

U of I Presidential Committee Hosting Open Meeting Oct. 22

MOSCOW, Idaho — Oct. 17, 2018 — Community, alumni, stakeholder and industry input is being sought to be considered as part of a position profile and employment advertisements for recruitment of the 19th president of the University of Idaho.

The new president will replace Chuck Staben, whose contract as U of I's president expires in June 2019.

The U of I President Search Screening Committee and a senior partner with executive search firm Storback/Pimentel and Associates will be in Moscow next week and will host a one-hour open session at 4:30 p.m. Pacific time Monday, Oct. 22, in the Vandal Ballroom of the Bruce M. Pitman Center.

The public meeting can also be accessed via ZOOM at: <https://uidaho.zoom.us/j/907620027> or phone: 669-900-6833 or 646-876-9923 Meeting ID: 907 620 027

Separate listening sessions with faculty, staff and students will be held Monday and Tuesday.

Comments can also be submitted online at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/F8X2TZG>.

The committee is interested in hearing feedback on the following points:

- Based on your experience at U of I, what do you see as the short-term (immediate) and long-term (three to five years) challenges and opportunities facing the next president?
- Given the opportunities and challenges you have described, what professional experiences and qualifications must the successful candidate possess? What personal qualities must the new president have to be a good cultural fit?
- What current ongoing initiatives must the president be informed about and be ready to guide to completion?
- What are the key positive attributes and most attractive features of U of I and how might those be used to attract the right candidates?

Because there are many stakeholder groups with whom the search representatives will meet, they must adhere to their schedule. Participants are encouraged to prepare their thoughts and comments prior to the meeting.
