college students and local schools. The Regional Centers are located as follows:

N.L. Terteling Library
College of Idaho
Caldwell, Idaho

Albertson Library

	Notes: Recommended as a core ELA program. The Reading Adventures Student Edition magazine must be purchased as 1 per student to meet Common Core standard correlation.
	Key Features:
	Rigorous instruction based on an integrated model of literacy. Instruction and application in the four strands of the CCSS—Reading, Writing, Speaking and Listening, and Language—are linked to the complex texts and topics with which students engage.
	Exceptional support for small group instruction. Consulting Author Irene Fountas oversaw the leveling of the 1000+ Leveled Readers in Journeys and developed 8-page lesson plans to support each one.
	All-in-one Student Book. In addition to award-winning complex text, the Journeys Student Books feature full lessons on Vocabulary, Comprehension, Grammar, and Writing each week to meet Idaho Content and Common Core State Standards.
	Powerful intervention. Weekly lessons for Tier II Intervention and ELLs are conveniently located behind tabs in the TE. The Tier II Write-In Reader scaffolds close reading and helps below-level students access on-level complex text and topics.

	Notes: Recommended as a core ELA program when purchased as a kit. Key Features: SRA Imagine It! Big Books Grade K (14 volumes), Big Books encourage young students to interact with fine literature, explore concepts of print and book awareness, expand vocabulary knowledge, and develop listening comprehension. Each Big Book contains literature and nonfiction, as well as poetry, which is organized into themes. Each of the 10 units opens with a Big Idea – a question to help the students connect to the theme and continue to think about throughout the unit. The class browses the selection and set a purpose for reading. Before every selection there is a Vocabulary Warm-Up to introduce new vocabulary and teach and practice a vocabulary strategy. The selection begins with a discussion about the genre and a comprehension skill that will be useful in understanding the story, as well as Focus Questions. The second read of the selection focuses on Comprehension strategies as well as reading with Reading with a Writer’s Eye. Each selection offers the opportunity for the student to make specific connections with the theme and to write about it. Additionally a book for Science and a book for Social Studies are included, each containing multiple selections that provide additional support for science and social studies content at the kindergarten level. SRA Imagine It! Phonemic Awareness and Phonics Kit; Phonemic awareness and phonics instruction and review play a crucial role in SRA Imagine It!, especially in the primary grades. Components include alphabet and sound/spelling cards, game mats, write-on/wipe-off boards with magnetic uppercase and lowercase letters, and other items to support instruction, including Willy the Wisher in grade K which helps kindergarteners develop listening, comprehension and thinking skills, and provide a natural opportunity for building oral language. Each engaging Alphabet Sound Card story in grade K helps students remember the sound/spelling correspondences presented. In kindergarten, instruction follows a research-based developmental progression, beginning with phonological awareness activities that include working with words and word parts, rhyming activities, clapping syllables, and blending syllables. Instruction then progresses to working with individual sounds with an emphasis on oral blending and oral segmentation with Elkonin-type activities. The instructional sequence in phonological and phonemic awareness is supported by the research in The Report of the National Reading Panel (2000) and Torgesen, J.K. (2002). SRA Imagine It! Language Arts Big Book; This is designed to present essential language arts and writing skills in an engaging and developmentally appropriate manner to young students. SRA Imagine It! has explicit instruction in spelling, writing strategies and grammar, usage and mechanics based upon the research of Steve Graham and Karen Harris both authors on SRA Imagine It! and internationally recognized for their research on writing. Writing process strategies such as planning, drafting, revising, and editing are taught through a Teach, Guided Practice, Apply, and Assess model. The Big Book along with transparencies with models of writing are used to teach specific aspects of the writing process, forms and structures. Key writing strategies and forms of writing are introduced in kindergarten and developed across the grades. In addition, Grammar, Usage and Mechanics are explicitly taught through a Teach, Guided Practice, and Apply, model comparable to the one used for writing. Application of these skills is directly connected to student writing.

This allows students to access complex text and other concepts needed to meet the Common Core State Standards. Each Student Reader contains literature and nonfiction, as well as poetry, which is organized into themes. Each of the 6 units opens with a Big Idea – a question to help the students connect to the theme and continue to think about throughout the unit. Before every selection there is a Vocabulary Warm-Up to introduce new vocabulary and teach and practice a vocabulary strategy. The selection begins with a discussion about the genre and a comprehension skill that will be useful in understanding the story, as well as Focus Questions. The second read of the selection focuses on Comprehension strategies as well as reading with Reading with a Writer’s Eye. Each selection offers the opportunity for the student to make specific connections with the theme and to write about it. Each unit ends with Test Prep and high stakes Test Taking Strategies.

	Notes: Highly recommended as a core ELA program. Key Features: The Treasures Grade 1 Student Books are the centerpiece of student materials, providing a rich variety of engaging literature in all genres along with the supports needed for building comprehension. Weekly, students encounter introductory-, main-, and paired selections—all included in the anthology and all revolving around an essential question, an “enduring understanding” theme, AND a vital comprehension skill. Writing instruction with a solid research base is included each week. A self-selected research project related to the unit’s theme spans each six-week period. Weekly connections to Science and Social Studies are embedded in both the reading selections and their extension activities. As a program fully aligned with the Common Core State Standards, questioning throughout encourages students to return to text and to learn to support answers with accurate, relevant textual evidence. The program provides instruction in the five essential elements of early literacy: phonemic awareness, phonics, reading fluency, vocabulary development, and reading comprehension strategies. The content of these student editions is available digitally as well as in print.

School Education Group	Notes: Highly recommended as a core ELA program. Key Features: The Treasures Grade 3 Student Books are the centerpiece of student materials, providing a rich variety of engaging literature in all genres along with the supports needed for building comprehension. Weekly, students encounter introductory-, main-, and paired selections—all included in the anthology and all revolving around an essential question, an “enduring understanding” theme, AND a vital comprehension skill. Writing instruction with a solid research base is included each week. A self-selected research project related to the unit’s theme spans each six-week period. Weekly connections to Science and Social Studies are embedded in both the reading selections and their extension activities. As a program fully aligned with the Common Core State Standards, questioning throughout requires that students return to text and support answers with accurate, relevant textual evidence. The content of these student editions is available digitally as well as in print.					91% Material Analysis

	Notes: Recommended as an intervention program for reading. Key Features: Soar to Success is the research proven solution for students who struggle with reading. Built on solid efficacy studies and on research in best practices, Soar's small group, intensive instruction is powerful, transforming struggling students into strong readers. Instruction is designed to be used with small groups of struggling readers in addition to their core reading program. It is the added dose of intensive support in the five pillars of reading plus writing, that brings struggling students up to grade level. For schools focused on improving student outcomes, Soar to Success motivates even the most reluctant readers with the high-quality, authentic fiction and nonfiction that teachers love to teach and students love to read. The authentic fiction and nonfiction in Soar to Success offers an excellent solution for districts focused on meeting the text complexity requirements of the Common Core Reading Standards, especially when delivered with the scaffolded support built into each day's instruction. These books are also leveled, with reading levels beginning about one year below grade level at the beginning of the program, and progressing to on-level reading. It is this progression, coupled with research-proven instruction that systematically raises expectations on struggling readers to read proficiently at grade level by the end of the program. Throughout the program, strong teaching routines that include intensive scaffolding and gradual release of responsibility, reciprocal teaching, and student reflection through discussion and writing prevails. In this way, student success is built into every lesson. With Soar to Success, built-in assessments enable teachers to understand student instructional needs, to monitor progress, and to make decisions about when to release students.

	Notes: Highly recommended. Key Features: Science Fusion is a K-8 program designed to allow students and teachers complete access to investigation, engineering and design opportunities through three key elements: 1. An interactive write-in student edition, 2. A comprehensive, robust digital curriculum, and 3. A comprehensive hands-on inquiry-based lab program. Science Fusion inquiry expands on the notion that learning objectives and goals are met through only hands-on experiences. Students understand and apply the process and skills of scientific investigation through applications using multiple modalities within the Science Fusion program. Engineering and inquiry skills are applied daily as students interact with concepts presented in the write-in student edition which becomes a record of their predictions, observations, conclusions, and thoughts about the concepts being introduced. Students bolster their inquiry skills by exploring the virtual labs, digital lessons, and video-based projects. These key tools of inquiry are easily accessed through Science Fusion's digital curriculum. In grades 6-8, inquiry lab activities are located in the Lab Manual, (available in print, DVD, and online. DVD and online versions allow easy editing and print options.) This Lab Manual, for each module, contains labs at all 3 levels of inquiry as well as differentiated lab datasheets for each chapter lab. The Lab Manual contains 2 inquiry experiences for every lesson, STEM labs, and as many as three labs at the conclusion of each module. Virtual Labs are an integral component of Science Fusion's digital curriculum. Each Virtual Lab reviews important concepts developed in the previous lessons while providing students with the virtual equipment and investigative procedural structure. Students are encouraged to use the provided print datasheets or they can save/print the Lab Report "captured" while completing the Virtual Lab. A minimum of two virtual labs are available for every unit of grades 6-8.

Holt McDougal, a division of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company	Holt McDougal ScienceFusion Grade 7 ©2012	Michael Heithaus, Michael DiSpezio, Marjorie Frank	2012	7 (6-8)		Highly Recommend 100% ICS 100% CCSS 93% Materials Analysis
	Notes: Highly recommended. Key Features: Science Fusion is a K-8 program designed to allow students and teachers complete access to investigation, engineering and design opportunities through three key elements: 1. An interactive write-in student edition, 2. A comprehensive, robust digital curriculum, and 3. A comprehensive hands-on inquiry-based lab program. Science Fusion inquiry expands on the notion that learning objectives and goals are met through only hands-on experiences. Students understand and apply the process and skills of scientific investigation through applications using multiple modalities within the Science Fusion program. Engineering and inquiry skills are applied daily as students interact with concepts presented in the write-in student edition which becomes a record of their predictions, observations, conclusions, and thoughts about the concepts being introduced. Students bolster their inquiry skills by exploring the virtual labs, digital lessons, and video-based projects. These key tools of inquiry are easily accessed through Science Fusion’s digital curriculum. In grades 6-8, inquiry lab activities are located in the Lab Manual, (available in print, DVD, and online. DVD and online versions allow easy editing and print options.) This Lab Manual, for each module, contains labs at all 3 levels of inquiry as well as differentiated lab datasheets for each chapter lab. The Lab Manual contains 2 inquiry experiences for every lesson, STEM labs, and as many as three labs at the conclusion of each module. Virtual Labs are an integral component of Science Fusion’s digital curriculum. Each Virtual Lab reviews important concepts developed in the previous lessons while providing students with the virtual equipment and investigative procedural structure. Students are encouraged to use the provided print datasheets or they can save/print the Lab Report “captured” while completing the Virtual Lab. A minimum of two virtual labs are available for every unit of grades 6-8.

Holt McDougal, a division of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company	Holt McDougal ScienceFusion Grade 8 ©2012	Michael Heithaus, Michael DiSpezio, Marjorie Frank	2012	8 (6-8)		Highly Recommend Earth Science: 98% ICS 100% CCSS 93% Materials Analysis Physical Science: 98% ICS 100% CCSS 93% Materials Analysis
	Notes: Highly recommended. Key Features: Science Fusion is a K-8 program designed to allow students and teachers complete access to investigation, engineering and design opportunities through three key elements: 1. An interactive write-in student edition, 2. A comprehensive, robust digital curriculum, and 3. A comprehensive hands-on inquiry-based lab program. Science Fusion inquiry expands on the notion that learning objectives and goals are met through only hands-on experiences. Students understand and apply the process and skills of scientific investigation through applications using multiple modalities within the Science Fusion program. Engineering and inquiry skills are applied daily as students interact with concepts presented in the write-in student edition which becomes a record of their predictions, observations, conclusions, and thoughts about the concepts being introduced. Students bolster their inquiry skills by exploring the virtual labs, digital lessons, and video-based projects. These key tools of inquiry are easily accessed through Science Fusion's digital curriculum. In grades 6-8, inquiry lab activities are located in the Lab Manual, (available in print, DVD, and online. DVD and online versions allow easy editing and print options.) This Lab Manual, for each module, contains labs at all 3 levels of inquiry as well as differentiated lab datasheets for each chapter lab. The Lab Manual contains 2 inquiry experiences for every lesson, STEM labs, and as many as three labs at the conclusion of each module. Virtual Labs are an integral component of Science Fusion's digital curriculum. Each Virtual Lab reviews important concepts developed in the previous lessons while providing students with the virtual equipment and investigative procedural structure. Students are encouraged to use the provided print datasheets or they can save/print the Lab Report "captured" while completing the Virtual Lab. A minimum of two virtual labs are available for every unit of grades 6-8.

Holt McDougal, a division of Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company	Zumdahl, World of Chemistry , 3rd Edition ©2013	Zumdahl, Zumdahl, & DeCoste	2013	9-12		Highly Recommend 93% ICS 83% CCSS 93% Material Analysis
	Notes: Highly recommended. Key Features: World of Chemistry 3/e develops students' understanding of chemical concepts by using a very accessible format that emphasizes active learning and a strong focus on problem solving. An 'atoms first' approach encourages students to see the relationship between the micro and macro worlds. Students are taught to think at the molecular level and apply their thinking to the real world. This is accomplished by frequently relating chemistry topics to concrete examples in the real world. This style to teaching and learning chemistry is known as the "Zumdahl Approach" defined by: (1) An active learning approach helps students develop an understanding of chemical concepts that can be applied to problem-solving exercises. Learning chemistry is a participatory activity. By engaging students in thinking and solving problems creatively, they can understand the basic concepts of chemistry. (2) Accessible content makes chemistry engaging. Quantitative problems can be solved using first-year algebra skills and scientific calculators. Furthermore, it is important for science texts to be highly readable. Visual-verbal formats engage students and are suited for many different types of learners. (3) Real-world connections emphasize current chemistry applications and help students relate concepts to their lives. World of Chemistry makes science more relevant and applicable to the lives of students and provides connections to current issues concerning our environment. World of Chemistry 3/e presents the right balance of concepts and applications with the following NEW features: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • NEW! Fresh, clean layout streamlines the text with fewer interruptions, less clutter, and includes integration of essential features in the margins. • NEW! Art program refreshed to include updated photos, scientifically accurate and modern illustrations, and new images that enhance understanding of chemical equations. • NEW! Chemistry in Your World boxed features discuss new real-world applications of chemistry to a variety of fields, including science and technology, consumer issues, and history. • NEW! Revised problem-solving support for students includes examples in the text paired with worked-out solutions that demonstrate the reasoning used to solve the problem. • NEW! Revised end-of-chapter questions and problems include more than 30 new visual problems. These questions will help students practice their problem-solving skills even more. • NEW! Complete Labs included at the end of each chapter.

	Notes: Key Features: Biology: The Unity and Diversity of Life meets the new course standards for AP* Biology featuring complete coverage of the “4 big ideas” of the AP* course and developing essential critical thinking, data analysis, and problem-solving skills. Newly integrated AP* content that aligns to the AP* Biology Course redesign includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Preparing for the AP* Exam breaks down the AP* Biology Exam listing the types of questions with examples and the best strategies for answering them. • AP* Biology Correlation to the AP* Biology Exam lists the topics students are required to know and the page numbers in the text where they are covered. • AP* end-of-chapter multiple-choice questions and AP* end-of-text free-response questions allows students to test their understanding of the material, while practicing for AP* style questioning. The text uses an issues-oriented approach to capture student interest with real-life topics that hit home and encourage students to think critically about hot-button issues. Textbook features include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Clear writing style engages students and makes the material accessible without glossing over the science—even with the most formidable topics. • Real-world Relevance is reflected in the first section of each chapter with an issues-based essay about biological, environmental, or health application of that chapter’s theme. The final section revisits this topic as a reminder of the chapter’s relevance to the real world. • Dynamic art with callouts provides visual overviews of a difficult process or mechanism, illustrated step-by-step in a simple way, and serves as one of the texts most effective means of helping students comprehend concepts. • Data Analysis Exercises get students using real data to solve a problem. This feature helps students read and interpret data while helping them build critical thinking skills. AP* Program support helps teachers and students prepare for the rigor of a college-level course and the new AP* exam.

	Notes: Highly recommended as an LEP program. Some pieces in the kit have an earlier copyright date, but all pieces are listed in the 2010 package. Key Features: On Our Way to English is a comprehensive program for English language learners designed to improve both language and literacy skills. On Our Way to English is organized around daily instructional routines in oral language, reading, and writing. These predictable routines foster confidence and growth in all language domains. The instructional path leads students through thematic instruction that develops oral language, reading skills, and writing skills, plus differentiated reading instruction that arms students with reading strategies and comprehension skills so they can read independently at their level. On Our Way to English features: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A focus on academic language and vocabulary development • Marzano's six-step process for vocabulary acquisition • Thematic, content-based instruction • Differentiated instruction for language and literacy • Daily instructional routine in oral language, reading, and writing • Formative and summative assessment Because On Our Way to English was designed as a program for English language learners, differentiation for ELs at various stages of proficiency is built in. The Thematic Teacher's Guide includes point-of-use instructions for differentiation during whole group instruction. The Leveled Reading Teacher's Guide and Leveled Readers are specifically written for ELs and include pinpointed leveling to allow teachers to reach students where they are comfortable so they improve at a faster rate. On Our Way to English includes an array of print products that provide the visual support that English language learners need as well as a robust digital offering flexibility and ease of use. Digital eBooks (online and on CD-ROM) and the Online Leveled Reader Library include sound and highlighting. The Online Leveled Reader Library allows students at any grade level access to the readers at the appropriate reading level. Additionally, a teacher lesson plan accompanies each reader online. Interactive Whiteboard Activities include manipulative interactive posters that reinforce language learning and interactive flashcards with matching and multiple choice activities for each set of vocabulary cards. The Teacher Resource CD-Rom and the Online Lesson Planner make planning more efficient.

OPERATING AGREEMENT
THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO AND
THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO FOUNDATION, INC.

This agreement ("Operating Agreement") is entered into effective the 31 day of August 2009 by and between the University of Idaho ("University") and the University of Idaho Foundation, Inc. ("Foundation"). The University and the Foundation are sometimes collectively referred to herein separately as a "Party" and collectively as the "Parties."

WHEREAS, the Foundation is a nonprofit corporation incorporated on September 23, 1970, pursuant to the Idaho Nonprofit Corporation Act;

WHEREAS, the Foundation has been recognized as a tax-exempt entity under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code;

WHEREAS, the Foundation's mission includes the management and distribution of private support to enhance the growth and development of the University;

WHEREAS, the Foundation and the University desire to set forth in writing various aspects of their relationship with respect to matters such as the solicitation, receipt, management, transfer and expenditure of funds;

WHEREAS, the Idaho State Board of Education and the Board of Regents of the University of Idaho (collectively the "State Board") have promulgated Policies and Procedures to be effective as of July of 2008 ("State Board's Policies and Procedures") which are attached hereto as Exhibit "A";

WHEREAS, Section V.E.2.c. of the State Board's Policies and Procedures requires the University to enter into a written operating agreement with the Foundation that sets forth their operating relationship; and

WHEREAS, the Foundation and the University intend for this agreement to be the written operating agreement required by Section V.E.2.c. of the State Board's Policies and Procedures.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and undertakings herein, the University and the Foundation hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

FOUNDATION'S PURPOSES

The Foundation is the primary affiliated foundation responsible for assisting the University in soliciting, managing and distributing private support for the University. Accordingly, to the extent consistent with the Foundation's Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws, and the State Board's Policies and Procedures, the Foundation shall: (1) assist in the solicitation of, receive and accept gifts, devises, bequests and other direct or indirect contributions of money and other property made for the benefit of the University from the general public (including individuals, corporations, other entities and other sources); (2) manage and invest the money and property it receives for the benefit of the University; and (3) support and assist the University in fundraising and donor relations.

In carrying out its purposes the Foundation shall not engage in activities that conflict with (1) federal or state laws, rules and regulations (including, but not limited to all applicable provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and corresponding Federal Treasury Regulations); (2) applicable polices of the State Board; or (3) the role and mission of the University.

ARTICLE II

FOUNDATION'S ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS

The Foundation shall provide copies of its current Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws to the University. All amendments of such documents shall also be provided to the University. Furthermore, the Foundation shall, to the extent practicable, provide the University with an advance copy of any proposed amendments to the Foundation's Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws.

ARTICLE III

UNIVERSITY RESOURCES AND SERVICES

A. University Employees.

1. Liaison: The University's Vice President for University Advancement shall serve as the University's liaison to the Foundation (the "Liaison"). The duties and responsibilities of the Liaison are as follows:

a. The Liaison shall be responsible for communicating with the Foundation regarding the University's fundraising efforts and for coordinating any administrative support provided by the University to the Foundation.

b. The Liaison or the Liaison's designee shall attend each meeting of the Foundation's Board of Directors and shall report on behalf of the University to the Foundation's Board of Directors regarding the University's fundraising efforts. The Liaison may also report other information to the Foundation's Board of Directors that is pertinent to the common goals of the University and the Foundation.

2. Executive Director: The Executive Director of the Foundation is an employee of the University who is loaned to the Foundation. All of the Executive Director's services shall be provided directly to the Foundation as follows:

a. The Executive Director shall be responsible for the supervision and control of the day-to-day operations of the Foundation. More specific duties of the Executive Director may be set forth in a written job description prepared by the Foundation and attached to the Loaned Employee Agreement described in subparagraph c below. The Executive Director shall be subject to the control and direction of the Foundation.

b. The Executive Director shall be an employee of the University and entitled to University benefits to the same extent and on the same terms as other full-time University employees of the same classification as the Executive Director. The Foundation shall reimburse the University for all costs incurred by the University in connection with the University's employment of the Executive Director including such expenses as salary, payroll taxes, and benefits.

c. The Foundation and the University shall enter into a written agreement, substantially in the form of Exhibit "B" hereto, establishing that the Executive Director is an employee of the University but subject to the direction and control of the Foundation (generally a "Loaned Employee Agreement"). The Loaned Employee Agreement shall also set forth the relative rights and responsibilities of the Foundation and the University with respect to the Executive Director.

d. In the event the Executive Director resigns, is terminated according to the terms of the Loaned Employee Agreement, or otherwise leaves the employ of the University, hiring of the subsequent Executive Director shall be done in accordance with Foundation procedures, University procedures (including University equal employment procedures), and applicable law (including laws applicable to the University). The Foundation shall have the ability to terminate the Loaned Employee Agreement upon notice to the University as further set forth in the Loaned Employee Agreement. The Foundation must provide the University with prior approval to hire any employee that the Foundation and University intend to be a loaned employee before the University employs such individual.

e. The University and the Foundation may elect to enter into additional agreements for the loaning of additional employees to the Foundation by the University pursuant to terms substantially similar to the Loaned Employee Agreement attached as Exhibit "B." The additional loaned employees shall report to either the Foundation Board or the Executive Director of the Foundation, in either case as determined by the Foundation Board and as specified in the additional loaned employee agreements. Such loaned employees shall have no function at the University other than to act in their capacity as employees loaned to the Foundation.

f. Termination of the Executive Director in accordance with the Loaned Employee Agreement shall constitute grounds for a termination proceeding by the University or for non-renewal of the Executive Director's contract with the University, if any.

3. Limited Authority of University Employees. Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, no University employee other than an employee loaned to the Foundation shall be permitted to have responsibility or authority for Foundation policy making, financial oversight, spending authority, investment decisions, or the supervision of Foundation employees.

B. Support Staff Services. The University shall provide administrative support in financial, accounting, investment and development services to the Foundation, as set forth in the Service Agreement attached hereto as Exhibit "C" ("Service Agreement"). Except as specifically provided otherwise herein, all University employees who provide support services to the Foundation shall remain University employees under the direction and control of the University, unless it is agreed that the direction and control of any such employee will be vested with the Foundation in a Loaned Employee Agreement. The Foundation will pay directly to the University the portion of the overhead costs associated with the services provided to the Foundation pursuant to the Service Agreement or as otherwise determined by the agreement of the Parties.

C. University Facilities and Equipment. The University shall provide the use of the University's office space, equipment and associated services to the Foundation's employees upon the terms agreed to by the University and the Foundation. The terms of use (including amount of rent) of the University's office space, equipment and associated services shall be as set forth in the Service Agreement.

D. No Foundation Payments to University Employees. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of this Agreement to the contrary, the Foundation shall not make any payments directly to a University employee in connection with any resources or services provided to the Foundation pursuant to this Article.

ARTICLE IV

MANAGEMENT AND OPERATION OF FOUNDATION

A. Gift Solicitation.

1. Form of Solicitation. Any and all Foundation gift solicitations shall make clear to prospective donors that (1) the Foundation is a separate legal and tax entity organized for the purpose of encouraging voluntary, private gifts, trusts, and bequests for the benefit of the University; and (2) responsibility for the governance of the Foundation, including the investment of gifts and endowments, resides in the Foundation's Board of Directors.

2. Foundation is Primary Donee. Absent unique circumstances, prospective donors shall be requested to make gifts directly to the Foundation rather than to the University.

B. Acceptance of Gifts.

1. Approval Required Before Acceptance of Certain Gifts. Before accepting contributions or grants for restricted or designated purposes that may require administration or direct expenditure by the University, the Foundation shall obtain the prior written approval of the University. Similarly, the Foundation shall also obtain the University's prior written approval of the acceptance of any gift or grant that would impose a binding financial or contractual obligation on the University. Prior to any approval by the University, the University shall obtain approval of the State Board where State Board policy requires such approval.

2. Acceptance of Gifts of Real Property. The Foundation shall conduct due diligence on all gifts of real property that it receives. All gifts of real property that are intended solely by the donor to be developed for the University's use or to otherwise house facilities of any kind for the University's use shall be approved by the State Board before such gifts are accepted by either the University or the Foundation. The University shall be responsible for obtaining this approval by the State Board. In cases where the real property is intended to be used by the University in connection with carrying out its proper functions, the real property may be conveyed directly to the University, in which case the University and not the Foundation shall be responsible for the due diligence obligations for such property.

3. Processing of Accepted Gifts. All gifts received by the University or the Foundation shall be delivered (if cash) or reported (if any other type of property) to the Foundation's designated Gift Administration Office (a unit of the University's Trust and Investment Office) in accordance with the Service Agreement.

C. Fund Transfers. The Foundation agrees to transfer funds, both current gifts and income from endowments, to the University on a regular basis as agreed to by the Parties. The Foundation's Treasurer or other individual to whom such authority has been delegated by the Foundation's Board of Directors shall be responsible for transferring funds as authorized by the Foundation's Board of Directors. All transfers and expenditures noted in this Section must comply with Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and be consistent with the Foundation's sole mission to support the University.

1. Restricted Gift Transfers. The Foundation may transfer restricted gifts to the University. Any such transferred restricted gifts will only be expended by the University pursuant to the terms of such restrictions. The Foundation shall inform the University officials into whose program or department restricted gifts are transferred of all restrictions on the use of such gifts and provide such officials with access to any relevant documentation concerning such restrictions. Such University officials shall account for such restricted gifts separate from other program and department funds in accordance with applicable University policies and shall notify the Foundation on a timely basis regarding the uses of such restricted gifts.

2. Unrestricted Gift Transfers. The Foundation may utilize any unrestricted gifts it receives for any use consistent with the Foundation's purposes as generally summarized in Article I of this Operating Agreement. The Foundation may make unrestricted donations to the University. Such donated funds will be expended under the oversight of the University President in compliance with state law and University policies. If the Foundation elects to use unrestricted gifts to make grants to the University, such grants shall be made at such times and in such amounts as the Foundation's Board of Directors may determine in such Board's sole discretion.

D. Foundation Expenditures and Financial Transactions.

1. Signature Authority. The Foundation designates the Foundation Chairman and Treasurer as the individuals with signature authority for the Foundation in all financial transactions. The Foundation's Treasurer may also delegate signature authority on a temporary basis consistent with the Foundation's Bylaws to another Foundation employee, an employee loaned to the Foundation, or a Foundation Board member who is not a University employee. In no event may the person with Foundation signature authority for financial transactions be a University employee, unless such individual is an employee who is loaned to the Foundation.

2. Expenditures. All expenditures of the Foundation shall be (1) consistent with the purposes of the Foundation, and (2) not violate restrictions imposed by the donor or the Foundation as to the use or purpose of the specific funds.

E. University Report on Distributed Funds. On a regular basis, which shall not be less than annually, the University shall report to the Foundation on the use of restricted and unrestricted funds transferred to the University. This report shall specify the restrictions on any restricted funds and the uses of such funds.

F. Transfer of University Assets to the Foundation. No University funds, assets, or liabilities may be transferred directly or indirectly to the Foundation without the prior approval of the State Board except when:

1. A donor inadvertently directs a contribution to the University that is intended for the Foundation in which case such funds may be transferred to the Foundation so long as the documents associated with the gift indicate the Foundation was the intended recipient of the gift. In the absence of any such indication of donor intent, such gift shall be deposited in a University account and, except for transfers described in subsections 2 and 4 of this Section, State Board approval will be required prior to the University's transfer of such funds to the Foundation.

2. The University has gift funds that were originally transferred to the University from the Foundation and the University wishes to return a portion of those funds to the Foundation for reinvestment consistent with the original intent of the gift.

3. The University has raised scholarship funds through a University activity and the University wishes to deposit the funds with the Foundation for investment and distribution consistent with the scholarship purposes for which the funds were raised.

4. The University transfers to the Foundation any gift received by the University from a donor that meets the following criteria: (i) the gift is less than $10,000, and (ii) the gift will be invested by the Foundation for scholarship or other general University support purposes. This subsection, however, shall not apply to payments by the University to the Foundation for University obligations to the Foundation, operating expenses of the Foundation or other costs of the Foundation.

G. Separation of Funds. All Foundation assets (including bank and investment accounts) shall be held in separate accounts in the name of the Foundation using the Foundation's Federal Employer Identification Number. The financial records of the Foundation shall be kept using a separate chart of accounts and shall be kept in a secured database that is protected by separate password-only access. For convenience, however, some Foundation expenses may be paid through the University such as payroll and campus charges. These expenses will be paid through accounts clearly titled as belonging to the Foundation and shall be reimbursed by the Foundation on a regular basis.

H. Insurance. To the extent that the Foundation is not covered by the State of Idaho Retained Risk Program, the Foundation shall maintain insurance to cover the operations and activities of its directors, officers and employees. The Foundation shall also maintain general liability coverage.

I. Investment Policies. All funds held by the Foundation, except those intended for short term expenditures, shall be invested in accordance with the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act, Idaho Code Sections 33-5001 to 33-5010, and the Foundation's investment policy which is attached hereto as Exhibit "D"; provided, however, the Foundation shall not invest any funds in a manner that would violate the applicable terms of any restricted gifts. The Foundation shall provide to the University any updates to such investment policy which updates shall also be attached hereto as Exhibit "D".

J. Organization Structure of the Foundation. The organizational structure of the Foundation is set forth in the Foundation's Articles of Incorporation which are attached hereto as Exhibit "E" and the Foundation's By-Laws dated January 30, 2009, which are attached at Exhibit "F." The Foundation agrees to provide copies of such Articles and By-Laws as well as any subsequent amendments to such documents to the University. Any such amendments to the Articles and By-Laws shall be attached hereto as additions to Exhibit "E" and Exhibit "F", respectively.

K. Conflicts of Interest. The Foundation has adopted a written policy addressing the manner the Foundation will address conflict of interest situations. The Foundation's Conflict of Interest Policy is attached hereto as Exhibit "G."

ARTICLE V

FOUNDATION RELATIONSHIPS WITH THE UNIVERSITY

A. Access to Records. The University shall have reasonable access to the financial records of the Foundation upon permission granted by the Foundation from time to time, which shall not be unreasonably withheld. All access by the University of such records shall be made in accordance with applicable laws, Foundation policies, and guidelines. In addition, upon request of the Foundation, the University shall execute a proprietary and confidentiality agreement and instruct its agents and employees that all confidential information of the Foundation shall be protected from disclosure. Except as specifically authorized under this agreement or the applicable proprietary and confidentiality agreement between the University and the Foundation, the University's access shall not include donor specific data of the Foundation such that would provide individually identifiable information about donors or their donations made to the Foundation.

B. Records Management.

1. The University acknowledges that in most cases the University is the primary recipient and depository of confidential donor information. The Parties recognize, however, that the records of the Foundation relating to actual or potential donors contain confidential information. Such records shall be kept by the Foundation in such a manner as to protect donor confidentiality to the fullest extent allowed by law. Notwithstanding the access to records permitted above, access to such confidential information by the University shall be limited to the University's President and any designee of the University's President. The donor database and all other data, materials and information of the Foundation and the University pertaining to past, current or prospective donors, are proprietary to the Foundation and the University respectively and constitute confidential information and trade secrets. The Foundation and University shall take the steps necessary to monitor and control access to the donor database and to protect the security of computer servers and software relevant to the database, in each case to the extent that these systems are in their respective control.

2. The Foundation shall be responsible for maintaining all permanent records of the Foundation including but not limited to the Foundation's Articles, By-Laws and other governing documents, all necessary documents for compliance with IRS regulations, all gift instruments, and all other Foundation records as required by applicable laws.

3. The Foundation's Board of Directors shall foster an atmosphere of openness in its operations, consistent with the prudent conduct of its business. The parties understand that the Foundation is not a public agency or a governing body as defined in the Idaho Code and the Idaho Open Meeting Law and Access to Public Records Statutes. Nothing in this Operating Agreement shall be construed as a waiver of the Foundation's right to assert exemption from these statutes.

C. Name and Marks. Each Party hereby is granted a general, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the corporate name of the other, specifically: "The University of Idaho" and "The University of Idaho Foundation" and "The University of Idaho Foundation, Inc." in all activities conducted in association with or for the benefit of the other. Use of the other Party's name must be in manner that clearly identifies the Parties as separate entities, and neither Party may use the other Party's name to imply approval or action of the other Party. Neither Party may delegate, assign, or sublicense the rights granted hereunder without express written consent from the other Party. This license does not extend to any identifying marks of either Party other than the specified corporate name. Use of other marks must receive prior written approval.

D. Identification of Source. The Foundation shall be clearly identified as the source of any correspondence, activities and advertisements emanating from the Foundation.

E. Establishing the Foundation's Annual Budget. The Foundation shall provide the University with the Foundation's proposed annual operating budget and capital expenditure plan (if any) prior to the date the Foundation's Board of Directors meeting at which the Foundation's Board of Directors will vote to accept such operating budget. Any of the University's funding requests to the Foundation shall be communicated in writing by the President of the University to the Foundation's Treasurer by April 1 of each year.

F. Attendance of the University's President at Foundation's Board of Director Meetings. The Foundation may invite the University's President to attend meetings of the Foundation's Board of Directors and may act in an advisory capacity in such meetings.

G. Supplemental Compensation of University Employees. No University employee shall receive direct payments, compensation, or other benefits from the Foundation, provided that the Foundation may pay for those benefits which are necessary for its normal course of operation, including, but not limited to, travel and continuing professional education. Any such payment must be paid by the Foundation to the University and the University shall then pay or reimburse the employee in accordance with the University's normal practice. No University employee shall receive any payments or other benefits directly from the Foundation.

ARTICLE VI

AUDITS AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

A. Fiscal Year. The Foundation and the University shall have the same fiscal year.

B. Annual Audit. The Foundation shall have an annual financial audit conducted in accordance with Government Accounting Standards Board or Financial Accounting Standards

Board principles as appropriate. The audit shall be conducted by an independent certified public accountant who is not a director or officer of the Foundation. Such audit shall be conducted at the same or similar time as the University audit and shall be reported to the Foundation's Board of Directors. Such audit reports shall contain the Foundation's financial statements and the auditor's independent opinion regarding such financial statements. All such reports and any accompanying documentation shall protect donor privacy to the extent allowable by law.

C. Separate Audit Rights. The University agrees that the Foundation, at its own expense, may at any time during normal business hours conduct or request additional audits or reviews of the University's books and records pertinent to the expenditure of donated funds. The Foundation agrees that the University, at its own expense, may, at reasonable times, inspect and audit the Foundation's financial books and accounting records in accordance with Article V, A above.

D. Annual Reports to University President. Upon request, the Foundation shall provide a written report to the University President setting forth the following items:

1. the annual financial audit report;
2. an annual report of Foundation transfers made to the University, summarized by University department;
3. an annual report of unrestricted funds received by the Foundation;
4. an annual report of unrestricted funds available for use during the current fiscal year;
5. a list of all of the Foundation's officers, directors, and employees;
6. a list of University employees for whom the Foundation made payments to the University for approved purpose during the fiscal year, and the amount and nature of each payment;
7. a list of all state and federal contracts and grants managed by the Foundation;
8. an annual report of the Foundation's major activities;
9. an annual report of each real estate purchase or material capital lease, investment, or financing arrangement entered into during the preceding Foundation fiscal year for the benefit of the University; and
10. an annual report of any actual litigation involving the Foundation during its fiscal year, identification of legal counsel used by the Foundation for any purpose during such year, and identification of any potential or threatened litigation involving the Foundation limited to the extent necessary to protect attorney-client privilege and litigation strategy.

ARTICLE VII

CONFLICT OF INTEREST AND CODE OF ETHICS AND CONDUCT

A. Conflicts of Interest Policy Statement. The Foundation has adopted a written policy addressing the manner the Foundation will address conflict of interest situations. The Foundation's Conflict of Interest Policy is attached hereto as Exhibit "G."

B. Dual Representation. Under no circumstances may a University employee represent both the University and the Foundation in any negotiation, sign for both Parties in transactions, or direct any other University employee under their immediate supervision to sign for the related Party in a transaction between the University and the Foundation. This shall not, however, prohibit University employees from drafting transactional documents that are subsequently provided to the Foundation for the Foundation's independent review, approval and use.

C. Contractual Obligation of University. The Foundation shall not enter into any contract that would impose a financial or contractual obligation on the University without first obtaining the prior written approval of the University. University approval of any such contract shall comply with policies of the State Board with respect to the State Board's approval of University contracts.

D. Acquisition or Development of Real Estate. The Foundation shall not acquire or develop real estate for the University's use or otherwise build facilities for the University's use unless the University first obtains the approval of the State Board. In the event of a proposed purchase of real estate for such purposes by the Foundation, the University shall notify the State Board, at the earliest possible date, of such proposed purchase for such purposes. Furthermore, any such proposed purchase of real estate for the University's use shall be a coordinated effort of the University and the Foundation. Any notification by the University to the State Board required pursuant to this Section may be made through the State Board's chief executive officer in executive session pursuant to Idaho Code Section 67-2345(1)(c).

ARTICLE VIII

GENERAL TERMS

A. Effective Date. This Agreement shall be effective on the date set forth above.

B. Right to Terminate. This Operating Agreement shall terminate upon the mutual written agreement of both Parties. In addition, either Party may, upon 90 days prior written notice to the other, terminate this Operating Agreement, and either Party may terminate this Operating Agreement in the event the other Party defaults in the performance of its obligations and fails to cure the default within 30 days after receiving written notice from the non-defaulting Party specifying the nature of the default. Should the University choose to terminate this Operating Agreement by providing 90 days written notice or in the event of a default by the Foundation that is not cured within the time frame set forth above, the Foundation may require the University to pay, within 180 days of written notice, all debt incurred by the Foundation on the University's behalf including, but not limited to, lease payments, advanced funds, and funds borrowed for specific initiatives. Should the Foundation choose to terminate this Operating Agreement by providing 90 days written notice or in the event of a default by the University that is not cured within the time frame set forth above, the University may require the Foundation to pay any debt it holds on behalf of the Foundation in like manner. The Parties agree that in the event this Operating Agreement shall terminate, they shall cooperate with one another in good faith to negotiate a new agreement within six (6) months. In the event negotiations fail, the Parties will initiate the Dispute Resolution mechanism described below (through reference to the Foundation's Chairman and the State Board) to further attempt to negotiate a new agreement. Termination of this Operating Agreement shall not constitute or cause dissolution of the Foundation.

C. Dispute Resolution. The Parties agree that in the event of any dispute arising from this Operating Agreement, they shall first attempt to resolve the dispute by working together with the appropriate staff members of each of the Parties. If the staff cannot resolve the dispute, then the dispute will be referred to the Foundation's Chairman and the University's President. If the Foundation's Chairman and University's President cannot resolve the dispute, then the dispute will be referred to the Foundation's Chairman and the State Board for resolution. If the dispute is not resolved by the aforementioned Parties, the University and the Foundation shall submit the dispute to mediation by an impartial third party or professional mediator mutually acceptable to the Parties. If and only if all the above mandatory steps are followed in sequence and the dispute remains unresolved, then, in such case, either Party shall have the right to initiate litigation arising from this Operating Agreement. In the event of litigation, the prevailing Party shall be entitled, in addition to any other rights and remedies it may have, to reimbursement for its expenses, including court costs, attorney fees, and other professional expenses.

D. Dissolution of Foundation. Upon dissolution of the Foundation, it shall transfer the balance of all property and assets of the Foundation in a manner consistent with its Articles of Incorporation, which state that in the event of dissolution of the Foundation, "no member, director, officer, or individual shall be entitled to or receive any distribution or division of its remaining assets, property or proceeds, and the balance of all property and assets of the [Foundation] from any source, after the payment of all debts and obligations of the [Foundation], shall be vested in the Board of Regents of the University of Idaho in trust for the use and benefit of the University. Any such assets not disposed of shall be distributed for one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or shall be distributed to the federal government, or to a state or local government, for a public purpose."

E. Board Approval of Operating Agreement. Prior to the Parties' execution of this Operating Agreement, an unexecuted copy of this Operating Agreement must be approved by the State Board. Furthermore, this Operating Agreement, including any subsequent modifications and restatements of this Operating Agreement, shall be submitted to the State Board for review and approval no less frequently than once every two (2) years or more frequently if otherwise requested by the State Board.

F. Modification. Any modification to the Agreement or Exhibits hereto shall be in writing and signed by both Parties.

G. Providing Document to and Obtaining Approval from the University. Unless otherwise indicated herein, whenever documents are to be provided to the University or whenever the University's approval of any action is required, such documents shall be provided to, or such approval shall be obtained from, the University's President or an individual to whom such authority has been properly delegated by the University's President.

Without limiting the foregoing, this Agreement shall not be construed as a promise of continuing employment to Loaned Employee, who remains subject to all applicable Regents and University policies, including but not limited to policies regarding nonrenewal of fixed term appointments and termination or discipline.

Proposed Rule IDAPA 08.01.10 – Idaho College Work Study Program

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Idaho Administrative code, IDAPA 08.01.10
Section 33-4401 through 33-4409, Idaho Code

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The purpose of the Idaho Work Study Program is to expand employment opportunities for resident students. To be eligible for the program a person must be an Idaho resident student enrolled at a public accredited institution of higher education at least half-time.

The proposed changes to IDAPA 08.01.10 will amend the formula used to determine the allocation of funds, streamline the administrative processes, and eliminate redundant sections of rule that are already outlined in Idaho code.

IMPACT

Simplification of the formula used to determine the allocation of funds will make the program easier to manage with limited resources while still meeting the intended purpose of the program.

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Idaho Administrative code, IDAPA 08.01.11
Section 33-2400, Idaho Code

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The proposed changes to IDAPA 08.01.11 change the reporting year for establishing the gross Idaho tuition revenue from the previous registration year to the previous tax reporting year and adds language requiring institutions to provide information to students regarding the availability and location of clinical and internship positions for those programs that require clinical or internships as part of the course or courses of study.

IMPACT

The proposed changes simplify the calculation of Idaho tuition revenue for the schools and institutions registering. The added disclosure to students will provide for greater consumer protection and transparency for those students who have entered a program only to find out the clinical or internship positions are out of the area.

SUBJECT

Proposed Rule IDAPA 08.02.02 – Rules Governing Uniformity (Alternate Route to Certification)

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Idaho Administrative code, IDAPA 08.02.02, Subsection 039. – 046. – Rules Governing Uniformity

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The proposed changes to IDAPA 08.02.02 would repeal three sections of rule that expired July 1, 2006 (.039, 040, and 041.) and clarify the alternate route to certification process. The process surrounding the attainment of certification through an alternate route is confusing, especially in the area of para professionals to certification. It has proven to be very difficult for a para professional to attain certification within the allotted five (5) years, as specified under the preset definition. Additionally, as a result of increased accountability for federal reporting, it became clear that the Para to Teacher Route was not a true alternate route, but really an incentivized “grow your own” program. The new language will make a legitimate process available for para professionals and clarify the prerequisites, which are the same as those required for a content specialist.

There is also conflicting language in the rule regarding the Computer-Based Alternative Route to Certification. The proposed language will also clear up any question regarding the completion of a two year mentor program as part of the full certification process.

The following changes are proposed:

- 1) Amend Alternative Routes to Certification 08.02.02.042 Under the Title II reporting requirements Idaho was required to either accept the federal definition of Alternate Route or adopt one of its own. Idaho, in essence, adopted the federal definition which closely aligned with practices in the state. (This change supports para to teacher route. See #4)
- 2) Amend Content Specialist – Alternative Route 08.02.02.044 (Amended to allow for increased flexibility in meeting district needs.)
- 3) Change Computer – Based Alternative Route 08.02.02.045 (Amended to clarify mentoring requirements and create consistency with other certification requirements.)
- 4) Strike 08.02.02.046 (The paraprofessional to certification route is now designed to work within Alternate Route-Content Specialist.)

IMPACT

The proposed changes to IDAPA 08.02.02 would repeal expired sections of administrative rule and bring the para to educator alternate route to certification into compliance with federal regulations.

CHAPTER 02

000. LEGAL AUTHORITY.

All rules in IDAPA 08.02.02, "Rules Governing Uniformity," are promulgated pursuant to the authority of the State Board of Education under Article IX, Section 2 of the Idaho Constitution and under Sections 33-105, 33-107, 33-116, and 33-1612, Idaho Code. Specific statutory references for particular rules are also noted as additional authority where appropriate. (7-1-02)

037. -- ~~03841.~~ (RESERVED)

~~039. LIMITED APPROVAL ALTERNATIVES (EXPIRES JULY 1, 2006).~~

~~01. Consultant Specialist Certificate. At the request of a school district, the State Department of Education may issue a Consultant Specialist certificate to highly and uniquely qualified persons. The use of the certificate is limited to the applicant's district and is valid for one (1) year. It is intended that use of the Consultant Specialist provision be exceptional and occasional and not used as a regular hiring practice. (3-20-04)~~

~~02. Letters of Authorization (LOA). Letters of Authorization allow Idaho school districts to request emergency certification when a professional position cannot be filled with someone who has the correct certificate. Individuals considered for an LOA must have at least a baccalaureate degree and must enroll in a program to achieve full certification in the area of authorization. A request for a Letter of Authorization shall be sent to the State Department of Education. The request and supporting information will be reviewed by the Professional Standards Commission, with the final recommendation of the Commission submitted by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for State Board of Education approval. An LOA is valid for one (1) year and may renewed annually upon completion of nine (9) semester credit hours applicable to the standards for full certification in the area of authorization. (3-20-04)~~

~~03. Limited Transitional Letter of Approval. This non-renewable letter of approval is valid for one (1) year only. The purpose of the letter of approval is to allow a teacher with secondary certification (grades 6-12) to teach at the elementary levels (K-8) without additional student teaching, or vice-versa. Other than student teaching, all other requirements for the desired certificate must be met. Upon successful completion of one (1) year of teaching while holding the Limited Transitional Letter of Approval, the educator will be eligible to hold the appropriate elementary or secondary certificate. To be eligible for a Limited Transitional Letter of Approval, the following requirements must be met: (3-20-04)~~

~~a. Must hold a valid Idaho Elementary or Secondary Teaching Certificate. (3-20-04)~~

~~b. Must provide verification of four (4) years of successful classroom teaching while holding the proper state certificate. (3-20-04)~~

~~c. Must have completed all of the requirements for the Standard Elementary Certificate, except student teaching, if the applicant currently holds a Standard Secondary Certificate. If the applicant currently holds a Standard Elementary Certificate, all of the requirements for a Standard Secondary Certificate must have been completed, except student teaching. (3-20-04)~~

~~d. Must provide the State Department of Education with written verification that a mentor teacher holding the same certificate as the one (1) the applicant is seeking will be provided for the applicant by the employing district; or be enrolled in a one (1) year supervised internship experience under the supervision of~~

~~personnel from a college or university with an approved teacher preparation program. (3-20-04)~~

~~04. Postsecondary Specialist. A Postsecondary Specialist Letter of Approval may be granted to teaching faculty of Idaho public postsecondary institutions, who are not otherwise certificated, upon recommendation by the postsecondary institution (dean level or above) to be eligible to teach in the public schools. It is intended that the letter of approval will be used primarily for distance education and "virtual university" programs. The Postsecondary Specialist Letter of Approval is valid for five (5) years and is renewable. (3-20-04)~~

~~040. MISASSIGNMENTS – GRANDFATHERING (EXPIRES JULY 1, 2006).~~

~~01. Certificate. A person employed by a school district in a position requiring a certificate must hold a valid certificate for the service being rendered. In any situation in which a person not holding a specific endorsement is to provide educational services in a specific area, the employing district must apply to the State Department of Education for misassigned status to place the individual in that assignment for the school year. The district must demonstrate in a written report that it has made a good faith effort to employ properly certificated educators for those duties and that a conscientious effort is being made to remedy each specific problem. Criteria for acceptance of the report includes the following: (3-20-04)~~

~~a. The duties may comprise no more than one half (1/2) of the teacher's full time assignment; (4-1-97)~~

~~b. Teachers who are misassigned must have a minimum of six (6) semester hours of college credit in each subject area in which service is rendered; and (4-1-97)~~

~~c. Teachers who are misassigned must comprise no more than five percent (5%) of the total number of the district's certificated, full time teachers, or five (5) teachers, whichever is greater. Districts which have secondary schools located more than fifteen (15) miles from another secondary school may misassign up to an additional five (5) teachers upon approval of the State Department of Education. However, in no circumstance will more than five (5) teachers be misassigned in any one building. (3-20-04)~~

~~02. Effect of Accreditation. All misassignments will be noted on the accreditation report. Any misassignments not meeting the above criteria may effect accreditation. Funds will be withheld for that portion of the misassigned person's time which exceeds the criteria included in this rule if a waiver has not been approved by the State Board of Education. (4-1-97)~~

~~041. ALTERNATIVE CERTIFICATION (EXPIRES JULY 1, 2006).~~

~~The purpose of this program is to provide an alternative for individuals to become certificated secondary teachers in Idaho without following a standard teacher education program. The purpose of this certification is to provide an alternative for individuals with strong subject matter background but limited experience with educational methodology. Qualified applicants will begin contracted teaching earlier and will be admitted to the program using criteria that are different from existing programs but more appropriate for the circumstances. This certification is valid for three (3) years and is non renewable. To be eligible for alternative certification, the following requirements must be satisfied: (3-20-04)~~

~~01. Initial Qualifications. Prior to application: The prospective candidate must possess a baccalaureate (or higher) degree from an accredited college or university with a minimum grade point average of 2.0 on a four point zero (4.0) scale completed at least five (5) years earlier. Additionally, an applicant must hold academic credits equivalent to current major and minor requirements for secondary endorsements; be assured of full time employment in an Idaho school district; and meet all non academic requirements of the state of Idaho. (3-20-04)~~

~~02. Teacher Trainee Program. Alternative certification is valid for two (2) years of teaching. The teacher trainee program must be completed within three (3) calendar years from the date of admission to the program. It authorizes the teacher trainee to teach only the subject(s) listed on the letter of approval and only at the secondary level. (3-20-04)~~

~~a. A teacher trainee will work toward completion of the teacher trainee program through participating colleges and universities, the State Department of Education, and the employing school district. A teacher must attend, participate in, and successfully complete an individualized two year teacher trainee program as one of the conditions to receive recommendation for the Standard Secondary Teaching Certificate. A formal teacher trainee plan will be developed by a consortium composed of the mentor teacher, a representative from the school district, a representative of the State Department of Education, and a representative of the participating higher education institution with an approved secondary education program. Any deviation from the formal trainee plan must be approved by the consortium. The consortium will be responsible for the program design, supervision, and evaluation of the training. The teacher trainee program shall include: (3-20-04)~~

~~i. Prior to entering the classroom, completion of nine (9) semester credit hours of pre-service training from an institution of higher education in educational course work pertinent to the education profession. (3-20-04)~~

~~ii. Prior to completion of the Alternate Route Program, at least one (1) course in each of the following areas must be completed: Philosophical Foundations of Education; Psychological Foundations of Education; Methodology; Reading in the Content Area. (3-20-04)~~

~~iii. Completion of a thirty (30) hour, pre-service orientation presented by the school district prior to a classroom assignment. This orientation shall include district policies, procedures, curriculum, instructional model, community characteristics, and resources. (3-20-04)~~

~~iv. Completion of a four semester college/university internship. The trainee shall be enrolled in three (3) semester credit hours of internship each semester. (3-20-04)~~

~~v. Completion of a six to nine (6-9) semester credit hour program during the second summer from an institution of higher learning. The pre-service and second summer program of fifteen to eighteen (15-18) semester credit hours in total shall include: philosophical, psychological, and methodological foundations of the profession, and reading in the content area. The consortium will determine the content required for the trainee, which may include both pedagogical and subject area course work. When designing the content necessary for the individual teacher trainee to complete the program, the consortium shall consider previous college credit as documented in official transcripts. Efforts will be directed to provide observation and clinical experiences during the time prior to being assigned to the classroom. (3-20-04)~~

~~b. Assistance by Mentor Teachers: Each teacher trainee must be assisted by and guided throughout the two year training period by a certificated employee of the district who has been designated as a mentor teacher. Principals must ensure that teacher trainees are provided with direct assistance, which should include close clinical supervision, especially at the beginning of the internship. (3-20-04)~~

~~c. Performance Evaluations: In order to receive a consortium recommendation for the Standard Secondary Teaching Certificate, the teacher trainee must complete at least two (2) years of successful performance as a teacher under the teacher trainee program. Principals are to provide assistance to teacher trainees regarding the purpose, expectations, and procedures involved in the evaluation process and with whatever guidance may be needed. The principal shall formally evaluate the teacher trainee at least once each semester of the school year. For purposes of suspension or dismissal, teacher trainees are to be treated as non continuing contract employees. The district may suspend or dismiss teacher trainees in accordance with the procedures as provided in Idaho Code. The Teacher Trainee Letter of Approval may be suspended or revoked if there is failure to satisfactorily and successfully complete the stages of the individualized plan within the specified time frames as established by the consortium; or failure to obtain at least a two point five (2.5) grade point average on a four point zero (4.0) scale in the college credit portion of the program. Also, no individual grade can be lower than a "C"; or any other causes for suspension or revocation as found in Section 33-1208, Idaho Code. (3-20-04)~~

~~d. The teacher trainee, upon successful completion of the teacher trainee program as verified by the consortium, will be eligible to apply for a Standard Secondary Teaching Certificate. The two (2) years of experience as a teacher trainee shall be counted toward continuing contract status as authorized in Section 33-515, Idaho Code. (3-20-04)~~

b. Second, to children of founders, provided that this admission preference shall be limited to not more than ten percent (10%) of the capacity of the public charter school. If so stated in its petition, a public charter school may include within this priority group the children of full-time employees and/or children withdrawn from the public charter school within the previous three (3) years as a result of the relocation of a parent or guardian due to an academic sabbatical, employer or military transfer or reassignment, subject to the provisions of Section 33-5205(3)(k)(i-ii), Idaho Code. attendance list containing the names of all prospective students on whose behalf a written request for admission was timely received by the public charter school, separated by grade level. In addition, the proposed attendance list shall contain columns next to the name of each student, in which the public charter school will designate admission preferences applicable to each prospective student. The columns shall be designated “A” for returning student preference; “B” for founders preference; “C” for sibling preference, with a corresponding cross-reference to each of the siblings of the prospective student; and “D” for attendance area preference. (4-11-06)

09. Equitable Selection Process. If the initial capacity of a public charter school is insufficient to enroll all prospective students, or if capacity is insufficient to enroll all prospective students in subsequent school years, then the public charter school shall determine the students who will be offered admission to the public charter school by conducting a fair and equitable selection process. The selection procedure shall be conducted as follows: (4-11-06)

The index cards containing the names of the prospective students for the grade level being selected shall be placed into a single container. (4-11-06)

b. A neutral, third party shall draw the grade level to be completed first and then draw each index card from the container for that grade level, and such person shall write the selection number on each index card as drawn, beginning with the numeral “1” and continuing sequentially thereafter. In addition, after selecting each index card, the name of the person selected will be compared to the proposed attendance list to determine whether any preferences are applicable to such person. (4-11-06)

c. If the name of the person selected is a returning student, then the letter “A” shall be written on such index card. If the name of the person selected is the child of a founder, the letter “B” shall be written on such index card. If the name of the person selected is the sibling of another student that has already been selected for admission to the public charter school, then the letter “C” shall be written on such index card. If the name of the person selected resides in the attendance area of the public charter school, then the letter “D” shall be written on such index card. (4-11-06)

d. With regard to the sibling preference, if the name of the person selected has a sibling ~~in a higher grade~~ who has already been selected, but the person previously selected did not have the letter “C” written on his or her index card (because a sibling had not been selected for admission prior to the selection of the index card of that person), then the letter “C” shall now be written on that person’s index card at this time. (4-11-06)

e. With regard to the founder’s preference, a running tally shall be kept during the course of the selection procedure of the number of index cards, in the aggregate, that have been marked with the letter “B.” When the number of index cards marked with the letter “B” equals ten percent (10%) of the proposed capacity of the public charter school for the school year at issue, then no additional index cards shall be marked with the letter “B,” even if such person selected would otherwise be eligible for the founders preference. (4-11-06)

f. After all index cards have been selected for each grade, then the index cards shall be sorted for each grade level in accordance with the following procedure. All index cards with the letter “A” shall be sorted first, based on the chronological order of the selection number written on each index card; followed by all index cards with the letter “B,” based on the chronological order of the selection number written on each index card; followed by all index cards with the letter “C,” based on the chronological order of the selection number written on each index card; followed by all index cards with the letter “D,” based on the chronological order of the selection number written on each index card; followed, finally, by all index cards containing no letters, based on the chronological order of the selection number written on each index card. (4-11-06)

g. After the index cards have been drawn and sorted for all grade levels, the names shall be transferred by grade level, and in such order as preferences apply, to the final selection list. (4-11-06)

10. Final Selection List. The names of the persons in highest order on the final selection list shall

11. Notification and Acceptance Process. (4-11-06)

a. With respect to students selected for admission to the public charter school, within seven (7) days after conducting the selection process, the public charter school shall send an offer letter to the parent, guardian, or other person who submitted a written request for admission on behalf of a student, advising such person that the student has been selected for admission to the public charter school. The offer letter must be signed by such student's parent, or guardian, and returned to the public charter school by the date designated in such offer letter by the public charter school. (4-11-06)

b. With respect to a prospective student not eligible for admission to the public charter school, within seven (7) days after conducting the selection process, the public charter school shall send a letter to the parent, guardian, or other person who submitted a request for admission on behalf of such student, advising such person that the prospective student is not eligible for admission, but will be placed on a waiting list and may be eligible for admission at a later date if a seat becomes available. (4-11-06)

c. If a parent, guardian, or other person receives an offer letter on behalf of a student and declines admission, or fails to timely sign and return such offer by the date designated in such offer letter by the public charter school, then the name of such student will be stricken from the final selection list, and the seat that opens in that grade will be made available to the next eligible student on the final selection list. (4-11-06)

d. If a student withdraws from the public charter school during the school year for any reason, then the seat that opens in that grade will be made available to the next eligible student on the final selection list. (4-11-06)

12. Subsequent School Years. The final selection list for a given school year shall not roll over to the next subsequent school year. SECTION 1.0 – PURPOSE AND GENERAL REQUIREMENTS OF THE IDAHO VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION PARTICIPANT SERVICES PROGRAM

The Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) program assists eligible persons with ~~physical or mental~~ disabilities to prepare for and achieve an employment outcome. “Employment outcome” means entering or retaining full-time, or if appropriate, part-time competitive employment in the integrated labor market to the greatest extent possible. It also means supported employment; or other types of employment, including self-employment, consistent with self-sustaining activity for wages or compensation consistent with ~~an individual’s~~ the customer’s strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, ~~interests~~ interest, and informed choice.

Competitive employment is work performed in the integrated labor market in which the ~~individual~~ customer is compensated at or above minimum wage, but not less than the customary wage and benefits paid for the same or similar work performed by ~~individuals~~ customers who do not have a disability.

The IDVR is a statewide program that develops and utilizes partnerships for effective service delivery. Partnerships vary, but include those programs authorized under the Rehabilitation Act such as Independent Living Centers and Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation Programs. Programs authorized under the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) are utilized to the maximum extent possible as allowed in Section ~~188~~ of the Act. It is understood that each program is unique and offers unique cultural and professional expertise. Cooperative Agreements with respective programs are encouraged and should be referred to for local understanding. Staff is encouraged to understand these agreements and provide information, referral and services as appropriate to the needs of the ~~individuals~~ customers they serve. Consult with the Regional Manager for access to pertinent cooperative agreements.

Vocational Rehabilitation is based upon an Individual Plan of Employment (IPE) that is oriented to the achievement of an employment outcome. Services provided to persons with disabilities must be documented as necessary to overcome related barriers to employment and must be provided as cost effectively as possible.

The Division strives to maintain a highly accountable program to all customers. ~~Division employees and individuals with disabilities are accountable for their actions and will be held to the highest standard of responsibility.~~

IDVR provides, as appropriate to the vocational rehabilitation needs of each eligible ~~individual~~ customer, goods or services necessary to enable the ~~individual~~ customer to achieve an employment outcome.

EXCEPTION TO POLICY

~~Exceptions to policy require the approval of the VR Manager and the notification and consultation of the Chief of Field Services.~~ VR Counselors are delegated substantial decision and purchasing authority based upon the caps outlined in the Payment Policy. Exceptions to policy require the approval of a VR Regional Manager and the notification and consultation of the Chief of Field Services. Documentation of the VR Regional Manager's approval must be noted in the case file.

Purchases in excess of delegated authority are reviewed by the Regional Manager and approved by the Chief of Field Services or designee ~~(Field Services Manager).~~ Documentation of the approval of purchases in excess must be noted in case file.

- Nurse Practitioner (works under own licensure)
- Physician’s Assistant (works under a “Delegation of Services Agreement” with a physician providing oversight)

The following occupations have been licensed in Idaho to provide specific medical diagnoses within the specialized areas of competency for which the specific licensure has been determined. It is critical that the VR Counselor take special precaution to ensure that when utilizing medical diagnoses from one of the medical professions listed below that only those areas of expertise for which the particular professional has been credentialed are documented within the eligibility determination module.

- Licensed Psychologist
- Chiropractor
- Naturopath
- Podiatrist
- Optometrist
- Physical Therapist
- Dentist/Orthodontist

- Advanced Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (ACADC) / Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (CADC) (restricted to identifying alcohol impairment related to specific testing outcome)
- School Psychologist (limited to diagnosing eligibility for school related special needs services)
- Licensed Audiologist (restricted to diagnosing hearing impairments specifically related to ~~audiologica~~audiological testing results when medical conditions have been ruled out)

For further clarification, you may access ~~www.ibol.idaho.gov~~www.ibol.idaho.gov and connect to “The Individual Board Pages” to determine the full extent of the professional latitude allocated to the medical occupations that are licensed to provide specialized services within narrowly defined parameters of competency. -The State Board of Medicine maintains jurisdiction over the authority and conduct of medical doctors.

~~RSA mandates that either federal or state sponsored boards must grant authority to all licensures, certifications or registrations that qualify a professional to diagnose disabilities for the purpose of agency eligibility.~~ Private Licensing/certifying boards outside the ~~federal/state~~Federal/State purview cannot be utilized as a basis for VR diagnostic purposes.

5.45.2 Social Security Presumption

Any applicant, who has been determined eligible for Social Security benefits under Title II or Title XVI of the Social Security Act, is presumed to meet the eligibility requirements for vocational rehabilitation services and is considered ~~an individual~~a customer with a significant disability.

Following an application and initial interview where ~~an individual~~a customer reports receiving SSI or SSDI, the counselor will obtain verification of receipt of SSI/SSDI, such as an award letter, a copy of the ~~individual's~~customer's check, or a verification document through the Social Security Entry and Verification System (SVES). Upon verification, the ~~individual~~customer is made eligible for vocational rehabilitation with a Presumption of Eligibility statement in the record of services.

NOTE: If the applicant presents sufficient medical documentation to determine eligibility at the first meeting, verification will still be procured but eligibility can be determined immediately without designating presumptive status.

The assessment for determining rehabilitation needs will continue, as needed, to obtain information necessary to determine the Individual Plan for Employment. This assessment will include: gathering existing records to determine the ~~individual's~~customer's impairment, impediment and nature and scope of the VR services necessary to obtain an employment outcome consistent with the ~~individuals'~~customer's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice.

When the assessment adequately documents the impairment(s), employment impediment(s) and required service(s) needed, the qualified VR ~~counselor~~counselors completes an Eligibility Determination in the agency~~Agency's~~ computerized data system ~~(Gemini)~~.

If ~~an individual~~a customer receives disability benefits under Title II or Title XVI of the Social Security Act and intends to work, IDVR presumes eligibility for services, unless, because of the significance of the ~~individual's~~customer's disability, a VR counselor cannot presume that VR services will enable the ~~individual~~customer to work ~~– (based on clear and convincing evidence).~~

Should the significance of the disability prevent a VR counselor from presuming that VR services will enable the ~~individual~~customer to work, the ~~individual~~customer will be asked to complete a trial work experience in order for the counselor to make an eligibility ~~decision~~determination.

If the ~~individual~~customer cannot take advantage of a trial work experience, an extended evaluation must be conducted in order to make the decision of eligibility.

5.56 Review and assessment of data for eligibility determination

The eligibility determination shall be based on the review and assessment of existing data, including: counselor observations, education records, and information provided by the ~~individual~~customer or family, particularly information used by education officials and determinations made by officials or other agencies. ~~Current medical records will, of course,~~ be utilized to determine the nature and extent of the disability as well as for justification for the procurement of additional medical data when required to identify/verify alleged medical restrictions.

To the extent that existing data does not describe the current functioning of the ~~individual~~customer, IDVR will conduct an assessment of additional data resulting from the provision of VR services including: trial work experiences, assistive technology devices and services, personal assistance services, and any other support services that are necessary to determine whether ~~an individual~~a customer is eligible.

~~Upon completion of the eligibility assessment, the counselor shall make one of the following determinations:~~

5.56.1 - Eligibility/Ineligibility: For each ~~individual~~customer determined eligible or ineligible for vocational rehabilitation services, the record of services must include a dated Eligibility Determination completed by a qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor. Written notification of an ineligibility determination will be provided to the customer.

An ineligibility notification must include the reason for the determination, rights and responsibilities, and Client Assistance Program (CAP) information. A customer should be referred to the local Department of Labor to address the customer's training or employment needs or to the Extended Employment Services Program (Work Services / Sheltered Workshops) if the ineligibility is "Too Severely Disabled."

Ineligibility decisions based upon the severity of disability must outline clear and convincing evidence and require a period of trial work experiences or extended evaluation prior to closure. (See Closure, Section 13)

It is federally mandated that IDVR review the closure outcome of “too severely disabled” within 12 months of closure and annually thereafter, if requested. (See Section 13)

5.56.2 - Trial Work Experiences (TWE) for individualscustomers with significant disabilities:

Prior to any determination that an individuala customer with a disability is incapable of benefiting from VR services in terms of an employment outcome because of the severity of that individual'scustomer's disability, an exploration of that individual'scustomer's abilities, capabilities, and the capacity to perform in realistic work situations must be conducted to determine whether or not there is clear and convincing evidence to support such a determination.

In such cases a written plan must be developed to assess and determine the above. The assessment must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the individualcustomer. TWE include: supported employment, situational assessment, and other experiences using realistic work settingsettings and must be of a sufficient variety and over a sufficient period of time to make such a determination. Appropriate supports, including assistive technology devices and services and personal assistance services to accommodate the rehabilitation needs of the individualcustomer must be provided.

Remember:

Trial Work Experience ~~should be~~is used to demonstrate whether the individualcustomer is capable of benefiting from VR services. Trial Work Experience will be conducted before Presumptive Eligibility is completed if there is a question regarding capacity to benefit.

To place participant in Trial Work Experience, VR Counselor must:

- ~~1) Determine that individual has a significant physical or mental impairment (disability) that is a substantial impediment (barrier) to employment.~~

~~Document in Gemini, under Disability Browse, in the Disability sub-page. Document each disability and its associated functional limitations separately under Disability Documentation and Other Comments. Gemini will number them: 1, 2, 3, etc. Please enter them in order of priority—primary will be #1, secondary #2, etc.~~

~~Document in Gemini in Eligibility Determination using check boxes and the text box under #3 Impediment to Employment.~~

- ~~2) Have questions about whether the participant is capable or incapable of benefiting in terms of an employment outcome from VR services due to severity of disability.~~

~~3) If Trial Work is determined to be appropriate a case note will be completed within of 5 days of receipt of SSA verification document(s) and a plan will be developed within 30 days.~~

~~4) With the participant, develop a Trial Work Experiences plan to assess the participant's ability, capabilities and capacity to perform in realistic work situations through the use of Trial Work Experiences. The TWEs must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the participant. TWEs may include CBWE, CBWA, CSE, job coaching, on-the-job training~~TWEs may include: Community Based Work Evaluation (CBWE), job coaching, on-the-job training, supported employment or other experiences using realistic work settings, as well as assistive technology and other needed services.

~~In Gemini, do not document in #4 Documentation or put in the Eligibility date at this time. You may complete these after the TWE plan if you go ahead with Eligibility determination.~~

~~5) Review Gemini 3, Client Rights and Responsibilities~~

~~6) Assess need for Rehabilitation Technology Services, if and when necessary.~~

~~7) Insure that individual is an active partner, making meaningful and informed choices in the provision of Trial Work Experiences.~~

8) Review the TWE Plan at least every 90 days to determine if there is sufficient evidence to conclude that the ~~participant~~customer can benefit from VR Services in terms of an employment outcome or there is clear and convincing evidence that the ~~participant~~customer is incapable of benefiting from VR Services in terms of an employment outcome due to the severity of the disability.

9) Make the determination for eligibility or case closure within the 18-month time frame.

~~5.56.3~~ Extended Evaluation:

Under limited circumstances if ~~an individual~~a customer cannot take advantage of trial work experiences or if options for trial work experiences have been exhausted, an Extended Evaluation (EE) must be conducted to make these determinations.

In all cases where the counselor determines that an extended evaluation is required, the case record must include a Determination of Extended Evaluation completed by a qualified ~~vocational rehabilitation~~VR counselor, which documents:

~~A.~~

- A. That the individualcustomer has a physical or mental impairment which constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment and requires VR services, and
- B. That it is questionable if the individualcustomer is capable of benefiting from VR services in terms of an employment outcome because of the severity of the disability.

During the extended evaluation period, VR services must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the individualcustomer. There must be a written Extended Evaluation Plan for providing services necessary to make an eligibility or ineligibility determination. Only those services that are necessary to make the above determinations are to be provided and extended evaluation services are terminated when the qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor is able to make the determinations.

An individual

A customer will remain in extended evaluationevaluations only for the period of time required to determine if the individualcustomer can benefit from VR services in terms of an employment outcome but not to exceed eighteen (18) months. A review of the case shall be conducted as often as necessary but at least every ninety (90) days.

To place individual in Extended Evaluation, VR Counselor must:

- ~~1) Determine that participant has a significant physical or mental impairment (disability) that is a substantial impediment (barrier) to employment.~~

~~Document in Gemini, under Disability Browse, in the Disability sub-page. Document each disability and its associated functional limitations separately under Disability Documentation and Other Comments. Gemini will number them: 1, 2, 3, etc. Please enter them in order of priority—primary Written documentation will be #1, secondary #2, etc.~~

~~Document in Gemini in Eligibility Determination using check boxes and the text box under #3 Impediment to Employment.~~

- ~~2) Have questions about whether participant is capable or incapable of benefiting in terms of an employment outcome from VR services due to severity of disability.~~
- ~~3) Have conducted Trial Work Experience or determined that participant is unable to take advantage of TWE.~~

4) ~~With participant, develop an Extended Evaluation plan to assess participants' abilities, capabilities and capacity to perform in work settings. During the Extended Evaluation, VR Services must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the participant. VR will only provide those services necessary to make the of determination of ability to benefit.~~

~~— In Gemini, do not document in #4 Documentation or put in the Eligibility date at this time. You may complete these after the EE plan if you go ahead with Eligibility determination.~~

5) ~~● Review Gemini 3, Client Rights and Responsibilities.~~

6) ~~Assess need for Rehabilitation Technology Services, if and when necessary.~~

7) ~~Insure that participant is an active partner, making meaningful and informed choices in the provision of Extended Evaluation.~~

8) ~~Review the Extended Evaluation Plan at least every 90 days to assess progress.~~

9) ~~Terminate Extended Evaluation services as soon as VR is able to make the determination of the participant's ability or inability to benefit in terms of an employment outcome.~~

10) ~~Make the determination for eligibility or case closure within the 18-month timeframe.~~

5.5.4 Ineligibility:

~~In all instances where the counselor determines that an applicant for, or recipient of vocational rehabilitation services does not meet the requirements for eligibility, the record of services must include a determination of ineligibility, dated and signed by the counselor, which documents the reasons for the ineligibility determination. Ineligibility decisions based upon the severity of a disability must outline clear and convincing evidence and require a period of trial work experiences or extended evaluation prior to closure. (See Closure, Section 13)~~

~~On occasion an application will be completed on individual who is later determined, after the acquisition of diagnostic information, to be an appropriate candidate for Extended Sheltered Employment Services (Work Services). A Trial Work Experience (TWE) or Extended Evaluation (EE) must be conducted to provide clear and convincing evidence that the individual is incapable of benefiting in terms of employment from VR services. Once the TWE is completed and verifies the severity of the disability, the individual will be referred to the Extended Employment Services Program (EES) (See Section 12.12) for appropriate placement in a sheltered work environment and closed as "Too Severely Disabled".~~

~~It is federally mandated that IDVR monitor the closure outcome within 12 months of closure (See Section 13.1.2.D).~~

SECTION 6.0 THE DETERMINATION OF SIGNIFICANCE OF DISABILITY

6.1 Policy

At the time ~~an individual~~ a customer is determined eligible for VR services, a VR counselor will determine the significance of the disability and, based upon the determination, will assign the ~~individual~~ customer to a priority category. If the agency is not under an ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection, the prioritization will be used (1) for planning purposes to ascertain services that can continue to be provided to all who are eligible and (2) to provide a structure for an easy transition to an ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection if required. If the ~~agency~~ Agency is under an ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection (see section ~~15.0~~ 14), the priority categories are used to determine the order in which ~~individuals~~ customers receive services.

6.2 Definitions

Priority Categories:

~~A. Individuals with most significant disabilities~~

~~B. Individuals with significant disabilities~~

~~C. Individuals with no significant disabilities~~

A. No Significant Disability ~~-An individual with no significant disability: (NSD)~~

~~A. _____~~

B. Significant Disability (SD)

C. Most Significant Disability (MSD)

No Significant Disability (NSD)

a. Who has a physical or mental impairment;

~~B. _____~~

b. Whose impairment constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment; and

c. Who can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of vocational rehabilitation services.

Significant Disability (SD): ~~An individual with a significant disability:)~~

~~A. _____~~

- a. Meets the criteria for ~~an individual~~ a customer with ~~a no significant~~ disability;
 - ~~B.~~
- b. Experiences a severe physical and/or mental impairment that seriously limits ~~one~~ two or more functional categories (such as mobility, work skills, self-care, interpersonal skills, communication, self-direction or work tolerance) in terms of an employment outcome;
 - ~~C.~~
- c. Requires multiple ~~vocational rehabilitation~~ primary Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) services over an extended period of time ~~–~~ (at least 6 months).

Most Significant Disability (MSD): ~~An individual with a most significant disability;~~

- ~~A.~~
 - a. Meets the criteria established for ~~an individual~~ a customer with a significant disability; ~~and~~
 - ~~B.~~
 - b. Experiences a severe physical and/or mental impairment that seriously limits three or more functional categories (such as mobility, work skills, self-care, interpersonal skills, communication, self-direction or work tolerance) in terms of an employment outcome;
 - ~~C.~~
 - c. Requires multiple ~~vocational rehabilitation~~ primary Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) services over an extended period of time ~~–~~ (at least 6 months).

Note: ~~Individuals~~ Customers who are beneficiaries of Social Security Disability ~~Benefits~~ (SSDI) Insurance (SSDI) or recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for disability reasons are automatically classified as either SD or MSD depending upon the extent of their functional ~~loss~~ category limitations.

Priority Category	Meets Definition of Significantly Disabled	Functional Loss Categories	Duration of Services	Number of Services
1- Most Significantly Disabled	Yes	2 or more	Requires VR Services over an extended period of time	Requires multiple Services
2- Significantly Disabled	Yes	1 or more	Requires VR Services over an extended period of time	Requires multiple Services
3- Disabled	No	1 or more	No duration of Service requirement	Multiple Services NOT required

Order of Selection (OOS): When VR services cannot be provided to all eligible ~~individuals~~ customers because of financial ~~exigency~~ or service capacity constraints, the ~~agency~~ Agency will enter an ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection process that will assure that first priority is ~~giving~~ giving to ~~individuals~~ customers with most significant disabilities. Please review Section 15.14.0 for details regarding ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection.

6.3 Procedures

Determination of Significance of Disability

A VR counselor determines and adequately documents the level of severity of ~~an individual's~~ customer's disability based on a review of the information gathered to determine eligibility. If additional information is necessary to make the determination, a VR counselor may obtain the information from the ~~individual, individual's~~ customer, customer's family, an outside professional and/or another public agency.

If adequate information is not available to describe or document current functioning, a VR counselor may purchase diagnostics from a qualified service provider.

A VR counselor reviews the data to determine:

~~A. _____~~

~~A. The number of serious functional losses present~~ capacity categories in terms of an employment outcome that are seriously impacted as a result of a disability;

~~_____~~ AND

~~B. _____~~

AND

~~B. Whether an individual~~ a customer is likely to need multiple ~~VR~~ primary IPE services to prepare for, obtain, or maintain a job;

AND

~~C. Whether services are likely to be needed for an extended period of time. (No specific time frame for "extended period of time" is defined. The VR counselor must consider each person's unique circumstances to determine whether the needed services can reasonably be expected to require an extended period of time. For this purpose, 6 months may be used as a general benchmark but may not be applied as an absolute limit since each individual's circumstances must be uniquely considered.)~~

C. The anticipated duration of IPE services are needed for an extended period of time (at least 6 months).

Identifying a Serious Loss of Functional ~~Loss~~ Capacity

Functional losscapacity categories include: mobility, work tolerance, communication, self-care, interpersonal skills, self-direction, and work skills. To identify a loss of functional ~~loss~~ capacity, a VR counselor reviews and assesses data provided by the ~~individual~~ customer or ~~individual's~~ customer's family, observed by the VR counselor, or reported by another qualified professional to determine whether:

~~A. A _____~~ A loss of functional ~~loss~~ capacity resulting from a disability is present;

~~B. _____~~

~~B. The ~~function~~ loss of functional capacity represents an impediment to employment;~~

~~C. _____~~

~~The ~~functional~~ loss of functional capacity meets the definition of a “serious ~~functional~~ loss.”~~

~~C. A serious of functional capacity.”~~

~~A serious loss of functional capacity means a reduction in capacity of the ~~individual~~customer to the degree that the person requires services or accommodations not typically provided to other ~~individuals~~customers in order to prepare for, secure, or maintain a job.~~

~~A specific disability diagnosis does not automatically infer ~~the presence~~a serious loss of ~~one or more~~functional ~~losses~~capacity. Although certain functional losses are commonly associated with specific disability diagnoses, the presence and seriousness of ~~these~~ functional losses are ~~the loss is~~ unique for each person. Therefore, a VR counselor must complete a thorough evaluation of loss of functional lossescapacity for each ~~individual~~customer.~~

~~Work-related limitations may result from or be compounded by external~~

~~Non-disability factors, such as age, sex, race, cultural, geographic location, poor public transportation, legal history, or lack of training. ~~These factors do should~~ not ~~relate to a disability and are not factors in~~be considered when determining a seriousloss of functional ~~loss~~capacity. It is within the VR counselor’s judgment to determine whether limitations are disability related or not.~~

Self-Reported or Observed Loss of Functional Losses-Capacity

A VR counselor may identify a loss of functional lossescapacity based on a ~~participant’s~~customer’s self-report, reports from the family, school representative or others, or based on counselor observations.

For example, while interviewing an applicant who is hard of hearing, a VR counselor observes that the ~~individual~~applicant is not able to effectively communicate verbally. Medical records clearly establish a hearing impairment, but do not address verbal limitations. Because a loss of functional lossescapacity in verbal communication is consistent with and commonly associated with a hearing loss, the VR counselor may determine, based on his or her observations, that a serious loss of functional lossescapacity is present. To ensure the case service record explains and supports the determination, the VR counselor enters case narrative explaining that a loss in the area of communication was observed, a summary of the observations, and how the loss of functional lossescapacity affects the ~~applicant~~customer.

~~If an individual reports a functional loss that is neither consistent with nor supported by disability-related documentation, the VR counselor and individual need to discuss and reach agreement on how to get the information necessary to verify the functional loss.~~

SD/MSD Checklist

Once the VR counselor determines a disability-related loss of functional capacity, ~~loss is present, he or she~~ the VR counselor considers whether the loss of functional capacity meets the definition of a “serious loss of functional capacity” contained in the SD/MSD Checklist loss of functional capacity definitions. If the loss of functional capacity meets the definitions of a “serious loss of functional capacity” the VR counselor checks the appropriate indicator on the Checklist. ~~If the individual experiences a functional loss that is not described on the SD/MSD Checklist, the VR counselor may write a description of the functional loss in the space provided. Only one indicator within a category (mobility, work, tolerance, communication, self-care, interpersonal skills, self-direction, and work skills) is needed to determine that a serious functional loss is present in that category.~~

Documentation of a Functional Loss

The VR counselor documents the functional loss in the Gemini Eligibility Determination, “Section 3 – Impediment to Employment.”

~~The VR counselor is responsible for adequately describing:~~

~~A. The nature of each functional loss (mobility, work tolerance, communication, self-care, interpersonal skills, self-direction, or work skills);~~

~~AND~~

~~B. The basis for making the determination, i.e. a description of what was observed, a summary of what was reported and who reported the information, or whether the determination is based on documentation contained in medical or other information in the case service record; AND~~

~~C. The specific limitations experienced by the individual.~~

~~—After determining the number of functional losses present, the VR counselor determines whether the individual is likely to require multiple services over an extended period of time. The VR counselor also considers the number of serious functional losses and impediments to employment.~~

~~Note: No specific time frame for “extended period of time” is defined in statute or regulation. The VR counselor must consider each participant’s unique circumstances to determine whether the needed services can reasonably be expected to require an extended period of time. For this purpose, six months may be used as a general benchmark, but not applied as an absolute limit, since each individual’s circumstances must be uniquely considered.~~ disability, the VR counselor completes the required documentation.

~~When the VR counselor has sufficient data to determine eligibility and significance of~~

Determination of Significance of Disability Documentation

Again it is important to emphasize that in addition to case file documentation and supporting medical records, the required eligibility/significance of disability documentation must include the SD/MSD Checklist.

Remember: The SD/MSD Checklist is a form used to support the determination; however, and is not sufficient enough documentation to adequately describe the individual's limitations by itself.

The VR counselor completes the SD/MSD Checklist for each individual/customer as soon as sufficient information is available, but no later than sixty (60) days from the date of application (unless an extension has been agreed upon). DVR will then send a letter advising the individual of the eligibility decision.

Functional Loss Definitions

A serious limitation in a major functional area means a reduction in capacity of the individual to the degree that the person requires services or accommodations not typically made for other individuals in order to prepare for, get, or keep a job.

While limitations may result from or be compounded by external factors, such as geographic location, poor public transportation or lack of training, these factors should not be the basis of the limitation for the purpose of defining serious restriction. Defining limitations in these functional areas relies on the professional rehabilitation counselor's interpretation of the effect of the disability on the individual as well as on medical or diagnostic evaluation data.

SECTION 7.0 ~~ASSESSMENT OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION~~ NEEDS ASSESSMENT OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION NEEDS

7.1 Primary ~~Sources~~ Source of Information

To the extent possible, the vocational goal, intermediate objectives, and the nature and scope of services to be included in the Individual Plan of Employment (IPE) must be determined based on the data used for the assessment of eligibility and priority for services.

The Comprehensive Assessment to be completed prior to the development of the IPE will use, as a primary source of information, to the maximum extent possible, the following:

- ~~A. _____~~
- A. Existing information
- ~~B. _____~~
- B. Information provided by the ~~individual~~customer and, where appropriate, by the family of the ~~individual~~customer.
- ~~C. _____~~
- C. The Assessment may also include new information acquired by IDVR including an in-house vocational evaluation; Community ~~based~~Based Work Evaluation (CBWE), aptitude tests, interest tests, job shadowing or any pertinent ~~medical~~ assessment required to identify the objectives, nature and scope of VR services that the ~~individual~~customer may need in order to substantiate the choice of employment outcome.

7.2 Comprehensive Assessment of Rehabilitation Needs ~~Medical History:~~

~~The development of a rehabilitation plan requires the rehabilitation counselor to understand the individual's medical requirements. To do this, the VR counselor (VRC) or the vocational rehabilitation assistant (VRA) will need to obtain any existing medical records that confirm the individual's mental and physical conditions. This often can be obtained through a primary family physician. If the VR counselor cannot determine and confirm the individual's mental and/or physical limitations, the scheduling of updated diagnostics will be required. This medical information is important to determine eligibility for services and if eligible, to identify a vocational goal that will not exceed mental and/or physical capacities. This information is critical when developing an appropriate vocational goal.~~

A comprehensive assessment of rehabilitation needs is a process utilized to identify the customer's strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice as it relates to any potential vocational goal. The assessment shall be conducted in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice of the customer.

7.2.1 Assessment of the Customer's Current Realities

The VR counselor and customer will evaluate the following relevant factors.

Work History:

The VR counselor is required to obtain a thorough work history of the ~~participant~~customer at the time of the intake interview. The gathering of this information requires the identification of job titles, job duties/responsibilities, and length of time in each position, hiring/educational requirements, and the reasons for leaving. Some attempt should be made to assess the individual's~~customer's~~ satisfaction with the job, the employer, and co-workers. ~~Motivation and flexibility are two important variables that need to be evaluated.~~

Functional Limitations:

Functional limitations need to be clearly outlined before the ~~Participant's Perception of Disability:~~

~~The selection~~customer begins the development of a vocational goal. The establishment of an appropriate vocational goal requires that both the VR counselor ~~to understand the participant's and~~ customer are aware of and address the true barriers to employment including the customer's perception of ~~disability,~~their limitations. This involves addressing the following areas:

A. _____

A. Physical limitations (lifting, walking, carrying, driving, stooping, reaching, handling, and bending)

B. _____

B. Mental limitations (coping with stress, working with other people, working alone)

C. ~~Present~~

C. Current work tolerance

D. _____

D. Acceptance of disability

E. _____

E. Cognitive functioning

F. _____

Personal ~~Family~~ and community support

~~The individual's perception is critical to know if the VR counselor is to help guide in the selection of an appropriate vocational goal. The establishment of an appropriate vocational goal requires that both the VR counselor and participant are aware and address the true barriers to employment.~~

Social & Economic- Factors:

It is important for the VR counselor and customer to gather ~~information regarding the participant's, document, and understand personal~~ social and economic considerations ~~to include any use of alcohol, street drugs, and tobacco.~~ These considerations include:

~~A. _____~~

A. Values (personal and work)

~~B. Family~~

~~C. _____~~

B. Family

C. Service or support agencies

~~D. _____~~

D. Legal

E. _____

E. Financial (current realities and future expectations)

~~Does the individual experience any stressors with the family unit or community of friends? How does this impact his/her ability to participate in vocational rehabilitation services and what sort of influence does this have on a potential vocational goal? It is necessary to address these concerns, guide the individual in identifying solutions to these concerns, and implement them.~~

F. Substance Use

G. Non-financial resources / supports available

It is critical to understand the personal, social and economic factors as it relates to the development of the employment goal and the IPE.

Functional Limitations:

~~Functional limitations need to be clearly outlined before the~~ participant begins the development of a vocational goal. In developing a vocational plan, the worker characteristics (temperaments, physical and mental requirements, environmental conditions) need to be assessed and matched to the individual's residual capacities. If they exceed the documented functional limitations, the VR counselor and the participant should never pursue a particular vocational goal unless assistive technology is available that can compensate for identified job tasks that exceed the individual's functional capacities.

Inherent Aptitudes/Transferable Skills:

The

To determine an appropriate employment goal the VR counselor and customer must work with the individual in identifying existing worker traits that can be used in identify the development of a new vocational goal. ~~Too often, this is not addressed and subsequently, the success rate of the rehabilitation plans decreases.~~ One of the most practical ways to explore the participant's "employability goals" is to ~~do a transferable~~ aptitudes, skills ~~assessment~~, and ability that the customer possesses. The following skill areas are to be addressed:

A. Personal ~~A. Adaptive skills – self~~

- Self-management ~~skills and personality~~
- Self-care
- Personality characteristics ~~a person brings to the job.~~

B. ~~_____~~

B. Functional skills – ~~generic behaviors that deal with a~~ person's level of skill working with data, people, and things ~~that relate to the work environment.~~

C. ~~_____~~

C. Specific content work skills – competencies ~~that enable an individual to perform a~~ in specific ~~job according to the employer.~~ work task areas.

Many tools exist to assist the participant customer and the VR counselor to identify inherent aptitudes and transferable skills ~~such as:~~

7.2.2 Identification of potential employment goal, rehabilitation needs, and IPE services

The VR counselor and customer will evaluate a potential employment goal and identify rehabilitation needs and services required to achieve that employment goal.

Vocational ~~A. Comprehensive Guidance and Counseling provided by the agency.~~

~~B. Job Seeking Skills workshops offered by the Department of Commerce and Labor or Community Rehabilitation Programs (CRPs).~~

~~C. Vocational Evaluations provided by CRPs either “in-house or within the community.~~

~~D. Community based “job shadowing” experiences within the community.~~

~~E. Career Interest Survey (CIS) studies as well as other computerized programs.~~

Assessment:

Vocational ~~Evaluation:~~ assessment

~~Vocational~~ evaluation is a comprehensive process ~~that systematically uses either real or simulated work as the focal point for assessment~~ involving the VR counselor and the customer that focuses on functional abilities and vocational exploration. ~~The purpose is to assist individuals in vocational development. A vocational evaluation process incorporates~~ will incorporate medical, psychological, social, vocational, educational, cultural, ~~and economic data.~~ and real or simulated work. This is done to identify the employment goal, its overall feasibility, and the VR services that are needed to achieve that goal. Examples of vocational assessment include:

~~A. _____~~

A. Formal Vocational Evaluation

~~B. _____~~ Community Based Assessment

~~C. _____~~ Guidance & Counseling – Facilitated Self-Discovery

~~E. _____~~ Assistive Technology Review

Employability

7.3 IPE Development:

Through the process of developing the employment goal, the participant must come to the point where a positive self-initiated resolution occurs. With this understanding in place, the individual is in a position to develop a comprehensive assessment the customer has made an informed choice of his/her vocational goal. The VR counselor must concur that the vocational goal and Individual Plan for Employment (IPE) is feasible. The VR counselor will ~~now~~ then assist in the development of a labor market entry strategy identifying the IPE services needed to remove barriers to employment. The VR counselor is required to identify service needs such as: address all previously identified disability related barriers to employment. These services include but are not limited to:

~~A. _____~~

A. Counseling and Guidance

B. Training

C. Medical and mental restoration

D. Disability adjustment training

E. Information and referral services

F. Interpreter services

G. Job placement assistance

H. Job readiness training

I. Job search assistance

Vocational rehabilitation services ~~provided under this title~~ are any services described in an IPE necessary to assist ~~an individual~~ a customer with a disability in preparing for, securing, retaining, or regaining an employment outcome that is consistent with the strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice of the ~~individual~~ customer.

~~The Comprehensive Assessment is limited to information to identify the rehabilitation needs of the individual and to develop the IPE of the eligible individual.~~

~~The assessment shall be conducted in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice of the individual.~~

~~The assessment may include, to the degree needed to make a determination of vocational rehabilitation needs and develop an IPE, an analysis of the pertinent factors affecting the employment and rehabilitation needs of the individual. The following Comprehensive Assessment Template has been designed as a word document to be cut and pasted into a Case Note once the appropriate headings have been completed. This document is intended to be an integral part of the decision process that leads to an informed choice in the selection of a vocational goal:~~

~~*The following are essential components that need to be addressed and documented as part of the comprehensive assessment:~~

- ~~• Compatibility of Disability with Employment~~
- ~~• *Skills, Interests, Aptitudes, and Abilities~~
- ~~• *Market Analysis~~
- ~~• *Economic Expectations and Potential for Career Growth~~

- *~~Vocational~~ Strengths and Capacities

- Legal barriers and industry specific requirement (criminal issues, drug and alcohol screenings, tobacco use, etc)

7.34 Medical Consultation Policy

Medical ~~consultations~~consultants are retained by IDVR ~~to review all medical data gathered pertaining to an individual participant.~~ Medical ~~consultant time~~consultants can be used to review ~~an individual's~~a customer's diagnostic information to determine: 1) if it is complete or if updated and/or additional medical reports are necessary; 2) to train the counselor about medical conditions; and 3) to assist in case management direction.

~~Not every case needs~~

~~Examples of times to be reviewed by~~use a medical consultant. ~~Appropriate times to use Medical Consultants~~ are:

~~A.~~

A. Eligibility determination

B. ~~B.~~ Plan development

C. ~~C. All~~Prior to medical restoration services ~~(required)~~

D. ~~D.~~ Whenever ~~you have a VR staff member has~~ a question about ~~an individual's~~a customer's treatment, medications, or condition including such issues as the natural course of the disease or ~~the most appropriate treatments.~~treatment options.

~~Most IDVR offices have a medical consultant on contract that will visit on a regularly scheduled basis. A Chief Medical Consultant is on contract in order to be available in person, by phone, or electronically if you do not have a consultant or if your consultant is not available. IDVR encourages the utilization of medical consultation time in a group setting to maximize the consultant's time and to allow for an educational opportunity for VR counselors. New counselors are advised to use consultation time for most cases to become familiar with the medical aspects of disability.~~

1. Present specific questions to the medical consultant; and
2. Speak knowledgeably about the customer.

Some examples of things a VR staff member may consider prior to medical consultation:

- A. File medical information in chronological order with ~~the~~ most recent on top
- B. ~~B.~~ Highlight or tab important information
- C. ~~C.~~ Eliminate duplicate data
- D. ~~Prepare a short case presentation: i.e.; age, sex, marital status, medical conditions, medications, support systems, treatments, names of treating physicians~~
- D. ~~E.~~ List questions for the medical consultant
- F. ~~Use the medical consultation form~~
- G. ~~Follow up on consultant suggestions~~
- H. ~~Re-present the case when new information has been received.~~

SECTION 8.0 PARTICIPATION OF INDIVIDUALS CUSTOMERS IN COST OF SERVICES BASED ON FINANCIAL NEED

In order to further IDVR's mission to help customers move towards independence and self-sufficiency, IDVR encourages customers to be personally invested in and contribute financially towards the cost of their plan when possible. The extent of the customer's financial participation is based on income and other factors. Regardless of the amount that is going to be contributed by the customer, the assessment of the customer's financial participation is an effective tool for identifying customer resources as they relate to VR planning and implementation.

Reminder: Financial need and/or participation is not a factor in the eligibility determination.

Financial Participation

Financial participation is assessed:

1. After eligibility, during plan development, while exploring comparable benefits.
2. Using the Financial Participation Assessment (FPA) form.
3. Every twelve (12) months or sooner if financial circumstances change significantly.

Financial Participation Assessment Guidelines

A Financial Participation Assessment will be applied as a condition for furnishing all vocational rehabilitation services EXCEPT the following:

1. Purchased services for determining eligibility and vocational rehabilitation needs;
2. Counseling, guidance and referral services;
3. ~~a-~~ Any auxiliary aid or services (e.g., interpreter services or reader services);
4. ~~•~~ Personal Assistance Service;
5. Rehabilitation Technology;
[CFR 361.5(b)(45) includes vehicular modification and telecommunications. Home modifications are not exempt.]
6. Job related services; including: job search and placement assistance, job retention services, follow-up services, and follow-along services, i.e., Community Based Work Adjustment, Job Site Development (CBWAJSD), Community Based Word Adjustment (CBWA), Placement and Follow Along Job Site Development (P&FJSD), and Placement and Follow Along (P&F).
7. Supported employment services, i.e., Community Supported Employment Job Site Development (CSEJSD), and CSE Job Coaching.

Customer Financial Participation for IPE Services

Upon completion of the FPA and the determination of services to be included on the IPE the counselor and customer will identify the specific IPE services that will be paid for by each party.

The FPA will be used to identify financial responsibility for IPE services.

It should be emphasized to the customer and vendor, IDVR will not be responsible for the customer's debts. If the customer's debts to a vendor inhibit the provision of services necessary to achieve the employment goal, IDVR will work with the customer to explore options for the continuation of services.

IDVR cannot, under any circumstances, pay for a customer's previous financial obligations or debts.

Financial Participation Assessment (FPA) Form

The VRC and customer will complete the FPA form in eligible status and identify the customer's financial participation responsibilities.

Estimate the cost for rehabilitation services each twelve (12) month period of the IPE. Calculate the amounts of participation to be provided by both the customer and IDVR for each twelve (12) month time period covered by the FPA.

Directions for Completion:

1. Exemption from required participation:

Customers who receive SSDI and/or SSI are not required to make a financial contribution toward the cost of services. However, to ensure a customer qualifies for this exemption, written proof of SSDI or SSI determination must be received. This information will be used in completing the FPA form exemption status for SSDI and/or SSI recipients. It should be noted that customers receiving Social Security benefits under retirement, spouse of retired worker, child of a retired worker, child of deceased worker, widow, parent of deceased worker, spouse of disabled worker, or child of disabled worker would not be eligible for this exemption. The VR Counselor must complete the top portion of the FPA certifying that the customer is exempt from any required financial participation. The VR Counselor will also make a note in the IPE and subsequent plan amendments that may be developed, in the appropriate section, outlining the customer's exemption.

2. Income Data:

Customers (and spouse's if married) sources of income verification would include:

- Most recent year IRS tax filings,
- Employment Security Wage or Unemployment Benefit Reports,
- Employer generated pay stubs,
- Retirement program documents, or
- Documentation from public or private income support programs.

(TANF and food stamps are examples that are not considered income)

a. Modification

The customer or their representative may request modification to the FPA, as needed to adjust for changes in income or other circumstances (e.g., disability related costs and number of family members). If modification is requested, the customer, parent or guardian must provide income verification from the sources listed above.

b. Exceptional Cases

In exceptional cases, circumstances may occur where rigid adherence to the Financial Participation Policy and Procedures could seriously jeopardize the customer's opportunity to achieve rehabilitation objectives and an employment outcome. In such cases, the VRC may elect to seek an exception to the policy by reviewing the case with the Regional Manager who will then seek an exception approval by the Chief of Field Services or designee who will render a decision within ten (10) business days.

c. Total Income Excluded:

This figure is the Income Exclusion Allowance (300% of the Federal Poverty Level) plus exclusion of disability related expenses, per the Code of Federal Regulations – Title 34: Education: 361.54(2)(iv)(B).

For the purposes of this policy, the Social Security Administration's use of impairment-related work expenses will serve as a guideline to disability related expenses.

A disability related work expense is an expense for an item or service, which is directly related to enabling an impaired customer to work, and which is necessarily incurred by that customer because of a physical or mental impairment. To qualify as a disability related work expense, the expense must be paid by the customer. Expenses paid by sources such as health insurance, vocational rehabilitation and the employer are not considered a disability related work expense for the customer with the impairment.

Examples include, but are not limited to:

- The cost of attendant care services rendered in the work setting or in assisting the customer in making the trip to and from work (attendant care rendered on non-work days or those performed at any time which involve shopping or general homemaking are not considered a disability related work expense. Additionally, attendant services performed for other family members such as babysitting, are not considered a disability related work expense).
- Durable medical equipment which can withstand repeated use, used to serve a medical purpose, and generally not useful to a person in the absence of an illness or injury, such as wheelchairs, hemodialysis equipment, respirators, pacemakers, traction equipment.

- The cost of the modification of vehicle (but not the cost of the vehicle) in order to drive or be driven to work, where the modification is critical to the vehicle's operation or its accommodation of the customer. The modification must be directly related to the impairment (without the modification the customer would either be unable to drive or would be unable to ride in the vehicle).
- Expenses paid by a person with blindness in owning a guide dog including the costs of purchasing a dog, food, licenses and veterinary services.
- Prosthetic devices that replace internal body organs or external body parts (a prosthetic device primarily for cosmetic purposes usually is not considered a disability related work expense).
- The cost of drugs and medical services necessary to control the disabling condition, thereby enabling the customer to work (drugs and medical services used for minor physical or mental problems not resulting in any significant loss of function such as, yearly routine physical examinations, dental examinations and optician services and eyeglasses, when unrelated to a disabling visual impairment, are not considered a disability related work expense).
- Work equipment and assistants that are required to accommodate the impairment and perform the job such as, a one-handed typewriter, telecommunications device and a job coach paid for by the customer.

Applicable Income:

This section enables IDVR to specify the extent of the expected customer cost responsibility toward the cost of services during the upcoming twelve (12) month period of expected plan expenditures. Applicable Income equals Income minus the Total Income excluded and Disability Related Work Expenses.

The Income Exclusion Allowance information is adjusted annually to reflect 300% of Federal HHS Poverty Guidelines.

Determination of Required Participation:

The Customer Participation Table (Table A) is formulated to assess that portion of Applicable Income, which is considered to be available to meet the cost of services. The customer is expected to contribute toward the service cost(s) at the specified percentage of participation level. The amount of financial participation will not exceed the Annual Maximum Percentage of the customer's Applicable Income. All service cost anticipated or purchased during the twelve (12) month period covered by the FPA are to be considered in aggregate rather than individually calculated.

TABLE A – CUSTOMER PARTICIPATION TABLE

Yearly Cost of Plan	% of Participation
$2,000 and Under	50%
Over $2,000	75%

Certification:

The customer, parents or legal guardian completing the form will be asked to verify, by signature, that the information provided is correct. The customer, parents or legal guardian should be advised that he/she will be asked to document the financial information provided from external sources, such as the most recent year IRS tax fillings, Employment Security Wage or Unemployment Benefit Reports, employer generated pay stubs, retirement program documents, or documentation from public or private economic support programs. The form will then be signed by the VR counselor.

SECTION 9.0 PURCHASE OF SERVICES AND SUPPLIES FOR PARTICIPANT USE IN THE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION PROGRAM

All purchases must follow Federal, State, and IDVR purchasing guidelines.

Purchases require written authorization (purchase order), prior to initiation of the service or the purchase of any equipment.

The responsibility for authorizing services and approving payment of those services must be assigned to separate employees.~~In order to obtain maximum commitment toward his/her rehabilitation program, and to conserve case service funds, each participant is to be encouraged to participate in the cost of any purchased service. Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) will assess an individual's economic need prior to paying for services. There are two categories of services; those based upon economic need and those not based upon economic need (see lists below). For services that are based on economic need, the economic circumstances of the participant's family unit must be assessed and the ability to participate in the cost of rehabilitation services determined, prior to IDVR paying for any of these services. A Financial Needs Assessment (FNA) (Gemini 12) should be completed with the consumer on an annual basis as part of the yearly Individual Plan of Employment (IPE) Review.~~ can be provided at no cost. Remember: If a person does not qualify for financial assistance from IDVR, there still can be a variety of substantial services provided by IDVR. Counseling and guidance, as well as coordination of services are substantial and vital services that do not require VR expenditures.

~~VR staff needs to be aware of and emphasize to participants that substantial services~~

If the individual does not qualify for financial assistance based upon the economic needs assessment s/he must pay all or part of any service based upon documented economic capacity.

All comparable benefits available to the participant must be utilized. In the case of post-secondary education; a copy of the Student Aid Award Letter Report (SAR) must be in the case record and used as documentation of resources and need prior to implementation of an IPE.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

The service delivery team (participant and VR counselor as well as significant others invited to participate by the individual) is responsible for determining the economic need for individual participants. Economic need should be tested, and the FNA form filled out during the assessment period and prior to the development of an (IPE). The following guidelines are to be used:

A. All projected net income and liquid assets of the family unit should be considered. IDVR staff may require documentation of income or liquid assets if needed and as appropriate (copy of IRS 1040, pay stubs, Free Application for Financial Student Aid (FAFSA), SAR, etc.). Retirement accounts are not liquid. However, payments received in retirement, workers compensation payments; disability insurance payments, etc. are considered liquid income. Liquid assets can include:

- b. Money Market Funds
- c. Cash/ Savings/ Checking Accounts
- d. Mutual Funds (not IRAs)
- e. Preferred and Common Stocks
- f. Certificates of Deposit
- g. Treasury Bills
- h. Trust Funds
- i. Permanent Fund Dividend

Workers Compensation,

Purchases will be made consistent with the prevention of discrimination due to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability.

- j. ~~Maintenance and Care, or Personal Injury~~ Settlements
- k. Child Support or Alimony
- l. Annual Corporation Dividends
- m. Survivors Benefits
- n. ~~Any~~ other source of liquid assets

- ~~B. The family unit includes the participant, dependents or others who contribute economically to the family unit.~~
- ~~C. A dependent is anyone reported as such to the IRS, or up to age 24 for students in post-secondary education or training, or as determined through the federal student financial assistance program as reported through the FAFSA and noted on the SAR.~~
- ~~D. If the participant is a dependent of the family unit the entire income of the family unit should be considered, or a justifiable reason explained in the case record.~~
- ~~E. If the participant is eligible for any form of Public Assistance—Temporary Assistance for Families in Idaho (TAFI), Aid for the Aged, Blind and Disabled (AABD), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Dual recipients of SSI and SSDI,—s/he may be considered to qualify for financial assistance based on economic need and be exempt from the mandate to participate in an FNA review.~~
- ~~F. Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI). Recipients are not required to demonstrate need through an FNA for services.~~
- ~~G. It should be made clear to the participant that it is his/her responsibility to notify the agency any time there is a substantial change that may affect economic need status. An annual review of financial need is to be completed when the IPE is reviewed. A new form is to be completed if there is a substantial change in personal resources or at least every year.~~

~~Instructions for completing the form to determine economic need are as follows:~~

- ~~1. Monthly Income—VR counselor and individual should complete the FNA for up to 12 months (depending upon the anticipated length of the services). List the net monthly take home pay (wages) for the participant. Any consistent monthly payments coming into the household via other members of the household, such as SSI, SSDI, TAFI must also be listed. VA benefits, unemployment benefits, workman's compensation, retirement, private disability, child support, etc. must also be documented. (On the FNA Gemini 12 form, circle types of income and write in monthly amounts. Add all amounts together to get Monthly Income).~~
- ~~2. Available Resources—These are items that have cash or loan value that can be used toward the rehabilitation plan. Examples of such resources include: savings, stocks and bonds, IRA's investment real estate, second homes, recreational vehicles (snowmobiles, campers, four-wheelers) investment items (jewelry, guns, art) additional cars not required for the participant or other specific members of the household in order to sustain~~

~~employment. When totaling up these available resources, IDVR will allow a $5000 exclusion. Add all Available Resources, subtract the $5000 exclusion and then divide the remainder by the number of months in plan. Add this amount to the "Monthly Income" above to get the "Total Monthly Income". (If the number with exclusion is less than 0, put 0.)~~

~~3. Monthly Expenses—Housing (actual cost) including mortgage, rent trailer space, taxes and insurance for primary residence. Utilities (actual cost within the range of $100-$300 per month) including heat, electricity, sewer, trash, water, phone, (cell phone if only phone). If the individual's estimated utility costs are higher than outlined above, the VR counselor should ask for receipts for documentation. Remember to always subtract any energy assistance subsidy that may be available. Food (actual cost, up to $150 for one person, with $100 for each additional person) includes non-food grocery items. If participant's costs are higher because of a special diet prescribed by a doctor, or other reason, the VRC should ask for documentation and receipts. Remember to always subtract food stamps/subsidy amount. Miscellaneous expenses including gas, bus tickets, car payments, insurance, medications, medical expenses, clothing, child support, credit cards must also be calculated into "Monthly Expenses". Remember to calculate only the minimum monthly payment required for credit card obligations. Do not calculate the total amount owed for credit cards or other expenses unless those amounts must be paid during the time period established for the rehabilitation plan. Remember that the taxpayer should not subsidize "choice item" costs, so don't list them as allowable expenses on the FNA. Examples include: second homes, boats, recreational vehicles, tithing, music lessons, animals, cell phones (if not primary telephone) cable TV, etc.~~

~~4. Total Monthly Budget Surplus or Deficit—After calculating the total income, and total allowable expenses monthly, subtract the expenses from the income. The result will reflect the "Total Monthly Budget Surplus or Deficit".~~

~~If the participant has excess or additional resources after subtracting the deductions from the total resources, s/he must apply the excess resources to the cost of the IPE before any financial assistance for services based upon economic need can be provided by IDVR. If no resources are available after this calculation the participant does qualify for financial assistance.~~

~~If the participant qualifies for financial assistance any service can be paid for by IDVR, as appropriate, utilizing all available comparable benefits.~~

~~H. Comparable benefits should be used to the maximum extent whether the participant qualifies for financial assistance or not. (See Sections 1.4.1/ or 11.1 for definition).~~

~~If the participant does not qualify for financial assistance the amount that is available must be applied toward the costs of the IPE. When these payments are made is open to negotiation. For example: If a~~ participant has $2000 available it is reasonable for the individual to pay for an expense over time, such as transportation or books/supplies while IDVR pays for tuition during the same time period. If, however, the participant has a small amount available, it is reasonable to expect the individual to pay the entire cost of some items at the beginning of the plan, such as books or tuition for one semester. ~~It is expected that payment is made by the individual to the vendor directly. IDVR may request a receipt as appropriate. The negotiated method and time frame for contribution of their share of the costs can and should be spelled out on the IPE.~~

~~If a participant has a significant amount available, such that IDVR is not paying for any of the services, the participant can still be served through assessment for eligibility and rehabilitation needs, counseling and guidance, coordination of services and job development/placement.~~

~~Services not Based on Economic Need (do not require FNA justification)~~

~~The following services may be provided without considering economic need:~~

- ~~A. Counseling, guidance and referral.~~
- ~~B. Diagnostic and related services to determine eligibility and services necessary to determine the nature and scope of the IPE.~~
- ~~C. On-the-job training.~~
- ~~D. Community assessment and work adjustment.~~
- ~~E. Job site development and placement and follow-along.~~
- ~~F. Assistive Technology Services.~~
- ~~G. Community Supported Employment (CSE).~~
- ~~H. Interpreters, Personal Care Services, Reader Services.~~

~~Services Based on Economic Need (do require FNA justification)~~

~~The following services may not be provided until economic need has been determined. If the participant does not qualify as having an economic need, these services cannot be authorized until their portion of the service is paid. If these services are developed as part of an IPE, the participant and/or family must pay them to the extent of their available resources, or use a comparable benefit.~~

- ~~A. All training (except OJT)~~
- ~~B. Maintenance (including clothing)~~
- ~~C. Transportation~~

~~D. Books and training supplies~~

~~E. Tools, equipment (including computers) and supplies~~

~~F. Physical or mental restoration services~~

~~G. Initial stock and supplies for self-employment~~

~~H. Assistive Technology Services (including home and vehicle modification—See Section 12.4.2 & 12.14.4)~~

~~I. Medical care for an acute condition (inter-current illness)~~

~~J. Services to family members~~

~~K. Occupational licenses~~

~~L. Any other goods or services~~

PURPOSE OF FNA: ~~To determine the level of financial participation the individual will be able to assume in his/her IPE. In addition, the assessment is used as a:~~

- ~~• Counseling Tool~~
- ~~• Effective resource utilization~~
- ~~• Career planning~~
- ~~• Consistency of service provision statewide~~
- ~~• Counselor/participant accountability~~

~~The FNA can be used as a counseling tool for all participants:~~

- ~~• For counseling related to the participant's level of debt and money management skills.~~
- ~~• eg. Should the participant be referred to professional consumer credit counseling agency?~~

- ~~• For career planning to determine the individual's current financial status, and ability to participate in rehab plan.~~
- ~~• eg. Does the participant need to go to work immediately? Can the individual afford to attend a one, two or four year training program? How will the participant and family survive economically while attending training program?~~

- ~~To determine the individual's economic needs, then seeking employment with wage that will meet those needs.~~
- ~~eg. What hourly wage does the participant need to earn? Does the participant need to work 40 hours per week or less? Does the participant need to purchase health insurance?~~

- ~~To determine the amount of individual's participation in paying for the costs of the rehabilitation plan. The individual needs to be encouraged to participate financially in the rehabilitation plan. Regardless of whether the participant has a budget surplus or deficit, ask how much the participant can contribute financially to the cost of rehabilitation plan. The individual needs to be vested in and committed to the success of his/her rehabilitation plan.~~

- ~~Financial participation by family members should always be encouraged when developing an IPE. The family's income needs to be included on the FNA for individuals under the age of 18 years, claimed as a dependent on income tax, or are under legal guardianship. Married participants need to include their spouse's income on the FNA. If extended family member expenses are included in the FNA, then their income must also be included.~~

~~SECTION 9.0 PURCHASE OF SERVICES AND SUPPLIES FOR PARTICIPANT USE IN THE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION PROGRAM~~

~~NOTE: Before discussing expenditure of Title I and State Funds for VR-eligible participants, it is necessary to emphasize two areas where the participant must demonstrate compliance with federal law. First the consumer must file federal income taxes if s/he is delinquent in payment of appropriately assessed federal/state taxes due. The consumer must provide to the VR agency a document confirming an agreement with the IRS regarding the payback process. Secondly if an 18-year-old male citizen refuses to register under federal selective service requirements, he must register prior to his 26th birthday in order to meet the restrictions established under federal regulations. If he fails to demonstrate "maximum effort" during that time period, he is not eligible to receive funds under Title I. No-cost services, however, may be provided if appropriate. The individual who has violated selective service law does have recourse. He may appeal this decision through the due process procedures established in section 102(e) of the Act and 34 CFR 361.57 of VR regulations. This appeal will require a decision by the federal agency (e.g. US Department of Education, etc) that enacted the denial.~~

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, and ~~it's~~ sits implementing regulations mandate procedures in the provision of services and methods of procurement. ~~Individuals~~ Customers with a disability served through the vocational rehabilitation program must be actively involved in choosing the vocational rehabilitation services they receive and the entities providing those services.

~~Procurement authority is granted to VR counselors by the Chief of Field Services with the recommendation of their Regional Manager following a period of training and probation.~~

Consistent with procurement guidelines, a VR counselor cannot obligate Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) to services that exceed his/her procurement authority. An Individual Plan ~~ef~~ for Employment (IPE) that will include a service generating an Authorization for Case Service (ACS) over $~~5000~~ 5,000 will require the Regional Manager's written approval ~~on~~ of the IPE prior to the plan being approved. The ~~rehabilitation~~ VR counselor will inform the ~~participant~~ customer that the plan is pending approval during this process. An ACS purchase cannot be fragmented into multiple ACS's as a way to circumvent this approval.

All purchases in excess of $5,000 shall be reviewed and recommended by the Regional Manager.

NOTE: Case service expenditures require written authorization prior to the initiation of the service or the purchase of any equipment. Oral authorizations are permitted in emergency situations by the Regional Manager or designee, but must be confirmed promptly in writing and forwarded to the provider. Authorizations These authorizations are to be issued within three (3) business days of the beginning of the service.

The following principles shall guide ~~participant~~customer purchases:

A. The IPE is the primary document that determines the scope, duration and provider of services. The ~~individual~~customer with a disability must agree to the terms and conditions of the IPE prior to services being provided.

~~B.~~

B. VR counselors are required to determine the rehabilitation needs of the ~~individual~~customer first, and then determine the provider and the procurement method. Costs, availability, success ~~and~~, experience providing the service, and ~~participant~~customer research, are characteristics that guide the choice of the provider.

~~C.~~ ~~C.~~ The method of procurement is also determined in partnership with the ~~individual~~customer. The ~~agency~~Agency prefers that a state Authorization for Case Services (ACS) be provided to the selected vendor, with an invoice from the vendor documenting the service provision. Other methods are available, given the informed choice of the ~~individual~~customer, including reimbursement.

D. The provision of services must be consistent with the unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, and informed choice of the ~~individual~~customer.

~~E.~~

E. All purchased services that are evaluative and restorative shall be authorized prior to the provision of services. The ~~agency~~Agency will reimburse providers of medical services (both medical and psychological) based upon usual and customary fees for their area of specialization or based upon payment caps that have been imposed for specific services (Review Payment Policy – Section 12.2). Providers will be reimbursed at this rate independent of the ~~participant~~customer attending the scheduled appointment.

~~F.~~

F. Staff will ensure fair and equitable treatment of all persons doing business with the Division.

~~G.~~

G. Purchases will be made consistent with the elimination and prevention of discrimination due to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability.

~~H.~~ ~~The responsibility for authorizing services and approving payment of those services must be assigned to separate employees. In small, sub-offices offices this control may be waived.~~

~~I.~~

H. The responsibility for authorizing services and approving payment of these services must be assigned to separate employees.

I. The record of ~~services~~service of the ~~individual~~customer shall contain necessary evidence and documentation of adherence to these principles.

~~J.~~

Regional ~~Managers~~managers are the Division's field service procurement liaisons and are responsible to ensure that staff have necessary training.

SECTION 10.0 INDIVIDUALIZED PLAN FOR EMPLOYMENT (IPE)

10.1 Options for Developing the IPE

The eligible individualcustomer or, as appropriate, the individual'scustomer's representative may develop all or part of the IPE:

~~A.~~

A. Without the assistance from Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) or any other entity

OR

~~B.~~ B. With assistance from:

a. ~~a.~~ A qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor employed by IDVR

b. ~~b.~~ A qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor who is not employed by IDVR

c. ~~c.~~ Other resources

IDVR will not pay for IPE development services from other providers. IPE development must be completed on IDVR forms.

The IPE must be agreed to and signed by the individualcustomer or, as appropriate, the individual'scustomer's representative, the VR counselor and, when required, the IDVR Regional Manager ~~;~~

~~A counseling relationship or designee. An IPE is considered approved and partnership is developed between the VR counselor and the eligible individual, where options are explored and where implications of decisions are identified. It is within this partnership that the VR counselor provides support tailored to the needs of the individual, as identified in the assessment process, so s/he may make informed choices that result in successful employment. In the development of the IPE, the individual will be encouraged to make decisions based upon relevant information available. In addition, the responsibility to make decisions based upon related laws, regulations and public policy is also a requirement of the partnership between the VR counselor and the individual with a disability. services initiated only after all required signatures have been obtained.~~

~~Individuals~~

A comprehensive assessment must be completed in developing the IPE as described in section 7.2.

Customers must receive the supports that will assist them in making informed choices. ~~This is especially important for individuals with cognitive or other disabilities who require assistance in exercising informed choice.~~

~~Individuals~~

Customers shall promptly receive a copy of their initial IPE and any subsequent revisions IPEs. Copies shall be provided in the native language of the individualcustomer or through appropriate modes of communication ~~;~~ if appropriate.

The record of services must support the selection of the specific employment outcome, the objectives of the IPE and the selection of providers of services. ~~VR~~All goods and services, except assessment services, may only be provided in accordance with ~~the~~ IPE.

~~It is imperative that~~ An IPE can support one of the individual fully understand that five following employment means outcomes:

- a. ~~Entering or retaining full-time, or if appropriate, part-time competitive~~
1. Competitive employment in the integrated labor market, ~~including self-~~
 2. Self-employment
 3. Homemaker
 4. Unpaid family worker
 5. Integrated employment, telecommuting or small business ownership, with supports
- b. ~~Community-Supported Employment (CSE).~~

IDVR must:

- a. ~~_____~~
1. Reinforce the ultimate purpose of the IPE: To assist the individual customer to prepare for, secure, retain, or regain employment.
b. ~~_____~~
 2. Insure that the individual customer fully understands that ~~s~~she/he must participate as an active ~~-~~and cooperative partner in the identification and selection ~~of an~~, through informed choice, of a vocational ~~choice with~~ goal, having a reasonable expectation for marketable success.
c. ~~_____~~
 3. Insure that the individual customer fully commits to participate in the implementation and completion of the IPE.

10.2 Developing the Vocational Goal:

In selecting a vocational goal, it is important that the customer is actively involved in all phases of this development. Much research has been done to substantiate that the successful outcome of vocational rehabilitation increases when the customer is involved in every phase of the vocational planning. Vocational planning is built around vocational exploration, understanding the customer's medical and work history, his/her perception of disability, social habits, functional limitations, inherent aptitudes and transferable skills, vocational exploration through vocational evaluation, training options, and labor market research. The customer will explore the relationship of vocational objectives around his or her personal capabilities, interest, and situations and then attempt to understand the way these different factors impact and influence vocational potential. This information then helps the customer to develop the steps to a solid rehabilitation plan and provides tools for the customer to assess his/her current state of mind and to encourage positive self-initiated resolutions.

10.23 Ticket ~~To~~ Work

~~—~~When a customer has a Ticket to Work through SSA and an approved VR IPE, their ticket is automatically assigned to IDVR, unless the ticket is already assigned to another employment network (EN). If the customer has a ticket assigned to another EN prior to IDVR involvement, the customer will be requested to reassign the ticket to IDVR. If the customer does not reassign their ticket, IDVR will need a copy of the work plan from the EN that the ticket was assigned to, to ensure that no service overlap occurs. It is the customer's responsibility to provide the ticket work plan.

An Agency verification program has been implemented that informs Maximus of all SSA recipients who have been placed into an initial IPE. If a recipient has been assigned a ticket by SSA, Maximus will designate the ticket as "in usage" at the time of notification by the ~~agency-~~ Agency.

The VR counselor should always inform the SSA recipient that the choice to participate in an active IPE program will restrict any option to assign the ticket to other employment networks (ENs) while participating in the VR program.

At closure, the VR counselor is not required to contact Maximus. ~~An agency~~ Agency verification program has been designed to inform Maximus of case closure. This notification will re-activate the ticket for further engagement if desired by the ~~client-~~ customer.

At successful closure, it is highly recommended that ~~the~~ a VR counselor provide a list of ENs who ~~are~~ is capable of initiating follow-along services such as "Phase 2" and or "Monthly Outcome Payment" services. By referring the ~~client-~~ customer who is earning at Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA) level at closure to an EN, the probability of agency reimbursement at the completion of nine months of employment will be increased significantly.

~~10.3 Annual Review~~

~~The IPE must be reviewed annually by a qualified VR counselor and the individual to assess the eligible individual's progress in achieving the identified employment outcome.~~

10.4 The IPE must include the following:

~~A-~~

A. Using the information from the Comprehensive Assessment (Section 7.2) the VR counselor and ~~individual-~~ customer must determine a specific employment outcome consistent with the ~~individual's-~~ customer's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, career interests, and informed choice. In concert with the ~~individual-~~ customer, the VR counselor must conduct a thorough market analysis to include job outlook and the ~~individual's-~~ customer's economic expectations and needs. ~~The goal is for the individual to become self-sufficient and self-supporting, if possible and the provision of~~ planned ~~Planned~~ services on the IPE should only entail those required to achieve the ~~targeted-~~ vocational goal.

~~B-~~

B. The specific rehabilitation services needed to achieve the employment outcome, along with the projected dates for initiation and anticipated duration of each service, including:
a. _____

- a. As appropriate, assistive technology devices, assistive technology services and personal assistance services including training in the management of those services;
- ~~b. _____~~
- b. As provided in the most integrated setting that is appropriate for the services and is consistent with the informed choice of the eligible ~~individual;~~ customer;
- ~~c. _____~~
- c. Timelines for the achievement of the employment outcome and for the initiation of services;
- ~~d. _____~~
- d. A description of the entity or entities chosen by the eligible ~~individual~~customer or, as appropriate, the ~~individual's~~customer's representative that will provide the vocational rehabilitation services and the methods to procure those services;
- ~~e. _____~~
- e. A description of the criteria ("Plan Documentation") that will be used to evaluate progress toward achievement of the employment outcome;
- ~~f. _____~~
- f. The terms and conditions of the IPE, will include information describing the responsibilities of IDVR and the ~~individual~~customer to achieve the employment outcome;
- ~~g. _____~~
- g. The extent of the ~~individual's~~customer's participation in paying for the costs of services;
- ~~h. _____~~
- h. The ~~individual~~customer is required to apply for and secure comparable services and benefits when available. The responsibilities of other comparable service and benefit entities will be listed on the IPE;
- ~~i. _____~~
- i. As necessary, the expected need for post-employment services prior to the point of successful closure (Review Post-Employment ~~—~~ Section 12.~~13~~; 14).
- ~~j. _____~~
- j. A description of the terms, conditions, and duration of the provision of post-employment services;
- ~~k. _____~~
- k. If appropriate, a statement of how post-employment services will be provided or arranged through other entities as the result of arrangements made pursuant to comparable services or benefits;

~~l. _____~~

1. Supported Employment — for ~~individuals~~customers with the most severe disabilities for whom a vocational objective of supported employment has been determined appropriate, the following must be addressed:

~~i.~~ a

- A description of time-limited services to be provided by IDVR not to exceed eighteen (18) months in duration, unless under special circumstances, the eligible ~~individual~~customer and the VR counselor jointly agree to extend the time to achieve the employment outcome;

~~ii.~~ a

- A description of an identified source of funding for the extended services needed (long-term support). If it is not possible to identify the source of such funding, a statement that there is a reasonable expectation that extended services will be available. Extended services are provided by a State agency, a private ~~nonprofit~~non-profit organization, employer, or other appropriate resource, from funds other than IDVR.

~~iii. a description that the employment is competitive and available in an integrated setting. Verification of a “minimum wage” (State of Idaho Minimum Hourly Wage) must be documented.~~

m. In developing an IPE for a transition student with a disability, the IPE shall be prepared in coordination with the appropriate educational agency and will consider the student’s Individual ~~Educational~~Education Plan (IEP) if one exists;

~~n. The current IPE will be reviewed with the individual as often as necessary but at least annually to assess the individual’s progress in meeting the objectives on the IPE.~~

n. Completion of the IPE for all School-Work transition ~~participants~~customers, before they exit the school system.

NOTE: Because of the capability of the ~~Gemini~~ Case Management tool, with the ability to clone plans, write new plans, edit features and delete completed services, there will be only one active plan, which is the current plan with all current services reflected on it. When the current plan is signed and approved by the ~~individual~~customer and approving authority (counselor or supervisor) all previous plans will become void ~~and only the signature pages of those previous plans should be retained in the hard copy file.~~

10.4.1—Implementation of the IPE

Assurance

The VR counselor should ensure that the IPE is developed and implemented in a timely manner, within ~~6~~four (4) months of the eligibility decision. An exception may be made and must be documented in a case note, on or before the plan due date if this timeframe will be exceeded due to the needs of the ~~individual participant~~customer. Documentation should include ~~participant~~customer readiness, availability, inability to complete a comprehensive assessment, as well as unforeseen delays outside the control of ~~implement~~ the individual, VR counselor, or Regional Manager IPE (i.e. legal, family, medical, transportation, and housing issues) and the anticipated time frame for resolution of factors delaying IPE implementation.

10.5 ~~Plan Features~~ Annual Review

The IPE must be reviewed annually by a qualified VR counselor and the customer to assess the eligible customer's progress in Gemini achieving the identified employment outcome. An approved plan amendment would replace an annual review.

10.6 IPE Electronic Case Management Functions

New Plan: ~~A new plan~~The "New Plan" option is ~~completed~~utilized when completing an ~~original~~initial plan ~~is initiated~~ or when the overall nature of the IPE is changed. This would occur when a new vocational goal is chosen and there are major changes in the planned services. Any time a new vocational goal is chosen, a new comprehensive assessment case note must be completed that supports the new vocational goal. Remember: with the development of a new plan, the VR counselor and ~~participant~~customer will need to include all needed services and complete ~~all~~the pertinent comparable benefit documentation outlined in Section 11.30.

Clone: The clone feature is to be used when the basic nature of the plan is going to remain the same. This feature brings forward a full copy of the previous IPE and allows the VR counselor and ~~participant~~customer to add new services. New services will be given new service numbers when they are added to the clone. It is important to add new services before deleting previous services from the plan that have been completed or expired. This keeps service numbersnumber 1-2-3... in numerical order and allows for subsequent services to be numbered appropriately. Justification for the new services must be documented in the comments section of the Plan sub-page. If the goal is changed without the need to modify services, the IPE can be cloned. Change the goal and update the comprehensive assessment in a case note to justify vocational change. When adding new or expanded services to a clone, always update the justification in the "documentation" box. It is not necessary to clone the plan each time the price of a service outlined on a plan increases. This can be accommodated through the authorization showing the increased costs.

~~Edit:—The edit function may only be used to change a vendor or to edit the documentation on a previously signed and approved plan. The edit function is not to be used to add a new service to an existing plan. The edit function may be used prior to closure to insure that the employment outcome on the last plan is in the same or related field as the employment outcome at closure since this is a federal requirement. When editing the employment outcome, it is essential that the VR counselor document how the substantial services provided on the edited IPE support the final employment outcome and that the participant fully agree with the modified goal. All VR counselors and support staff can edit plans since edits do not require signatures.~~

SUMMARY:

~~NEW Plan: is always implemented for a new vocational goal when major changes in services are necessary.~~

~~CLONED Plan: is implemented when new services are added or additional services are needed to fulfill the objectives of a previous plan. A clone may also be implemented when the vocational goal is modified without changing the planned services.~~

~~EDIT: is used to change a vendor or edit the documentation on a previously signed and approved plan.~~

Edit: There are limited circumstances when editing an IPE is allowed. When editing an IPE, a VR counselor, who meets CSPD standards, must document in a case note the customer's agreement with the edit of the IPE. The only two situations where an IPE can be edited are:

1. Changing the provider of a service

Generic services can be edited on an IPE, with customer agreement, without a customer's signature, prior to the initiation to that service. Non-generic services cannot be edited. No service may be added to the IPE through the edit process.

- a. Generic services – Tutoring, computer equipment / software, auto repairs, books, transportation, community rehabilitation services, child care, clothing, academic testing, dental work, dialysis, driver's training, eye glasses, functional capacity evaluation, GED, hearing aids, information referral services, insurance, kidney related services, lab work, licensure, maintenance, medication, vocational adjustment, tools and equipment, supplies, and x-rays.
- b. Non-generic services – Medical examination, diagnostic examinations, case management, post-secondary education, medical records, counseling and guidance, treatment, evaluation, hospitalization, interpreter services, education and evaluation, therapy, OJT, other services, personal assistant services, psychological consultation, prosthetics / orthotics, rehabilitation technology, rehab engineering, self-employment technical assistance, surgery, transition planning, and vocational evaluation.

2. Changing the cost of a service

The cost of services on the IPE can be edited if the cost increase is 10% or less for that particular service.

Plan Approval Authority:

VR counselors ~~1 and 2~~ who ~~have do not been given permission to sign their own plans~~ meet CSPD will continue to require Regional Managers (RM) approval for all plans. RMs can, at their discretion, delegate this function to an Assistant Regional Manager (ARM) or other senior counselors at a level 2 or 3.

~~10.6 “4x 4” Service Policy:~~

~~Revisions shall be completed when a significant change occurs in the IPE. Revised IPEs (clones or new plans) shall be in writing and shall not take effect until agreed to and signed by the individual. The IPE is amended as necessary by the individual and the VR counselor if there is a substantial change in the employment outcome, VR services or providers of VR services. Amendments are not necessary, however, under the following very limited and specific circumstances:~~

- ~~1. The additional service must not exceed $400.~~
- ~~2. The additional service must not exceed four months in duration.~~
- ~~3. The employment goal must remain the same as on the previously written plan.~~
- ~~4. The additional service will be provided on a one-time basis per case. This restriction is intended to prevent the ongoing provision of a specific service, e.g., transportation, beyond the four-month time limit or $400 maximum allowance.~~
- ~~5. It is imperative that a Case Note be completed to document that the individual is in full agreement with the provision of the additional service provided by this protocol in order to show full awareness and agreement by the individual~~

~~Note: VR counselors who currently do not have permission to sign plans will be exempt from participating in this protocol.~~

~~Annual Review: Upon completion of annual review with customer, the VR counselor must complete annual review function in Case Management System.~~

~~Through the implementation of this policy, the VR counselor can continue to provide services in a seamless manner without having to interrupt a program by preparing and implementing an IPE for services with a minimal associated cost that are intended to support an ongoing vocational goal.~~

SECTION 11.0 COMPARABLE SERVICES AND BENEFITS

11.1 Comparable Services and Benefits

Each eligible individual customer will be required to review/identify, with the VR counselor, all potential comparable benefits that may be available prior to/during the development of the Individual Plan of Employment (IPE). If comparable benefits and services are available, they MUST are required to be utilized, to meet, in whole or in part, the cost of vocational rehabilitation services. Comparable benefits and services should be utilized before Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) agency funds are expended.

The definition

Provision of Comparable Benefits and Services is any benefit:

1. If comparable services or service that exists/benefits exist under any other program that is and are available to the participant during the duration of the IPE and which can be directly applied customer at the time needed to ensure the individual's progress of the customer toward the achievement of/achieving the employment outcome in the customer's IPE, the designated State unit must use those comparable services or benefits to meet, in whole or part, the costs of the vocational rehabilitation services.
Federal regulations require that VR and the participant must utilize all
2. If comparable services or benefits or services. This means that the individual must apply for/exist under any comparable benefit or service that could be other program, but are not available during to the customer at the time sequence outlined needed to ensure the progress of the customer toward achieving the employment outcome in the customer's IPE, the designated State unit must provide vocational rehabilitation services until those comparable services and benefits become available.

The utilization of comparable services and benefits does not apply in the following situations:

A.

- A. If the determination of the availability would delay the provision of vocational rehabilitation to any individual customer who is at extreme medical risk. A determination of extreme medical risk shall be based upon medical documentation provided by an appropriate licensed medical professional and means a risk of substantially increasing functional impairment or risk of death if medical services are not provided expeditiously. It is strongly recommended that such cases receive medical consultation review whenever possible.

B.

- B. If an immediate job placement would be lost due to a delay in the provision of comparable benefits.

11.2 Comparable/Exempt Services and Benefits Exceptions

The following categories of service are exceptions/exempt to the requirement that comparable services and benefits be utilized:

A. _____

- A. Medical, psychological or other examination to determine eligibility.

B.

- B. IDVR counseling, guidance, information and referral, and IDVR job related services including: job search and placement services, assistance, job retention services, follow-up services, and follow along services.
- ~~C. _____~~
- C. Evaluation of vocational rehabilitation potential.
- ~~D. _____~~
- D. Rehabilitation technology, including telecommunications, sensory, and other technological aids and devices ~~(see Section 12.14 for exceptions).~~
- ~~E. _____~~
- E. Post-employment services that are outlined through A-D.

11.3 Timeliness of Comparable Benefits

If a comparable benefit exists, but is not available to the ~~individual~~customer at the time needed to satisfy the rehabilitation objectives on the IPE due to no delay on the part of the eligible participant in seeking such benefits, IDVR may provide services until the comparable benefits become available. ~~For example: In a post-secondary education plan, IDVR may provide up to $1650 of the first semester costs based upon the fact that a Pell Grant has yet to be determined in spite of appropriate Financial Assistance (FAFSA) preparation conducted in advance by the individual. Appropriate preparation in advance is defined as the completion of the application process for financial assistance far enough in advance to merit an eligibility/ineligibility decision prior to the onset of the desired training program.~~

~~The participant must complete the financial aid process and receive a financial aid award or denial letter before the first day of classes at the selected school. It is incumbent upon the VR counselor to inform the prospective student of this financial aid process and VR requirement. The VR counselor should always encourage and counsel the participant to complete the financial aid application as early as possible in order to comply with this policy. Subsequent semester costs will only be authorized upon receipt and consideration of the full FAFSA award(s). When IDVR provides first semester tuition prior to a grant award, approval must be procured at the Field Services Manager (Zone) level and documented on the IPE before services are established and authorizations issued. If available, a copy of the financial award or denial letter should always be placed in the individual's file before any authorizations are issued. As noted above, when the financial aid determination has been delayed or funding has not arrived at the institution, IDVR may fund that semester up to the amount noted in this section.~~

~~When this exception occurs it will be necessary for the counselor to document in the IPE the participant's obligation to reimburse the agency once financial aid is received. It is incumbent upon the counselor to closely monitor the receipt of the participant's Pell grant to secure reimbursed funds. The participant must understand that assistance with subsequent semesters will be dependant upon reimbursing the agency following receipt of the participant's financial award.~~

~~IDVR cannot pay for training costs unless maximum effort by the participant has been made to secure the following applicable grant assistance: Pell Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG), State Incentive Grant (SSIG), Leveraging~~ Educational Assistance Partnership Grant (LEAP), and other grants.

NOTE: ~~The individual must make repayment arrangements if s/he has previously defaulted on a loan and owes a refund on a grant before IDVR will support a training program in which financial aid is available to all eligible students.~~

SECTION 12.0 VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION SERVICES

12.1 ~~Guiding Principles~~ Timeliness

The VR Counselor and customer require adequate time to accomplish all steps in the VR process to reach a determination and approval of Informed Choice—an agreed upon feasible employment goal. VR services, other than assessment services, are initiated when the steps to this process have been completed and a plan is in place. Sufficient time must be allowed for the completion of a comprehensive assessment prior to implementation of IPE services.

~~A. All people with disabilities can achieve competitive, high quality employment in an integrated setting and can live full productive lives.~~

~~B. People with disabilities often experience major barriers related to the low expectations of, and misunderstandings toward, people with disabilities that exists within society, within the persons with disabilities themselves, and sometimes, within our own rehabilitation system.~~

~~C. People with disabilities should have responsibility and accountability to make their own choices about their lives; the kind of employment they want to pursue, who they want to provide services for them as well as the kind of services they need.~~

~~D. The primary purpose and role of the public rehabilitation system is to empower individuals with disabilities by providing them with information, education, training, and confidence, in order that they will make the right choices responsibly if appropriately informed. It is also the purpose of the public rehabilitation system to support those choices when they are based upon reasonable and verifiable premises.~~

~~E. The most effective rehabilitation occurs when there are true partnerships between the federal and state partners, state agency providers, community providers and employers, the disability community, all other partners, and the consumer.~~

~~The ultimate goal is to provide participants with skills, tools and information to aid in their vocational discovery process and to initiate informed choices when creating their Individual Plan for Employment (IPE) with the Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor (VRC).~~

~~Many tools exist to assist the participant and the counselor to identify inherent strengths, interest, aptitudes and transferable skills such as:~~

~~A. Comprehensive Guidance and Counseling provided by the agency.~~

~~B. Job Seeking Skills workshops offered by the Department of Commerce and Labor or Community Rehabilitation Programs (CRPs).~~

~~C. Vocational Evaluations provided by CRPs either “in-house or within the community.~~

~~D. Community Based “job shadowing” experiences within the community.~~

Developing the Vocational Goal:

Post-Secondary Training (PST) and other IPE services are VR services that are provided when it is required for a VR customer to become a competitive applicant for an approved IPE goal. If an applicant for VR services expresses an interest in a vocational goal that requires Post-Secondary Training and the VR applicant is either already enrolled or desires to start a PST program within six (6) months of application, IDVR reserves the right to assert that six (6) months or less may not be adequate to complete the process described above.

~~In selecting a vocational goal, it is important that the participant is actively involved in all phases of this development. Much research has been done to substantiate that the successful outcome of vocational rehabilitation increases when the participant is involved in every phase of the vocational planning. Vocational planning is built around vocational exploration, understanding the participant's medical and work history, his/her perception of disability, social habits, functional limitations, inherent aptitudes and transferable skills, vocational exploration through vocational evaluation, training options, and labor market research. The participant will explore the relationship of vocational objectives around his or her personal capabilities, interest, and situations and then attempt to understand the way these different factors impact and influence vocational potential. This information then helps the participant to develop the steps to a solid rehabilitation plan, and provides tools for the participant to assess his/her current state of mind and to encourage positive self-initiated resolutions.~~

12.2 Agency Payment Policy

NOTE: Many of the services listed below include maximum agency contributions. This section outlines in detail the payment policy of Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) in regard to specific services. It is the policy of IDVR to pay usual, customary and reasonable charges for services provided to its ~~participants~~customers by providers of goods and services except for the following list. An "Exception Policy" ~~clause~~to the payment policy is ~~attached~~included at the ~~completion~~end of this ~~list~~sub section, explaining that the payment caps established may, on occasion, be exceeded ~~for geographical or other considerations~~.

. It is important to emphasize that IDVR is not obligated to pay the total cost of services required to ensure that a ~~participant~~customer achieves an employment outcome. ~~The individual is always strongly encouraged as well as responsible for the pursuit~~When appropriate, customers are required to utilize Comparable Benefits and ~~identification of comparable benefits~~Services (Section 11.0). Personal participation in the payment of some portion of the costs of a vocational plan may be required based upon the particular service selected as well as the identification of personal resources that could be applied toward the cost of the targeted ~~services~~service.

Rates of Payment:

These fees are established in accordance with ~~federal~~Federal guidelines that permit an agency to establish fee limits for services designed to ensure a reasonable cost to the program for each service.

Whenever possible~~appropriate~~, a competitive process will be used to achieve a reasonable price. Idaho is a low bid State; therefore, the lowest bid, meeting specifications, will then be the maximum amount IDVR will contribute to the purchase of goods or services. The Payment Policy will determine the maximum that IDVR will contribute to the purchase. For items not included in the payment policy, the usual, customary and reasonable rate will be used for the service, not to exceed the rate charged other public agencies. The ~~services~~services that will meet the ~~individual's~~customer's need at the least cost to IDVR shall be the service purchased.

All decisions on cases, including fee for services, are determined on an individual case basis. The ~~individual~~customer may choose his or her preferred vendor, but if ~~s/he~~the client chooses a product or ~~vendor~~vendor that exceeds the maximum rate of payment established by the Payment Policy, the ~~participant~~customer will be responsible for the excess amount.

Exceptions to Usual, Customary and Reasonable Charges:

When training is being proposed for IDVR Payment Rates:

- 1. Post-Secondary Training: IDVR provides financial assistance for Post Secondary Training. Listed below are maximum assistance allowances to apply toward all training and educational programs including college, university, vocational-technical, truck driving, cosmetology, business school, computer training, commercial pilot training, etc.

Any non-merit grants or scholarships must also be applied to tuition, fees and books before IDVR assistance is applied.

Should the client still insist on attending a university setting, s/he will be responsible for tuition costs beyond the $1000 dollars that would be funded at the community college.~~

- ~~ii. If the course of study is offered in-state, because of the additional costs caused by accommodations for disability, it would be more cost effective for the Agency to support the attendance of the customer at an out-of-state educational institute, then VR may pay the training rates established for out-of-state programs.~~

d. Summer Sessions: Summer sessions are generally considered optional for academic programs. Therefore additional funding is typically not allotted for summer sessions.

Maximum assistance rates will be established according to the length of the term, i.e. semester, trimester, quarter. ~~institution.~~

~~c. If the individual chooses to attend an out-of-state institution, when comparable training is clearly available in the state, then IDVR will only pay the Idaho in-state maximum cost (fees and tuition) currently established at:~~

~~$300 per semester x 2 per year ($600 maximum per federal fiscal year)~~

~~$200 per quarter x 3 per year ($600 maximum per federal fiscal year)~~

~~c. d. — Physical and Mental Restoration Services. Surgery; Surgery may be provided if it is not the sole vocational rehabilitation service needed for the participant customer to return to work or to achieve an employment outcome.~~

—IDVR will only cover the cost of surgery if it will substantially reduce functional limitations. It is highly practical and appropriate for the VR counselor to explore alternative employment opportunities with the individual customer that may negate the need for the corrective surgery. Such an alternative should accommodate the individual's customer's functional restrictions and provide a level of income that would be comparable with potential earnings following a surgery. ~~The participant should always explore in cooperation with the VR counselor a variety of options in order to be prepared to make an informed choice.~~

——NOTE: When physical restoration services for individuals customer who have a temporary disability, which will be eliminated by surgical care in an acute general hospital, is the only vocational rehabilitation service to be provided, and the condition is likely to be remedied by relatively routine medical intervention with no significant lasting effects, the RSA position is that such cases should be referred to other agencies. Such services should not be paid for under vocational rehabilitation auspices. – (RSA Position Paper, 3/28/80, Robert R. Humphreys, Commissioner commissioner of RSA)

27. 28. No Shows:

If ~~an individual~~ a customer does not attend an appointment and ~~doesn't~~ does not cancel or reschedule, the individual customer will be responsible for payment of any charges – not VR.

If VR authorizes for an interpreter to be present and individual the customer does not attend, VR will cover cost of the interpreter through administrative authorization.

Exception to Rate of Pay Policy:

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, requires that IDVR have a policy that allows for exceptions to the Payment Policy, unless the exception would violate State or Federal laws. All exceptions will be reviewed on an individual case basis, ~~and require approval by the appropriate Field Services Manager in charge of the zone from which the request originated.~~

Exception to Rate of Pay Process:

To be considered for an exception, the individual Customer and VR counselor should first seek approval from the Regional Manager. Regional Managers have the authority to approve the exception as long the exception is not more than 50% of the service cap. Greater than 50% of the service cap will require the approval of the Chief of Field Services. The Regional Manager shall submit the request for the exception in writing to the Chief of Field Services ~~Manager.~~

The request must include:

1. A description of the requested exception.
2. Detailed reasons why the individual customer, VR counselor and manager (when appropriate) believe the exception is warranted.

The Chief of Field Services (or Regional Manager when appropriate) will have ten (10) days from the date of receipt of the request to make a decision. ~~The VR counselor should be careful to explain to the participant prior to submission that just because s/he requests an exception does not guarantee that it will be approved.~~ If the request is approved, written notification will be sent to the Regional Manager (when appropriate) and this will be placed in the case file.

The Chief of Field Services Manager reserves the right to deny any request.

If a request for exception is denied, the individual customer must be informed of the reason why and of his/her right to appeal the decision within ten (10) days of notification of the denial.

Reasons for Exception:

The items listed below are not all inclusive, but do contain the major reasons that will be considered in determining if an exception to policy will be granted. Financial need alone is not always sufficient grounds for asking for an exception. While ~~an individual a customer~~ an individual customer may present one or more of these reasons for an exception, VR counselors should use discretion in requesting an exception. It is sometimes the nature and scope of the reason and not the number of reasons that may justify the exception.

1. The need is disability related.
2. The participant customer has used all sources available; including his/her own financial contribution, as well as all available Federal Financial Aid in post-secondary training ~~situations~~ situation, insurance, Medicaid, Medicare, and other resources typically used by persons without disabilities.
3. ~~Family issues such as legal separation, divorce or~~ Changes in circumstances resulting in loss of income ~~make or support making previously available~~ resources unavailable.
4. Service is not available, in certain geographical locations of the ~~state~~ State, within the Payment Policy maximums.

~~12.3 Counseling, Guidance, and Work-Related Placement Services for Individuals with Disabilities, including Rehabilitation Services that address Disability related Barriers to Employment, Job Search Assistance, Placement Assistance, Job Retention Services, and Follow-up~~

12.3 Counseling and Guidance

Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) recognizes that vocational counseling and guidance is the key element in the rehabilitation process in that it is the method of involving the ~~participant~~customer and significant others in that process. It begins when the ~~individual~~customer contacts the agency and does not end until closure as successfully ~~rehabilitated~~rehabilitation or through ~~to~~ the completion of the post-employment period.

Vocational counseling and guidance, including referral and placement, are essential VR services provided by the VR counselor throughout the rehabilitation process. This is the primary service in the VR plan.

Counseling, guidance and placement should be an integral part of every IPE regardless of other services because it is the best method of coordinating services and maintaining a good working relationship with the ~~participant~~customer. This is also the ~~medium~~method used by the counselor to facilitate ~~participant~~customer input. The VR counselor gathers the necessary information for providing vocational counseling and guidance services from a wide variety of sources, including, but not limited to:

- ~~A.~~ A. Medical and psychological information.
- ~~B.~~ B. Vocational evaluation information including labor market information, job analysis, aptitude and interest information, situational assessments and ~~trial~~trail work experiences.
- ~~C.~~ C. Analysis of transferable skills.
- ~~D.~~ D. Rehabilitation technology, including rehabilitation engineering.

Counseling will address vocational and personal adjustment issues that are creating barriers to the ~~participant~~customer obtaining and maintaining employment.

Counseling will be provided in a respectful manner encompassing the core conditions of helping. These will include unconditional positive regard, genuineness and congruence. Counselors will always maintain a professional demeanor and not allow counseling issues to become personal. Counselors are to follow the canons of ethical behavior and practice outlined by the Commission on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification (CRCC) Code of Ethics.

Counseling services must be provided in every case but will vary depending on the needs and complexities of each individual ~~participant~~customer. Frequency of guidance and counseling contacts is determined at plan development and included on the IPE. Case notes will reflect contact and content of meetings. A monthly summary of guidance and counseling activities is the agency "best practice" norm for recording progress.

12.4 Physical and Mental Restoration Services

These are services necessary to correct or to ~~modify~~ substantially modify a physical or mental condition ~~of an individual~~ that is stable or slowly progressive. Before medical restoration is provided, there must be documentation that the clinical status of the individual/customer is stable or slowly progressive and the service is a requirement for the individual's/customer's successful employment. The medical consultant shall review the record to insure the adequacy of medical information, advise ~~advise~~ on the service requirement, educate the counselor on the procedure and required follow-up, and provide any necessary liaison with ~~the~~ medical community.

~~Remember: IDVR may provide physical and mental restoration services, to the extent that financial aid is not available from a source such as personal health insurance or comparable services/benefits such as Medicaid or Medicare. (See Section 12.2, Subcategory #25 "Typical Exclusions" – "e. Physical and Mental Restoration Services").~~

Current maximum financial contributions by IDVR for ~~italicized~~ specified services can be found in the "Payment Policy" section 12.2 of the ~~Manual~~ manual (See also section 12.2 subsection "Typical Exclusions" and section "Comparable Benefits"). For all other services listed below, IDVR will pay the prevailing "Usual and Customary" charges after a comprehensive assessment of potential or available comparable benefits and resources has been conducted.

12.4.1 Concurrent ~~Illness Service~~ Acute or Chronic Conditions Arising from Physical or Mental Restoration: Services necessary to assist with acute treatment or care for a condition associated with or arising during rehabilitation and constituting a barrier to achievement of an employment outcome from physical and mental restoration services that are on the IPE. Comparable benefits will always be explored prior to authorization of this service. The medical consultant should ~~always~~ be utilized to determine the medical rationale for such services- whenever possible.

These services should be provided in the least intensive medical environment appropriate.

In the case of a chronic condition which does not appear to be resolving in a reasonable amount of time, consultation with the medical consultant should be used to determine whether a case should be closed.

~~12.4.2 Prosthetics/Orthotic Devices: When the agency purchases an assistive technology device, such as hearing aides, prosthetic/orthotic equipment it is important that the counselor stipulate on the IPE the personal financial responsibility that the individual must assume for maintenance and future modification or replacement needs. Guidance should be provided in assisting the individual to understand the need for budgeting finances for that specific purpose.~~

~~12.5 Vocational and other training services, including:~~

5 Training Services

12.5.1 Disability related training services

Disability related services ~~and on-the-job supports.~~

~~Disability related services~~—include, but are not limited to: orientation and mobility; rehabilitation technology; speech reading; sign language; and cognitive training/~~retaining.~~ retraining.

~~On-the-job supports~~—~~support services provided to an individual who has been placed in employment in order to stabilize the placement and enhance job retention. Such services include job coaching, follow-up and follow-along, and job retention services.~~

~~12.5.2 Post-Secondary Training~~—~~if comparable programs exist at both public and private schools, IDVR will pay a limited amount up to the amount of the tuition cap set for the public supported program.~~

Post-Secondary training is provided when necessary to ~~achieve an employment objective~~ become a competitive applicant for an agreed upon IPE goal that reflects the ~~individual's~~ customer's interests and informed choice to the extent that those factors are consistent with ~~an individual's~~ a customer's strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, capabilities and abilities. IDVR may support graduate study when the ~~individual's~~ customer's employment objective is otherwise unachievable.

Prior to providing post-secondary training, comparable benefits shall be determined. The individual ~~customer~~ is required to complete and submit for processing the Free Application for Federal Student Assistance (FAFSA). The resulting Student Aid Report (SAR) and Financial Aid Award Letter will determine the ~~federal~~ Federal grant awards available that are to be applied to tuition, books and fees. Proof of financial award status is required to be placed into the record of services for all individuals ~~customers~~ sponsored in post-secondary education by IDVR. ~~for training and degrees that are eligible for grants.~~ Examples of proof include: the SAR, Financial Aid Award Letter or Post-Secondary Institution Student Budget, Compromise and Release documents from Worker's Compensation.

~~All Federal (PELL, SEOG, SSIG, LEAP) and Native Corporation Grants are~~ non-merit scholarships and grants to be applied to tuition, books and fees as a ~~1st~~ first dollar source, prior to the consideration of expenditures of IDVR funds. Merit based funding may be applied to any legitimate college costs as determined by the ~~individual~~ customer, with no comparable benefit test required.

~~Shared funding will be negotiated with federal, state or local partner agencies (VA, WIA, Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation, Worker's Compensation, etc.) to carry out a joint vocational plan to provide services to individuals.~~

When IDVR has a joint case with another VR agency (Veterans Administration, Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation, Idaho Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired, or another state VR agency) the sharing of case cost shall be done in a way that multiple agencies are not paying for the same service.

The FAFSA Expected Family Contribution, Student Contribution, Work Study and other grants must be considered in meeting the financial needs of the ~~individual's~~ customer's post-secondary education to the maximum extent possible.

Participants

Customers are required to ~~make~~ submit an application for FAFSA whether or not they believe they are eligible for funding. This process should occur along with the verification of determination of eligibility/ineligibility for financial aid prior to IDVR developing an Individualized Plan of Employment (IPE) and participating in financial assistance for a post-secondary education.

12.5.3.2.1 Out of State Training

Out-of-State ~~Colleges, Universities, Vocational Technical Schools and Other~~ Post-Secondary Education and Training Institutions.

This authority is used to appoint persons who are certified that they are at a severe disadvantage in obtaining employment because of disrupted employment due to hospitalization or outpatient treatment for the severe disabilities listed above.

Appointment and Certification Process

~~This certification to the Federal Government is a significant determination. Prior to issuing the certification the counselor shall visit the proposed worksite. The purpose of the visit is to assess the participant's need for assistive technology, and other vocational rehabilitation services that will enhance the participant's success in federal employment. Close follow-up with both the participant and employer is absolutely essential during the initial months of job placement. Careful and thoughtful job match of participants to federal employment will increase the likelihood that the participant will maintain employment.~~

~~The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will not contract for job placement services with a community service provider to complete any of the above activities related to certification of placement through a Schedule A appointment.~~

~~The certification CAN be accomplished in two steps. The first step is a letter from the state VR counselor certifying that the individual experiences a significant disability and is eligible for appointment under this appointment authority. This type of certification is sufficient for an applicant to be considered for any job.~~

12.9 Self-Employment Policy

Introduction:

The primary goal of the Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) is to assist the participant~~customer~~ in attaining a suitable competitive employment outcome that results in financial self-sufficiency. Self-Employment is one ~~of the occupational options~~option that may be considered to assist the participant~~customer~~ in selecting a vocational goal.

The impediment created by the participant's~~customer's~~ disability must be addressed in the overall comprehensive assessment leading up to Individualized ~~Plan~~Plan of Employment (IPE).

The successful self-employment enterprise is operated by a participant who can demonstrate an array of skills and abilities, including: organization, business and financial management, marketing and other talents, as well as, knowledge and expertise in the goods or services being produced. These may be accomplished through natural supports or other resources and would need to be included in the self-employment plan. It is essential that the participant is well informed of potential risks and that efforts are made to minimize those risks,~~to the greatest extent possible.~~

A vocational evaluation/career exploration may be used as a method of assisting the participant~~customer~~ and VR counselor in deciding if self-employment is a possible viable option. Vocational evaluators have a variety of instruments, work samples, inventories and other strategies to use in providing feedback and information related to self-employment.

There may be a need for VR services prior to a commitment from IDVR on a self-employment plan. It could be appropriate for IDVR to assist ~~an individual~~a customer in services, such as training needed for certain skills or business knowledge before the decision is made by the individual~~customer~~ and VR counselor to pursue the development of a business plan.

IDVR values self-employment as a viable vocational outcome. Self-employment is presented by the VR counselor within the repertoire of vocational options and may be considered by ~~participants~~ customers and VR counselors as they work toward the development of an appropriate vocational goal.

IDVR supports active, not passive or speculative, self-employment goals.

~~Through initial exploration of personal and business feasibility assessment, participants and their VR counselors will be equipped to make an informed decision about self-employment as vocational goal. A. Competitive work (defined as payment of an hourly rate not less than minimum wage or less than the employer usually pays individuals who are not disabled) in an integrated work setting (defined as an environment in which the individualcustomer engages in as much contact with co-workers or the non-disabled general public as any other non-disabled person working in that job would experience) with ongoing support services for individualscustomers with the most severe disabilities for whom competitive employment:

1. Has not traditionally occurred; ~~or~~

If a customer requests these services, IDVR will provide information about competitive, integrated employment to assist in informed choice. If the customer still request non-competitive, non-integrated employment they will be referred to the Extended Employment Services Program through the Extended Employment Services Referral Form.

12.12.2 Supported ~~Employment Services~~employment Process:

- ~~A. Through The specific supported employment services to be provided must be included as an objective of the IPE. A Gemini 20 (Referral for Extended Employment Services) must be sent to the appropriate IDVR Extended Employment Services Specialist (EESS), located either in Boise (208-287-6458) or Moscow, Idaho (208-883-8410).~~

- ~~B. The VR counselor and participant twice per month, during the delivery customer will identify the level of ongoing job support necessary to maintain successful employment.~~
- ~~C. The VR counselor and customer will identify the availability of long term support strategies for the level of supported employment services. This contact identified.~~
- ~~D. If long term support strategies are available then an IPE may be at or away written.~~
- ~~E. If long term support strategies are not available the case will be closed "Unable to Benefit from the participant's place of work. Services."~~
- ~~C. Extended services may include the use of natural supports (family, friends, significant others, supervisors, co-workers) as needed.~~
- ~~D. The source of extended services, or statement that a reasonable expectation exists that extended services will be available following the completion of IDVR supported services, is to be included on the IPE. If the source of funding is the Extended Employment Services' (EES) budget, the vocational counselor should procure a "Client Update Form" from the EESS stating that EES services have been authorized. The "Client Update Form" is generated by the CRP, sent to the EESS who will determine whether to authorize the service. A decision will be made and a hard copy submitted to the CRP and VR counselor for inclusion in the file.~~
- ~~E. Supported employment is provided by IDVR for a period of time not to exceed 18 months, unless under special circumstances the participant and VR counselor agree to extend the time in order to achieve the rehabilitation objectives included on the IPE.~~
- ~~F. Supported Employment services are intended to be short-term in duration with transition to an extended service (traditionally called "Long Term Support") that assists the participant to maintain employment.~~

12.12.3 Examples of Long Term Support Services in Idaho

~~Long term support services must be provided through an ongoing support plan using another agency, service provider or natural supports and developed in conjunction with or prior to closure.~~

~~Employment for the purpose of Supported Employment must include:~~

Integrated work to mean job sites where there is daily contact in the immediate work setting with other employees and/or the general public who are not disabled (or as much contact as any other employee in that same position would have with other employees and/or the general public who are not disabled – e.g., a night janitor, with or without disabilities, might not have much contact with anyone).~~

~~Supported Employment requires that no more than eight individuals with disabilities be clustered in an employment setting (enclave).~~

~~B. Transitional employment services for persons with chronic mental illness means a series of temporary job placements in competitive work in an integrated work setting with on-going support services for individuals with chronic mental illness.~~

~~C. Work that results in competitive earnings (no less than the prevailing state minimum wage).~~

12.12.3 Supported Employment Strategies

Natural Supports:

Support from supervisors and co-workers occurring in the workplace to assist employees with disabilities to perform their jobs, including supports already provided by an employer for all employees. These natural supports may be both formal and/or informal, and include mentoring, supervision (ongoing feedback on job performance), training (learning a new job skill with a co-worker), and co-workers socializing with employees with disabilities at breaks or after work. Support provided by family, friends, or significant others is also included within this definition.

~~—NOTE: EES funds cover sheltered employment in addition to long-term maintenance for Community Supported Employment.~~

~~B.—~~

~~B. Mental Health: (Typically Schizophrenia, Major Mood Disorders, Borderline Personality Disorder, Delusional Disorder, Schizoaffective Disorder).~~

~~Initial job placement and stabilization, and training are provided through IDVR Community Supported Employment funds and the CRP provides extended services.~~

12.13 Post-Employment Services (PES)

An individual

A customer with a disability who had been previously rehabilitated may require additional services in order to maintain, advance in, or regain suitable employment. In order to qualify for this service strategy, the need must be based upon a disability previously documented in the eligibility determination section. Post-employment services require an amendment to the IPE (if Gemini under “Pages” there is a separate section dedicated to “post-employment services”). In order to qualify for these services, the ~~participant’s~~ customer’s vocational needs must be minor in scope ($1,000 or less) and duration (6 months or less). This means the ~~individual~~ customer only needs relatively short-term services with minimal cost associated. ~~Individuals~~ Customers requiring multiple services over an extended period of time and/or a comprehensive/complex rehabilitation plan should be encouraged to reapply for the full-spectrum of VR services since their needs exceed the intent of post-employment services. ~~Services~~ PES can be ~~provided at any time during the period in which a case record is maintained by the agency (5 initiated within three (3) years) of successful closure.~~ Once the record is destroyed, a new case must be opened.

Note: The intent of PES is to ensure that the employment outcome remains consistent with the ~~individual’s~~ customer’s strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests and informed choice.

12.14 Rehabilitation Technology ~~Services~~

Rehabilitation technology services (assistive/adaptive technology) may be provided as compensatory strategies to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of ~~individuals~~ customers with disabilities. Rehabilitation technology services may be provided at any time in the rehabilitation process, including the assessment for determining eligibility and vocational rehabilitation needs, extended evaluation, services provided under an IPE, and post-employment services. Rehabilitation technology, including telecommunications, sensory, and other technological aids and devices are exempt from a determination of the availability of comparable services ~~and benefits. If, however, comparable services~~ or benefits exist under any other program and are available to the ~~individual~~ customer, IDVR ~~must use those resources to meet in whole or part,~~ may request, but may not require the ~~costs~~ use of ~~the vocational rehabilitation~~ comparable services ~~and benefits.~~ (For further information, please review the series of comprehensive fact sheets provided by Idaho Assistive Technology Project located on the IDVR intranet web site. There are also direct links to the Idaho Assistive Technology Project web site at that location).

12.14.1 “Assistive technology service” means any service that directly assists ~~an individual~~ a customer with a disability in the selection, acquisition, or use of an assistive technology device, including:

Blue Book value of the vehicle. five (5) years or longer after modification, as evaluated by a certified mechanic (paid for by IDVR).~~ The ~~participant~~ customer must agree to maintain insurance on the vehicle for replacement costs of the modified equipment.

2. Any vehicle modification over $~~3000~~ 3,000 must include a minimum of two bids from approved vendors.

~~3.— Recipients of a vehicular modification service must be regarded as potentially job ready and capable of working on a competitive basis. This will require a careful assessment by the VR counselor to ensure that the participant fully understands that vehicular modifications are tied directly to the capacity and willingness to complete a plan for employment and actively cooperate in acquiring competitive employment.~~

~~4.— The participant must understand that a personal financial responsibility exists for the maintenance and replacement of the vehicle, as well as its future modification needs and adaptive equipment following case closure. This should always be stipulated within the IPE that outlines the vehicular modification.~~

PCA services do not include chore services, respite, cueing, or household tasks. In most cases, tasks performed by the PCA are ~~participant~~ customer directed. The PCA is not responsible for any tasks that the ~~individual~~ customer with a disability can perform independently.

PCA services have been developed to enhance the ability of ~~an individual~~ a customer with a significant disability to live and work independently. The need for PCA services is normally identified through an independent living (IL) evaluation ~~and services are, in most cases, provided to an individual with a significant disability, prior to application for IDVR services.~~

A PCA must have completed a ~~state~~ State approved training program or have substantial knowledge and experience in providing PCA services.

It is the policy of the IDVR to provide PCA services to ~~individuals~~ customers with significant disabilities, when PCA services over and above those required for normal daily living are required to assist the ~~participant~~ customer to complete the VR process. IDVR does not provide PCA services in lieu of existing PCA programs and providers. If the VR counselor determines that PCA services are necessary for the ~~participant~~ customer to complete the objectives of the IPE, the VR counselor will need to conduct or obtain a personal care assistant evaluation to determine the number of hours of PCA services that are required for participation in the IPE over and above the participant's customer's normal daily living needs.

It is the responsibility of the participant customer and the VR counselor to identify, apply for and utilize any and all similar benefits for PCA services. PCA recruitment and management is the responsibility of the participant customer. Payment for PCA services is made through an authorization to the participant customer for PCA services. The participant customer then pays the chosen provider. ~~The hourly rate for PCA services funded by IDVR will not exceed the current rate established by Medicaid. The PCA is paid by the task. All other time is- IDVR does not pay for standby per regulation. The participant~~ time; only for direct service time related to the VR service that the PCA service is addressing. The customer is required to submit verification of services received from the provider to IDVR on a monthly basis to continue to receive PCA funds.

IDVR PCA services are time limited in nature and are provided during the vocational rehabilitation process, if required, to assist in determining eligibility, for participation in vocational evaluation and assessment, and during implementation of an IPE with a goal leading to competitive employment. The provision of PCA services must be linked directly to the objective of the IPE. PCA services funded by IDVR must be for those tasks over and above PCA services normally ~~required~~ require for tasks of daily living. No more than 40 hours per week will be authorized for PCA services.

When the IPE objectives have been successfully completed and the goal of competitive employment has been achieved, provision of PCA services required to maintain employment becomes the responsibility of the participant customer.

12.19 -Reserve-Fund Services to a Group of Individuals

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended authorizes the provision of rehabilitation services to groups of individuals.

Guidelines:

Services for a group of individuals with disabilities must be expected to substantially contribute to the vocational rehabilitation of a group of individuals, but does not relate directly to the individualized rehabilitation program of any one individual with disability. The decision to provide services to groups will be made based on the need for the services as well as the available resources of the agency.

Under the authority of 34 CFR 361.49(a)(1), IDVR may pursue the establishment, development, or improvement of a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program that is used to provide vocational rehabilitation services that promote integration and competitive employment, including, under special circumstances, the construction of a facility for a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program. Examples of “special circumstances” include the destruction or natural disaster of the only available center serving an area or a State determination that construction is necessary in a rural area because no other public agencies or private non-profit organizations are currently able to provide vocational rehabilitation services to individuals.

Any CRP establishment activities undertaken by IDVR will be supported by the pre-planning requirements under 34 CFR 361.49(b)(1) and 34 CFR 361.29.

In order for IDVR to engage in activities to establish, develop or improve a public or non-profit CRP, pursuant to 34 CFR 361.49(a)(1), and use of non-Federal expenditures incurred by those activities to satisfy match requirement under the VR Program, IDVR must first satisfy several pre-planning requirements:

1. IDVR must have written policies that set forth the nature and scope of services that will be provided to groups of customers with disabilities, and the criteria that will be used to determine the provision of those services (34 CFR 361.49(b)(1)); and
2. Establishment activities must have been identified as a need in IDVR's most recent statewide comprehensive needs assessment and IDVR must have included in its State plan a discussion of the strategies it would use to meet that need (34 CFR 361.29).

If IDVR has satisfied the above pre-planning requirements for activities related to establishing, developing, or improving a CRP, then the following requirements must be satisfied in order for IDVR to use non-Federal expenditures incurred for these activities towards its match requirements under the VR program pursuant to 34 CFR 361.60(b)(3)(i):

1. The activities proposed must fit within the definition of establishment, development, or improvement of a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(17);

2. The establishment, development, or improvement of a facility for a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(18), or
3. The construction of facility for a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(12); and
4. The activities must be designed to provide services to IDVR customers and applicants.

Based on 34 CFR 361.5(b)(17), IDVR may:

1. The establishment of a facility for a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program.
2. Staffing, if necessary to establish, develop, or improve a community rehabilitation program for the purpose of providing vocational rehabilitation services to applicants or eligible customers.
3. Other expenditures related to the establishment, development, or improvement of a community rehabilitation program that are necessary to make the program functional or increase its effectiveness in providing vocational rehabilitation services to applicants or eligible customers, but are not ongoing operating expenditures of the program.

Employment Related Services to Customers with Disabilities

Under the authority of 34 CFR 361.49(a)(6), IDVR may pursue services that promise to contribute substantially to the rehabilitation of a group of customers but that are not related directly to the individualized plan for employment of any one customer.

The nature and scope of the services provided include:

1. Increase access to employment and educational opportunities for persons who are deaf or hard of hearing.
2. Increase awareness of the needs of persons who are deaf and hard of hearing through educational informational programs.
3. Encourage consultation and cooperation among departments, agencies, and institutions serving the deaf and hard of hearing.

 - ~~5. Family members as dialysis technicians.~~
 - ~~6. For Medicaid recipients, all dialysis, medication and transportation costs are paid by Medicaid (don't open VR PSK case).~~

~~7. If Epogen is medically necessary, participant needs to dialyze in hospital, as Medicare will pay.~~

~~8. Medications for non-ESRD related conditions.~~

Transplant Costs

1. VR will not provide any services for participant to get on the transplant list.
2. VR will not provide any financial assistance for any transplant medical services covered by Medicare.
3. If participant is on the transplant list, VR may pay for services that the nephrologist or primary ESRD physician recommends for the transplant, if not covered by Medicare. Such services could include dental work, visual exam or other services not covered by Medicare and/or other insurance.
4. For the transplant and immediate aftercare, VR may pay for:
 - Participant's transportation cost to and from transplant (negotiated with participant, not to exceed current state rates).
 - Participant's Per Diem to and from transplant (not to exceed current state rates).
 - Participant's lodging costs prior to hospital admittance and following discharge (usually hospice).
 - VR will financially assist one family member or significant other to accompany participant to and from transplant. Transportation, Per Diem and lodging costs will be negotiated with the participant in the best interest of the agency and not to exceed state rates.
5. Post Transplant:
 - VR may pay transportation costs up to 12 months for medical follow up visits, negotiated with participant not to exceed general program fee schedule and caps (see page 74 of Field Service Manual)
 - VR may pay for supplemental and primary insurance premiums to include Medigap and Medicare Part D pending financial need and cost effectiveness.
 - VR may pay for medications (other than anti-rejection) following transplant (per section 14.5.1). Participants are encouraged to apply for other programs that provide assistance for medications. A letter from the participant's Nephrologist will be required to confirm that medications are needed as a result of the kidney disease.

Post Transplant Medication Maximum: $400 per month

- VR does not pay for physician follow up as are appropriate at this service is covered under original cost of transplant by Medicare time.

- ~~VR does not pay for anti-rejection medications since Medicare pays for them for three years after transplant, then participant can apply to pharmaceutical indigent drug programs.~~

14.6 General Guidelines

If a participant has:

- ~~1. Full coverage Medicaid — Not eligible for PSK services, don't open PSK file.~~
- ~~2. Only Medicare — Based upon financial need VR will assist with medications related to ESRD up to the $400 per month maximum. Transportation costs to and from dialysis up to the $200 per month maximum. Supplemental or primary medical insurance premiums up to full amount based upon financial need and cost effectiveness. Transplant services as described in policy.~~
- ~~3. Medicare and QMB — VR may pay medications up to $400/month maximum.~~

Program Referral

~~Referrals can be made to the general VR program for participants who have vocational potential and wish to pursue employment services. Dual program cases would be maintained with participants receiving services from both programs simultaneously. Referrals can also be made from the general VR program to the PSK program, if participants have ESRD and meet all other PSK requirements related to residency, financial need, etc. The PSK case will cover financial assistance for the costs associated with the treatment of ESRD and the VR case will provide all other services required to attain the planned employment goal.~~

- ~~1. PES case is closed~~
- ~~2. Customer has been informed of case closure is documented in the case record.~~

~~Types of~~ Dialysis

~~There are three types of dialysis available to persons with end stage renal Disease (ESRD):~~

- ~~1. Hemodialysis — Blood is pumped outside the body to an artificial kidney machine. The machine cleanses the blood and returns it to the body. Only a small amount of blood is out of the body at any time. Hemodialysis can be done in-home or in-center.~~

~~2. Continuous Ambulatory Peritoneal Dialysis (CAPD) — Continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis (CAPD) is done manually by placing a bag of dialysate on an IV pole or coat rack above the head and connecting it to a catheter. Once the abdomen is filled with dialysate, the dialysate remains, or dwells, in the abdomen for an amount of time specified by the patient’s Nephrologist. After the determined amount of dwell time, the abdomen is drained and refilled with fresh dialysate. CAPD is a good choice for patients that do not sleep well while dialyzing or are not comfortable doing dialysis at night because CAPD allows for a daytime treatment schedule. CAPD is also a good treatment choice for patients that maintain a full-time job since exchanges can be done in a sterile environment within the workplace.~~

~~3. Automated Peritoneal Dialysis (APD) — Automated peritoneal dialysis (APD), commonly referred to as continuous cycling peritoneal dialysis (CCPD), requires a machine called a cyclor to automate the fill and drain process. Cyclors are programmed to fill and drain a patient’s abdomen at night during sleep. Two to four automated exchanges are performed during sleep and an additional manual exchange may be required during the day. CCPD is a good choice if the patient has a career or is in school, leads a busy life during the day or travels often.~~

Exceptions

~~Discuss any special circumstances or exceptions with the Zone Field Services Manager assigned to PSK.~~

SECTION ~~15-~~14.0 ORDER OF SELECTION

~~15~~14.1 AUTHORITYAuthority

Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended by ~~The~~the Rehabilitation Act of 1998,

~~Sections 101 and 102. 34 CFR Part 361 §361.36, §361.3.~~

~~15~~14.2 POLICYPolicy

In the event that the projected fiscal and personnel resources of IDVR become inadequate to provide the full range of services, as appropriate, to all eligible ~~individuals~~customers, the Administrator will implement the Division’s ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection procedure. By law, this procedure must insure that ~~individuals~~customers with the most significant disabilities are served first. ~~The~~ criteria used for determining the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection for services is the category of significance of the disability as defined in Policy Section 6.2 and the application date for VR services.

Factors that will not be considered in determining an order of selection priority category include:

- A. Type of Disability
- B. Duration of residency, provided the ~~individual~~customer is present in the state;
- C. Age, gender, race, color or national origin;
- D. Source of referral;
- E. Type of expected employment outcome;
- F. The need for specific services or anticipated cost of such services; or
- G. The income level of the ~~individual~~customer or ~~individual's~~customer's family.

15.3 ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS

14.3 Administrative Requirements

IDVR must ensure that ~~its~~it is funding arrangements for providing services under the State Plan, including third-party arrangements and awards, such as cooperative funding agreements with school districts, other ~~state~~State agencies or contractual arrangements, are consistent with the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection. If any funding arrangements are inconsistent, the ~~agency~~Agency must renegotiate these funding arrangements so that they are consistent with the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection.

1514.4 PROCEDURESProcedures

Determination of ~~Significance of~~Significant Disability

When a VR counselor determines ~~an individual~~a customer is eligible, the VR counselor also establishes the level of significance of disability based upon the criteria established in Section 6.20. The level of significance of the ~~individual's~~customer's disability is identified with one of the following three priority categories:

- ~~A. Individuals~~ Customers with disabilities
- ~~B. Customers with significant disabilities~~
- ~~A-C. Customers~~ with the most significant disabilities
- ~~B. Individuals with significant disabilities~~
- ~~C. Individuals with disabilities~~

Statewide Order of Selection Waiting list

When a VR counselor completes the eligibility process and the determination of the significance of the disability determination, the ~~individual~~customer is added to the statewide ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list in the appropriate category by date of application. The date of application process is ~~either the date the application is signed in the presence of the VR counselor or the date the application is 'date stamped' in the office.~~completed (see section 5.3). The case is transferred from the VR counselor caseload to the office ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list.

~~The Chief, Field Services, in consultation with the Administrator and the Field Service Managers, who collectively compose a Field Services Management Counsel (FSMC), determines when resources are available~~Written notification will be provided to initiate Individualized Plans for Employment (IPE) for individual(s)~~the customer informing them of:~~

- Their eligibility determination.
- Their placement on the statewide order of selection waiting list.
- The priority categories of IDVR's Order of Selection.
- Their assignment to a particular category.
- Their right to appeal their category assignment.
- The availability of the Client Assistance Program (CAP).

When resources are available, the Chief, of Field Services notifies the Regional Managers of the number of ~~participants~~customers to take from the waiting list by priority category, application date(s) and office locations. Regional Managers then coordinate with the VR counselors to transfer the corresponding cases from the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list in respective offices to VR counselor's caseloads.

A ~~participant~~customer on the statewide ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list may request that his/her case be transferred from one office to another ~~by~~ contacting the local VR office – The request for transfer ~~is submitted to~~ will be processed by the Regional Manager ~~to coordinate.~~

Order of Selection Office Waiting list

~~A separate order of selection waiting list is established for each office to track those eligible individuals on the statewide order of selection waiting list who would typically receive services from that office. The Regional Manager for where the office is designated to manage the office waiting list and to transfer cases from the order of selection waiting list to a VR counselor when notified that resources are available to initiate services for individuals on the order of selection waiting list. case resides.~~

Transferring a New Case to the Order of Selection Waiting List

The Regional Manager is responsible ~~within his/her region~~ for ensuring appropriate priority categories are being served, for maintaining the office ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection waiting list and for verifying Information and Referral (I&R) is occurring. Cases will be transferred from a VR counselor's caseload to the office ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection waiting list within ~~ten (10-working) business~~ ten (10-working) business days of the eligibility date. ~~Cases needing to be transferred to the office order of selection waiting list will be listed on a report generated every Monday by the Regional Manager or designee.~~

The Regional Manager will verify ~~a referral has been entered in the~~ Information and Referral ~~portion of sources have been documented prior to transferring~~ the case ~~management system or the case service record contains a case note explaining efforts to locate information and referral sources and the reason(s) a referral was not provided. Upon verification, the Regional Manager will transfer the case from the VR counselor's caseload to the office~~ ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection waitlist.

Transferring a Case from the Order of Selection Waiting List to a VR Counselor

Upon notification to initiate services for ~~cases~~ case on the ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection waiting list for the specified priority category and application dates, the Regional Manager ~~or designee~~ or designee must transfer cases from the ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection office waiting list to a VR counselor within ~~five (5-workdays-) business days.~~ five (5-workdays-) business days. The VR counselor is notified of the case ~~transfer~~ transferred and is authorized to initiate services.

If a case is closed from the office ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list, the case is automatically removed from the statewide ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection list.

Initiating Services for ~~Individuals~~Customers Referred from the Order of Selection Waiting List

~~The FSMC~~IDVR will determine when it is ~~appropriated~~appropriate to implement procedures to ~~reestablish~~re-establish or maintain contact with ~~individuals~~customers while they are on the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list. Factors to consider are the length of time ~~an individual~~a customer has been on the list and the anticipated time before the ~~individual's~~customer's category will open.

Upon receipt of ~~a~~the case transferred from the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection waiting list, the VR ~~counselor~~staff takes the following steps to:

1. To contact the individual within three working days. Telephone customer and schedule an appointment.
2. If telephone contacts are unsuccessful a letter will be sent to initiate contact is acceptable; however, if.
3. Reasonable and timely efforts to contact the individual by telephone are not successful within 2 days, a letter must be sent by the third day, scheduling the individual for an appointment. The appointment is scheduled no later than 10 find updated phone numbers and addresses for the customer.
4. If the customer has not responded within forty (40) days from the date the letter is was sent, VR staff will proceed with case closure.

~~Counselors~~VR counselors need to consider the communication needs of the ~~participant~~customer, including the need for information in alternate formats when initiating contact by telephone or letter.

~~If a participant missed a scheduled appointment or does not respond to an initial letter by the specified date, a certified letter is sent within 3 working days explaining that if the individual does not contact IDVR within 10 days to initiate services, the case service record will be closed. The letter will include information explaining the current status of the waiting list and instructions on how to reapply at a later time.~~

~~Reasonable and timely efforts will also be made to verify or find updated telephone numbers and addresses, to contact the referral source, and/or to contact person(s) identified on the application or otherwise in the case service record.~~

~~If the date identified in the closure notification letter passes and there is no response from the participant and efforts to locate the individual through other sources have not resulted in contact, the case is closed.~~

Steps to contact each individualcustomer are documented in the case management system narrative and filed in the case service record.

Exceptions for Reopening Closed Cases

A VR counselor may request the Regional Manager to get permission from the Chief of Field Services to reopen a case on an exception to policy basis if ~~an individual~~a customer contacts IDVR after his/her case is closed. If the ~~participant's~~customer's lack of response was a result of exceptional circumstances that prevented the individualcustomer from responding, the VR counselor should consult with his/her supervisor about an exception to policy to reopen the case. ~~If an exception to policy is requested and granted, contact the IDVR central office help desk to restore the case in the case management system.~~

ParticipantsCustomers not ready to Proceed with IPE Development upon Referral from the orderOrder of selectionSelection Waiting listList

If a VR counselor contacts a participantcustomer to initiate services and ~~s~~she/he is not ready to begin working with IDVR, the VR counselor needs to help the individualcustomer make an informed decision about how to proceed. If a customer does not wish to, or is unable to proceed with IPE development, IDVR will close the case and the customer must reapply. IDVR cannot 'hold' a spot on the waiting list nor can ~~an individual~~a customer be put back at the top of the list. The VR counselor needs to discuss the reasons the participantcustomer is not ready to proceed and whether a reasonable time frame can be agreed upon to resolve the issues. ~~The VR counselor and participant make plans to proceed with vocational planning and IPE development within a reasonable time period or to close the case. In some cases, closing the case and submitting a new application at later date may be most appropriate.~~

14.5 Information and Referral (I & R)

When operating under ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection, IDVR is required to offer ~~a formal, discreet~~ Information and Referral (I&R) ~~services~~services to ~~individuals~~customers who cannot be served and must wait for services because of the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection.

IDVR must document and retain information about referrals to other ~~federal~~Federal and ~~state~~State programs that provide employment-related services.—~~The I&R~~

~~screen of the case management system is used to record the required information.~~

Information and Referral Requirements

Federal regulations establish minimum requirements under I&R as follows. IDVR must:

- A. Provide ~~individuals~~customers with accurate vocational rehabilitation information and guidance (which may include counseling and referral for job placement) to prepare for, get, or keep a job.
- B. Refer ~~individuals~~customers with disabilities to other ~~federal~~Federal or ~~state~~State programs that are best suited to address their specific employment needs, including partners in the workforce investment system.
- C. Initiate a notice of referral identifying:
 - a. The name of the program to which the ~~individual~~customer is referred;
 - b. A contact person in that program; and
 - c. Information about the most suitable services to assist the ~~individual~~customer ~~prepares~~prepare for, get or keep a job.

14.6 Counseling and Guidance

To provide individualscustomers with accurate VR information and guidance, which may include counseling and referral for job placement, a VR counseling staff member talks to the individualcustomer about his/her need to prepare for, get or keep a job. The VR counseling staff member provides advice and guidance about how the individualcustomer might proceed, explains referral sources available, and offers to initiate a referral to another program, if appropriate. These interactions occur in the course of other activities, such as completing the application, intake, and eligibility determination.

For individualscustomers who choose not to apply for IDVR services because of the ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection, a general guideline is to limit I-&R services to one appointment. The VR counselor will NOT establish an on-going counseling relationship nor perform follow-up services regarding I&R.

Counseling and Guidance – Referrals

Each office will maintain a list of ~~federal~~Federal and ~~state~~State programs with which IDVR has established a formal referral relationship. It is expected that the Idaho Department of Labor One-Stop Centers will be used extensively, but not exclusively, for the referral of individualscustomers who either choose not to apply or are on a waiting list to receive IDVR services. Other programs to be used in this capacity, as appropriate, include Tribal VR programs and other community programs. Because of limited resources in some areas and the unique needs of some individualscustomers with disabilities, there ~~will~~may not be an appropriate program available to every person.

Counseling and Guidance – Job Placement

VR counseling staff may provide brief counseling for job placement. If the individualcustomer intends to engage in independent, self-directed job search or related activities, the VR counseling staff member may provide brief counseling to assist the individualcustomer in this effort. Examples of counseling and referral for job placement may include, but are not limited to:

- A. A counseling session with the individualcustomer to discuss what efforts to find a job the individualcustomer has already tried and offering other job search strategies and suggestions.
- B. Reviewing and giving advice on an individual's a customer's resume.
- C. Discussing reasonable accommodation issues and strategies for approaching an employer.
- D. Discussing and providing the individualcustomer with access to the Internet or another resource.
- E. Sharing information about the local labor market.

1514.7 Documenting a Formal Referral

All referrals to employment-related programs must be documented, including referrals for individualscustomers who have applied and are waiting for services ~~and referrals for individuals who choose not to apply for services because of the order of selection~~. Each Regional Manager, or designee, will identify and maintain the list of regional referral sources that require a formal referral. Each time an individual a customer is referred to one of the listed organizations, the VR ~~counseling~~ staff member documents the referral in the ~~I&R portion of the~~ case management system. Every case will have an entry in the ~~I&R screen~~ case management system prior to transferring the case to the ~~order~~ Order of ~~selection~~ Selection waiting list, or the case service record will document efforts to locate referral sources and the reason(s) a referral was not provided.

If an individual a customer requests a referral, the VR ~~counseling~~ staff member prepares and sends a written referral to the organization. In addition, the VR counseling staff member provides the individualcustomer being referred with the following:

- A. A copy of the written referral notifying the other federal or state program about the referral.

- B. The name of the person in that organization to be contacted by the ~~individual~~customer being referred.

- C. Information about the most suitable services to prepare for, secure, retain, or regain employment.

Informal Referrals

VR counselors routinely provide information to applicants and eligible ~~individuals~~customers about a wide array of community assistance programs that may offer services or benefits to assist the ~~individual~~customer meet a variety of needs (food or clothing banks, medical programs, counseling services, etc.). These types of referrals are considered informal referrals. IDVR staff are encouraged to continue providing ~~individuals~~customers with information about other programs that offer services to assist them in meeting a variety of needs. ~~Informal referrals are not documented in the I&R screen.~~

1514.8 Post Employment Services

Order of ~~selection~~Selection does not impact or alter the provision of post-employment services. Post-employment services are considered an amendment of the IPE, and therefore, ~~an~~ ~~individual~~a customer who needs post-employment services is not required to meet the highest priority category currently being ~~served~~serviced under an ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~Selection nor is the ~~individuals~~customers required to wait for services.

~~If the VR counselor determines that~~If substantial services are needed ~~a,~~ PES is not appropriate. A new application is completed subjectshould be taken and would be subjected to ~~order~~Order of ~~selection~~.

SECTION 1.0 – PURPOSE AND GENERAL REQUIREMENTS OF THE IDAHO VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION PARTICIPANT SERVICES PROGRAM

The Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) program assists eligible persons with disabilities to prepare for and achieve an employment outcome. “Employment outcome” means entering or retaining full-time, or if appropriate, part-time competitive employment in the integrated labor market to the greatest extent possible. It also means supported employment; or other types of employment, including self-employment, consistent with self-sustaining activity for wages or compensation consistent with the customer’s strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interest, and informed choice.

Competitive employment is work performed in the integrated labor market in which the customer is compensated at or above minimum wage, but not less than the customary wage and benefits paid for the same or similar work performed by customers who do not have a disability.

The IDVR is a statewide program that develops and utilizes partnerships for effective service delivery. Partnerships vary, but include those programs authorized under the Rehabilitation Act such as Independent Living Centers and Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation Programs. Programs authorized under the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) are utilized to the maximum extent possible as allowed in Section 188 of the Act. It is understood that each program is unique and offers unique cultural and professional expertise. Cooperative Agreements with respective programs are encouraged and should be referred to for local understanding. Staff is encouraged to understand these agreements and provide information, referral and services as appropriate to the needs of the customers they serve. Consult with the Regional Manager for access to pertinent cooperative agreements.

Vocational Rehabilitation is based upon an Individual Plan of Employment (IPE) that is oriented to the achievement of an employment outcome. Services provided to persons with disabilities must be documented as necessary to overcome related barriers to employment and must be provided as cost effectively as possible.

The Division strives to maintain a highly accountable program to all customers.

IDVR provides, as appropriate to the vocational rehabilitation needs of each eligible customer, goods or services necessary to enable the customer to achieve an employment outcome.

EXCEPTION TO POLICY

VR Counselors are delegated substantial decision and purchasing authority based upon the caps outlined in the Payment Policy. Exceptions to policy require the approval of a VR Regional Manager and the notification and consultation of the Chief of Field Services. Documentation of the VR Regional Manager’s approval must be noted in the case file.

Purchases in excess of delegated authority are reviewed by the Regional Manager and approved by the Chief of Field Services or designee. Documentation of the approval of purchases in excess must be noted in case file.

1.1 Legal Citations

The IDVR program is operated in compliance with the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended. The legal authorities for the policies contained in the Vocational Rehabilitation Services Policy Manual are: Title 34 CFR Part 361, issued January 17, 2001 in the Federal Register implementing the Rehabilitation Act Amendments of 1998; and Title 67, Chapter 53 of the Idaho code related to provisional appointments in state government for those with severe disabilities.

1.2 Program Requirements

Eligibility is determined without regard to sex, race, creed, age, color, national origin or type of disability.

There is no duration of residency requirement. The customer must be living in the State of Idaho and legally able to work in the United States.

IDVR will establish and maintain a record of services for each customer for, and recipient of, vocational rehabilitation services, which includes data necessary to comply with VR agency and Federal Rehabilitation Service Administration (RSA) requirements.

In the purchase of goods or services for persons with disabilities, IDVR complies with its procurement policy, Purchase of Services and Supplies for customer use in the Vocational Rehabilitation Program.

Case service expenditures require written authorization prior to the initiation of the service or purchase of any goods. Oral authorizations by a Regional Manager or above are permitted in emergency situations, but must be confirmed promptly in writing and forwarded to the provider. Emergency oral authorizations are to be followed up with a written authorization within three (3) business days.

Goods and services will be provided subject to the guidelines of the Order of Selection (Section 14.0).

When appropriate, counselors shall refer customers with disabilities to receive services from other agencies and organizations.

Each applicant or eligible customer being provided vocational rehabilitation services shall be informed of the procedure for requesting a review and a determination of agency action concerning the furnishing or denial of services, including the names and addresses of individuals with whom appeals may be filed and the availability of the Client Assistance Program (CAP).

1.3 Provider Standards

IDVR requires service providers:

To be licensed by the Division of Occupational Licensing, the U.S. Department of Education Office of Post-Secondary Education, or a professional certifying body.

OR

IDVR requires service providers that offer vocational rehabilitation services to apply to be an approved service provider with the Division. CRPs must be accredited based on IDAPA rules.

OR

IDVR Counselors may occasionally approve the purchase of services from non-license providers such as, educational tutoring, foreign language interpreters, or other services to support the rehabilitation needs of a customer.

1.4 Selection of Service Providers

Providers are selected by a combination of the customer's informed choice and State procurement rules. VR counselors will assist the customer in acquiring information necessary to make an informed choice regarding the selection of service provider.

1.5 Definitions:

A customer must request an Informal Review within twenty-one (21) calendar days of the agency notice regarding IDVR's decision to provide or deny services that are in question. The request must be in writing to the Regional Manager. The request must describe the complaint.

In holding an Informal Review, the Regional Manager will function as the Review Officer. At the customer's request another Regional Manager may be substituted. The reviewer will be responsible for:

- A. Advising the customer of his/her right to have a representative present and encouraging the customer to use the services of CAP.
- B. Conducting the review within fifteen (15) calendar days following written receipt of a request for such a hearing. Unless an extension is agreed to by both parties.
- C. When the customer makes a documented effort to utilize CAP or another selected advocate to resolve his/her dissatisfaction, the time allowed for conducting an Informal Review will be extended accordingly.

- D. Holding the review at a time and place convenient to the customer, generally at the local IDVR branch office.
- E. Providing communication methods for those customers who have a sensory impairment. An interpreter will be provided for those customers who cannot communicate in English.
- F. If needed, assure that the customer is provided transportation to and from the review site.
- G. The Informal Review Officer (Regional Manager) will attempt to resolve the matter to the satisfaction of the customer, developing a written proposal with the customer at the conclusion of the appeal process. The results are binding for the agency unless the proposal is not permitted by law. The customer may reject the proposal and request a Fair-Hearing within ten (10) calendar days of the Informal Review proposal or sixty (60) calendar days of the original IDVR decision, whichever ever one comes later.

4.4 Mediation

4.4.1 Mediation is an alternate dispute resolution method available to applicants and eligible customers who have initiated the Formal Appeals Process.

- A. A customer must request Mediation within twenty (20) calendar days of the original decision or ten (10) calendar days following the written proposal from the Informal Review. Mediation is available to a customer when an Informal Review has not resolved the dispute to the satisfaction of the customer.
- B. Requests for mediation must be made in writing to the Chief of Field Services and clearly state the reason for dissatisfaction with the decision or results of the Informal Review. The Chief of Field Services will represent IDVR or assign a member of the administrative or supervisory staff who has not participated in the Agency action that created the customer's dissatisfaction.
- C. Participation in the mediation process is voluntary on the part of the customer and on the part of IDVR. Either party may reject mediation as an alternate dispute resolution method. Either party, once accepting mediation as an alternate dispute resolution method, may terminate the mediation process.
- D. Mediation is not used to deny or delay the customer's right to pursue a Fair Hearing. Should the customer and/or designated representatives select mediation in lieu of a Fair Hearing the option for the Fair Hearing will be extended to allow the results of the mediation to be established. After the final results of the mediation are determined, the customer retains the right to request a Fair Hearing.
- E. Mediation is conducted by qualified and impartial mediators, who are selected randomly from a list of mediators maintained by the IDVR.

- F. Mediation discussions are confidential and may not be used as evidence in a subsequent Fair Hearing. A confidentiality agreement will be signed by both parties at the beginning of the mediation process.
- G. The mediator will develop a written Mediation Agreement, if an agreement between the parties is reached, it must be signed by the customer, the mediator, and IDVR.
- H. Cost of mediation is paid by IDVR. IDVR is not required to pay for any cost related to the representation of a customer.

4.5 Fair Hearing Process

The Fair Hearing Process is an option available to any customer who is dissatisfied with any determination made by personnel of IDVR that affects the provisions of vocational rehabilitation services. A customer may request a Fair Hearing immediately without having to go through the other appeal steps.

A customer may request, or if appropriate, may request through the customer's representative, a timely review of the determination. Such a request must be made within sixty (60) days of the IDVR decision resulting in the initial disagreement or within ten (10) calendar days of the conclusion of the Informal Review or ten (10) calendar days of the conclusion of the Mediation Process whichever is later. The Fair Hearing Process shall include a Fair Hearing by a Fair Hearing Officer (FHO).

- 4.5.1 A Formal Hearing is a procedure whereby a customer who is dissatisfied with any determination concerning the provision or denial of IDVR services or the findings of the Informal Review or Mediation may seek a determination of the agency action before a Fair Hearing Officer.
- 4.5.2 A request for a Fair Hearing must be sent in writing to the Chief of Field Services and clearly state the customer's dissatisfaction with the Agency's decision.
- 4.5.3 The hearing shall be conducted within sixty (60) calendar days of receipt of the customer's request for review, unless informal resolution is achieved prior to the 60th day, or both parties agree to a specific extension of time.
- 4.5.4 A list of Fair Hearing Officers shall be identified jointly by the Administrator of IDVR and the State Rehabilitation Council.
- 4.5.5 The Fair Hearing Officer will be selected from the list by the Administrator of IDVR and the customer.
- 4.5.6 The Fair Hearing Officer shall issue a written report of the findings and decision of the hearing within thirty (30) calendar days of the completion of the hearing.
- 4.5.7 The decision of the Fair Hearing Officer shall be considered final by the agency.

4.5.8 Any party who disagrees with the findings and decisions of a Fair Hearing Officer shall have the right to bring a civil action with respect to the matter in dispute. The action may be brought in any State court of competent jurisdiction or in a district court of the United States of competent jurisdiction without regard to the amount in controversy.

SECTION 5.0 APPLICATION AND ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION

- A. People with disabilities can achieve competitive, high quality employment in an integrated setting and can live full productive lives.
- B. People with disabilities often experience major barriers related to the low expectations of and misunderstandings toward, people with disabilities that exists within society, within the persons with disabilities themselves, and sometimes, within our own rehabilitation system.
- C. People with disabilities should have responsibility and accountability to make their own choices about their lives; the kind of employment they want to pursue, who they want to provide services for them, as well as the kind of services they need.
- D. The primary purpose and role of the public vocational rehabilitation system is to empower individuals with disabilities by providing them with information, education, training, and confidence, in order that they will make effective employment choices when appropriately informed. It is also the purpose of the public vocational rehabilitation system to support those choices when they are based upon reasonable and verifiable premises.
- E. The most effective rehabilitation occurs when there are true partnerships between the Federal and State partners, State agency providers, community providers and employers, the disability community, all other partners, and the consumer.

The ultimate goal is to provide eligible customers with the skills, tools and information to aid in their vocational discovery process and to initiate informed choices when creating their Individual Plan for Employment (IPE) with the VR counselor.

5.1 Inquiry

IDVR will respond to all general inquiries for VR services received via telephone, mail or electronic format within seven (7) business days.

5.2 Referral

A completed Referral form for VR services from customers available to participate in services that are made via mail or electronic format will be entered into the case management system as an open referral within three (3) business days. IDVR staff will make a minimum of three (3) attempts to contact the customer before the referral is closed. The first attempt will include a phone call or e-mail. If unable to make contact, a letter will be sent to confirm IDVR has received the inquiry and will include the VR office phone number. If the customer does not respond to the first letter, a second letter will be sent stating that IDVR has been unable to contact the customer and that the referral for services will be closed. Attempts to reach the customer and those results will be documented in the case management system.

5.3 Application for Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) Services

An application process is complete when the following three criteria are met:

1. IDVR receives a signed and dated application signature sheet from a customer or his/her representative, or an alternate request for application is made to an IDVR office;

And

2. The customer provides the information needed to begin an assessment of eligibility. Information gathered in the intake interview meets this criterion;

And

3. The customer is available and free of restrictions to complete the assessment process for determining eligibility for VR services.

There is no duration of residency requirement. The customer must be living in the State of Idaho and legally able to work in the United States.

Applicants must be available and participate in the eligibility determination process.

IDVR must, as part of the application process, inform applicants that the goal of the VR services is to assist eligible customers to obtain or maintain employment and that services provided are toward this goal. Customers must also be informed of their rights and responsibilities.

The 60-day eligibility determination period begins when the application process is complete.

5.3.1 Orientation to Vocational Rehabilitation

IDVR is obligated to provide all customers with information about the following:

1. The Client Assistance Program (CAP);
2. Confidentiality;
3. VR services;
4. Informed choice;
5. The rehabilitation process;
6. That customers who receive VR services must intend to achieve an employment outcome;
7. The rights and responsibilities of the customer; and
8. The VR appeals process.

This information may be conveyed to customers through group orientations, in a one-on-one interview setting or over the telephone by IDVR staff.

5.3.2 Intake Interview

The intake interview is part of the application process and is the beginning of the assessment process to determine eligibility and potential services to be included on the Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE). Medical, psychological, social, vocational, educational, cultural and economic information is gathered to determine the unique strengths, abilities, and interests of the customer.

Prior to the end of the intake interview, the IDVR staff member should identify the actions needed by both IDVR and the customer. This could include:

1. Appointment(s) scheduled
2. Releases of Information obtained
3. Authorizations to be issued
4. Referral letters
5. Next scheduled meeting
6. Existing information the customer agrees to provide VR staff

5.4 Assessment for Determining Eligibility

Any customer who applies for services shall undergo an assessment for determining eligibility and the priority for services, the results of which shall be shared with the customer.

The assessment will be conducted in the most integrated setting possible and consistent with the needs and informed choice of the customer.

Eligibility for IDVR services shall be determined within a reasonable period of time, not to exceed sixty (60) days after the application for services (All three components of an application received) unless the following occurs:

- A. The customer is notified that exceptional and unforeseen circumstances beyond control of IDVR preclude the counselor from completing the determination within the prescribed time frame and customer agrees that an extension of time is warranted;

OR

- B. A trial work experience including an exploration of the customer's abilities, capabilities, and capacity to perform in work situations is carried out;

OR

- C. An extended evaluation is necessary.

5.5 Eligibility Criteria

A customer is eligible for Vocational Rehabilitation if the following criteria are met:

- A. A determination by qualified personnel that the customer has a physical or mental impairment;

- B. A determination by a qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor that the customer's physical or mental impairment constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment for the applicant;
- C. A determination by a qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor employed by IDVR that the customer requires vocational rehabilitation services to prepare for, secure, retain or regain employment consistent with the applicant's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interest, and informed choice;
- D. A presumption by a qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor that the applicant can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of vocational rehabilitation services.

NOTE: The customer can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from vocational rehabilitation services unless the counselor demonstrates on the basis of clear and convincing evidence, and only after an exploration of the customer's abilities, capabilities, and capacity to perform in work situations or an extended evaluation is carried out, that such customer is incapable of benefiting from vocational rehabilitation services in terms of an employment outcome.

5.5.1 Qualified Personnel

IDVR has established a policy for "qualified personnel" for the purpose of disability determination. Under the Rehabilitation Act, the assessment for determining eligibility must be made by "qualified personnel" including, if appropriate, personnel skilled in rehabilitation technology (Section 103 (a)(1) of the Act). In addition, diagnosis and treatment for mental and emotional disorders must be provided by "qualified personnel who meet State licensure laws" (Section 103 (a)(6)(F) of the Act).

Qualified personnel are those who meet existing licensure, certification, or registration requirements applicable to the profession, this includes VR Counselors who meet IDVR's CSPD policy.

The determination of the existence of impairment should be supported by medical and/or psychological documentation. Medical/psychological disabilities shall be diagnosed by qualified personnel who demonstrate the possession of requisite State licensure, certification, or registration of requirements applicable to the practice of their profession within the state of Idaho.

The following occupations have been licensed in Idaho to provide general medical diagnoses. The VR Counselor can utilize general medical diagnoses established by these medical professionals:

- Medical Physician or Doctor of Osteopathy
- Nurse Practitioner (works under own licensure)
- Physician's Assistant (works under a "Delegation of Services Agreement" with a physician providing oversight)

The following occupations have been licensed in Idaho to provide specific medical diagnoses within the specialized areas of competency for which the specific licensure has been determined. It is critical that the VR Counselor take special precaution to ensure that when utilizing medical diagnoses from one of the medical professions listed below that only those areas of expertise for which the particular professional has been credentialed are documented within the eligibility determination module.

- Licensed Psychologist
- Chiropractor
- Naturopath
- Podiatrist
- Optometrist
- Physical Therapist
- Dentist/Orthodontist
- Advanced Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (ACADC) / Certified Alcohol and Drug Counselor (CADC) (restricted to identifying alcohol impairment related to specific testing outcome)
- School Psychologist (limited to diagnosing eligibility for school related special needs services)
- Licensed Audiologist (restricted to diagnosing hearing impairments specifically related to audiological testing results when medical conditions have been ruled out)

For further clarification, you may access www.ibol.idaho.gov and connect to “The Individual Board Pages” to determine the full extent of the professional latitude allocated to the medical occupations that are licensed to provide specialized services within narrowly defined parameters of competency. The State Board of Medicine maintains jurisdiction over the authority and conduct of medical doctors.

Private Licensing/certifying boards outside the Federal/State purview cannot be utilized as a basis for VR diagnostic purposes.

5.5.2 Social Security Presumption

Any applicant, who has been determined eligible for Social Security benefits under Title II or Title XVI of the Social Security Act, is presumed to meet the eligibility requirements for vocational rehabilitation services and is considered a customer with a significant disability.

Following an application and initial interview where a customer reports receiving SSI or SSDI, the counselor will obtain verification of receipt of SSI/SSDI, such as an award letter, a copy of the customer’s check, or a verification document through the Social Security Entry and Verification System (SVES). Upon verification, the customer is made eligible for vocational rehabilitation with a Presumption of Eligibility statement in the record of services.

NOTE: If the applicant presents sufficient medical documentation to determine eligibility at the first meeting, verification will still be procured but eligibility can be determined immediately without designating presumptive status.

The assessment for determining rehabilitation needs will continue, as needed, to obtain information necessary to determine the Individual Plan for Employment. This assessment will include: gathering existing records to determine the customer's impairment, impediment and nature and scope of the VR services necessary to obtain an employment outcome consistent with the customer's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice.

When the assessment adequately documents the impairment(s), employment impediment(s) and required service(s) needed, the qualified VR counselors completes an Eligibility Determination in the Agency's computerized data system.

If a customer receives disability benefits under Title II or Title XVI of the Social Security Act and intends to work, IDVR presumes eligibility for services, unless, because of the significance of the customer's disability, a VR counselor cannot presume that VR services will enable the customer to work (based on clear and convincing evidence).

Should the significance of the disability prevent a VR counselor from presuming that VR services will enable the customer to work, the customer will be asked to complete a trial work experience in order for the counselor to make an eligibility determination.

If the customer cannot take advantage of a trial work experience, an extended evaluation must be conducted in order to make the decision of eligibility.

5.6 Review and assessment of data for eligibility determination

The eligibility determination shall be based on the review and assessment of existing data, including: counselor observations, education records, and information provided by the customer or family, particularly information used by education officials and determinations made by officials or other agencies. Current medical records will be utilized to determine the nature and extent of the disability as well as for justification for the procurement of additional medical data when required to identify/verify alleged medical restrictions.

To the extent that existing data does not describe the current functioning of the customer, IDVR will conduct an assessment of additional data resulting from the provision of VR services including: trial work experiences, assistive technology devices and services, personal assistance services, and any other support services that are necessary to determine whether a customer is eligible.

5.6.1 Eligibility/Ineligibility: For each customer determined eligible or ineligible for vocational rehabilitation services, the record of services must include a dated Determination completed by a qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor. Written notification of an ineligibility determination will be provided to the customer.

An ineligibility notification must include the reason for the determination, rights and responsibilities, and Client Assistance Program (CAP) information. A customer should be referred to the local Department of Labor to address the customer's training or employment needs or to the Extended Employment Services Program (Work Services / Sheltered Workshops) if the ineligibility is "Too Severely Disabled."

Ineligibility decisions based upon the severity of disability must outline clear and convincing evidence and require a period of trial work experiences or extended evaluation prior to closure. (See Closure, Section 13)

It is federally mandated that IDVR review the closure outcome of “too severely disabled” within 12 months of closure and annually thereafter, if requested. (See Section 13)

5.6.2 Trial Work Experiences (TWE) for customers with significant disabilities: Prior to any determination that a customer with a disability is incapable of benefiting from VR services in terms of an employment outcome because of the severity of that customer’s disability, an exploration of that customer’s abilities, capabilities, and the capacity to perform in realistic work situations must be conducted to determine whether or not there is clear and convincing evidence to support such a determination.

In such cases a written plan must be developed to assess and determine the above. The assessment must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the customer. TWE include: supported employment, situational assessment, and other experiences using realistic work settings and must be a sufficient variety and over a sufficient period of time to make such determination. Appropriate supports, including assistive technology devices and services and personal assistance services to accommodate the rehabilitation needs of the customer must be provided.

Trial Work Experience is used to demonstrate whether the customer is capable of benefiting from VR services. Trial Work Experience will be conducted before Presumptive Eligibility is completed if there is a question regarding capacity to benefit.

TWEs may include: Community Based Work Evaluation (CBWE), job coaching, on-the-job training, supported employment or other experiences using realistic work settings, as well as assistive technology and other needed services.

Review the TWE Plan at least every 90 days to determine if there is sufficient evidence to conclude that the customer can benefit from VR Services in terms of an employment outcome or there is clear and convincing evidence that the customer is incapable of benefiting from VR Services in terms of an employment outcome due to the severity of the disability.

Make the determination for eligibility or case closure within the 18-month time frame.

5.6.3 Extended Evaluation: Under limited circumstances if a customer cannot take advantage of trial work experiences or if options for trial work experiences have been exhausted, an Extended Evaluation (EE) must be conducted to make these determinations.

In all cases where the counselor determines that an extended evaluation is required, the case record must include a Determination of Extended Evaluation completed by a qualified VR counselor, which documents:

- A. That the customer has a physical or mental impairment which constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment and requires VR services, and
- B. That it is questionable if the customer is capable of benefiting from VR services in terms of an employment outcome because of the severity of the disability.

During the extended evaluation period, VR services must be provided in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice and rehabilitation needs of the customer. There must be a written Extended Evaluation Plan for providing services necessary to make an eligibility or ineligibility determination. Only those services that are necessary to make the above determinations are to be provided and extended evaluation services are terminated when the qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor is able to make the determinations.

A customer will remain in extended evaluations only for the period of time required to determine if the customer can benefit from VR services in terms of an employment outcome but not to exceed eighteen (18) months. A review of the case shall be conducted as often as necessary but at least every ninety (90) days. Written documentation will be provided of determination.

6.1 Policy

At the time a customer is determined eligible for VR services, a VR counselor will determine the significance of the disability and, based upon the determination, will assign the customer to a priority category. If the agency is not under an Order of Selection, the prioritization will be used (1) for planning purposes to ascertain services that can continue to be provided to all who are eligible and (2) to provide a structure for an easy transition to an Order of Selection if required. If the Agency is under an Order of Selection (see section 14), the priority categories are used to determine the order in which customers receive services.

6.2 Definitions

Priority Categories:

- A. No Significant Disability (NSD)
- B. Significant Disability (SD)
- C. Most Significant Disability (MSD)

No Significant Disability (NSD)

- a. Who has a physical or mental impairment;
- b. Whose impairment constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment; and

- c. Who can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of vocational rehabilitation services.

Significant Disability (SD)

- a. Meets the criteria for a customer with no significant-disability;
- b. Experiences a severe physical and/or mental impairment that seriously limits two or more functional categories (such as mobility, work skills, self-care, interpersonal skills, communication, self-direction or work tolerance) in terms of an employment outcome; and
- c. Requires multiple primary Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) services over an extended period of time (at least 6 months).

Most Significant Disability (MSD)

- a. Meets the criteria established for a customer with a significant disability;
- b. Experiences a severe physical and/or mental impairment that seriously limits three or more functional categories (such as mobility, work skills, self-care, interpersonal skills, communication, self-direction or work tolerance) in terms of an employment outcome; and
- c. Requires multiple primary Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) services over an extended period of time (at least 6 months).

Note: Customers who are beneficiaries of Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) or recipients of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) for disability reasons are automatically classified as either SD or MSD depending upon the extent of their functional loss category limitations.

Order of Selection (OOS): When VR services cannot be provided to all eligible customers because of financial or service capacity constraints, the Agency will enter an Order of Selection process that will assure that first priority is giving to customers with most significant disabilities. Please review Section 14.0 for details regarding Order of Selection.

6.3 Procedures

Determination of Significance of Disability

A VR counselor determines and adequately documents the level of severity of a customer's disability based on a review of the information gathered to determine eligibility. If additional information is necessary to make the determination, a VR counselor may obtain the information from the customer, customer's family, an outside professional and/or another public agency.

If adequate information is not available to describe or document current functioning, a VR counselor may purchase diagnostics from a qualified service provider.

A VR counselor reviews the data to determine:

- A. The number of functional capacity categories in terms of an employment outcome that are seriously impacted as a result of a disability;

AND

- B. Whether a customer is likely to need multiple primary IPE services to prepare for, obtain, or maintain a job;

AND

- C. The anticipated duration of IPE services are needed for an extended period of time (at least 6 months).

Identifying a Serious Loss of Functional Capacity

Functional capacity categories include: mobility, work tolerance, communication, self-care, interpersonal skills, self-direction, and work skills. To identify a loss of functional capacity, a VR counselor reviews and assesses data provided by the customer or customer's family, observed by the VR counselor, or reported by another qualified professional to determine whether:

- A. A loss of functional capacity resulting from a disability is present;

AND

- B. The loss of functional capacity represents an impediment to employment;

AND

- C. The loss of functional capacity meets the definition of "serious loss of functional capacity."

A serious loss of functional capacity means a reduction in capacity of the customer to the degree that the person requires services or accommodations not typically provided to other customers in order to prepare for, secure, or maintain a job.

A specific disability diagnosis does not automatically infer a serious loss of functional capacity. Although certain functional losses are commonly associated with specific disability diagnoses, the presence and seriousness of the loss is unique for each person. Therefore, a VR counselor must complete a thorough evaluation of loss of functional capacity for each customer.

Non-disability factors such as age, sex, race, cultural, geographic location, poor public transportation, legal history, or lack of training should not be considered when determining loss of functional capacity. It is within the VR counselor's judgment to determine whether limitations are disability related or not.

Self-Reported or Observed Loss of Functional Capacity

A VR counselor may identify a loss of functional capacity based on a customer's self-report, reports from the family, school representative or others, or based on counselor observations.

For example, while interviewing an applicant who is hard of hearing, a VR counselor observes that the applicant is not able to effectively communicate verbally. Medical records clearly establish a hearing impairment, but do not address verbal limitations. Because a loss of functional capacity in verbal communication is consistent with and commonly associated with hearing loss, the VR counselor may determine, based on his or her observations, that a serious loss of functional capacity is present. To ensure the case service record explains and supports the determination, the VR counselor enters case narrative explaining that a loss in the area of communication was observed, a summary of the observations, and how the loss of functional capacity affects the customer.

SD/MSD Checklist

Once the VR counselor determines a disability-related loss of functional capacity, the VR counselor considers whether the loss of functional capacity meets the definition of a "serious loss of functional capacity" contained in the SD/MSD Checklist loss of functional capacity definitions. If the loss of functional capacity meets the definitions of a "serious loss of functional capacity" the VR counselor checks the appropriate indicator on the Checklist.

The VR counselor completes the SD/MSD Checklist for each customer as soon as sufficient information is available, but no later than sixty (60) days from the date of application (unless an extension has been agreed upon).

SECTION 7.0 ASSESSMENT OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION NEEDS

7.1 Primary Source of Information

To the extent possible, the vocational goal, intermediate objectives, and the nature and scope of services to be included in the Individual Plan of Employment (IPE) must be determined based on the data used for the assessment of eligibility and priority for services.

The Comprehensive Assessment to be completed prior to the development of the IPE will use, as a primary source of information, to the maximum extent possible, the following:

- A. Existing information
- B. Information provided by the customer and, where appropriate, by the family of the customer.
- C. The Assessment may also include new information acquired by IDVR including an in-house vocational evaluation; Community Based Work Evaluation (CBWE), aptitude tests, interest tests, job shadowing or any pertinent assessment required to identify the objectives, nature and scope of VR services that the customer may need in order to substantiate the choice of employment outcome.

7.2 Comprehensive Assessment of Rehabilitation Needs

A comprehensive assessment of rehabilitation needs is a process utilized to identify the customer's strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice as it relates to any potential vocational goal. The assessment shall be conducted in the most integrated setting possible, consistent with the informed choice of the customer.

7.2.1 Assessment of the Customer's Current Realities

The VR counselor and customer will evaluate the following relevant factors.

Work History:

The VR counselor is required to obtain a thorough work history of the customer at the time of the intake interview. The gathering of this information requires the identification of job titles, job duties/responsibilities, and length of time in each position, hiring/educational requirements, and the reasons for leaving. Some attempt should be made to assess the customer's satisfaction with the job, the employer, and co-workers.

Functional Limitations:

Functional limitations need to be clearly outlined before the customer begins the development of a vocational goal. The establishment of an appropriate vocational goal requires that both the VR counselor and customer are aware of and address the true barriers to employment including the customer's perception of their limitations. This involves addressing the following areas:

- A. Physical limitations (lifting, walking, carrying, driving, stooping, reaching, handling, and bending)
- B. Mental limitations (coping with stress, working with other people, working alone)
- C. Current work tolerance
- D. Acceptance of disability
- E. Cognitive functioning

Personal Social & Economic Factors:

It is important for the VR counselor and customer to gather, document, and understand personal social and economic considerations. These considerations include:

- A. Values (personal and work)
- B. Family
- C. Service or support agencies
- D. Legal

- E. Financial (current realities and future expectations)
- F. Substance Use
- G. Non-financial resources / supports available

It is critical to understand the personal, social and economic factors as it relates to the development of the employment goal and the IPE.

Aptitudes/Transferable Skills:

To determine an appropriate employment goal the VR counselor and customer must identify the aptitudes, skills, and ability that the customer possesses. The following skill areas are to be addressed:

- A. Personal
 - Self-management
 - Self-care
 - Personality characteristics
- B. Functional skills – A person’s level of skill working with data, people, and things.
- C. Specific work skills – competencies in specific work task areas.

Many tools exist to assist the customer and the VR counselor to identify aptitudes and transferable skills.

7.2.2 Identification of potential employment goal, rehabilitation needs, and IPE services

The VR counselor and customer will evaluate a potential employment goal and identify rehabilitation needs and services required to achieve that employment goal.

Vocational Assessment:

Vocational assessment is a comprehensive process involving the VR counselor and the customer that focuses on functional abilities and will incorporate medical, psychological, social, vocational, educational, cultural, economic data, and real or simulated work. This is done to identify the employment goal, its overall feasibility, and the VR services that are needed to achieve that goal. Examples of vocational assessment include:

- A. Formal Vocational Evaluation
- B. Community Based Assessment
- C. Guidance & Counseling – Facilitated Self-Discovery
- D. Labor Market Research
- E. Assistive Technology Review

7.3 IPE Development:

Through the comprehensive assessment the customer has made an informed choice of his/her vocational goal. The VR counselor must concur that the vocational goal is feasible. The VR counselor will then assist in identifying the IPE services needed to remove barriers to employment. The VR counselor is required to address all previously identified disability related barriers to employment. These services include but are not limited to:

- A. Counseling and Guidance
- B. Training
- C. Medical and mental restoration
- D. Disability adjustment training
- E. Information and referral services
- F. Interpreter services
- G. Job placement assistance
- H. Job readiness training
- I. Job search assistance
- J. Maintenance
- K. On-the-job supports
- L. On-the-job training
- M. Other services
- N. Personal attendant services
- O. Reader services
- P. Rehabilitation technology
- Q. Technical assistance services
- R. Transportation services

Vocational rehabilitation services are any services described in an IPE necessary to assist a customer with a disability in preparing for, securing, retaining, or regaining an employment outcome that is consistent with the strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice of the customer.

The following are essential components that need to be addressed and documented as part of the comprehensive assessment:

- Compatibility of Disability with Employment
- Skills, Interests, Aptitudes, and Abilities
- Market Analysis
- Economic Expectations and Potential for Career Growth
- Vocational Strengths and Capacities
- Customer Financial Issues
- Informed Customer Choice
- Social Support
- Training and Academic Test Results
- Rehabilitation Technology needs
- Legal barriers and industry specific requirement (criminal issues, drug and alcohol screenings, tobacco use, etc)

7.4 Medical Consultation Policy

Medical consultants are retained by IDVR. Medical consultants can be used to review a customer's diagnostic information to determine; 1) if it is complete or if updated and/or additional medical reports are necessary; 2) to train the counselor about medical conditions; and 3) to assist in case management direction.

Examples of times to use a medical consultant are:

- A. Eligibility determination
- B. Plan development
- C. Prior to medical restoration services
- D. Whenever a VR staff member has a question about a customer's treatment, medications, or condition including such issues as the natural course of the disease or treatment options.

When presenting a case file to the medical consultant, be prepared to:

- 1. Present specific questions to the medical consultant; and
- 2. Speak knowledgeably about the customer.

Some examples of things a VR staff member may consider prior to medical consultation:

- A. File medical information in chronological order with most recent on top
- B. Highlight or tab important information
- C. Eliminate duplicate data

SECTION 8.0 PARTICIPATION OF CUSTOMERS IN COST OF SERVICES BASED ON FINANCIAL NEED

In order to further IDVR's mission to help customers move towards independence and self-sufficiency, IDVR encourages customers to be personally invested in and contribute financially towards the cost of their plan when possible. The extent of the customer's financial participation is based on income and other factors. Regardless of the amount that is going to be contributed by the customer, the assessment of the customer's financial participation is an effective tool for identifying customer resources as they relate to VR planning and implementation.

Reminder: Financial need and/or participation is not a factor in the eligibility determination.

Financial Participation

Financial participation is assessed:

- 1. After eligibility, during plan development, while exploring comparable benefits.
- 2. Using the Financial Participation Assessment (FPA) form.
- 3. Every twelve (12) months or sooner if financial circumstances change significantly.

Financial Participation Assessment Guidelines

A Financial Participation Assessment will be applied as a condition for furnishing all vocational rehabilitation services EXCEPT the following:

1. Purchased services for determining eligibility and vocational rehabilitation needs;
2. Counseling, guidance and referral services;
3. Any auxiliary aid or services (e.g., interpreter services or reader services);
4. Personal Assistance Service;
5. Rehabilitation Technology;
[CFR 361.5(b)(45) includes vehicular modification and telecommunications. Home modifications are not exempt.]
6. Job related services; including: job search and placement assistance, job retention services, follow-up services, and follow-along services, i.e., Community Based Work Adjustment, Job Site Development (CBWAJSD), Community Based Work Adjustment (CBWA), Placement and Follow Along Job Site Development (P&FJSD), and Placement and Follow Along (P&F).
7. Supported employment services, i.e., Community Supported Employment Job Site Development (CSEJSD), and CSE Job Coaching.

Customer Financial Participation for IPE Services

Upon completion of the FPA and the determination of services to be included on the IPE the counselor and customer will identify the specific IPE services that will be paid for by each party.

The FPA will be used to identify financial responsibility for IPE services.

It should be emphasized to the customer and vendor, IDVR will not be responsible for the customer's debts. If the customer's debts to a vendor inhibit the provision of services necessary to achieve the employment goal, IDVR will work with the customer to explore options for the continuation of services.

IDVR cannot, under any circumstances, pay for a customer's previous financial obligations or debts.

Financial Participation Assessment (FPA) Form

The VRC and customer will complete the FPA form in eligible status and identify the customer's financial participation responsibilities.

Estimate the cost for rehabilitation services each twelve (12) month period of the IPE. Calculate the amounts of participation to be provided by both the customer and IDVR for each twelve (12) month time period covered by the FPA.

Directions for Completion:

1. Exemption from required participation:

Customers who receive SSDI and/or SSI are not required to make a financial contribution toward the cost of services. However, to ensure a customer qualifies for this exemption, written proof of SSDI or SSI determination must be received. This information will be used in completing the FPA form exemption status for SSDI and/or SSI recipients. It should be noted that customers receiving Social Security benefits under retirement, spouse of retired worker, child of a retired worker, child of deceased worker, widow, parent of deceased worker, spouse of disabled worker, or child of disabled worker would not be eligible for this exemption. The VR Counselor must complete the top portion of the FPA certifying that the customer is exempt from any required financial participation. The VR Counselor will also make a note in the IPE and subsequent plan amendments that may be developed, in the appropriate section, outlining the customer's exemption.

2. Income Data:

Customers (and spouse's if married) sources of income verification would include:

- Most recent year IRS tax filings,
- Employment Security Wage or Unemployment Benefit Reports,
- Employer generated pay stubs,
- Retirement program documents, or
- Documentation from public or private income support programs.
(TANF and food stamps are examples that are not considered income)

a. Modification

The customer or their representative may request modification to the FPA, as needed to adjust for changes in income or other circumstances (e.g., disability related costs and number of family members). If modification is requested, the customer, parent or guardian must provide income verification from the sources listed above.

b. Exceptional Cases

In exceptional cases, circumstances may occur where rigid adherence to the Financial Participation Policy and Procedures could seriously jeopardize the customer's opportunity to achieve rehabilitation objectives and an employment outcome. In such cases, the VRC may elect to seek an exception to the policy by reviewing the case with the Regional Manager who will then seek an exception approval by the Chief of Field Services or designee who will render a decision within ten (10) business days.

c. Total Income Excluded:

This figure is the Income Exclusion Allowance (300% of the Federal Poverty Level) plus exclusion of disability related expenses, per the Code of Federal Regulations – Title 34: Education: 361.54(2)(iv)(B).

For the purposes of this policy, the Social Security Administration's use of impairment-related work expenses will serve as a guideline to disability related expenses.

A disability related work expense is an expense for an item or service, which is directly related to enabling an impaired customer to work, and which is necessarily incurred by that customer because of a physical or mental impairment. To qualify as a disability related work expense, the expense must be paid by the customer. Expenses paid by sources such as health insurance, vocational rehabilitation and the employer are not considered a disability related work expense for the customer with the impairment.

Examples include, but are not limited to:

- The cost of attendant care services rendered in the work setting or in assisting the customer in making the trip to and from work (attendant care rendered on non-work days or those performed at any time which involve shopping or general homemaking are not considered a disability related work expense. Additionally, attendant services performed for other family members such as babysitting, are not considered a disability related work expense).
- Durable medical equipment which can withstand repeated use, used to serve a medical purpose, and generally not useful to a person in the absence of an illness or injury, such as wheelchairs, hemodialysis equipment, respirators, pacemakers, traction equipment.
- The cost of the modification of vehicle (but not the cost of the vehicle) in order to drive or be driven to work, where the modification is critical to the vehicle's operation or its accommodation of the customer. The modification must be directly related to the impairment (without the modification the customer would either be unable to drive or would be unable to ride in the vehicle).
- Expenses paid by a person with blindness in owning a guide dog including the costs of purchasing a dog, food, licenses and veterinary services.
- Prosthetic devices that replace internal body organs or external body parts (a prosthetic device primarily for cosmetic purposes usually is not considered a disability related work expense).
- The cost of drugs and medical services necessary to control the disabling condition, thereby enabling the customer to work (drugs and medical services used for minor physical or mental problems not resulting in any significant loss of function such as, yearly routine physical examinations, dental examinations and optician services and eyeglasses, when unrelated to a disabling visual impairment, are not considered a disability related work expense).

- Work equipment and assistants that are required to accommodate the impairment and perform the job such as, a one-handed typewriter, telecommunications device and a job coach paid for by the customer.

Applicable Income:

This section enables IDVR to specify the extent of the expected customer cost responsibility toward the cost of services during the upcoming twelve (12) month period of expected plan expenditures. Applicable Income equals Income minus the Total Income excluded and Disability Related Work Expenses.

The Income Exclusion Allowance information is adjusted annually to reflect 300% of Federal HHS Poverty Guidelines.

Determination of Required Participation:

The Customer Participation Table (Table A) is formulated to assess that portion of Applicable Income, which is considered to be available to meet the cost of services. The customer is expected to contribute toward the service cost(s) at the specified percentage of participation level. The amount of financial participation will not exceed the Annual Maximum Percentage of the customer's Applicable Income. All service cost anticipated or purchased during the twelve (12) month period covered by the FPA are to be considered in aggregate rather than individually calculated.

TABLE A – CUSTOMER PARTICIPATION TABLE

Yearly Cost of Plan	% of Participation
$2,000 and Under	50%
Over $2,000	75%

Certification:

The customer, parents or legal guardian completing the form will be asked to verify, by signature, that the information provided is correct. The customer, parents or legal guardian should be advised that he/she will be asked to document the financial information provided from external sources, such as the most recent year IRS tax fillings, Employment Security Wage or Unemployment Benefit Reports, employer generated pay stubs, retirement program documents, or documentation from public or private economic support programs. The form will then be signed by the VR counselor.

SECTION 9.0 PURCHASE OF SERVICES AND SUPPLIES FOR PARTICIPANT USE IN THE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION PROGRAM

All purchases must follow Federal, State, and IDVR purchasing guidelines.

Purchases require written authorization (purchase order), prior to initiation of the service or the purchase of any equipment.

The responsibility for authorizing services and approving payment of those services must be assigned to separate employees.

Purchases will be made consistent with the prevention of discrimination due to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability.

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, and its implementing regulations mandate procedures in the provision of services and methods of procurement. Customers with a disability served through the vocational rehabilitation program must be actively involved in choosing the vocational rehabilitation services they receive and the entities providing those services.

Consistent with procurement guidelines, a VR counselor cannot obligate Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) to services that exceed his/her procurement authority. An Individual Plan for Employment (IPE) that will include a service generating an Authorization for Case Service (ACS) over $5,000 will require the Regional Manager's written approval of the IPE prior to the plan being approved. The VR counselor will inform the customer that the plan is pending approval during this process. An ACS purchase cannot be fragmented into multiple ACS's as a way to circumvent this approval.

All purchases in excess of $5,000 shall be reviewed and recommended by the Regional Manager.

NOTE: Case service expenditures require written authorization prior to the initiation of the service or the purchase of any equipment. Oral authorizations are permitted in emergency situations by the Regional Manager or designee, but must be confirmed promptly in writing and forwarded to the provider. These authorizations are to be issued within three (3) business days of the beginning of the service.

The following principles shall guide customer purchases:

- A. The IPE is the primary document that determines the scope, duration and provider of services. The customer with a disability must agree to the terms and conditions of the IPE prior to services being provided.
- B. VR counselors are required to determine the rehabilitation needs of the customer first, and then determine the provider and the procurement method. Costs, availability, success, experience providing the service, and customer research, are characteristics that guide the choice of the provider.

- C. The method of procurement is also determined in partnership with the customer. The Agency prefers that a state Authorization for Case Services (ACS) be provided to the selected vendor, with an invoice from the vendor documenting the service provision. Other methods are available, given the informed choice of the customer, including reimbursement.
- D. The provision of services must be consistent with the unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, and informed choice of the customer.
- E. All purchased services that are evaluative and restorative shall be authorized prior to the provision of services. The Agency will reimburse providers of medical services (both medical and psychological) based upon usual and customary fees for their area of specialization or based upon payment caps that have been imposed for specific services (Review Payment Policy – Section 12.2). Providers will be reimbursed at this rate independent of the customer attending the scheduled appointment.
- F. Staff will ensure fair and equitable treatment of all persons doing business with the Division.
- G. Purchases will be made consistent with the elimination and prevention of discrimination due to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability.
- H. The responsibility for authorizing services and approving payment of these services must be assigned to separate employees.
- I. The record of service of the customer shall contain necessary evidence and documentation of adherence to these principles.
- J. Regional managers are the Division’s field service procurement liaisons and are responsible to ensure that staff have necessary training.

SECTION 10.0 INDIVIDUALIZED PLAN FOR EMPLOYMENT (IPE)

10.1 Options for Developing the IPE

The eligible customer or, as appropriate, the customer’s representative may develop all or part of the IPE:

- A. Without the assistance from Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) or any other entity

OR

- B. With assistance from:
 - a. A qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor employed by IDVR.
 - b. A qualified vocational rehabilitation counselor who is not employed by IDVR.
 - c. Other resources.

IDVR will not pay for IPE development services from other providers. IPE development must be completed on IDVR forms.

The IPE must be agreed to and signed by the customer or, as appropriate, the customer's representative, the VR counselor and, when required, the IDVR Regional Manager or designee. An IPE is considered approved and services initiated only after all required signatures have been obtained.

A comprehensive assessment must be completed in developing the IPE as described in section 7.2.

Customers must receive the supports that will assist them in making informed choices.

Customers shall promptly receive a copy of their initial IPE and any subsequent IPEs. Copies shall be provided in the native language of the customer or through appropriate modes of communication if appropriate.

The record of services must support the selection of the specific employment outcome, the objectives of the IPE and the selection of providers of services. All goods and services, except assessment services, may only be provided in accordance with IPE.

An IPE can support one of the five following employment outcomes:

1. Competitive employment in the integrated labor market.
2. Self-employment
3. Homemaker
4. Unpaid family worker
5. Integrated employment with supports

IDVR must:

1. Reinforce the ultimate purpose of the IPE: To assist the customer to prepare for, secure, retain, or regain employment.
2. Insure that the customer fully understands that she/he must participate as an active and cooperative partner in the identification and selection, through informed choice, of a vocational goal, having a reasonable expectation for marketable success.
3. Insure that the customer fully commits to participate in the implementation and completion of the IPE.

10.2 Developing the Vocational Goal:

In selecting a vocational goal, it is important that the customer is actively involved in all phases of this development. Much research has been done to substantiate that the successful outcome of vocational rehabilitation increases when the customer is involved in every phase of the vocational planning. Vocational planning is built around vocational exploration, understanding the customer's medical and work history, his/her perception of disability, social habits, functional limitations, inherent aptitudes and transferable skills, vocational exploration through vocational evaluation, training options, and labor market research. The customer will explore the relationship of vocational objectives around his or her personal capabilities, interest, and situations and then attempt to understand the way these different factors impact and influence vocational potential. This information then helps the customer to develop the steps to a solid rehabilitation plan and provides tools for the customer to assess his/her current state of mind and to encourage positive self-initiated resolutions.

10.3 Ticket to Work

When a customer has a Ticket to Work through SSA and an approved VR IPE, their ticket is automatically assigned to IDVR, unless the ticket is already assigned to another employment network (EN). If the customer has a ticket assigned to another EN prior to IDVR involvement, the customer will be requested to reassign the ticket to IDVR. If the customer does not reassign their ticket, IDVR will need a copy of the work plan from the EN that the ticket was assigned to, to ensure that no service overlap occurs. It is the customer's responsibility to provide the ticket work plan.

An Agency verification program has been implemented that informs Maximus of all SSA recipients who have been placed into an initial IPE. If a recipient has been assigned a ticket by SSA, Maximus will designate the ticket as "in usage" at the time of notification by the Agency.

The VR counselor should always inform the SSA recipient that the choice to participate in an active IPE program will restrict any option to assign the ticket to other employment networks (ENs) while participating in the VR program.

At closure, the VR counselor is not required to contact Maximus. An Agency verification program has been designed to inform Maximus of case closure. This notification will re-activate the ticket for further engagement if desired by the customer.

At successful closure, it is highly recommended that a VR counselor provide a list of ENs who is capable of initiating follow-along services such as "Phase 2" and or "Monthly Outcome Payment" services. By referring the customer who is earning at Substantial Gainful Activity (SGA) level at closure to an EN, the probability of agency reimbursement at the completion of nine months of employment will be increased significantly.

10.4 The IPE must include the following:

- A. Using the information from the Comprehensive Assessment (Section 7.2) the VR counselor and customer must determine a specific employment outcome consistent with the customer's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, career interests, and informed choice. In concert with the customer, the VR counselor must conduct a thorough market analysis to include job outlook and the customer's economic expectations and needs. Planned services on the IPE should only entail those required to achieve the vocational goal.
- B. The specific rehabilitation services needed to achieve the employment outcome, along with the projected dates for initiation and anticipated duration of each service, including:

- a. As appropriate, assistive technology devices, assistive technology services and personal assistance services including training in the management of those services;
- b. As provided in the most integrated setting that is appropriate for the services and is consistent with the informed choice of the eligible customer;
- c. Timelines for the achievement of the employment outcome and for the initiation of services;
- d. A description of the entity or entities chosen by the eligible customer or, as appropriate, the customer's representative that will provide the vocational rehabilitation services and the methods to procure those services;
- e. A description of the criteria ("Plan Documentation") that will be used to evaluate progress toward achievement of the employment outcome;
- f. The terms and conditions of the IPE, will include information describing the responsibilities of IDVR and the customer to achieve the employment outcome;
- g. The extent of the customer's participation in paying for the costs of services;
- h. The customer is required to apply for and secure comparable services and benefits when available. The responsibilities of other comparable service and benefit entities will be listed on the IPE;
- i. As necessary, the expected need for post-employment services prior to the point of successful closure (Review Post-Employment – Section 12.14).
- j. A description of the terms, conditions, and duration of the provision of post-employment services;
- k. If appropriate, a statement of how post-employment services will be provided or arranged through other entities as the result of arrangements made pursuant to comparable services or benefits;
- l. Supported Employment – for customers with the most severe disabilities for whom a vocational objective of supported employment has been determined appropriate, the following must be addressed:
 - A description of time-limited services to be provided by IDVR not to exceed eighteen (18) months in duration, unless under special circumstances, the eligible customer and the VR counselor jointly agree to extend the time to achieve the employment outcome;
 - A description of an identified source of funding for the extended services needed (long-term support). If it is not possible to identify the source of such funding, a statement that there is a reasonable expectation that extended services will be available. Extended services are provided by a State agency, a private non-profit organization, employer, or other appropriate resource, from funds other than IDVR.

- m. In developing an IPE for a transition student with a disability, the IPE shall be prepared in coordination with the appropriate educational agency and will consider the student's Individual Education Plan (IEP) if one exists;
- n. Completion of the IPE for all School-Work transition customers, before they exit the school system.

NOTE: Because of the capability of the Case Management tool, with the ability to clone plans, write new plans, edit features and delete completed services, there will be only one active plan, which is the current plan with all current services reflected on it. When the current plan is signed and approved by the customer and approving authority (counselor or supervisor) all previous plans will become void.

10.4.1 Implementation of the IPE

The VR counselor should ensure that the IPE is developed and implemented in a timely manner, within four (4) months of the eligibility decision. An exception may be made and must be documented in case note on or before the plan due date if this timeframe will be exceeded due to the needs of the customer. Documentation should include customer readiness to implement the IPE (i.e. legal, family, medical, transportation, and housing issues) and the anticipated time frame for resolution of factors delaying IPE implementation.

10.5 Annual Review

The IPE must be reviewed annually by a qualified VR counselor and the customer to assess the eligible customer's progress in achieving the identified employment outcome. An approved plan amendment would replace an annual review.

10.6 IPE Electronic Case Management Functions

New Plan: The "New Plan" option is utilized when completing an initial plan or when the overall nature of the IPE is changed. This would occur when a new vocational goal is chosen and there are major changes in the planned services. Any time a new vocational goal is chosen, a new comprehensive assessment case note must be completed that supports the new vocational goal. Remember: with the development of a new plan, the VR counselor and customer will need to include all needed services and complete the pertinent comparable benefit documentation outlined in Section 11.0.

Clone: The clone feature is to be used when the basic nature of the plan is going to remain the same. This feature brings forward a full copy of the previous IPE and allows the VR counselor and customer to add new services. New services will be given new service numbers when they are added to the clone. It is important to add new services before deleting previous services from the plan that have been completed or expired. This keeps service number 1-2-3... in numerical order and allows for subsequent services to be numbered appropriately. Justification for the new services must be documented in the comments section of the Plan sub-page. If the goal is changed without the need to modify services, the IPE can be cloned. Change the goal and update the comprehensive assessment in a case note to justify vocational change. When adding new or expanded services to a clone, always update the justification in the “documentation” box. It is not necessary to clone the plan each time the price of a service outlined on a plan increases. This can be accommodated through the authorization showing the increased costs.

Edit: There are limited circumstances when editing an IPE is allowed. When editing an IPE, a VR counselor, who meets CSPD standards, must document in a case note the customer’s agreement with the edit of the IPE. The only two situations where an IPE can be edited are:

1. Changing the provider of a service

Generic services can be edited on an IPE, with customer agreement, without a customer’s signature, prior to the initiation to that service. Non-generic services cannot be edited. No service may be added to the IPE through the edit process.

- a. Generic services – Tutoring, computer equipment / software, auto repairs, books, transportation, community rehabilitation services, child care, clothing, academic testing, dental work, dialysis, driver’s training, eye glasses, functional capacity evaluation, GED, hearing aids, information referral services, insurance, kidney related services, lab work, licensure, maintenance, medication, vocational adjustment, tools and equipment, supplies, and x-rays.
- b. Non-generic services – Medical examination, diagnostic examinations, case management, post-secondary education, medical records, counseling and guidance, treatment, evaluation, hospitalization, interpreter services, education and evaluation, therapy, OJT, other services, personal assistant services, psychological consultation, prosthetics / orthotics, rehabilitation technology, rehab engineering, self-employment technical assistance, surgery, transition planning, and vocational evaluation.

2. Changing the cost of a service

The cost of services on the IPE can be edited if the cost increase is 10% or less for that particular service.

Plan Approval Authority:

VR counselors who do not meet CSPD will continue to require Regional Managers (RM) approval for all plans. RMs can, at their discretion, delegate this function to an Assistant Regional Manager (ARM) or other senior counselors at a level 2 or 3.

Annual Review: Upon completion of annual review with customer, the VR counselor must complete annual review function in Case Management System.

SECTION 11.0 COMPARABLE SERVICES AND BENEFITS

11.1 Comparable Services and Benefits

Each eligible customer will be required to identify, with the VR counselor, all potential comparable benefits that may be available during the development of the Individual Plan of Employment (IPE). If comparable benefits and services are available, they are required to be utilized, to meet, in whole or in part, the cost of vocational rehabilitation services. Comparable benefits and services should be utilized before Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) agency funds are expended.

Provision of Services:

1. If comparable services or benefits exist under any other program and are available to the customer at the time needed to ensure the progress of the customer toward achieving the employment outcome in the customer's IPE, the designated State unit must use those comparable services or benefits to meet, in whole or part, the costs of the vocational rehabilitation services.
2. If comparable services or benefits exist under any other program, but are not available to the customer at the time needed to ensure the progress of the customer toward achieving the employment outcome in the customer's IPE, the designated State unit must provide vocational rehabilitation services until those comparable services and benefits become available.

The utilization of comparable services and benefits does not apply in the following situations:

- A. If the determination of the availability would delay the provision of vocational rehabilitation to any customer who is at extreme medical risk. A determination of extreme medical risk shall be based upon medical documentation provided by an appropriate licensed medical professional and means a risk of substantially increasing functional impairment or risk of death if medical services are not provided expeditiously. It is strongly recommended that such cases receive medical consultation review whenever possible.
- B. If an immediate job placement would be lost due to a delay in the provision of comparable benefits.

11.2 Exempt Services

The following categories of service are exempt to the requirement that comparable services and benefits be utilized:

- A. Medical, psychological or other examination to determine eligibility.
- B. IDVR counseling, guidance, information and referral, and IDVR job related services including: job search and placement assistance, job retention services, follow-up services, and follow along services.

- C. Evaluation of vocational rehabilitation potential.
- D. Rehabilitation technology, including telecommunications, sensory, and other technological aids and devices.
- E. Post-employment services that are outlined through A-D.

11.3 Timeliness of Comparable Benefits

If a comparable benefit exists, but is not available to the customer at the time needed to satisfy the rehabilitation objectives on the IPE due to no delay on the part of the eligible participant in seeking such benefits, IDVR may provide services until the comparable benefits become available.

SECTION 12.0 VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION SERVICES

12.1 Timeliness

The VR Counselor and customer require adequate time to accomplish all steps in the VR process to reach a determination and approval of an agreed upon feasible employment goal. VR services, other than assessment services, are initiated when the steps to this process have been completed and a plan is in place. Sufficient time must be allowed for the completion of a comprehensive assessment prior to implementation of IPE services.

Post-Secondary Training (PST) and other IPE services are VR services that are provided when it is required for a VR customer to become a competitive applicant for an approved IPE goal. If an applicant for VR services expresses an interest in a vocational goal that requires Post-Secondary Training and the VR applicant is either already enrolled or desires to start a PST program within six (6) months of application, IDVR reserves the right to assert that six (6) months or less may not be adequate to complete the process described above.

12.2 Agency Payment Policy

NOTE: Many of the services listed below include maximum agency contributions. This section outlines in detail the payment policy of Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) in regard to specific services. It is the policy of IDVR to pay usual, customary and reasonable charges for services provided to its customers by providers of goods and services except for the following list. An “Exception Policy” to the payment policy is included at the end of this sub section, explaining that the payment caps established may, on occasion be exceeded. It is important to emphasize that IDVR is not obligated to pay the total cost of services required to ensure that a customer achieves an employment outcome. When appropriate, customers are required to utilize Comparable Benefits and Services (Section 11.0). Personal participation in the payment of some portion of the costs of a vocational plan may be required based upon the particular service selected as well as the identification of personal resources that could be applied toward the cost of the targeted service.

Rates of Payment:

These fees are established in accordance with Federal guidelines that permit an agency to establish fee limits for services designed to ensure a reasonable cost to the program for each service. Whenever appropriate, a competitive process will be used to achieve a reasonable price. Idaho is a low bid State; therefore, the lowest bid, meeting specifications, will then be the maximum amount IDVR will contribute to the purchase of goods or services. The Payment Policy will determine the maximum that IDVR will contribute to the purchase. For items not included in the payment policy, the usual, customary and reasonable rate will be used for the service, not to exceed the rate charged other public agencies. The services that will meet the customer's need at the least cost to IDVR shall be the service purchased. All decisions on cases, including fee for services, are determined on an individual case basis. The customer may choose his or her preferred vendor, but if the client chooses a product or vendor that exceeds the maximum rate of payment established by the Payment Policy, the customer will be responsible for the excess amount.

IDVR Payment Rates:

- 1. Post-Secondary Training: IDVR provides financial assistance for Post Secondary Training. Listed below are maximum assistance allowances to apply toward all training and educational programs including college, university, vocational-technical, truck driving, cosmetology, business school, computer training, commercial pilot training, etc.

The established percentage support applies to ALL tuition and fees including any associated health insurance fees.

- a. Pell Grant / Financial Aid: Any customer planning on attending an institution that is eligible for Pell Grant funding must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FASFA) application and receive an award or denial letter prior to any IDVR financial participation. All PELL grant proceeds must be applied first toward tuition and book expenses before IDVR assistance is provided.

Any non-merit grants or scholarships must also be applied to tuition, fees and books before IDVR assistance is applied.

A merit scholarship, based on academic standing or achievement, can be utilized at the student's discretion.

Student loans, including Federal student loans, can be utilized at the student's discretion.

In situations where a comparable and accessible Pell Grant and non-Pell Grant supported programs co-exist, IDVR requires utilization of the Pell Grant supported program.

An exception for IDVR financial support to a non-Pell Grant supported program (when a comparable Pell Grant supported program exists) can be granted after review and approval by the Regional Manager if the student can show extenuating circumstances and/or other very strong rationale for attending the non-Pell Grant supported program.

- b. Tuition: IDVR will pay up to 90% of the total tuition and fees of any Idaho Public Post-Secondary Institution.

For customer's choosing out of the state or private institutions IDVR will pay up to 90% of the tuition and fees up to 90% of the highest Idaho Public Post-Secondary Institution offering the same program.

- c. Out-Of-State Education and Training: Public and private post secondary institutions including colleges, universities, vocational technical schools, and other educational and training institutions outside the State of Idaho (see 12.5).

Normally IDVR financial participation will be limited to equivalent rates established for in state education and training with the following exceptions;

- i. If a customer's vocational goal requires an educational degree that is not available at a state of Idaho public institution, IDVR will pay a maximum of 2.5 times the rate of two semester's tuition of the University of Idaho.
 - ii. If the course of study is offered in-state, because of the additional costs caused by accommodations for disability, it would be more cost effective for the Agency to support the attendance of the customer at an out-of-state educational institute, then VR may pay the training rates established for out-of-state programs.
- d. Summer Sessions: Summer sessions are generally considered optional for academic programs. Therefore additional funding is typically not allotted for summer sessions.

Payment for a summer session will be considered with approval from the Regional Manager. Maximum assistance rates will be established according to the length of the term, i.e. semester, trimester, quarter. Approval or denial for summer school assistance will be considered if it meets any of the following conditions;

- i. IDVR may pay for summer session if it is a required part of a program.
 - ii. IDVR may pay for summer session in exceptional cases where a disability-related reasonable accommodation is verified.
 - iii. IDVR may pay for an additional summer session if by attending the session the customer will be able to complete the college or university degree program by the end of that session.

- iv. IDVR may pay for a summer session if by attending the session the customer will be able to complete the college or university degree program within the timelines identified on the IPE.

2. Books:

Where available and feasible customers are required to use rental text books or e-books. All rented books need to be returned – customer will be billed when books are not returned.

If unavailable for rent or e-book format, some text books may need to be purchased. The expectation is that used books will be purchased when available. All books purchased by IDVR must be returned to IDVR unless negotiated previously with VR counselor (where the book may be used for additional classes, reference, or for disability reasons).

IDVR will pay a maximum of 90% of the text books. If non-merit grant funds are remaining after paying tuition and fees they must be applied to books.

- 3. Medical Insurance for students in post-secondary education: IDVR may pay for medical insurance for students while attending an institution that requires medical insurance. If the student has medical insurance or can obtain medical insurance at no extra cost that meets the institutions requirement IDVR will not pay for medical insurance.

Note to staff: this must be issued as a separate authorization and classified as insurance.

(Ref 34 CFR Part 361.5 (35)).

Tools will need to be required for training or employment and must be verified by the school or employer.

Exception: If there is a change in employment outcome, the customer must return the original tools to VR. After the tools have been returned, then VR may purchase new tools up to the $1,500 maximum for the new employment outcome.

NOTE: A Property Agreement must be secured on all durable equipment or reusable supplies that exceed $150 in value.

20. On-The-Job (OJT) Fees:

 - Level of technical skills required for job
 - Number of hours worked

26. Typical exclusions from VR financial participation:

- a. Securing a private pilot's license
- b. Organ transplantation
- c. Surgery; Surgery may be provided if it is not the sole vocational rehabilitation service needed for the customer to return to work or to achieve an employment outcome.

IDVR will only cover the cost of surgery if it will substantially reduce functional limitations. It is highly practical and appropriate for the VR counselor to explore alternative employment opportunities with the customers that may negate the need for the corrective surgery. Such an alternative should accommodate the customer's functional restrictions and provide a level of income that would be comparable with potential earnings following a surgery.

NOTE: When physical restoration services for customers who have a temporary disability, which will be eliminated by surgical care in an acute general hospital, is the only vocational rehabilitation service to be provided, and the condition is likely to be remedied by relatively routine medical intervention with no significant lasting effects, the RSA position is that such cases should be referred to other agencies. Such services should not be paid for under vocational rehabilitation auspices. – (RSA Position Paper, 3/28/80, Robert R. Humphreys, commissioner of RSA)

27. No Shows:

If a customer does not attend an appointment and does not cancel or reschedule, the customer will be responsible for payment of any charges – not VR.

If VR authorizes for an interpreter to be present and the customer does not attend, VR will cover cost of the interpreter through administrative authorization.

Exception to Rate of Pay Policy:

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended, requires that IDVR have a policy that allows for exceptions to the Payment Policy, unless the exception would violate State or Federal laws. All exceptions will be reviewed on an individual case basis.

Exception to Rate of Pay Process:

To be considered for an exception, the Customer and VR counselor should first seek approval from the Regional Manager. Regional Managers have the authority to approve the exception as long the exception is not more than 50% of the service cap. Greater than 50% of the service cap will require the approval of the Chief of Field Services. The Regional Manager shall submit the request for the exception in writing to the Chief of Field Services.

The request must include:

1. A description of the requested exception.

Detailed reasons why the customer, VR counselor and manager (when appropriate) believe the exception is warranted. The Chief of Field Services (or Regional Manager when appropriate) will have ten (10) days from the date of receipt of the request to make a decision. If the request is approved, written notification will be sent to the Regional Manager (when appropriate) and this will be placed in the case file.

The Chief of Field Services reserves the right to deny any request.

If a request for exception is denied, the customer must be informed of the reason why and of his/her right to appeal the decision within ten (10) days of notification of the denial.

Reasons for Exception:

The items listed below are not all inclusive, but do contain the major reasons that will be considered in determining if an exception to policy will be granted. Financial need alone is not always sufficient grounds for asking for an exception. While a customer may present one or more of these reasons for an exception, VR counselors should use discretion in requesting an exception. It is sometimes the nature and scope of the reason and not the number of reasons that may justify the exception.

1. The need is disability related.
2. The customer has used all sources available; including his/her own financial contribution, as well as all available Federal Financial Aid in post-secondary training situation, insurance, Medicaid, Medicare, and other resources typically used by persons without disabilities.
3. Changes in circumstances resulting in loss of income or support making previously available resources unavailable.
4. Service is not available, in certain geographical locations of the State, within the Payment Policy maximums.

12.3 Counseling and Guidance

Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) recognizes that vocational counseling and guidance is the key element in the rehabilitation process in that it is the method of involving the customer and significant others in that process. It begins when the customer contacts the agency and does not end until closure as successfully rehabilitation or through the completion of the post-employment period.

Vocational counseling and guidance, including referral and placement, are essential VR services provided by the VR counselor throughout the rehabilitation process. This is the primary service in the VR plan.

Counseling, guidance and placement should be an integral part of every IPE regardless of other services because it is the best method of coordinating services and maintaining a good working relationship with the customer. This is also the method used by the counselor to facilitate customer input. The VR counselor gathers the necessary information for providing vocational counseling and guidance services from a wide variety of sources, including, but not limited to:

- A. Medical and psychological information.
- B. Vocational evaluation information including labor market information, job analysis, aptitude and interest information, situational assessments and trail work experiences.
- C. Analysis of transferable skills.
- D. Rehabilitation technology, including rehabilitation engineering.

Counseling will address vocational and personal adjustment issues that are creating barriers to the customer obtaining and maintaining employment.

Counseling will be provided in a respectful manner encompassing the core conditions of helping. These will include unconditional positive regard, genuineness and congruence. Counselors will always maintain a professional demeanor and not allow counseling issues to become personal. Counselors are to follow the canons of ethical behavior and practice outlined by the Commission on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification (CRCC) Code of Ethics.

Counseling services must be provided in every case but will vary depending on the needs and complexities of each individual customer. Frequency of guidance and counseling contacts is determined at plan development and included on the IPE. Case notes will reflect contact and content of meetings. A monthly summary of guidance and counseling activities is the agency "best practice" norm for recording progress.

12.4 Physical and Mental Restoration Services

These are services necessary to correct or to substantially modify a physical or mental condition that is stable or slowly progressive. Before medical restoration is provided, there must be documentation that the clinical status of the customer is stable or slowly progressive and the service is a requirement for the customer's successful employment. The medical consultant shall review the record to insure the adequacy of medical information, advice on the service requirement, educate the counselor on the procedure and required follow-up, and provide any necessary liaison with medical community.

Current maximum financial contributions by IDVR for specified services can be found in the “Payment Policy” section 12.2 of the manual (See also section 12.2 subsection “Typical Exclusions” and section “Comparable Benefits”). For all other services listed below, IDVR will pay the prevailing “Usual and Customary” charges after a comprehensive assessment of potential or available comparable benefits and resources has been conducted.

12.4.1 Concurrent Acute or Chronic Conditions Arising from Physical or Mental Restoration: Services necessary to assist with acute treatment or care for a condition associated with or arising from physical and mental restoration services that are on the IPE. Comparable benefits will always be explored prior to authorization of this service. The medical consultant should be utilized to determine the medical rationale for such services whenever possible.

These services should be provided in the least intensive medical environment appropriate.

In the case of a chronic condition which does not appear to be resolving in a reasonable amount of time, consultation with the medical consultant should be used to determine whether a case should be closed.

12.5 Training Services

12.5.1 Disability related training services

Disability related services include, but are not limited to: orientation and mobility, rehabilitation technology, speech reading, sign language, and cognitive training/retraining.

12.5.2 Post-Secondary Training

Post-Secondary training is provided when necessary to become a competitive applicant for an agreed upon IPE goal that reflects the customer’s interests and informed choice to the extent that those factors are consistent with a customer’s strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, capabilities and abilities. IDVR may support graduate study when the customer’s employment objective is otherwise unachievable.

Prior to providing post-secondary training, comparable benefits shall be determined. The customer is required to complete and submit for processing the Free Application for Federal Student Assistance (FAFSA). The resulting Student Aid Report (SAR) and Financial Aid Award Letter will determine the Federal grant awards available that are to be applied to tuition, books and fees. Proof of financial award status is required to be placed into the record of services for all customers sponsored in post-secondary education by IDVR for training and degrees that are eligible for grants. Examples of proof include; the SAR, Financial Aid Award Letter or Post-Secondary Institution Student Budget, Compromise and Release documents from Worker’s Compensation.

All non-merit scholarships and grants to be applied to tuition, books and fees as a first dollar source, prior to the consideration of expenditures of IDVR funds. Merit based funding may be applied to any legitimate college costs as determined by the customer, with no comparable benefit test required.

When IDVR has a joint case with another VR agency (Veterans Administration, Tribal Vocational Rehabilitation, Idaho Commission for the Blind and Visually Impaired, or another state VR agency) the sharing of case cost shall be done in a way that multiple agencies are not paying for the same service.

The FAFSA Expected Family Contribution, Student Contribution, Work Study and other grants must be considered in meeting the financial needs of the customer's post-secondary education to the maximum extent possible.

Customers are required to submit an application for FAFSA whether or not they believe they are eligible for funding. This process should occur along with the verification of determination of eligibility/ineligibility for financial aid prior to IDVR developing an Individualized Plan of Employment (IPE) and participating in financial assistance for a post-secondary education.

12.5.2.1 Out of State Training

Out-of-State Post-Secondary Education

- a. If the VR customer must attend an out-of-state institution because the course of study is not offered within the state of Idaho, please see section 12.2.
- b. If the course of study is offered in-state, but because of the additional costs caused by the accommodation for disability, it would be more cost effective for the agency to have the customer attend the out-of-state educational institute, see section 12.2.
- c. If the customer chooses to attend an out-of-state institution when comparable training is clearly available in the state, see section 12.2.

12.5.2.2 Progress Measures

Customers must maintain a term and cumulative grade point average that meets the school's academic requirements, program entry requirements, or a minimum of 2.0 GPA whichever is higher and must demonstrate timely progress towards meeting the goal of the IPE. The VR financial participation towards schooling may be paused if academic progress is such that the customer will not qualify for entry into the program stated on their IPE.

If the customer is placed on academic probation, or does not meet the standards stated above, s/he has one grading period in which to attain good standing. IDVR financial participation will terminate after that grading period until the customer achieves good standing.

If a customer does not pass a course(s) or withdraws following the designated drop period for the post-secondary institution, she/he is responsible to cover costs to repeat the course(s). This understanding should be documented on the IPE that supports the training services.

If a customer take an incomplete, she/he is responsible to complete the course(s) as designated by the institution and may be responsible to pay for the repeat of the course(s) based upon whether or not active participation in the original coursework was demonstrated as agreed upon in the IPE. Disability-related interruptions will serve as justification for an incomplete, but should be carefully assessed to determine the feasibility of extending a particular program. If a customer is unable to complete a course(s) due to a disability related issue, IDVR may assist in coordinating with the institution to resolve the matter (examples: finances, withdrawals, incompletes, etc.).

IDVR post-secondary educational support will cease if the customer has an expulsion for academic dishonesty.

12.5.2.3 Loan Defaults

VR funds may not be utilized to pay for post-secondary education if a customer has defaulted on a State or Federal student loan. If a good faith effort is being made, as determined by the National Clearinghouse, VR funding may be available. The University or College Financial Aid office may be able to assist in unusual circumstances. Additional information can be obtained at www.studentclearinghouse.org.

12.5.2.4 Loan Deferment

Consumers may be eligible for temporary suspension of loan payments during specific conditions such as, returning to school, unemployment, disability, or military service. Additional information may be sought through the Financial Aid Office at the school the student plans to attend.

12.5.2.5 On-the-job-training (OJT)

An OJT is for a customer that is hired by an employer that needs specific training to achieve the employer's expectations. On-the-job training requires the completion and signing of the IDVR OJT Agreement between the customer, counselor, and employer, which states the hourly wage, the specific training needs, responsibility for Workers' Compensation coverage and any other conditions of employment. IDVR pays a training fee for OJT, not reimbursement or wages.

12.6 Benefits Counseling

Benefits counseling includes an informed discussion of the customer's benefits, employment status, consideration of work incentives, and the impact on existing or potential benefits a change in employment may create. All social security recipients should receive benefits counseling services.

12.7 On-the-job-supports

On-the-job-support services are provided to a customer who has been placed in employment in order to stabilize the placement and enhance job retention. Such services include; job coaching, follow-up and follow-along, and job retention services.

12.8 Job Placement of Customers

All customers have the obligation to be involved in their own job search activities to the fullest extent possible. The customer and the VR counselor will work together to identify the supports necessary for job search and placement. Some of the job search activities could include:

- Communication and presentation skills.
- Gaining access to and using information.
- Introducing customers to specific programs such as job centers.
- Gaining networking skills.
- Use of online job search and applications.
- Community Rehabilitation Provider (CRP) services.
- Providing information around Federal and State employment opportunities.

IDVR does not pay fees to private staffing/employment agencies.

12.8.1 Community Rehabilitation Providers (CRPs)

Community Rehabilitation Providers may be used to assist a customer as they prepare to obtain or maintain employment. CRP services may only be provided if they are agreed to by customer, VR counselor, and CRP. The CRP services should be consistent with the customer's unique strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and be the informed choice of the customer. Potential employers contacted by the CRP should be informed of the CRPs contractual relationship with IDVR. If workplace accommodation or assistive technology needs are identified for a customer, IDVR staff will be involved in addressing the accommodation needs with the employer (this is not referring to job coaching accommodations).

If services are contracted out to a CRP:

1. The customer and VR counselor will review the available list of CRP vendors and the services offered by each and will make a selection. This process should be noted as "customer choice" when documenting the choice of the CRP vendor and services to be provided. The customer will sign an information release form authorizing communication between the selected vendor and IDVR.
2. The customer and VR counselor will contact the CRP to discuss required services, negotiate and agree upon time frames and costs.
3. The VR counselor will submit referral information necessary for the CRP to provide the agreed upon services.
4. The customer, VR counselor, and CRP will have a staffing prior to initiating services (this staffing can be by phone or in person).
5. The VR counselor and customer will develop and agree to regularly scheduled contacts while receiving CRP services (minimum once a month).
6. The customer, VR counselor, and CRP will mutually agree upon frequency of contacts to monitor progress, quality, and duration of services provided.

Employers should be educated with regard to the fact that a person eligible for vocational rehabilitation services under ID. Title 33, Chapter 23, Idaho Code and the Administrative Rules of IDVR, who is placed with an employer through the authorized services of a CRP for community-based evaluation, community-based work adjustment or community supported employment (CSE) training is covered for liability purposes through the Worker's Compensation

Insurance carried by the CRP unless an actual customer has actually been hired by a targeted employer prior to the provision of authorized services.

12.8.2 Schedule A Appointing Authority in the Federal Government

5 CFR 213.3102 (t) (cognitive impairment), (u) (severe physical disabilities), and (gg) (psychiatric disabilities) are combined into one streamlined authority, 5 CFR 213.3102 (u). This authority is used to appoint persons who are certified that they are at a severe disadvantage in obtaining employment because of disrupted employment due to hospitalization or outpatient treatment for the severe disabilities listed above.

Appointment and Certification Process

IDVR can assist customers with disabilities (whether IDVR customers or not) in completing the Schedule A process. Information on how to assist customers with disabilities with the Schedule A process can be found at:

www.eeoc.gov/eeoc/initiatives/lead/upload/abc_applicants_with_disabilities.pdf or http://www.opm.gov/disability/appointment_disabilities.asp

12.8.3 Alternative Hire Process for Employment with State Government

Within the IDAPA rules (15.04.01) of the Division of Human Resources and Idaho Personnel Commission exists the provisions and protocol entitled: 097 “Alternative Examination Process for Persons with Disabilities,” under this rule:

1. The VR counselor determines the need for the Alternative Hire process by documenting that the customer cannot competitively compete for the job due to a disability(ies).
2. The VR counselor determines that the customer meets the criteria for the alternative hire program.
 - Disability limits one or more functional areas.
 - The customer meets the qualifications of the class.
 - The customer lacks competitiveness in the normal hiring process due to disability.
3. The VR counselor will complete the Application for the Alternative Hire Program Form. Include a letter to Idaho Division of Human Resources (DHR) explaining why the customer cannot compete through the normal examination process due to his/her disability. The examination process includes application, testing, and interviewing.
4. The VR Counselor will staff the case with the Regional Manager for approval. The Regional Manager will subsequently forward the application to the VR Administrator for final approval.
5. IDVR Administrator approves/disapproves. If approved, the application will be forwarded to the Administrator of the Division of Human Resources for final review.
6. Upon approval from DHR, the VR counselor proceeds with the Alternative Hiring Process to the hiring authority.

Note: This process requires the use of the “Alternative Hire Application.”

12.9 Self-Employment Policy

Introduction

The primary goal of the Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) is to assist the customer in attaining a suitable competitive employment outcome that results in financial self-sufficiency. Self-Employment is one option that may be considered to assist the customer in selecting a vocational goal.

The impediment created by the customer's disability must be addressed in the overall comprehensive assessment leading up to Individualized Plan of Employment (IPE).

The successful self-employment enterprise is operated by a participant who can demonstrate an array of skills and abilities, including; organization, business and financial management, marketing and other talents, as well as, knowledge and expertise in the goods or services being produced. These may be accomplished through natural supports or other resources and would need to be included in the self-employment plan. It is essential that the participant is well informed of potential risks and that efforts are made to minimize those risks.

A vocational evaluation/career exploration may be used as a method of assisting the customer and VR counselor in deciding if self-employment is a possible viable option. Vocational evaluators have a variety of instruments, work samples, inventories and other strategies to use in providing feedback and information related to self-employment.

There may be a need for VR services prior to a commitment from IDVR on a self-employment plan. It could be appropriate for IDVR to assist a customer in services, such as training needed for certain skills or business knowledge before the decision is made by the customer and VR counselor to pursue the development of a business plan.

IDVR values self-employment as a viable vocational outcome. Self-employment is presented by the VR counselor within the repertoire of vocational options and may be considered by customers and VR counselors as they work toward the development of an appropriate vocational goal.

IDVR supports active, not passive or speculative, self-employment goals.

General Self-Employment Process and Flow Chart

The following steps will be required for all self-employment. The nature and extent of activities within each step will vary by the type and complexity of the self-employment business goal.

- 1. Assessment of Customer's Appropriateness for Self-Employment
- 2. Writing an IPE – Developing a Business Plan
- 3. Amending IPE - Implementing the Business Plan
- 4. Closure of Self-Employment Case

Definitions

- a. Business Plan – A detailed outline of the business description, objectives, organization, product or service description, summary of Customer qualifications, analysis of the potential business environment and market, management and organizational structure, and financial plan.

The level of detail required for the various components of the business plan will vary depending upon the type of self-employment being pursued.

- b. Contracting and Sub-Contracting – When the VR customer works with a company under a limited or contract basis for either short or long term employment, but is not a company employee. There are some types of employment goals that could be sub contractors or a standalone business. Examples of likely contracting and sub-contractors opportunities include but are not limited to:

- Realtor
- Construction trades
- Cosmetology, nail tech, and hair stylist
- Paper delivery
- Tattoo artist

This is a type of start-up self-employment that will often be processed as a low cost, low risk, low complexity self-employment plan.

- c. Continued Self-Employment – Employment where the VR customer is presently or recently (within the last year) engaged in a successful self-employed business as identified by the customer and feasibility of the business is recognized by IDVR. In this scenario, the IPE services will address disability related barriers to employment. IPE will be written as maintaining employment.

Any capitalization of the business will require the use of low cost/low risk/low complexity, complex, or supported self-employment strategy.

- d. Feasibility Analysis – Provides an in-depth analysis of the business concept, the market, the financial investment and income potential. In addition, the feasibility analysis considers:

- Financial resources, skills and history of the customer as it relates to successfully operating a small business
- The need for customer training
- The availability of strong support network for long-term business success
- The need for a comprehensive business plan

- The likelihood of sustainability in a reasonable amount of time (what is a reasonable amount of time will likely vary by the type of self-employment)

The feasibility analysis offers the VR Counselor and customer a comprehensive, objective evaluation of the strength of the proposed self-employment venture.

e. Forms of Organization - refers to the way the individual legally organizes the business

i. Sole Proprietorship - one person who owns the business alone, but may have employees. She/he will have unlimited liability for all debts of the business, and the income or loss from the business will be reported on his or her personal income tax return along with all other income and expense she/he normally reports (although it will be on a separate schedule).

ii. Corporation – requires a legal filing with the Internal Revenue Service for corporate status. Corporate organization provides limited liability for the investors. Shareholders in a corporation are obligated for the debts of the corporation; creditors can look only to the corporation's assets for payment. The corporation files its own tax return and pays taxes on its income.

- VR customers who legally organize their businesses as a corporation, and are employed by their corporation may be eligible while in the start up phase of operations.

iii. General and Limited Partnerships – two or more individuals, one of which is a customer of IDVR with the controlling share (see Eligibility Requirements for Self Employment).

iv. Limited Liability Company - limited liability for all of its members (business partners), with the IDVR customer as the controlling member.

f. Hobby - customers identifying business-related goals that indicate a business activity that is:

- Operated for recreation and/or pleasure.
- Not projected to be profitable.
- Not seeking profitability.
- Neither operating nor carrying on activity in a business-like manner.
- Not depending on activity for livelihood.

g. Low Cost / Low Risk / Low Complexity Self-Employment – A comprehensive business plan is not required if a feasibility analysis report indicates the business concepts represents a (1) low cost (under $5,000) total cost of anticipated self-employment start-up, (2) low risk (strong likelihood of success) and (3) low complexity (few and clearly identifiable barriers to self-employment). Examples of self-employment ventures that may not require a comprehensive business plan include:

- A VR customer is already self-employed and has demonstrated skills and abilities to successfully manage the business, and VR services are needed to retain employment due to a disability-related condition.
 - The VR customer has previous experience being self-employed in the same or similar field and start-up needs are minimal.
 - The VR customer has skills and experience in a trade and needs minimal training and services for startup, such as, lawn care, pressure washing, window washing, and bookkeeping.
 - A VR customer has experience or training in a trade and will lease space or sub-contract with an existing business and pay their own taxes, i.e., massage therapist, manicurist, cosmetologist, real estate agent.
- h. Complex Self Employment – All self-employment plans that do not meet the criteria for low cost/low risk/low complexity, continued self-employment or supported self-employment fall under this category.
- i. Multi Level Marketing –As a marketing strategy in which a person is compensated not only for sales they personally generate, but also for the sales of others they recruit into a business venture, creating a “down line” of distributors and a hierarchy of multiple levels of compensation.
- j. Natural Supports – Long term supports provided by individuals naturally invested in the success of the VR customer (family and friends).
- k. Startup Self-Employment - refers to an employment outcome in which a customer works in a business that she/he starts, owns, operates, and manages with the intention of being profitable.
- l. Supported Self-Employment – refers to an employment outcome in which a customer works in a business that she/he owns, operates, and manages with natural or long term supports, with the intention of being profitable.

Eligibility Requirements

Participation in self-employment or supported self-employment as a vocational goal requires that:

2. Businesses must be organized as Sole Proprietorships, Corporations, General and Limited Partnerships, and Limited Liability Companies, as noted in Definitions-Forms of Organization.
3. The business venture is considered legal in all jurisdictions in which it operates (Federal, Tribal, State and local Governments). This includes business and other necessary licenses.
4. The business venture is accurately reporting to appropriate government agencies, including the Internal Revenue Service and State taxing agency or other applicable

6. The business venture is organized as a for-profit entity.

Financial Participation Requirements

Social Security beneficiaries are not required to financially participate towards the cost of their self-employment plan.

IDVR customers have a variety of sources to obtain their portion of the business costs. Some of these include:

- Investment of funds from microloans;
- Commercial and consumer loans;
- Loans from family;
- Forgivable loans;
- Equity grants;
- Equipment critical to the business operation;
- Inventory;
- Supplies;
- Facility (including fair value of existing facility in which the business will be operated)

- a. In consideration of the business start-up capitalization noted in the Business Plan, financial participation by IDVR and VR customer for the entirety of the self-employment plan, per case is as follows:

Business Capitalization	Maximum IDVR Financial Assistance	Minimum Customer Participation
Under $2,500	100%	0%
$2,501 to $5,000	80% of startup capital	20%
$5,001 to $7,500	70% of startup capital	30%
$7,501 to $10,000	60% of startup capital	40%
$10,001 and up	50% of startup capital	50%

If IDVR's portion for business start-up and capitalization is more than $10,000, the Chief of Field Services must provide approval.

- b. Financial participation will not be required for IDVR investment in:
- Training and technical assistance.
 - Accommodations necessitated by the customer's disability in order to participate in training, technical assistance or in consideration of financial assistance.

Limitations and Restrictions

Financial assistance for business start-up capitalization does not include:

1. Funding for speculative real estate development.
2. Deposits that are refundable to the customer or business.
3. Cash.
4. Salary or benefits for the customer, partners in ownership, or any employees of the business.
5. Purchase of real estate.
6. Erection of buildings.
7. Inventory or business supplies that include tobacco, firearms or alcoholic beverages.
8. Refinancing of existing debt – business or personal.
9. Business continuation expenses subsequent to the initial start-up costs.

10. IDVR does not support a customer hobby as a self-employment goal.

Self-employment involving payment for registration, legal services, patents, trademarks, copyrights, or franchise fees require an exception to policy approved by the Chief of Field Services.

Multi-Level Marketing plans are often similar to illegal pyramid schemes; therefore, VR counselors are cautioned about supporting self-employment businesses with a multi-level marketing structure. Support for multi-level marketing businesses may be appropriate when the emphasis is on sales by the VR customer versus recruitment of down line distributors.

This may include; a) use of data gathering instruments, and b) formal vocational assessment to the degree necessary to ensure the customer has the basic skills necessary to operate and manage a small business.
- Ensure the viability of self-employment as it relates to the customer's ability to handle the physical, mental, emotional, and cognitive aspects of the business venture including their disability. This may require consultation with medical and/or psychological service providers that have been treating the customer. If clear information is not available additional assessments may be needed.

- Examination of the customer's financial goals related to self-employment should include consideration of issues such as impact on government benefits, supplementing family income versus primary source of support, and earning sufficient funds to maintain competitive employment standards. A referral for benefits planning may be appropriate.

IV. Writing an IPE – Developing a Business Plan

After a positive assessment of the feasibility of the business concept an initial IPE is written. Some of the key components of writing an IPE for business plan development include:

- IPE goal will be the anticipated vocational outcome that is the focus of the business plan.
- IPE must be identified as a self-employment IPE.
- Comprehensive assessment for this IPE is based on the appropriateness of self-employment as a strategy for the individual VR customer. It should be based on the feasibility analysis, the assessment of the customer's appropriateness for self-employment, and other information available.

Services provided as part of this IPE are intended to support the development, writing, and ultimate approval of the business plan. The following are key elements to the development of the business plan:

1. Customer Training and Technical Assistance:

- Customers may be expected to attend training and participate in technical assistance services related to self-employment. This could include options such as; training and technical assistance on subjects such as: exploring entrepreneurship, small business development, business plan development, small business management, accounting for business, and business financing.
- Customers may require business specific skill training to eliminate skill gaps or prepare for the operation of the business. This could include coursework such as accounting/bookkeeping, using computers in business, human resources in business, etc. Skill-building courses should be noted in the IPE as necessary.

2. Business Plan Development:

The Business Plan is viewed as an essential element in any business venture and will be the document used by IDVR to determine whether or not to participate in capitalizing the business venture.

- A basic Business Plan must be written and approved to the satisfaction for the VR counselor.
- The customer will prepare the Business Plan with or without external technical assistance from a service provider experienced in business plan development.
- Benefits counseling may be provided with a focus on the projected impact of revenues and expenses as noted in the Business Plan.

3. Process for Business Plan Review:

The customer's goal toward self-sufficiency and the level of the Agency's financial participation in the start-up capitalization of the business will determine the level of review and approval required.

- The counselor will review the plan for completeness according to the components listed in the definition of a Business Plan.
- All low cost/low risk/low complexity self-employment plans will be reviewed by the customer and the VR counselor.
 - a. If the customer and IDVR agree, then the VR counselor and customer proceed to amend the IPE to initiate the self-employment plan.
 - b. If the customer and IDVR agree, that revisions are needed the customer proceeds to revise the plan with or without technical assistance.
 - c. The customer may decide not to proceed with the identified business goal. If so, the customer and the VR counselor proceed with developing a new IPE goal (this may or may not be a different self-employment option).

V. Amending IPE - Implementing the Business Plan

Once the business plan has been approved by the customer and the VR counselor an IPE amendment will be developed that identifies necessary services and activities to implement the business plan.

1. Update comprehensive assessment based upon the additional information acquired through the business plan development process.
2. Identifying specific VR services, cost, and vendors need to implement the self-employment plan. It is important that the financial responsibility for each party is identified on the IPE.
3. Identifying necessary training and technical assistance needed to implement the plan.
4. Identifying post start-up support services that may be needed.
5. Identifying the benchmarks for successful closure. At minimum, one benchmark must identify acceptable wage level for the customer (not less than Federal minimum wage standards). Additional benchmarks should be identified that are critical to the success of self-employment and how to proceed if the benchmarks are not met. It is important that these benchmarks be clearly written, and the consequences for not meeting the benchmarks are clearly explained to the customer and stated on the IPE. Examples of consequences for not meeting the benchmark on the IPE:
 - Evaluating the appropriateness of the benchmarks and possibly modification of the benchmarks (this would require an amendment to the IPE).
 - Withdrawal of IDVR support of the business and reassess other VR options.
 - Proceeding with case closure.

VI. Closure of Self-Employment Case

1. Successful Closure

Successful closure can be completed when the following has been established:

- Identified benchmarks have been achieved.

- At least 90 days of stable employment and at least six (6) months of business operation.

Equipment provided for the self-employment plan may be released or returned, consistent with Section 13 of the policy.

2. Unsuccessful Closure

If adequate progress towards meeting the identified benchmarks is not made, the VR counselor proceeds with case closure unless the customer expresses interest in developing a new IPE goal. “All Other Reasons” would be the reason selected for case closure.

The customer is expected to return equipment provided for the self-employment plan, consistent with Section 13 of the policy.

b. Complex Business Plan

I. Role of IDVR

When working with customers expressing an interest in self-employment the primary role of IDVR is to:

- Provide relevant information regarding the availability of self-employment services supported by the Agency.
- Assist the customer in information gathering and assessment in deciding whether self-employment is an appropriate option to achieve their employment goal.
- Assess the customer’s disability as it relates to the self-employment goal.
- Reduce or eliminate barriers to self-employment created by the disability.

- Evaluation of the customer's interests, skills, aptitudes, and personality traits as they relate to self-employment. This may include; a) use of data gathering instruments, and b) formal vocational assessment to the degree necessary to ensure the customer has the basic skills necessary to operate and manage a small business.
- Ensure the viability of self-employment as it relates to the customer's ability to handle the physical, mental, emotional, and cognitive aspects of the business venture including their disability. This may require consultation with medical and/or psychological service providers that have been treating the customer. If clear information is not available additional assessments may be needed.

- The customer has attended a training session, such as the Small Business Development Center's "Exploring Entrepreneurship" or another comparable program, to evaluate the advantages and disadvantages of business ownership and explore self-employment preparedness from a personal perspective.
- Examination of the customer's financial goals related to self-employment should include consideration of issues such as, impact on Government benefits, supplementing family income versus primary source of support, and earning sufficient funds to maintain competitive employment standards. A referral for benefits planning may be appropriate.
- Conduct a preliminary assessment of various funding sources for business capitalization. The customer's expectations relative to the financial support she/he anticipates/expects from IDVR should be discussed at the onset. It is important that the customer understands that IDVR will not be the sole source of startup capitalization and that any funding allocated to the start-up of the business will be consistent with IDVR policy related to financial participation.

IV. Assessment of the Feasibility of the Business Concept

Customers may be referred to outside resources for assistance in examining the concept, market and financial feasibility of the business. If the business idea is deemed feasible, the information developed at this stage will provide some of the basic data that will be used in completing the Business Plan to be written later.

Testing the feasibility of the business idea should be formalized through a written Feasibility Assessment documenting the following:

- Concept Feasibility: Clear description of the business idea; customer's background related to the business concept including education, training, direct experience and transferable skill sets; a summary statement identifying issues of concern regarding the feasibility of the concept; and a recommendation as to whether the business concept is feasible.
- Market Feasibility: Geographic description of market area; description of competitors working in or marketing to potential customers in geographic area; definition of target markets including size and scope of each market; zoning issues/requirements for establishing a business at intended location.
- Financial Feasibility: Capitalization requirements (start-up funding not to exceed 6 months) consistent with the individual's business concept; identification of resources for start-up funding and ongoing capitalization. Twelve (12) months of projected sales/expenses may be included, when appropriate.

V. Writing an IPE – Developing a Business Plan

After a positive assessment of the feasibility of the business concept an initial IPE is written. Some of the key components of writing an IPE for business plan development include:

- IPE goal will be the anticipated vocational outcome that is the focus of the business plan.
- IPE must be identified as a self-employment IPE.
- Comprehensive assessment for this IPE is based on the appropriateness of self-employment as a strategy for the individual VR customer. It should be based on the feasibility analysis, the assessment of the customer's appropriateness for self-employment, and other information available.

Services provided as part of this IPE are intended to support the development, writing, and ultimate approval of the business plan. The following are key elements to the development of the business plan:

1. IDVR Customer Training and Technical Assistance:

- All customers will be expected to attend training, when available, and participate in technical assistance services related to self-employment. This could include options such as; training and technical assistance on subjects such as: exploring entrepreneurship, small business development, business plan development, small business management, accounting for business, and business financing. Exceptions to the above requirement may be made with supervisory approval in limited circumstances.
- Customers may require business specific skill training to eliminate skill gaps or prepare for the operation of the business. This could include coursework such as accounting/bookkeeping, using computers in business, human resources in business, etc. Skill-building courses should be noted in the IPE as necessary.

2. Business Plan Development:

The Business Plan is viewed as an essential element in any business venture and will be the document used by IDVR, banks, micro lenders, and other funding organizations to determine whether or not to participate in capitalizing the business venture.

These may include microloans, commercial and consumer loans, loans from family, forgivable loans, equity grants, and work incentives for Social Security recipients including Plans to Achieve Self Support (PASS) and personal property (inventory and equipment) essential to the operation of the business. If the business plan is approved and the IPE is amended, the customer will apply for other resources necessary to implement the business plan.

4. Process for Business Plan Review:

The customer's goal toward self-sufficiency and the level of the agency's financial participation in the start-up capitalization of the business will determine the level of review and approval required.

- The counselor will review the plan for completeness according to the components listed in the definition of a Business Plan.
- The business plan is submitted for technical assistance and feasibility review by an outside consultant (approved by the VR counselor and customer) with experience in business development.
- All complex self-employment plans will be reviewed by a self-employment team. The self-employment team will include the customer, VR counselor, Regional Manager, at least one outside consultant, and other individuals as appropriate.

- b. If the customer and IDVR agree, based on the feedback from the self-employment team, that revisions are needed, the customer proceeds to revise the plan with or without technical assistance.
- c. If the customer does not agree with the recommendations from the self-employment team the customer may choose to follow the appeal process. (See Section 4.0)
- d. The customer may decide not to proceed with the identified business goal. If so, the customer and the VR counselor proceed with developing a new IPE goal (this may or may not be a different self-employment option).

VI. Amending IPE - Implementing the Business Plan

Once the business plan has been approved by the customer and the VR counselor an IPE amendment will be developed that identifies necessary services and activities to implement the business plan.

1. Update comprehensive assessment based upon the additional information acquired through the business plan development process.

5. Identifying the benchmarks for successful closure. At minimum, one benchmark must identify acceptable wage level for the customer (not less than Federal minimum wage standards). Additional benchmarks should be identified that are critical to the success of self-employment and how to proceed if the benchmarks are not met. It is important that these benchmarks be clearly written, and the consequences for not meeting the benchmarks are clearly explained to the customer and stated on the IPE. Examples of consequences for not meeting the benchmark on the IPE:

Support provided by family, friends, or significant others are also included within this definition.

Extended Employment Services: (IDAPA 47.01.02) Funds Managed by IDVR/EES. There are four eligibility categories:

- A. Developmental Disabilities (as defined in section 66-402, Idaho Code).
- B. Mental Health: (Typically Schizophrenia, Major Mood Disorders, Borderline Personality Disorder, Delusional Disorder, Schizoaffective Disorder).
- C. Specific Learning Disability.
- D. Traumatic Brain Injury.

Medicaid Funded Employment Supports:

Developmental Disabilities – Adult DD Home and Community Based Services Medicaid Waiver (IDAPA 16.03.10.703.03). Eligibility for this waiver is determined by the Independent Assessment Providers (IAP) at the Idaho Center on Disability Evaluation. The Self-Directed option falls under this waiver.

Aged or Disabled Waiver – Supported Employment is a component included in this Home and Community Based Services Medicaid Waiver (IDAPA 16.03.10.326.17).

12.12.4 Steps to Securing Long Term Support for Medicaid or EES Services:

1. Contact the Regional Community Supported Employment (CSE) coordinator.
2. The Regional CSE coordinator will submit the Referral for Extended Employment Services to the EES program.
3. The Regional CSE coordinator and VR counselor will receive documentation regarding the availability within ten (10) business days.
 - a. Funding for EES Available – The VR counselor proceeds with plan development.

- b. No EES Funding Available – Customer is placed on the EES waiting list by EES program.
- i. Waiver Eligible –
 - VR staff notifies in writing to EES program that employment services are approved from Medicaid. Customer is removed from the waiting list once employment waiver services are approved by Medicaid.
 - If employment services are not included on the customer’s waiver plan, if EES funding is not secured within three (3) months then the case will be closed (EES case will remain open and the customer will remain on the waitlist).
 - ii. Not Waiver Eligible – Customer remains on the EES waiting list
 - VR counselor does not proceed to plan development.
 - If funding is not secured within three (3) months then the case will be closed (EES case will remain open and the customer will remain on the waitlist).
 - Once EES funding becomes available EES program will notify CSE coordinator and VR counselor; customer will be removed from the EES waiting list. IPE development may be initiated (VR case file may need to be reopened).

12.13 Post-Employment Services (PES)

A customer with a disability who had been previously rehabilitated may require additional services in order to maintain, advance in, or regain suitable employment. In order to qualify for this service strategy, the need must be based upon a disability previously documented in the eligibility determination section. Post-employment services require an amendment to the IPE. In order to qualify for these services, the customer’s vocational needs must be minor in scope ($1,000 or less) and duration (6 months or less). This means the customer only needs relatively short-term services with minimal cost associated. Customers requiring multiple services over an extended period of time and/or a comprehensive/complex rehabilitation plan should be encouraged to reapply for the full-spectrum of VR services since their needs exceed the intent of post-employment services. PES can be initiated within three (3) years of successful closure. Once the record is destroyed, a new case must be opened.

Note: The intent of PES is to ensure that the employment outcome remains consistent with the customer’s strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests and informed choice.

12.14 Rehabilitation Technology

Rehabilitation technology services (assistive/adaptive technology) may be provided as compensatory strategies to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of customers with disabilities. Rehabilitation technology services may be provided at any time in the rehabilitation process, including the assessment for determining eligibility and vocational rehabilitation needs, extended evaluation, services provided under an IPE, and post-employment services. Rehabilitation technology, including telecommunications, sensory, and other technological aids and devices are exempt from a determination of the availability of comparable services or benefits exist under any other program and are available to the customer, IDVR may request, but may not require the use of comparable services and benefits. (For further information, please review the series of comprehensive fact sheets provided by Idaho Assistive Technology Project located on the IDVR intranet web site. There are also direct links to the Idaho Assistive Technology Project web site at that location).

12.14.1 “Assistive technology service” means any service that directly assists a customer with a disability in the selection, acquisition, or use of an assistive technology device, including:

- A. The evaluation of the needs of a customer;
- B. Purchasing, leasing, or otherwise providing for the acquisition by a customer with a disability of an assistive technology device;
- C. Selecting, designing, fitting, customizing, adapting, applying, maintaining, repairing, or replacing assistive technology devices;
- D. Coordinating and using other therapies, interventions, or services with assistive technology devices, such as those associated with existing education and rehabilitation plans and programs;
- E. Training or technical assistance for a customer with a disability.

12.14.2 An assistive technology device means any item, piece of equipment, or product system, whether acquired commercially off-the-shelf, modified, or customized that is used to increase, maintain, or improve the functional capabilities of a customer with a disability.

12.14.3 Vehicle modification, may be provided as an assistive technology device only when the applicant/customer is otherwise precluded from achieving a vocational objective.

1. In the event that a vehicle requires modification. e.g., hand controls, lift installation, or structural revision, may be provided on vehicles with an expected life of five (5) years or longer after modification, as evaluated by a certified mechanic (paid for by IDVR). The customer must agree to maintain insurance on the vehicle for replacement costs of the modified equipment.
2. Any vehicle modification over $3,000 must include a minimum of two bids from approved vendors.
3. Adaptive equipment items that are not documented as medically and/or vocationally necessary will be the responsibility of the customer.
4. When a customer purchases a new vehicle requiring modifications they should check with the dealership to see if the vehicle modification assistance is available. The VR counselor will check with the customer to see if the customer is willing to access and apply the rebate to the cost of vehicle modification.

12.14.4 Housing modifications may be provided as a supportive service so the customer can benefit from a core vocational rehabilitation service. Typically these services are provided under an IPE.

12.15 Supportive Services

- A. Maintenance is a funding provision designed to offset identified additional costs incurred as a result of participating in a rehabilitation service (expenses incurred by the customer while engaged in assessments required for determining eligibility or while receiving services under an IPE).

NOTE: Maintenance means monetary support provided to a customer for expenses, such as food, shelter, and clothing, that are in excess of the normal expenses of the customer and that are necessitated by the customer's participation in an assessment for determining eligibility and vocational rehabilitation needs or the customer's receipt of vocational rehabilitation services under an individualized plan for employment. (Ref: 34 CFR, Part 361.5 (35)).

Counselors cannot pay maintenance for those existing living costs that a customer would normally incur regardless of the customer's participation in a plan of vocational rehabilitation services.

Maintenance intended to cover shelter related expenses will not exceed four (4) months per case without the Chief of Field Service's approval.

Maintenance intended to cover food expenses will not exceed four (4) weeks per case without the Chief of Field Service's approval.

Maximum per diem food rates for the state of Idaho can be found at: <http://www.sco.idaho.gov/web/sbe/sbeweb.nst/pages/trvlpolicy.htm#Apendix%20%22B%22>.

Maximum per diem food rates for out of state can be found at: www.gsa.gov.

VR counselors should be aware and make their customers aware, that any maintenance payments for food, shelter, or clothing may impact SSI benefits.

- B. Transportation is a service for identified travel and related expenses for customers to participate in a vocational rehabilitation services or assessment.
1. Actual costs may be paid for taxi, buses, airplanes, etc.
 2. When using a privately owned vehicle, fuel assistance will be negotiated. This depends upon actual transportation expenses for participation in rehabilitation services. Routine vehicle maintenance is not covered by IDVR.

3. The VR counselor must take into account the following issues when confronted with a request from a customer to repair a privately owned vehicle:
 - a. The overall condition and value of vehicle.
 - b. The extent of the repairs.
 - c. The availability of other appropriate transportation.
 - d. The necessity that the vehicle be used for VR participation or work.

12.16 School Transition

The Idaho Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (IDVR) participates in student transition planning as outlined at 34 CFR 361.22 of the Rehabilitation Act Regulation. The Regulations require plans, policies, and procedures that provide for the development and approval on an individualized plan for employment as early as possible during the transition planning process but, at the latest, by the time each student who is determined to be eligible for vocational rehabilitation services leaves the school setting. The Act also provides for:

1. Consultation and technical assistance to educational agencies in planning for transition of students with disabilities from school to post-school activities, including vocational rehabilitation;
2. Transition planning by personnel of IDVR and the educational agency for students with disabilities that facilitates the development and completion of their Individualized Education Programs (IPE's) under section 604 (d) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA);
3. The roles and responsibilities including financial responsibilities, of each agency; and
4. Procedures for outreach to and identification of students with disabilities who are in need of transition services. Outreach to these students should occur as early as possible during the transition planning process and must include, at a minimum, a description of the purpose of the vocational rehabilitation programs, eligibility requirements; application procedures, and scope of services that may be provided to eligible customers.
 - Referrals should be made to the VR counselor as early as possible following the completion of the student's sophomore year. Earlier referrals can be made based on individual student need. All students with disabilities should be referred, not just those students in special education.
 - The VR counselor may participate and/or consult during the development of Individual Educational Plans (IEPs), Individual Transition Plans (ITPs) and Child Study Teams (CSTs) at the invitation of the school and agreement between the VR Counselor and CST members. VRC will determine the appropriate time to take an application when the focus is on the final vocational objective or formal planning for continued employment preparation after the student exits from high school.

- The school district’s responsibility is to provide a free and appropriate education to all students. This includes instructional aides, devices, and necessary services to achieve educational goals.
- IDVR’s responsibility is to facilitate the accomplishment of long-term vocational rehabilitation goals and intermediate rehabilitation objectives identified in the student’s IPE. Only services that are required for achievement of the employment goal will be provided or coordinated.

12.17 Services to Family Members

The definition of “Family Member” is a relative or guardian of the customer or someone who lives in the same household as the customer and has a substantial interest in the well-being of the customer.

Conditions and Criteria:

- A. Service may be provided only to individuals that meet the definition of family member.
- B. The services to be provided are those which are deemed to be necessary to the successful completion of the customer’s rehabilitation plan (IPE, Extended Evaluation, or Trial Work Period). The customer and VR counselor will make the determination as to whether a service to a family member is necessary to the vocational rehabilitation of the individual customer.
- C. Comparable services and benefits are to be explored and if available, utilized prior to expenditure of agency funds.
- D. IDVR funds can only be utilized if economic need is established on Financial Participation Assessment (FPA).
- E. Family members may not have access to the customer’s record of service without a release of information. Family members may have access to information pertaining to the services they received.

Procedures:

- A. The category of Services to Family Members requires prior approval from the Regional Manager.
- B. The IPE must set forth the services to be provided to the family member.
- C. In developing the IPE the VR counselor must ensure that the customer and family member(s) understand the basis for the provision of services in order to avoid any misunderstanding as to the scope, nature, and duration of services.

- D. Services under this section must comply with all other portions of the manual relating to the provision of VR services.
- E. Services to family members must be terminated whenever one of the following conditions prevails:
 - 1. When a service(s) is no longer necessary to the customer's plan; or
 - 2. When the customer's plan is terminated in accordance with case closure procedures; or
 - 3. When Post-Employment Services are terminated.
- F. When services are provided to family members, the record of service must include:
 - 1. A rationale that services are required to support the customer's success in completing objectives of the IPE;
 - 2. Data, including medical information, to support the decision to provide services (the least amount necessary to verify the need);
 - 3. Identification of family member(s) receiving those services;
 - 4. The cost of such services; and
 - 5. Documentation of the time limited nature of these services.

12.18 Personal Care Assistant Services

A personal care assistant (PCA) assists a customer with a significant disability by performing personal activities of daily living requiring hands-on help, which cannot be performed by the customer because of the significance of the disability. PCA services including personal care related tasks such as:

- 1. Eating
- 2. Drinking
- 3. Toileting
- 4. Bathing
- 5. Transfers
- 6. Dressing
- 7. Grooming
- 8. Medications

PCA services do not include chore services, respite, cueing, or household tasks. In most cases, tasks performed by the PCA are customer directed. The PCA is not responsible for any tasks that the customer with a disability can perform independently.

PCA services have been developed to enhance the ability of a customer with a significant disability to live and work independently. The need for PCA services is normally identified through an independent living (IL) evaluation.

A PCA must have completed a State approved training program or have substantial knowledge and experience in providing PCA services.

It is the policy of the IDVR to provide PCA services to customers with significant disabilities, when PCA services over and above those required for normal daily living are required to assist the customer to complete the VR process. IDVR does not provide PCA services in lieu of existing PCA programs and providers. If the VR counselor determines that PCA services are necessary for the customer to complete the objectives of the IPE, the VR counselor will need to conduct or obtain a personal care assistant evaluation to determine the number of hours of PCA services that are required for participation in the IPE over and above the customer's normal daily living needs.

It is the responsibility of the customer and the VR counselor to identify, apply for and utilize any and all similar benefits for PCA services. PCA recruitment and management is the responsibility of the customer. Payment for PCA services is made through an authorization to the customer for PCA services. The customer then pays the chosen provider. IDVR will not exceed the current rate established by Medicaid. IDVR does not pay for standby time; only for direct service time related to the VR service that the PCA service is addressing. The customer is required to submit verification of services received from the provider to IDVR on a monthly basis to continue to receive PCA funds.

IDVR PCA services are time limited in nature and are provided during the vocational rehabilitation process, if required, to assist in determining eligibility, for participation in vocational evaluation and assessment, and during implementation of an IPE with a goal leading to competitive employment. The provision of PCA services must be linked directly to the objective of the IPE. PCA services funded by IDVR must be for those tasks over and above PCA services normally require for tasks of daily living. No more than 40 hours per week will be authorized for PCA services.

When the IPE objectives have been successfully completed and the goal of competitive employment has been achieved, provision of PCA services required to maintain employment becomes the responsibility of the customer.

12.19 Services to a Group of Individuals

The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended authorizes the provision of rehabilitation services to groups of individuals.

Guidelines:

Services for a group of individuals with disabilities must be expected to substantially contribute to the vocational rehabilitation of a group of individuals, but does not relate directly to the individualized rehabilitation program of any one individual with disability. The decision to provide services to groups will be made based on the need for the services as well as the available resources of the agency.

Establishment

Under the authority of 34 CFR 361.49(a)(1), IDVR may pursue the establishment, development, or improvement of a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program that is used to provide vocational rehabilitation services that promote integration and competitive employment, including, under special circumstances, the construction of a facility for a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program. Examples of “special circumstances” include the destruction or natural disaster of the only available center serving an area or a State determination that construction is necessary in a rural area because no other public agencies or private non-profit organizations are currently able to provide vocational rehabilitation services to individuals.

Any CRP establishment activities undertaken by IDVR will be supported by the pre-planning requirements under 34 CFR 361.49(b)(1) and 34 CFR 361.29.

In order for IDVR to engage in activities to establish, develop or improve a public or non-profit CRP, pursuant to 34 CFR 361.49(a)(1), and use of non-Federal expenditures incurred by those activities to satisfy match requirement under the VR Program, IDVR must first satisfy several pre-planning requirements:

1. IDVR must have written policies that set forth the nature and scope of services that will be provided to groups of customers with disabilities, and the criteria that will be used to determine the provision of those services (34 CFR 361.49(b)(1)); and
2. Establishment activities must have been identified as a need in IDVR's most recent statewide comprehensive needs assessment and IDVR must have included in its State plan a discussion of the strategies it would use to meet that need (34 CFR 361.29).

If IDVR has satisfied the above pre-planning requirements for activities related to establishing, developing, or improving a CRP, then the following requirements must be satisfied in order for IDVR to use non-Federal expenditures incurred for these activities towards its match requirements under the VR program pursuant to 34 CFR 361.60(b)(3)(i):

1. The activities proposed must fit within the definition of establishment, development, or improvement of a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(17);
2. The establishment, development, or improvement of a facility for a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(18), or
3. The construction of facility for a CRP at 34 CFR 361.5(b)(12); and
4. The activities must be designed to provide services to IDVR customers and applicants.

Based on 34 CFR 361.5(b)(17), IDVR may:

1. The establishment of a facility for a public or non-profit community rehabilitation program.

2. Staffing, if necessary to establish, develop, or improve a community rehabilitation program for the purpose of providing vocational rehabilitation services to applicants or eligible customers.
3. Other expenditures related to the establishment, development, or improvement of a community rehabilitation program that are necessary to make the program functional or increase its effectiveness in providing vocational rehabilitation services to applicants or eligible customers, but are not ongoing operating expenditures of the program.

Employment Related Services to Customers with Disabilities

Under the authority of 34 CFR 361.49(a)(6), IDVR may pursue services that promise to contribute substantially to the rehabilitation of a group of customers but that are not related directly to the individualized plan for employment of any one customer.

The nature and scope of the services provided include:

1. Increase access to employment and educational opportunities for persons who are deaf or hard of hearing.
2. Increase awareness of the needs of persons who are deaf and hard of hearing through educational informational programs.
3. Encourage consultation and cooperation among departments, agencies, and institutions serving the deaf and hard of hearing.

B. Unpaid Family Worker – verify that the customer is working for the family farm or family business.
4. That the employment outcome has been maintained for a minimum of 90 days.
5. The customer and the VR counselor consider the employment outcome to be satisfactory and agree that the customer is performing well on the job. Whenever possible, confirm that the employer is satisfied with the work performance of the customer as well as IDVR services.
6. That an assessment occurred regarding whether a need exists for Post-Employment Services and that the customer was informed regarding the purpose and availability of post-employment services, should the need arise.
7. Ownership of tools and equipment may be transferred to the customer at the time of closure if the tools and equipment are necessary for on-going employment purposes.

13.6 Closure After Post Employment Services (PES)

A. Closed unemployed; opening a new VR case

The VR counselor has made a determination that the scope of services is inappropriate for PES and the customer has agreed to apply for a new VR case.

1. PES is closed.
2. Customer applies for services.

B. Employment maintained or regained

The customer and VR counselor are in agreement the job is or has been maintained, regained or advanced in.

1. PES case is closed
2. Customer agreement with case closure is documented in the case record.

C. Lost job; no further services at this time

The customer's employment was not maintained, regained, or advanced in and no VR services are appropriate at this time.

1. PES case is closed
2. Customer has been informed of case closure is documented in the case record.

SECTION 14.0 ORDER OF SELECTION

14.1 Authority

Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended by the Rehabilitation Act of 1998, Sections 101 and 102.
34 CFR Part 361 §361.36, §361.3.

14.2 Policy

In the event that the projected fiscal and personnel resources of IDVR become inadequate to provide the full range of services, as appropriate, to all eligible customers, the Administrator will implement the Division's Order of Selection procedure. By law, this procedure must insure that customers with the most significant disabilities are served first. The criteria used for determining the Order of Selection for services is the category of significance of the disability as defined in Policy Section 6.2 and the application date for VR services.

Factors that will not be considered in determining an order of selection priority category include:

- A. Type of Disability
- B. Duration of residency, provided the customer is present in the state;
- C. Age, gender, race, color or national origin;

- D. Source of referral;
- E. Type of expected employment outcome;
- F. The need for specific services or anticipated cost of such services; or
- G. The income level of the customer or customer's family.

14.3 Administrative Requirements

IDVR must ensure that its funding arrangements for providing services under the State Plan, including third-party arrangements and awards, such as cooperative funding agreements with school districts, other State agencies or contractual arrangements, are consistent with the Order of Selection. If any funding arrangements are inconsistent, the Agency must renegotiate these funding arrangements so that they are consistent with the Order of Selection.

14.4 Procedures

Determination of Significant Disability

When a VR counselor determines a customer is eligible, the VR counselor also establishes the level of significance of disability based upon the criteria established in Section 6.0. The level of significance of the customer's disability is identified with one of the following three priority categories:

- A. Customers with disabilities
- B. Customers with significant disabilities
- C. Customers with the most significant disabilities

Statewide Order of Selection Waiting list

When a VR counselor completes the eligibility process and the determination of the significance of the disability determination, the customer is added to the statewide Order of Selection waiting list in the appropriate category by date of application. The date of application process is completed (see section 5.3). The case is transferred from the VR counselor caseload to the office Order of Selection waiting list.

Written notification will be provided to the customer informing them of:

- Their eligibility determination.
- Their placement on the waiting list.
- The priority categories of IDVR's Order of Selection.
- Their assignment to a particular category.
- Their right to appeal their category assignment.
- The availability of the Client Assistance Program (CAP).

When resources are available, the Chief of Field Services notifies the Regional Managers of the number of customers to take from the waiting list by priority category, application date(s) and office locations. Regional Managers then coordinate with the VR counselors to transfer the corresponding cases from the Order of Selection waiting list in respective offices to VR counselor's caseloads.

A customer on the statewide Order of Selection waiting list may request that his/her case be transferred from one office to another by contacting the local VR office – The request for transfer will be processed by the Regional Manager where the case resides.

Transferring a New Case to the Order of Selection Waiting List

The Regional Manager is responsible for ensuring appropriate priority categories are being served, for maintaining the office Order of Selection waiting list and for verifying Information and Referral (I&R) is occurring. Cases will be transferred from a VR counselor's caseload to the office Order of Selection waiting list within ten (10) business days of the eligibility date.

The Regional Manager will verify Information and Referral sources have been documented prior to transferring the case to the office Order of Selection waitlist.

Transferring a Case from the Order of Selection Waiting List to a VR Counselor

Upon notification to initiate services for case on the Order of Selection waiting list for the specified priority category and application dates, the Regional Manager or designee must transfer cases from the Order of Selection office waiting list to a VR counselor within five (5) business days. The VR counselor is notified of the case transferred and is authorized to initiate services.

If a case is closed from the office Order of Selection waiting list, the case is automatically removed from the statewide Order of Selection list.

Initiating Services for Customers Referred from the Order of Selection Waiting List

IDVR will determine when it is appropriate to implement procedures to re-establish or maintain contact with customers while they are on the Order of Selection waiting list. Factors to consider are the length of time a customer has been on the list and the anticipated time before the customer's category will open.

Upon receipt of the case transferred from the Order of Selection waiting list, the VR staff takes the following steps:

1. To contact the customer and schedule an appointment.
2. If telephone contacts are unsuccessful a letter will be sent to initiate contact.
3. Reasonable and timely efforts to find updated phone numbers and addresses for the customer.
4. If the customer has not responded within forty (40) days from the date the letter was sent, VR staff will proceed with case closure.

VR counselors need to consider the communication needs of the customer, including the need for information in alternate formats when initiating contact by telephone or letter.

Steps to contact each customer are documented in the case management system narrative and filed in the case service record.

Exceptions for Reopening Closed Cases

A VR counselor may request the Regional Manager to get permission from the Chief of Field Services to reopen a case on an exception to policy basis if a customer contacts IDVR after his/her case is closed. If the customer's lack of response was a result of exceptional circumstances that prevented the customer from responding, the VR counselor should consult with his/her supervisor about an exception to policy to reopen the case.

Customers not ready to Proceed with IPE Development upon Referral from the Order of Selection Waiting List

If a VR counselor contacts a customer to initiate services and she/he is not ready to begin working with IDVR, the VR counselor needs to help the customer make an informed decision about how to proceed. If a customer does not wish to, or is unable to proceed with IPE development, IDVR will close the case and the customer must reapply. IDVR cannot 'hold' a spot on the waiting list nor can a customer be put back at the top of the list. The VR counselor needs to discuss the reasons the customer is not ready to proceed and whether a reasonable time frame can be agreed upon to resolve the issues.

14.5 Information and Referral (I & R)

When operating under Order of Selection, IDVR is required to offer Information and Referral (I&R) services to customers who cannot be served and must wait for services because of the Order of Selection.

IDVR must document and retain information about referrals to other Federal and State programs that provide employment-related services.

Information and Referral Requirements

Federal regulations establish minimum requirements under I&R as follows. IDVR must:

- A. Provide customers with accurate vocational rehabilitation information and guidance (which may include counseling and referral for job placement) to prepare for, get, or keep a job.
- B. Refer customers with disabilities to other Federal or State programs that are best suited to address their specific employment needs, including partners in the workforce investment system.
- C. Initiate a notice of referral identifying:
 - a. The name of the program to which the customer is referred;

- b. A contact person in that program; and
- c. Information about the most suitable services to assist the customer prepare for, get or keep a job.

14.6 Counseling and Guidance

To provide customers with accurate VR information and guidance, which may include counseling and referral for job placement, a VR counseling staff member talks to the customer about his/her need to prepare for, get or keep a job. The VR counseling staff member provides advice and guidance about how the customer might proceed, explains referral sources available, and offers to initiate a referral to another program, if appropriate. These interactions occur in the course of other activities, such as completing the application, intake, and eligibility determination.

For customers who choose not to apply for IDVR services because of the Order of Selection, a general guideline is to limit I&R services to one appointment. The VR counselor will NOT establish an on-going counseling relationship nor perform follow-up services regarding I&R.

Counseling and Guidance – Referrals

Each office will maintain a list of Federal and State programs with which IDVR has established a formal referral relationship. It is expected that the Idaho Department of Labor One-Stop Centers will be used extensively, but not exclusively, for the referral of customers who either choose not to apply or are on a waiting list to receive IDVR services. Other programs to be used in this capacity, as appropriate, include Tribal VR programs and other community programs. Because of limited resources in some areas and the unique needs of some customers with disabilities, there may not be an appropriate program available to every person.

Counseling and Guidance – Job Placement

VR counseling staff may provide brief counseling for job placement. If the customer intends to engage in independent, self-directed job search or related activities, the VR counseling staff member may provide brief counseling to assist the customer in this effort. Examples of counseling and referral for job placement may include, but are not limited to:

- A. A counseling session with the customer to discuss what efforts to find a job the customer has already tried and offering other job search strategies and suggestions.
- B. Reviewing and giving advice on a customer's resume.
- C. Discussing reasonable accommodation issues and strategies for approaching an employer.
- D. Discussing and providing the customer with access to the Internet or another resource.
- E. Sharing information about the local labor market.

14.7 Documenting a Formal Referral

All referrals to employment-related programs must be documented, including referrals for customers who have applied and are waiting for services. Each Regional Manager, or designee, will identify and maintain the list of regional referral sources that require a formal referral. Each time a customer is referred to one of the listed organizations, the VR staff member documents the referral in the case management system. Every case will have an entry in the case management system prior to transferring the case to the Order of Selection waiting list, or the case service record will document efforts to locate referral sources and the reason(s) a referral was not provided.

If a customer requests a referral, the VR staff member prepares and sends a written referral to the organization. In addition, the VR counseling staff member provides the customer being referred with the following:

- A. A copy of the written referral notifying the other federal or state program about the referral.
- B. The name of the person in that organization to be contacted by the customer being referred.
- C. Information about the most suitable services to prepare for, secure, retain, or regain employment.

Informal Referrals

VR counselors routinely provide information to applicants and eligible customers about a wide array of community assistance programs that may offer services or benefits to assist the customer meet a variety of needs (food or clothing banks, medical programs, counseling services, etc.). These types of referrals are considered informal referrals. IDVR staff are encouraged to continue providing customers with information about other programs that offer services to assist them in meeting a variety of needs.

14.8 Post Employment Services

Order of Selection does not impact or alter the provision of post-employment services. Post-employment services are considered an amendment of the IPE, and therefore, a customer who needs post-employment services is not required to meet the highest priority category currently being serviced under an Order of Selection nor is the customers required to wait for services.

If substantial services are needed, PES is not appropriate. A new application should be taken and would be subjected to Order of Selection.

Students Come First Reforms

Various Chapters, Title 33, Idaho Code

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

The Students Come First reform legislation was enacted in the 2011 legislative session in response to the budget cuts necessitated by the economic recession. The legislation sought to educate more students at a higher level with limited resources.

The final legislation addressed three main areas of K-12 education: Labor Relations, Teacher Pay and Modernization/Technology Upgrades.

The Board took a position in support of the reform efforts in February 2011.

IMPACT

The November 2012 ballot will include Propositions 1, 2 and 3 that ask voters to either support or reject the education reform laws, known as Students Come First, passed in the 2011 legislative session. If a majority of Idaho voters vote NO, the legislation would be repealed. This would require significant time and effort on the part of the State Department of Education and the Board to assess changes needed to reform efforts currently in process. While the fiscal impact of repeal has not been definitively estimated, it would potentially require reallocation of the $38.8 million for pay-for-performance, the $13.6 million for technology, and the $2.6 million for laptops and maintenance that was appropriated for Fiscal Year 2013 as part of the reform efforts.

STAFF COMMENTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Students Come First laws have provided the means for Idaho schools to reward good teachers based on performance, leadership and taking hard to fill position. The laws have also provided the means to create a 21st century learning environment through technology upgrades and access to tools, resources and information students need to be successful. In addition, the laws have created transparency by providing greater access to information on student achievement and financial matters in schools and districts.

Repeal of the Students Come First legislation would create uncertainty for the state's K-12 education system.

BOARD ACTION

I move to reaffirm the Board's support of Students Come First.

Proposed Rule - IDAPA 08.02.02.004, Rules Governing Uniformity, Incorporation by Reference.

Proposed Rule Revision to the Idaho Standards for Initial Certification of Professional School Personnel including Idaho Foundation and Enhancement Standards for the Core Teacher Standards, Bilingual Education/English as a New Language Teachers, Foreign Language Teachers, Professional Technical Education Teachers, and Teacher Leader Standards.

APPLICABLE STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY

Sections 33-1254 and 33-1258, Idaho Code

BACKGROUND/DISCUSSION

Standards Revisions

The Professional Standards Commission follows a Strategic Plan of annually reviewing twenty percent (20%) of the Idaho Standards for Initial Certification of Professional School Personnel. In spring 2012 the Core Teacher standards, Bilingual/English as a New Language Teacher standards, Foreign Language Teacher standards and Professional Technical Education Teacher standards were reviewed by committees of content experts. The Professional Technical Education Standards review also included the following enhancement standards: Agriculture Science and Technology, Business Technology Education, Family and Consumer Sciences, Marketing Technology Education, and Technology Education. All standards and endorsements were revised to better align with national standards and best practices; then presented to the Professional Standards Commission for review. The Professional Standards Commission has recommended approval of the committees' proposed revisions.

Teacher Leader Standards Adoption

The quality of the teacher in the classroom is the most important factor in a student's academic success. The Idaho Department of Education is focusing on building great teachers and leaders through certification requirements as well as pre-service training, professional development, statewide pay-for-performance, and improved performance evaluations in our pursuit of a systemic approach to educator effectiveness.

As part of this effort, the Professional Standards Commission has recommended the adoption of Teacher Leader Standards for Idaho. The recommended standards are grounded in the national work of the Teacher Leadership Exploratory Consortium. The Consortium is made up of a variety of education stakeholders, including union representatives, teachers, school administrators, policy organizations, such as the Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO), and leaders in higher education.

Idaho Standards for Initial Certification of Professional School Personnel
Summary & Background

Overview of the past standards

The ~~past~~ early standards for initial certification in Idaho were based on the 1989 National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification (NASDTEC) standards. These ~~old~~ standards were "input-based", meaning a candidate was recommended for initial certification based on credits and content of courses successfully completed (transcript review).

Example - Past (input-based) Standard Format, Biological Science:

Twenty (20) semester credit hours to include at least six (6) credit hours of course work in EACH of the following areas: Botany and Zoology (some course work in physiology is also recommended).

The standards were seriously outdated, and Idaho was in danger of losing its partnership with the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), which is the nationally recognized teacher education program accreditation body. In addition to being a benchmark for program quality, NCATE partnership helps Idaho program graduates gain certification reciprocity opportunities with other states.

In 2000 Idaho adopted new standards ~~are~~ based on the Interstate New Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (InTASC) model. These standards reflect a move to "performance-based" standards, meaning a candidate is recommended for initial certification based on the demonstration of what they know and are able to do.

An important component of the teaching profession is a candidate's disposition. Professional dispositions are how the candidate views the teaching profession, their content area, and/or students and their learning. Every teacher preparation program at each institution is responsible for establishing and promoting a comprehensive set of guidelines for candidate dispositions.

Each proposed standard is broken down into two areas:

- Knowledge (what the candidate needs to know)
- Performance (what the candidate is able to do).

The performance, therefore, is the demonstration of the knowledge and dispositions of a standard. As the demonstration of a standard, the performances will also guide a teacher-education program review team when evaluating for program accreditation.

Example - Current (performance-based) Standard Format, Physical Education:

Knowledge:

1. The [physical education] teacher understands the components of physical fitness and their relationship to a healthy lifestyle.

Performance:

1. The [physical education] teacher models a variety of physical activities (e.g. aquatics, sports, games, lifelong activities, dance, rhythmical activities, and outdoor/adventure activities).

Core Teacher Standards

The "Idaho Core Teacher Standards" apply to ALL teacher certification areas. These are the 10 basic standards all teachers must know and be able to do, regardless of their specific content areas. These standards are described in more detail with knowledge and performances in the first section of this packet. The summary of each standard is:

~~Standard #1: Knowledge of Subject Matter – The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the content area(s) taught and creates learning experiences that make these aspects of subject matter meaningful for learners.~~

~~Standard #2: Knowledge of Human Development and Learning – The teacher understands how students learn and develop, and provides opportunities that support their intellectual, social, and personal development.~~

~~Standard #3: Adapting Instruction for Individual Needs – The teacher understands how students differ in their approaches to learning and creates instructional opportunities that are adapted to learners with diverse needs.~~

~~Standard #4: Multiple Instructional Strategies – The teacher understands and uses a variety of instructional strategies to develop students' critical thinking, problem solving, and performance skills.~~

~~Standard #5: Classroom Motivation and Management Skills – The teacher understands individual and group motivation and behavior and creates a learning environment that encourages positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.~~

~~Standard #6: Communication Skills – The teacher uses a variety of communication techniques including verbal, nonverbal, and media to foster inquiry, collaboration, and supportive interaction in and beyond the classroom.~~

~~Standard #7: Instructional Planning Skills – The teacher plans and prepares instruction based upon knowledge of subject matter, students, the community, and curriculum goals.~~

~~Standard #8: Assessment of Student Learning – The teacher understands, uses, and interprets formal and informal assessment strategies to evaluate and advance student performance and to determine program effectiveness.~~

~~Standard #9: Professional Commitment and Responsibility – The teacher is a reflective practitioner who demonstrates a commitment to professional standards and is continuously engaged in purposeful mastery of the art and science of teaching.~~

~~Standard #10: Partnerships – The teacher interacts in a professional, effective manner with colleagues, parents, and other members of the community to support students' learning and well-being.~~

Foundation and Enhancement Standards

The Core Teacher Standards apply to ALL teacher certification areas. The Foundations and/or Enhancements for each content certification area are behind the Core Standards in this manual, alphabetically.

Foundation and Enhancement Standards refer to additional knowledge and performances a teacher must know in order to teach a certain content area. The Foundation and Enhancement Standards, therefore, further "enhance" the Core Standard.

Example of content area Enhancements:

Standard #1: Knowledge of Subject Matter - The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the content area(s) taught and creates learning experiences that make these aspects of subject matter meaningful for learners.

In other words, Core Standard #1 basically states that the teacher must know the subject and how to create meaningful learning experiences.

Examples an Enhancement to Standard #1:

For Language Arts: The teacher integrates reading, writing, speaking, listening, viewing, and language study.

For Math: The teacher applies the process of measurement to two-and three-dimensional objects using customary and metric units.

In this way, the Idaho Core Teacher Standards, Foundation Standards and Enhancement Standards are "layered" to describe what a teacher in the content area must know and be able to do in order to be recommended to the state for initial certification.

Important enhancements for several content areas do not fall under the ten Core Teacher Standards. For example, a science teacher must provide a safe learning environment in relation to labs, materials, equipment, and procedures. This does not fall under an area that every teacher needs to know. Therefore, it is Standard # 11 under Science. (See the graph for further illustration and titles of additional standards in subject areas.)

In no case are there more than 12 overall standards for any subject area.

Pupil Personnel and Administrator Certification Standards

There are several certification standards for pupil personnel professionals and school administrators that are also addressed through the Idaho teacher certification processes.

- School Administrators
- School Counselors
- School Nurses
- School Psychologists
- School Social Workers

STATE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Because of the unique role of these professionals, their standards are independent of the Core Standards but are still written in the same performance-based format: Knowledge and Performances.

The process of Idaho standards development and maintenance

These move to InTASC based standards was developed in 1999 and 2000 with task groups from around the state composed of a variety of Idaho education stakeholders including teachers, higher education representatives, parents, school administrators, business people, and others.

Each task group averaged 5-10 people, for a total of over 250 participants statewide.

Members of the Idaho's MOST Standards Committee formed by the State Board of Education and standards-writing Task Groups together have dedicated a total of over 4,000 volunteer hours on development of these standards.

The Professional Standards Commission (PSC) reviews/revises 20% of the standards per year. The review process involves teams of content area experts from higher education and K-12 schools. The standards are then reviewed by the PSC and presented to the Idaho State Board of Education for approval. Once approved, they are reviewed by the State Legislature and become an incorporated by reference document in State Board Rule.

In 2012 a committee of education experts was convened to review and revise the Core Teacher Standards. After thoughtful consideration, the committee recommended adopting the newly revised (April 2011) InTASC standards as published. No substantive changes were recommended by the committee. The committee did recommend a formatting change to the ten InTASC Core Teacher standards to match the rest of the existing Idaho Standards for Initial Certification of Professional School Personnel.

Idaho Core Teacher Standards

All teacher candidates are expected to meet the Idaho Core Teacher Standards and the standards specific to their discipline area(s) at the “acceptable” level or above. Additionally, all teacher candidates are expected to meet the requirements defined in State Board Rule (08.02.02: Rules Governing Uniformity).

The following knowledge and performance statements for the Core Teacher Standards are widely recognized, but not all-encompassing or absolute, indicators that teacher candidates have met the standards. It is the responsibility of a teacher preparation program to use indicators in a manner that is consistent with its conceptual framework and that assures attainment of the standards.

An important component of the teaching profession is a candidate’s disposition. Professional dispositions are how the candidate views the teaching profession, their content area, and/or students and their learning. Every teacher preparation program at each institution is responsible for establishing and promoting a comprehensive set of guidelines for candidate dispositions.

Core Teaching Standards

The standards have been grouped into four general categories to help users organize their thinking about the standards: The Learner and Learning, Content, Instructional Practice, and Professional Responsibility. This language has been adopted verbatim from the April 2011 InTASC Model Core Teaching Standards.

The Learner and Learning

Teaching begins with the learner. To ensure that each student learns new knowledge and skills, teachers must understand that learning and developmental patterns vary among individuals, that learners bring unique individual differences to the learning process, and that learners need supportive and safe learning environments to thrive. Effective teachers have high expectations for each and every learner and implement developmentally appropriate, challenging learning experiences within a variety of learning environments that help all learners meet high standards and reach their full potential. Teachers do this by combining a base of professional knowledge, including an understanding of how cognitive, linguistic, social, emotional, and physical development occurs, with the recognition that learners are individuals who bring differing personal and family backgrounds, skills, abilities, perspectives, talents and interests. Teachers collaborate with learners, colleagues, school leaders, families, members of the learners' communities, and community organizations to better understand their students and maximize their learning. Teachers promote learners' acceptance of responsibility for their own learning and collaborate with them to ensure the effective design and implementation of both self-directed and collaborative learning.

Standard #1: Learner Development. The teacher understands how learners grow and develop, recognizing that patterns of learning and development vary individually within and across the cognitive, linguistic, social, emotional, and physical areas, and designs and implements developmentally appropriate and challenging learning experiences.

Knowledge

3. The teacher identifies readiness for learning, and understands how development in any one area may affect performance in others.
4. The teacher understands the role of language and culture in learning and knows how to modify instruction to make language comprehensible and instruction relevant, accessible, and challenging.

Content

Teachers must have a deep and flexible understanding of their content areas and be able to draw upon content knowledge as they work with learners to access information, apply knowledge in real world settings, and address meaningful issues to assure learner mastery of the content. Today's teachers make content knowledge accessible to learners by using multiple means of communication, including digital media and information technology. They integrate cross-disciplinary skills (e.g., critical thinking, problem solving, creativity, communication) to help learners use content to propose solutions, forge new understandings, solve problems, and imagine possibilities. Finally, teachers make content knowledge relevant to learners by connecting it to local, state, national, and global issues.

Standards for Bilingual Education and ENL (English as a New Language) Teachers

All teacher candidates are expected to meet the Idaho Core Teacher Standards and the standards specific to their discipline area(s) at the “acceptable” level or above. Additionally, all teacher candidates are expected to meet the requirements defined in State Board Rule (08.02.02: Rules Governing Uniformity).

The following knowledge and performance statements for the Bilingual-ENL Teacher Standards are widely recognized, but not all-encompassing or absolute, indicators that teacher candidates have met the standards. It is the responsibility of a teacher preparation program to use indicators in a manner that is consistent with its conceptual framework and that assures attainment of the standards.

An important component of the teaching profession is a candidate’s disposition. Professional dispositions are how the candidate views the teaching profession, their content area, and/or students and their learning. Every teacher preparation program at each institution is responsible for establishing and promoting a comprehensive set of guidelines for candidate dispositions.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines

A nationally developed and agreed upon set of descriptions of what individuals can do with language in terms of speaking, writing, listening, and reading in real-world situations in a spontaneous and non-rehearsed context. For each skill, these guidelines identify five major levels of proficiency: Distinguished, Superior, Advanced, Intermediate, and Novice. The major levels Advanced, Intermediate, and Novice are subdivided into High, Mid, and Low sublevels. The levels of the ACTFL Guidelines describe the continuum of proficiency from that of the highly articulate, well-educated language user to a level of little or no functional ability. These Guidelines present the levels of proficiency as ranges, and describe what an individual can and cannot do with language at each level, regardless of where, when, or how the language was acquired. http://www.actfl.org/files/public/ACTFLProficiencyGuidelines2012_FINAL.pdf
