Boise State University President Search Begins

The search for Boise State University's next president is officially underway.

A series of in-person listening sessions will be held next week to give Boise State stakeholders and community members an opportunity to offer input on qualities and characteristics most important to the position profile and advertisement.

The listening sessions are scheduled January 17-19 at the Boise State University Student Union Building. More information about the listening sessions, including a time line for hiring the new president is posted on the Boise State University website:

Boise State President Dr. Bob Kustra announced late last year that he will be retiring June 30, 2018 after leading Boise State for 15 years.
