GOVERNOR TO PROCLAIM “NEXT STEPS IDAHO” MONTH

Idaho Governor Brad Little will be joined tomorrow by government students from Nampa’s Skyview High School when he officially proclaims “Next Steps Idaho” Month in our state.

When: Wednesday, October 13, 2021

Where: Governor’s Ceremonial Office, 2nd floor – Idaho Statehouse

Time: 9 a.m. (MST)

The proclamation signing will be livestreamed by Idaho Public Television at:

State Board President Kurt Liebich and Board Member Dr. Linda Clark will also be in attendance.

“October is an important month on our academic calendar because high school seniors throughout our state are using Apply Idaho on the State Board of Education’s website to submit their college applications,” President Liebich said. “We want to make sure high school students and parents are aware of Apply Idaho, in part because they can submit their applications free of charge and the Governor’s proclamation helps us get the word out.”

Later in the morning after the proclamation signing, the Skyview High students will work on both the Apply Idaho, and Scholarship Idaho applications with assistance from College and Career Counselors.

Media interested in covering this portion of the day's activities can contact Mike Keckler for details.
